

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at http://books.google.com/

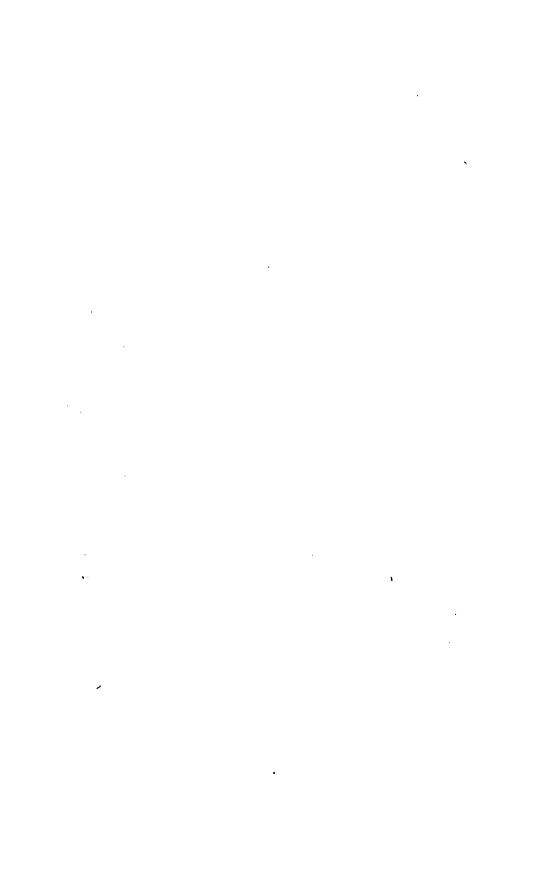

.

· :

Merch Tolderey 1778

THERON and ASPASIO:

Tarah Perroge Book 1820

S E R I E S

O F

DIALOGUES

AND

LETTERS,

UPON THE

Most Important and Interesting Subjects.

IN THREE VOLUMES.

By JAMES HERVEY, A.M. Rector of Weston-Favell, in Northamptonshire.

For Zion's sake will I not hold my Peace, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until the Righteousness thereof go forth as Brightness, and the Salvation thereof as a Lamp that burneth. Isai. Ixii. 1.

VOL. III.

LONDON:

Printed for John and James Rivington, at the Bible and Crown, in St. Paul's Church-yard.

M D C C L V.

141. i. 493.

A

S E R I E S

O F

LETTERS.

ፙፙዿቜዿዿቜዿቜቔዼፙቘዿጜፙፙቔቔዹፙቔቔቚቔቔቔጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜ

LETTER VI.

THERON to ASPASIO.

Dear Aspasio,

HE last Evening was one of the finest I ever saw. According to my Custom, I made an Excursion into the open Fields; and wanted nothing to complete the Satisfaction, but my Friend's Company *. I could not but observe, how much your improving Conversation heightened the Charms of Nature. When Religion applied Philosophy,

* Tu quod abes excepto, cætera lætus.

Vol. III.

·•··

phy, every Thing was instructive, as well as pleasing.—Not a Breeze swept over the Plains, to clear the Sky, and cool the Air; but it tended also to disperse our Doubts, and inliven our Faith in the supreme all-sufficient GOOD.—Not a Cloud tinged the Firmament with radiant Colours, or amused the Sight with romantic Shapes; but We beheld a Picture of the present World, of its fading Acquisitions and fantastic Joys, in the mimic Forms and the transitory Scene.—Even the weakest of the Insect-tribe, that skim the Air in sportive Silence, addressed Us with the ftrongest Incitements, and gave Us the loudest Calls, to be active in our Day, and ufeful in our Generation. They cried, at least when You lent them your Tongue,

Such is vain Life, an idle Flight of Days, A still delusive Round of sickly Joys, A Scene of little Cares, and tristing Passions, If not ennobled by the Deeds of Virtue.

How often, at the Approach of sober Eve, have We stole along the Cloysters of a sequestred Bower; attentive to the Tale of some querulous Current, that seemed to be struck with Horror at the awful Gloom; and complained with heavier Murmurs, as it passed under the blackening Shades, and along the Root-obstructedChannel.—Orelse, far from the babbabbling Brook, and softly treading the grassy Path, We listened to the Nightingale's Song; while every Gale held its Breath, and all the Leaves forbore their Motion, that they might neither drown nor interrupt the melodious Woe.—From both which pensive Strains, You endeavoured to temper and chastise the exuberant Gaiety of my Spirits. You convinced me, that true Joy is a serious Thing*: is the Child of sedate Thought, not the Spawn of intemperate Mirth: nursed, not by the Sallies of dissolute Merriment, but by the Exercise of serene Contemplation.

Sometimes, at the gladsome Return of Morn, we have ascended an airy Eminence; and hailed the new-born Day; and followed, with our delighted Eye, the Mazes of some glittering Stream.—Here rushing, with impetuous Fury, from the Mountain's Side; foaming over the rifted Rocks, and roaring down the craggy Steep. Impatient, as it were, to get free from fuch rugged Paths, and mingle with the Beauties of the lower Vale.—There, flackening its headlong Career, and smoothing its Eddies into an even Flow. deep embosomed in the verdant Mead, it glides through the cherished and smiling Herbage. Sometimes, lost amidst closing Willows; fometimes, emerging with fresh Beauty from the the leafy Covert; always, roving with an Air of amorous Complacency; and careffing, as it were, the fringed Banks, and flowery Glebe.

* Res severa est verum Gaudium.

—Reminded, by this watery Monitor, of that Constancy and Vigour, with which the Affections should move towards the great Center of Happiness, CHRIST JESUS—of that determined Ardour, with which we should break through the Intanglements of founding the mighty Difference between the turbulent, the frothy, the precipitate Gratifications of Vice, and the calm, the substantial, the permanent Delights of Religion.

Or else, with eager View, we have surveyed the extensive Prospect, and wandered over all the Magnissence of Things—an endless Variety of graceful Objects, and delightful Scenes! Each soliciting our chief Regard; every one worthy of our whole Attention; all conspiring to touch the Heart with a mingled Transport of Wonder, of Gratitude, and of Joy.

—So that we have returned from our rural Expedition, not as the Spendtbrist from the Gaming-table, cursing his Stars, and raving at his ill Luck; gulled of his Money, and the derided Dupe of Sharpers: Not as the Libertine from the House of Wantonness, ness*, surfeited with the rank Debauch, dogged by Shame, goaded by Remorse, with a thousand recent Poisons tingling in his Veins. But we returned, as Ships of Commerce from the golden Continent, or the spicy Islands, with new Accessions of sublime Improvement, and solid Pleasure. With a deeper Veneration for the Almighty CREATOR; with a warmer Sense of his unspeakable Favours; and with a more inflamed Desire, "to know him now "by Faith, and after this Life to have the "Fruition of his glorious GODHEAD."

Sometimes, with an agreeable Relaxation, we have transferred our Cares, from the Welfare

* Solomon, in order to deter unwary Youth from those Sinks of Uncleanness, represents the Harlot under the Character of a pestilent Hag, or baleful Sorceres. Her Feet go down to Death, Prov. v. 5. Her House is the high Road to Hell; Prov. viii. 27. yea, her Guests are in the Depths of Hell; Prov. ix. 18.—The second Clause seems to be emphatical. The original Expression is in the plural Number I choose therefore to render it, not simply The Road, but more largely The high Road: from which many other Ways of Guilt branch out, in which many other Paths of Ruin coincide. There, Murder is often known, to drench her Dagger in Blood; and Robbery forms the rash Resolve, which ends in the ignominious Halter. There, Intempe rance daily brews the Bowl, which enervates the Constitution, and transforms the Man into a Beast. While Discase, pale cadaverous noisome Disease, anticipates the Putrefaction of the Grave, and causes the wretched Martyrs of Vice to rot even above Ground.—Well may every one, that loves Life, and would fain fee good Days, cry out with a Mixture of Detestation and Dread; "O my Soul, come not thou " into their horrid Haunts!"

Dii meliora Piis, Erroremque Hostibus illum! Virg.

THERON to ASPASIO. Let. 6, fare of the Nation, to the Flourithing of the Farm; and, instead of enacting Regulations for the civil Community, we have planned Schemes for the Cultivation of our Ground, and the Prosperity of our Cattle,-Instead of attending to the Course of Fleets, and the Destination of Armies, We have directed the Plough, where to rend the graffy Turf; or taught the Honeysuckle to wind round the Arbour, and the Jessamine to climb upon the Wall.—Instead of interposing our friendly Offices, to reconcile contending Kingdoms; We have formed a Treaty of Coalition, between the stranger Cyon, and the adopting Tree; and, by the remarkable Melioration of the ensuing Fruit, demonstrated (would contending Empires regard the Precedent) what Advantages flow from pacific Measures, and an amicable Union.—Instead of unraveling the Labyrinths of State, and tracing the Finesses of foreign Courts; We have made ourselves acquainted with the Politics of Nature, and observed, how wonderfully, how mysteriously, that great Projectiess acts.—In this Place she rears a vast Trunk, and unfolds a multiplicity of Branches, from one small Berry. She qualifies, by her amazing Operations, a few contemptible Acorns, that were formerly carried in a Child's Lap, to bear the British Thunder round the Globe, and fecure to our Island the

Sove-

Let. 6. THERON to ASPASIO.

Sovereignty of the Ocean.—In another Place, the produces from a dry Grain, first the green Blade; then the turgid Ear; afterwards the full-grown and ripened Corn in the Ear*. Repaying, with exact Punctuality, and with lavish Usury, the Husbandman's Toil, and the Husbandman's Loan: causing, by a most surprising Resurrection, the Beath of one Seed, to be fruitful in the Birth of Hundreds.

But I forget your Caution, Aspasio; forget, how kindly you have checked me, when I have been haranguing upon, I know not what. Powers and Works of Nature. Whereas, it is GOD who worketh hitherto +: who to this Day exerts, and to the End of Time will exert, that fecret but unremitted Energy, which is the Life of this majestic System, and the Cause of all its stupendous Operations.— Let this shew you, how much I want my Guide, my Philosopher, and Friend. Without his prompting Aid, my Genius is dull; my Reflections are aukward; and my religious Improvements jejune; somewhat like the bungling Imitations of the Tool, compared with the masterly Effects of Vegetation. However, I will proceed. Yet, not from any View of informing my Aspasio, but only to draw a Bill upon his Pen; and lay him under an Obligation to enrich me with another Letter, upon the grand and excellent Subject of his last.

ter,

1

* Mark iv. 28. + John v. 17.

Art is dim-fighted in her Plans, and defective even in her most elaborate Essays. Nature, or rather Nature's fublime AUTHOR, is indeed a Defigner and a Workman that need not be askamed *. His Eye strikes out ten thoufand elegant Models, and his Touch executes all with inimitable Perfection.—What an admirable Specimen is Here, of the divine Skill, and of the divine Goodness! This terraqueous Globe is intended, not only for a Place of Habitation, but for a Storehouse of Conveniencies. If We examine the feveral Apartments of our great Abode; if We take a general Inventory of our common Goods; We shall find the utmost Reason to be charmed with the Displays, both of nice Oeconomy, and boundless Profusion.

Observe the Surface of this universal Messuage. The Ground, coarse as it may seem, and trodden by every Foot, is nevertheless the Laboratory, where the most exquisite Operations are performed; the Shop, if I may so speak, where the finest Manusactures are wrought. Though a Multitude of Generations have always been accommodated, and though a Multitude of Nations are daily supplied plied by its Liberalities, it still continues inexhaustible. Is a Resource, that never fails; a Magazine, never to be drained.

The Unevenness of the Ground, far from being a Blemish or a Defect; heightens its Beauty, and augments its Usefulness.—Here, it is scooped into deep and sheltered Vales, almost constantly covered with a spontaneous Growth of Verdure: which, all tender and fucculent, composes an easy Couch, and yields the most agreeable Fodder, for the various Tribes of Cattle.—There, it is extended into a wide, open, champain Country: which, annually replenished with the Husbandman's Seed, shoots into a copious Harvest. A Harvest, not only of that principal Wheat, which is the Staff of our Life, and strengthens our Heart; but of the appointed Barley *, and various other Sorts of Grain, which yield an excellent Food for our Animals; and either enable them to dispatch our Drudgery, or else fatten their Flesh for our Tables.

The Furrows, obedient to the Will of Man, vary their Produce +. They bring forth a Crop of tall, flexile, flender Plants ‡: whose thin filmy Coat, dried, attenuated, and skilfully

* Isai. xxviii. 25.

+ One may venture to say of the Earth, with regard to its vegetable Operations;

Omnia transformat sese in Miracula Rerum,

‡ Flax and Hemp.

fully manufactured, transforms itself into some of the most necessary Accommodations of Life, and genteelest Embellishments of Society. It is wove into ample Volumes of Cloth; which, fixed to the Mast, give Wings to our Ships, and waft them to the Extremities of the Ocean.—It is twisted into vast Lengths of Cordage; which add Nerves to the Crane, and lend Sinews to the Pulley; or elfe, adhering to the Anchor, they fasten the Vessel even on the fluctuating Element, and fecure it even amidst driving Tempests.—It furnishes the Duchess with her costly Head-dress, and delicately fine Ruffles. No less strong than neat, it supplies the Plowman with his coarse Frock, and the Sailor with his clumfy Trowfers. Fibres, artfully ranged by the Operations of the Loom, cover our Tables with a graceful Elegance, and furround our Bodies with a cherishing Warmth. On this the Painter spreads the Colours, which inchant the Eye; in this the Merchant packs the Wares, which enrich the World.

Yonder, the Hills, like a grand Amphitheatre, arife. Amphitheatre! All the pompous Works of Roman Magnificence, are less than Mole-banks, are mere Cockle-shells, compared with those majestic Elevations of the Earth. Some clad with mantling Vines; some crowned with towering Cedars; some ragged with misses mishapen Rocks, or yawning with subterraneous Dens. Whose rough and inaccessible Craggs, whose hideous and gloomy Cavities, are not only a continual Refuge for the wild Goats, but have often proved an Asylum to persecuted Merit*, and a Saseguard to the most valuable Lives.

At a greater Distance, the Mountains lift their frozen Brows, or penetrate the Clouds with their aspiring Peaks. Their frozen Brows arrest the roving, and condense the rarested Vapours +. Their caverned Bowels collect the dripping Treasures, and send them abroad, in gradual Communications, by trickling Springs. While their steep Sides precipitate the watery Treasures; rolling them on with such a forcible Impulse ‡, that they never intermit their unwearied

To David, from Saul's Malice; to Elijah, from Jezebel's Vengeance; to many of the primitive Christians, from the Rage of perfecuting Emperors: they wandered in Defarts and in Mountains, in Dens and Caves of the Earth. Heb. xi. 38.

† Therefore styled-Nimbosa Cacumina Montis, Virg.

It is observed, that the largest Rivers in the World, those which roll the heaviest Burden of Waters, and perform the most extensive Circuit through the Nations, generally take their Rise from Mountains. The Rhine, the Rhone, and the Po, all descend from the Alps. The Tygris derives its rapid Flood, from the everlasting Snows, and steep Ridges of Niphates. And, to mention no more Instances, the River Amazones, which pours itself through a Multitude of Provinces, and waters near eighteen hundred Leagues of Land, has its Um in the Caverns, and its Impetus from the Precipices, of that immense Range of Hills the Andes.

unwearied Course, till they have swept through the most extensive Climes, and regained their native Seas.

The Vineyard swells into a Profusion of Clusters: some, tinged with the deepest Purple, and delicately clouded with Azure: fome, clad with a whitish transparent Skin, which shews the tempting Kernels, lodged in luscious Nectar,—The Vine requires a strong Reflection of the Sun-beams, and a very large Proportion of Warmth. How commodiously to the Hills and Mountains minister to this Purpose! May We not call those vast Declivities, the Garden-walls of Nature? Which, far more effectually than the most costly Glasses, or most artful Green-houses, concenter the solar Heat, and complete the Maturity of the Grape. Distending it with a Liquor of the finest Scent, the most agreeable Relish, and the most exalted Qualities: fuch as diffipate Sadness, and inspire Vivacity: such as make glad the Heart of Man, and most sweetly prompt, both his Gratitude, and his Duty, to the munificent GIVER.—I grieve, and I blush for my Fellow-

If the Reader is inclined to see the Origin and Formation of Rivers described, in all the Sublimity of Diction, and with all the Graces of Poetry, He may find this Entertainment in Mr. Thomson's Autumn, Lin. 781. Last Edit.

Amazing Scene! behold, the Glooms disclose. I see the Rivers in their infant Beds! Deep, deep I hear them, lab'ring to get free! &c. low-creatures, that Any should abuse this Indulgence of Heaven. That Any should turn so valuable a Gift of GOD into an Instrument of Sin. Turn the most exhilarating of Cordials into Poison, Madness, and Death.

The Kitchen-garden presents Us with a new Train of Benefits. In its blooming Ornaments, what unaffected Beauty! In its culinary Productions, what diversified 'Riches! It ripens a Multitude of nutrimental Esculents, and almost an equal Abundance of medicinal Herbs; distributing Refreshments to Healthy, and administering Remedies to the Sick .- The Orchard, all fair, and ruddy, and bowing down beneath its own delicious Burden, gives Us a fresh Demonstration of our CREATOR's Kindness, Regales Us, first, with all the Delicacies of Summer-Fruits: next, with the more lafting Succession of autumnal Dainties.

What is Nature, but a Series of Wonders, and a Fund of Delights! That such a Variety of Fruits, so beautifully coloured, so elegantly shaped, and so charmingly flavoured, should arise from the Earth! Than which nothing is more insipid, fordid, and despicable.—I am struck with pleasing Astonishment at the Cause of these sine Effects, and no less surprised at the Manner of bringing them into Existence. I take a Walk in my Garden, or a Turn through my Orchard, in the Month of December. There stand several Logs of Wood, fastened to the Ground. They are erect indeed and shapely, but without either Sense or Motion. No human Hand will touch them; no human Aid will succour them; yet, in a little Time, they are beautisted with Blossoms, they are covered with Leaves, and at last are loaded with mellow Treasures; with the downy Peach and the polished Plum; with the musky Apricot and the juicy Pear; with the Cherry, and its coral Pendants, glowing through Lattices of Green, Beneath ber ample Leaf, the luscious Fig.

I have wondered at the Structure of my Watch, wondered more at the Description of the Silkmills, most of all at the Account of those prodigious Engines invented by Archimedes. But what are all the Inventions of all the Geometricians and Mechanics in the World, compared with these inconceivably nice Automata*

of * Automata, or felf-operating Machines; not meant to fet aside the Superintendency of Providence, but only to exclude the Co-operation of Man.

The Word ανίομαίη is used by our MASTER, Mark iv. 38. and a fine expressive Word it is. Signifying, says a Greek Scholiast, τας μηχανας, αι κατ' αυτας επεργεσαι.—It seems to give us the true Sense of that remarkable Phrase, in the Mosaic History of the Creation, אלהים לעשור האלהים לעשור האלהים לעשור האלהים לעשור האלהים לעשור האלהים לעשור האלהים אלהים אלהים אלהים האלהים אלהים אלים אלהים אלהים of Nature! These felf-operating Machines dispatch their Business, with a Punctuality that never mistakes, with a Dexterity that cannot be equalled. In Spring, they clothe themselves with such unstudied but exquisite Finery, as far exceeds the Embroidery of the Needle, or the Labours of the Loom. In Autumn, they present Us with such a Collation of Sweetmeats, as not only regale our Palate, but surpass all that Fancy could imagine, or Appetite crave.—So that those coarse and sensels Logs, sirst decorate the divine Creation, then perform the Honours of the Table.

If, amidst these ordinary Productions of the Earth, GOD appears so great in Counsel and mighty in Work*: what may We expect to see, in the Palaces of Heaven; in the Hierarchies of Angels; and in that wonderful RE-DEEMER, who is, beyond all other Objects, beyond all other Manifestations, the Wisdom of GOD, and the Power of GOD +!

The Forest rears Myriads of massy Bodies. Which, though neither gay with Blossoms, nor rich with Fruit, supply Us with Timber made, appears tautological, and is by no means an exact Translation. It should rather be interpreted, Which GOD created in order to make; to make, by these prolific Instruments and reproducing Principles, a continual Succession of Animals, Vegetables, and Creatures.

of

* Jer. xxxii. 19.

† I Cor. 1.24.

of various Kinds, and of every desirable Quality ‡. But who shall cultivate such huge Trees, dissued over so vast a Space? The Toil were endless. See therefore the all-wise and ever-gracious Ordination of Providence! They are so constituted, that they have no Need of the Spade and the Pruning-knife. Nay, the little Cares of Man would diminish, rather than augment their Dignity and their Usefulness. The more they are neglected, the better they thrive; the more wildly grand and magnificent they grow.

When felled by the Axe, they are fawed into Beams, and sustain the Roofs of our Houses: they are fashioned into Carriages, and serve for the Conveyance of the heaviest Loads.—Their Substance so pliant, that they yield to the Chizzel of the Turner, and are smoothed by the Plane of the Joiner; are wrought into the nicest Diminutions of Shape, and compose some of the finest Branches of houshold Furniture.—Their Texture so solid, that that they form the most important Parts of those mighty Engines; which, adapting themselves to the Play of mechanic Powers, dispatch more Work in a single Hour, than could otherwise be accomplished in many Days.—At the same Time, their Pressure is so light, that they float upon the Waters; and glide along the Surface; almost with as much Agility, as the sinny Fry glance through the Deep.—Thus, while they impart Magnisicence to Architecture, and bestow numberless Conveniencies on the Family; they constitute the very Basis of Navigation, and give Life, give Being to Commerce.

† Tully has given Us an Abridgment of all the preceding Particulars. Which, I think, is one of the finest Landschapes in Miniature, that the descriptive Pen ever drew.— Terra universa cernatur, vestita Floribus, Herbis, Arboribus, Frugibus; quorum omnium incredibilis Multitudo insatiabili Varietate distinguitur. Adde huc Fontium gelidas Perennitates, Liquores perlucidos Amnium, Riparum Vestitus viridissimos, Speluncarum concavas Altitudines, Saxorum Asperitates, impendentium Montium Altitudines, Immensitatesque Camporum. De Nat. Deor. Lib. II.

Amidst the inaccessible Depths of the Forest, an Habitation is affigned for those ravenous Beasts, whose Appearance would be frightful, and their Neighbourhood dangerous to Man-Here, the sternly majestic Lion rouses Himself from his Den, and awes the savage Herds with his Roar. Here, the fiery Tyger fprings upon his Prey, and the gloomy Bear trains up her Whelps. Here, the swift Leopard ranges, and the grim Wolf prowls, and both in quest of Murder and Blood.-Were these horrid Animals to dwell in our Fields, what Havock would they make? What Conflernation would they spread? But they voluntarily bury themselves, in the deepest Recesses of the Defart: while the Ox, the Horse, and the serviceable Quadrupeds, live under our Inspec-Vol. III. tion, tion, and keep within our Call: profiting Us as much by their Presence, as the others oblige Us by their Absence.

If, at any Time, those shaggy Monsters make an Excursion into the habitable World, it is when Man retires to his Chamber, and sleeps in Security. The Sun, which invites other Creatures abroad, gives them the Signal to retreat. The Sun ariseth, and they get them away, and lay them down in their Dens *. Strange! That the orient Light, which is so pleasing to Us, should strike such Terror on them! Should, more effectually than a Legion of Guards, put them all to Flight, and clear the Country of those formidable Enemies!

If We turn our Thoughts to the Atmosphere, We find a most curious and exquisite Apparatus of Air. Which, because no Object of our Sight, is seldom considered, and little regarded; yet is a Source of innumerable Advantages. And all these Advantages, (which is almost incredible) are setched from the very Jaws of Ruin. My Meaning may be obscure, therefore I explain myself.

We live plunged, if I may so speak, in an Ocean of Air. Whose Pressure, upon a Person of moderate Size, is equal to the Weight of of twenty thousand Pounds. Tremendous Confideration! Should the Ceiling of a Room, or the Roof a House, fall upon Us with half that Force, what destructive Effects must ensue. Such a Force would infallibly drive the Breath from our Lungs, or break every Bone in our Yet, so admirably has the divine WISDOM contrived this aerial Fluid, and so nicely counterpoised its dreadful Power, that We receive not the flightest Hurt; We suffer no manner of Inconvenience; We even enjoy the Load. Instead of being as a Mountain on our Loins, it is like Wings to our Feet, or like Sinews to our Limbs.—Is not this common Ordination of Providence, thus confidered. somewhat like the Miracle of the burning Bush: whose tender and combustible Substance, though in the midst of Flames, was neither consumed nor injured *? Is it not almost as marvelous, as the Prodigy of the three Hebrew Youths? Who walked in the fiery Furnace, without having a Hair of their Head finged, or so much as the Smell of Fire passing on their Garments +? -----Surely, We have Reason to say unto GOD; O! bow terrible, yet how beneficent, art Thou in thy Works!

The Air, though too weak to support our Flight, is a Thoroughfare for innumerable Wings.

* Exod. iii. 2.

+ Dan. iii. 27.

Wings. Here the whole Commonwealth of Birds take up their Abode. Here they lodge and expatiate, beyond the Reach of their Adversaries. Were they to run upon the Earth, they would be exposed to ten thousand Dangers, without proper Strength to resist them, or fufficient Speed to escape them. Whereas, by mounting the Skies, and lifting themselves up on high, they are secure from Peril, they fcorn the Horse and his Rider *. - Some of them perching upon the Boughs, others foaring amidst the Firmament, entertain Us with their Notes: Which are musical and agreeable, when heard at this convenient Distance; but would be noify and importunate, if brought nearer to our Ears.—Here, many of those feathered Families refide, which yield Us a delicious Treat; yet give Us no Trouble, put Us to no. Expence, and, till the Moment We want them, are wholly out of our Way.

e Air, commissioned by its all-bountiful AUTHOR, charges itself with the Administration of several Offices, which are perfectly obliging, and no less serviceable to Mankind.—Co-operating with our Lungs, it ventilates the Blood; cools and qualifies the vital Warmth, promotes and exalts the animal Secretions. Many Days We might live, or even whole Months, without the Light of the Sun, or the Glimmering of a Star. Whereas, if We are deprived, only for a few Minutes, of this aerial Support, We ficken, We faint, We die.

—The fame univerfal Nurse has a considerable Hand, in cherishing the several Tribes of Plants. It helps to transfuse vegetable Vigour into the Trunk of the Oak, and a blooming Gaiety into the Spread of the Rose.

The Air undertakes to convey to our No-strils the extremely subtil Effluvia, which transpire from odoriferous Bodies. Those detached Particles are so imperceptibly small, that they would elude the most careful Hand, or escape the nicest Eye. But this trusty Depositary receives and escorts the invisible Vagrants, without losing so much as a single Atom. Entertaining Us, by this means, with the delightful Sensations, that arise from the Fragrance of Flowers; and admonishing Us, by the Transmission of offensive Smells, to withdraw from an unwholesome Situation, or beware of any pernicious Food.

The Air, by its undulating Motion, conducts to our Ear all the Diversities of Sound; and, thereby, discharges the Duty of a most season-able and faithful Monitor. As I walk across the Streets of London, with my Eye engaged on other Objects; a Dray, perhaps, with all its Load, is driving down directly upon me. Or, as I ride along the Road, musing and unap-prehensive, a Chariot and six is whirling on, with a rapid Career, at the Heels of my Horse, The Air, like a vigilant Friend, in pain for my Welfare, immediately takes the Alarm; and, while the Danger is at a considerable Distance, dispatches a Courier to advertise me of the approaching Mischief. It even thunders in my Ear; and, with a clamorous but kind Importunity, urges me to be upon my Guard, and provide for my Safety.

The Air wafts to our Sense all the Modulations of Music, and the more agreeable Entertainments of refined Conversation. Myrtilla strikes the silver Strings, and teaches the willing Harpsichord to warble with her CREATOR's Praise: when her sacred Sonata warms the Heart with Devotion, and wings our Defires to Heaven.—When Cleora tunes her Song, or the Nightingale imitates her inchanting Voice: when She heightens every melodious Note, with her adored REDEEMER's Name; and so smooths her charming Tones, fo breathes her rapturous Soul, "that GOD's " own Ear listens delighted."—When Wisdom takes its Seat on Mitio's Tongue; and flows, in perspicuous Periods, and instructive Truths, amidst the chosen Circle of his Acquaintance. -When Benevolence, affociated with Persuafion, dwell on Nicander's Lips; and plead the Cause of injured Innocence, or oppressed Virtue.

tue.—When Goodness, leagued with Happiness, accompany Eusebius into the Pulpit; and reclaim the Libertine from the Slavery of his Vices; disengage the Insidel from the Fascination of his Prejudices; and so affectionately, so pathetically invite the whole Audience, to partake the unequalled Joys of pure Religion.—In all these Cases, the Air distributes every musical Variation with the utmost Exactness; and delivers the Speaker's Message, with the most punctual Fidelity. Whereas, without this Internuntio, all would be sullen and unmeaning Silence. We should lose both the Pleasure and the Prosit; neither be charmed with the harmonious, nor improved by the articulate Accents.

The Breezes of the Air, when vague and unconfined, are so very gentle; that they sport, with the most inossensive Wantonness, amidst Opbelia's Locks, and scarce disadjust a single Curl. But, when collected and applied by the Contrivance of Man, they act with such prodigious Force; as is sufficient to whirl round the hugest Wheels, though clogged with the most incumbering Loads. They make the ponderous Millstones move as swiftly, as the Dancer's Heel; and the massy Beams play as nimbly, as the Musician's Finger.

If We climb, in Speculation, the higher Regions, here is an endless Succession of Clouds, fed by Evaporations from the Ocean. Clouds are themselves a kind of Ocean, sufpended in the Air with amazing Skill. travel, in detached Parties, and in the Quality of itinerant Cisterns, round all the terrestrial Globe. They fructify, by proper Communications of Moisture, the spacious Pastures of the Wealthy; and gladden, with no less liberal Showers, the Cottager's little Spot. fo condescending is the Benignity of their great Proprietor, that they fatisfy the desolate and waste Ground; and cause, even in the most uncultivated Wilds, the Bud of the tender Herb to fpring forth *. That the Natives of the lonely Defart, those sayage Herds which know no Master's Stall, may nevertheless experience the Care, and rejoice in the Bounty, of an all-fupporting PARENT.

How wonderful! That the Water, which is much denser and far beavier than the Air, should rise into it; make its Way through it; and take a Station in the very uppermost Regions of it! This, One should imagine, were almost as impossible, as for the Rivers to run back to their Source. Yet PROVIDENCE has contrived a Way, to make it not only practicable, but Matter of continual Occurrence.

How wonderful! That pendent Lakes should be diffused, or fluid Mountains heaped over our Heads;

* Job xxxviii, 27.

Heads: and both sustained in the thinnest Parts of the Atmosphere! We little think of that furprising Expedient, which, without Conduits of Stone, or Vessels of Brass, keeps such Loads of Water in a buoyant State; and with-holds them from rushing down, with furious and disorderly Violence. Job considered this, not without holy Admiration, and grateful Praise. Dost thou know the Balancings of the Clouds? How fuch ponderous Bodies are made to hang with an even Poise, and hover like the lightest Down? These are the wonderous Works of HIM who is perfect in Knowledge *. He bindeth up the Waters in his thick Clouds; and the Cloud, though nothing is more loose and fluid, becomes, by the ALMIGHTY's Order, firm and tenacious as Casks of Iron; it is not rent + under all the Weight.

When the Sluices are opened, and the Waters descend, One is apt to suspect, that they should gush forth in Cataracts, or pour themselves out in Torrents. Whereas, instead of such a precipitate Essusion, which would be infinitely pernicious, they coalesce into Globules, and are dispensed in gentle Showers. They are often attenuated into the Smallness of a Hair; they they spread themselves, as if they were strained through the Orifices of the finest Wateringpot; and form those small Drops of Rain, which the Clouds distil upon Man abundantly. Thus, instead of drowning the Earth, and sweeping away its Fruits, they cherish universal Nature; and, in Conformity to the Practice of their great MASTER, distribute their humid Stores to Men, to Animals, and Vegetables, as they are able to bear them +.

* Job xxxvii. 16. + Job xxvi. 8.

‡ The Hebrew Words, which convey the Idea of gentle Rain, fignify a Portion of Water, made small as a Hair, or divided into Millions of Parts, שיצרים ורביבים Deut. **Exxii. 2.

Besides the Receptacles of Water, here are cantoned various Parties of Winds, mild or fierce, gentle or boisterous; furnished with breezy Wings, to fan the glowing Firmament, and diffuse Refreshment on a fainting World: or else, fitted to act as an universal Besom; and, by sweeping the Chambers of the Atmofphere, to preserve the fine aerial Fluid free from Feculencies. Without this wholesome Agency of the Winds, the Air would stagnate: become putrid; and furround Us, in the literal Sense of the Words, with Darkness that might be felt ‡. London, Paris, and all the great Cities in the World, instead of being the Seats of Elegance, would degenerate into Sinks of Corruption.

At Sea, the Winds swell the Mariner's Sails, and speed his Course along the watery Way: speed it far more effectually, than a thousand thousand Rowers, bending to their Strokes, and tugging at the Oar.—By Land, they perform the Office of an immense Seed-man, and scatter abroad the reproductive Principles of a Multitude of Plants; which, though the Staff of Life to many Animals, are too small for the Management, or too mean for the Attention of Man.—HE bringeth the Winds out of his Treasuries*, is a very just Observation; whether it relate to GOD's absolute and uncontroulable Dominion over this most potent Meteor, or to its welcome and salutary Insluence* on all the Face of Nature.

* Job xxxvi. 28, + Mark iv. 33. 1 Exed. x. 21.

Here are Lightnings stationed. Though dormant at present, they are in act to spring, and launch the livid Flame: whenever their piercing Flash is necessary, to destroy the fulphureous Vapours; or dislodge any other noxious Matter, which might be prejudicial to the delicate Temperature of the Æther, and obscure its more than crystalline Transparency.

Above all is fituate a radiant and majestic Orb, which inlightens the Tracts, chears the Inhabitants, and colours all the Productions of this habitable Globe. While the Air, by a fingular Address in managing the Rays, amplifies their Usefulness: its reflecting Power * augments that Heat, which is the Life of Nature; its refracting Power prolongs that Splendor, which is the Beauty of the Creation.—These Emanations of Light, though formed of inactive Matter, yet (astonishing Apparatus of almighty Wisdom!) are refined almost to the Subtilty of Spirit, and are scarce inferior even to Thought in Speed. By which means, they spread themselves, with a kind of instantaneous Swiftness, through the Circumference of a whole Hemisphere; and though they fill, where-ever they pervade, yet they straiten no Place, imbarrass no One, incumber Nothing.

fies

<sup>**</sup> Pfal. CXXXV. 7. Quam falutares autem dedit, quam tem pestivos non modo Hominum, sed etiam Pecudum Generi, iis denique omnibus qua oriuntur à Terra, Ventos? Quorum Flatu nimit temperantur Galores, ab iisdem etiam maritimi Cursus celeres & certi diriguntur. De Nat. Deor. Lib. II.

These give the Diamond its Brilliancy, and the Velvet its Glos: to these the chearful Eye is

* The Air is a curious Cover, which, without oppressing the Inhabitants of the Earth with any perceivable Weight, confines, reflects, and thereby increases the vivifying Heat of the Sun. The Air increases this kindly Heat, much in the fame manner as our Garments by Day, or Bed-clothes by Night, give additional Warmth to our Bodies. - Whereas, when the aerial Vestment grows thin, or, to speak more philosophically, when the Air becomes less in Quantity, and more attenuated in Quality, the folar Warmth is very fenfibly diminished. Travelers on the lofty Mountains of America, sometimes experience, to their terrible Cost, the Truth of this Observation. Though the Clime, at the Foot of those prodigious Hills, is even hot and fultry; yet on their Summits, the Cold rages with such excessive Severity, that it is no unusual Calamity, for the Horse and his Rider to be frozen to death.-We have therefore great Reason to bless the supreme DISPOSER of Things, for placing Us in the commodigus Concavity, or rather under the cheristing Wings of an Atmosphere.

is obliged for its lively Sparkle, and the modest Cheek for its rosy Blush. These, attending the judicious Touches of the Pencil, bid the Drapery flow, and the embodied Figure rise; bid the Countenance wear the calm Serenity of Thought, or be agitated with the wild Transports of Passion.—Without this Circumstance of Colour, we should want all the Entertainments of Vision, and be at a Loss to distinguish one Thing from another. We should hesitate to pronounce, and must take a little Journey to determine, whether yonder Inclosure contains a Piece of Pasturage, or a Plot of arable Land. We should question, and could not very expeditiously resolve, whether the next Person We meet, be a Soldier in his Regimentals, or a Swain in his Holy-day Suit? A Bride in her Ornaments, or a Widow in her Weeds. But Colour, like a particular Livery, characterizes the Class, to which each Individual belongs. It is the Label, which indicates, upon the first Inspection, its respective Quality. It is the Ticket, which guides our Choice, and directs our Hand *.

We

* This, I believe, suggests the true Sense of those noble Metaphors, used by the divine Speaker. It is turned as Clay to the Seal, and they stand as a Garment: It, the Earth and all its Productions receive, from the rising Sun, both Colour and Beauty. Just as the soft Clay, and the melting Wax, receive an elegant Impression from the Seal.—They (the Morning and the Day-spring, mentioned in a preceding Verse)

We have cursorily surveyed the upper Rooms of our great Habitation, and taken a Turn along the Ground-floor; if We descend into the fubterraneous Lodgments, the Cellars of the stately Structure, We shall there also find the most exquisite Contrivance, acting in Concert with the most profuse Goodness.—Here are various Minerals, of sovereign Efficacy in Medicine: that rectify the vitiated Blood, and. quicken the languid Spirits; that often rekindle the fading Bloom in the Virgin's Complexion, and reinvigorate the infeebled Arm of Manhood.—Here are Beds fraught with Metals of the richeft Value. From hence come the golden Treasures, from hence the silver Stores, which are the very Life of Traffic; and circulate through the Body politic, as the vital Fluid through the animal Frame. Which, in the refining Hand of Charity, are Feet to the Lame, and Eyes to the Blind, and make the Widow's Heart fing for Joy.—Here are Mines, which yield a Metal of meaner Aspect, but of a firmer Cohesion, and of superior Usefulness.

Verse) stand as a Garment; they act the Part of a magnificent and universal Clothing; give all visible Objects, their comely Aspect, and graceful Distinctions. Job KKKVIII. 14.

What bold and fine Images are here!—The See had been described as an Infant, changeable, froward, and impetuous, with thick Darkness for its Swadling-band. The Light is represented as an Handmaid, attending to dress the Creation; and executing the CREATOR's Orders, with a Puntiuality that never fails, with a Speed that cannot be equalled.

A Metal, that furnishes almost all the Implements, with which Art executes her various Designs. Without the Assistance of Iron, Trade would be reduced to the lowest Ebb; Commerce would feel her Wings clipped; and every Species of mechanic Skill, either uttarly fail, or be miserably bassed. Without the Assistance of Iron, it would be almost impossible to tear the Itady Mast, to display the daring Canvas, or trop the faithful Anchor. Destitute of this over-needful Commodity, we should have no Plow to surrow the Soil, no Shuttle to traverse the Loops scarce any Ornament for polite, or any Utensil for ordinary Life.

Here is an inexhausted rind of combustible Material which supply the whole Nation with Form Pine prefer their Ministrations in the metal the Fame, and of our Food both palatable and healthy. These offer their Service at the Forge; and, with their piercing Heat, mollify the most stubborn Bars, till they become pliant to the Stroke of the Hammer.—The Caels pour themselves likewise into the Glasshouses.

As for the Earth, says Job, out of it cometh Bread: Corn, Vegetables, and whatever is good for Food, spring from its Surface. While under it, is turned up as it were Fire: its lower Parts its deeper Strata, yield combustible Materials; which are easily inkindled into Fire, and administer the most substantial Fewel for the Flame. Job xxviii. 5.

houses. They rage, amidst those astonishing Furnaces, with irresistible but useful Fierceness. They liquify even the obdurate Flint, and make the most rigid Substances far more ductile, than the softest Clay, or the melting Wax: make them obsequious, not only to the lightest Touch, but to the Impressions of our very Breath.

By this means, we are furnished and from the coarsest Ingredients, with the most curious, beautiful, and serviceable Manufacture in the A Manufacture, which transmits the  $\mathbf{W}$ orld. chearing Light de the Sun into our Houses, yet excludes the Annoyance of the Rains, and the Violence of the Winds, Which gives new Eyes to decrepit Age, and vastly more inlarged Views to Philosophy and Science: Link ich leads up the Astronomer Discernment, and to the Satellites of Saturn; all carries down Na- 1 turalist's Observation, at far at the Animalcule Race: bringing what is immenfely remote, and making afible what, to our unaffifted Sight, would be absolutely imperceptible.

We have also, when the Sun withdraws his Shining, an Expedient to supply his Place. We can create an artificial Day in our Rooms, and prolong our Studies, or pursue our Business, under its chearing Influence. With beaming Tapers and ruddy Fires, We chase the Darkness, Darkness, and mitigate * the Cold; We cherish Conversation, and cultivate the social Spirit. We render those very Intervals of Time, some of the most delightful Portions of our Life, which otherwise would be a joyless and unimproving Void.

These obscure Caverns are the Birth-place of the most sparkling Gems. Which, when nicely polished, and prodigal of their Lustre,

* I can hardly forbear transcribing the grateful and pious Remark, which Socrates makes on this Occasion. Demonstrating, from the advantageous and benign Constitution of Things, GOD's indulgent Care for Mankind, He asks; To δε και το πυρ ωορισαι ημιν, επικυρον μεν ψυχυς, επικυρον δε εκοίνς, συνερίον δε πρώ πασαν τεχυνν, και πανία οσα ωφελειας ενεκα ανθρωποι καίασκευαζονίαι; Ως γαρ συνελονίι ειπειν, υδεν αξιολογον ανευ πυρώ ανθρωποι του ωρώ εισυ χρησιμων καίασκευαζονίαι.—Το which his Pupil very intelligently replies, Τπερδαλλει και τοι Φιλανθρωπια. Vid. Socrat. Memor. Lib. iv. A Work, that may be ranked among the finest Remains of Antiquity. Equal, 'tis acknowledged, to any of the antient Compositions in Purity of Style, and Dignity of Sentiment. Superior, I think, to them all, for the artful, delicate, and happy Manner of conveying Infruction.

I wish, the Author of the preceding Dialogues had been better acquainted with the Socratic Method; and I could wish, that young Students for the Ministry would adopt the Skill of this heathen Philosopher. Perhaps, no Qualification of human Growth, would more effectually contribute to render them, what St. Paul styles, didaxlines. It seems to be the most insimuating and successful Way both to convince and instruct. Nay, it convinces the Opponent out of his own Mouth, and makes the Pupil instruct himself. It is what the Teacher sent from GOD practised, in those incomparable Sketches of obliging and masterly Address, The Parable of the two Debtors, and of the good Samaritan. Luk. vii. 41. Luk. x. 30.

stand Candidates for a Place on the royal Crown, or a Seat on the virtuous Fair One's Breast. And, I will not with our Men of Gallantry say, emulate the living Brilliancy of her Eyes; but serve as a Foil, to set off the Loveliness and Excellency of her accomplished Mind, and amiable Conversation: whose Price, according to the unerring Estimate of Inspiration, is superior to Sapphires, is far above Rubies*.

Here are Quarries, stocked with Stones, inferior in Beauty to the Jeweler's Ware, but much more eminently beneficial. when properly ranged, and cemented with a tenacious Mortar, form the convenient Abodes of Peace, and build the strongest Fortifications of War: defending Us from the Inclemencies of the Weather, and the more formidable Asfaults of our Enemies. These constitute the Arches of the Bridge, the Arms of the Mole, and the rocky Girdle of our Quays: which convey the Traveler, with perfect Security, over the most rapid Rivers; or screen the Bark from the destructive Inroad of tempestuous Seas.—These stony Treasures are comparatively foft, while they continue in the Bowels of the Earth; but acquire an increasing Hardnefs, when exposed to the open Air. Was this remarkable Peculiarity reversed, what Difficulties culties would attend the Labours of the Mafon? His Materials could not be extracted from their Bed, nor fashioned for his Purpose, without infinite Toil. Were his Work completed, it could not long withstand the Fury of the Elements; but insensibly mouldering, or incessantly decaying, would elude the Expectations of the Owner; perhaps, might prove an immature Grave, instead of a durable Dwelling.

Here are various Assortments or vast Layers of Clay. Which however contemptible in its Appearance, is abundantly more advantageous, than the Rocks of Diamond, or the Veins of Gold. This is moulded, with great Expedition and Ease, into Vessels of any Shape, and of almost every Size. Some, so delicately fine, that they compose the most elegant and ornamental Furniture, for the Tea-table of a Princess. Others, so remarkably cheap, that they are ranged on the Shelves, and minister at the Meals, of the poorest Peasant. All so perfectly neat, that no Liquid takes the least Taint, nor the nicest Palate any Disgust, from their cleanly Services.

A Multiplicity of other valuable Stores, are locked up by Providence, in those ample Vaults. The Key of all is committed to the Management of Industry; with free Permission to produce duce each particular Species, as Necessity shall demand, or Prudence direct.

Which shall we most admire, the bountiful Heart, the liberal Hand, or the all-discerning Eye of our great CREATOR? How observable and admirable is his Precaution, in removing these useful but cumbrous Wares. from the Superficies; and stowing them, in proper Repositories, beneath the Ground!-Were they scattered over the Surface of the Soil, the Earth would be embarrassed with the enormous Load. Our Roads would be blocked up, and scarce any Portion left free for the Operations of Husbandry.—Were they bu-· ried extremely deep, or funk to the Center of the Globe, it would cost Us immense Pains to procure them; or rather, they would be quite inaccessible.—Were they uniformly spread into a Pavement for Nature; the Trees could not strike their Roots, nor the Herbs shoot their Blades, but univerfal Sterility must ensue.— Whereas, by their present Disposition, they furnish Us with a Magazine of metallic, without causing any Diminution of our vegetable Treasures. Fossils of every noble and serviceable Kind enrich the Bowels, while Bloom and Verdure embellish the Face of the Earth.

So judicious is the Arrangement of this grand Edifice! So beneficent the Destination of.

of its whole *Furniture! In which, all is regulated with confummate Skill, and touched into the highest Perfection. All most exactly adapted to the various Intentions of Providence, and the manifold Exigencies of Mankind: to supply every Want, We can feel; and gratify every Wish, We can form.

Insomuch that the whole System affords a favourite and exalted Topic of Praise, even to those distinguished Beings, who stand on the Sea of Glass, and have the Harps of GOD in their Hands. They lift their Voice and sing, Great and marvelous are thy Works, O LORD GOD Almighty †!—And is there not Reason, my Aspasso would say, infinite Reason, for Us to join this triumphant Choir; and add Gratitude to our Wonder, Love to our Hallelujahs? Since all these Things are to Us, not merely Objects of Contemplation, but Sources of Accommodation: not only a maiestic

* No Notice is taken of the Ocean, in this little Rent-roll of Nature's Wealth; because, a distinct Sketch is given of that grand Reservoir and its principal Services, in Letter IX.

† Revel. xv. 3. Great and marvelous are thy Works, O LORD GOD Almighty! Just and true are thy Ways, Thou KING of Saints! The first Part seems to mean, what the inspired Writer calls, The Song of Moses. The Second contains, what He styles, The Song of the LAMB. The first, I should imagine, relates to the stupendous Works of Creation. The second alludes to the far more wonderful Scheme of Redemption. The former, describing the System of Nature, is recorded by Moses; the latter, comprehending the Salvation of the Saints, is accomplished by CHRIST.

Let. 6. jestic Spectacle, bright with the Display of our CREATOR's Wisdom, but an inestimable Gift, rich with the Emanations of his Good-The Earth hath He fet before the Inhabitants of Glory, but the Earth bath He given to the Children of Men*.--Having given Us Ourselves; given Us a World; has He not a Right, a most unquestionable and unrivaled Right, to make that tender Demand? My Son, give me thy Heart +.

Shall I add another Passage? Which, viewed with any but the last Paragraph, will be like the Head of Gold, eminent and conspicuous on Feet of Iron and Clay. It is taken from the finest philosophical Oration, that ever was made. I never read it, but with a Glow of Delight, and with Impressions of Awe. in short, inimitably spirited and sublime.—— You think, perhaps, I act an impolitic Part, in being so lavish of my Praise; and that the Quotation must suffer, by such an aggrandizing Introduction. But I am under no Apprehenfions of this Kind. Forbear to be delighted, if You can; cease to admire, if You can; When You hear OMNISCIENCE itself declaring, That, on the Sight of this universal Fabric, emerging out of Nothing, THE MORN-ING STARS SANG TOGETHER, AND ALL THE Sons of GOD shouted for Joy ‡.—The System

* P/al, cxv. 16. + Prov. xxiii. 26. ‡ Job xxxviii. 5.

System was so graceful, so magnificent, and, in all Respects, so exquisitely finished; that the most exalted Intelligences were charmed, were transported. They knew not how to express themselves on the great Occasion, but in Shouts of Exultation, and Songs of Praise. Is it possible for Imagination to conceive an Encomium, so just, so high, so beautifully noble!—I am sure, after so much Delicacy, and Majesty of Sentiment, any thing of mine must be intolerably flat; unless You will except this one Profession, that I am, with the most cordial Sincerity,

My dear Aspasio, inviolably yours,

THERON.

THE PROPERTY OF THE POST OF TH

L E T T E R VII.

ASPASIO to THERON.

My dear THERON,

If You write with such a View, and from such a Motive, as are mentioned in your last, expect no more free-will Offerings from my Pen. In this one Instance, I shall think it my Duty to be covetous. I shall act the D 4 Misfer

Let. 7.

Miser out of Principle; and hardly persuade myself to part with a single Line, till it is become an undeniable Debt. I must turn your own Artifice on Yourself; and lay You under a Necessity of obliging, entertaining, and edifying me by your Correspondence.

For, give me Leave to assure You, that I am always delighted, and always improved by am always delighted, and always improved by your Epistles. They shew me a Multitude of Beauties in the Creation, which I should not otherwise have discerned. They point out the infinite Power, the unsearchable Wisdom, and the charmingly rich Goodness of the glorious MAKER. Such a Philosophy turns all Nature into a School of Instruction, and is an excellent Handmaid to true Religion. It makes every Object a Step, better than a golden Step, to raise both our Knowledge and our Affections to the adorable and immortal CAUSE of all.

While I am roving heedlesly along, your Remarks often interpose, like some intelligent faithful Menitor, who claps his Hand upon my Breast, and says; Stand still, and consider the wondrous Works of GOD*.—Willingly I obey the Admonition: the Christian may, with peculiar Complacency, behold this grand Magazine of Wonders, this copious Storehouse of Blessings; and, conscious of an Interest in JESUS.

JESUS, has a Right to call them all bis own*. He may look round upon present Things; look forward unto future Things; and, trusting in his SAVIOUR's Merit, may considently say—" Not one only, but both "these Worlds are mine. By virtue of my "REDEEMER's Righteousness, I possess "the necessary Accommodations of this Life; "and, on the same unshaken Footing, I stand intitled to the inconceivable Felicity of a "better."

Surely then it will be as pleasing an Employ, and as important a Search, to examine the Validity of our Title to all Things, as to estimate the Value of our present Possessions. executed the one, Let me attempt the other.— You have furveyed material Nature: it appears to be void of all Defect; and, for the Purposes which it is intended to answer, completely finished. Is not our SAVIOUR's Obedience, the Provision made for indigent and guilty Souls, equally perfect?—Since this is everlasting and immutable; since the other is transient and perishable; doubtless We may argue with the judicious Apostle: If that which is to be done away, which will foon be configned over to Dissolution, is glorious; much more that which remaineth, whose blessed Effects continue to eternal Ages, is glorious +.

We

We are every One, as an unclean Thing *. Our very Nature is contaminated. Even Sanctification, though it destroys the reigning, does not wholly supersede the polluting Power of Iniquity. So that whatever Graces We exercise, whatever Duties We perform, (like the Rays of Light transmitted through coloured Glass, or like generous Wine streaming from a defiled Cask) they receive some improper Tinge, or contract some debasing Taint. But CHRIST was intirely free from this innate Contagion. He had no erroneous Apprehensions in his Mind, no corrupt Bias upon his Will, nor any irregular Concupiscence in his Affections.

Being thus perfectly undefiled, He did no Sin, neither was Guile found in his Mouth +. All his Thoughts were innocent, all his Words were irreproachable, and every Action blame-The most accomplished among the Chilless. dren of Men, when surprised in some unguarded Moment, or affaulted on some weak Side, have been betrayed into Error, or hurried into Sin. Even Moses spake unadvisedly with his Lips; and Aaron, the Saint of the LORD, warped to idolatrous Practices. They were like some stagnating Lake; in which, the Dregs being subsided, the Waters appear clean; but, when stirred by Temptation, or agitated agitated by Affliction, the Sediment rifes, and the Pool is discoloured. Whereas, CHRIST may be compared to a Fountain, that is all Transparency, and pure to the very Bottom: which, however shaken, however disturbed, is nothing but fluid Crystal; permanently and invariably clear.

* Isaiab lxiv. 6. † 1 Pet. ii, 22;

It was a small Thing for the blessed JESUS, to have no depraved Propensity; He was born in a State of consummate Rectitude, and adorned with all the Beauties of Holiness. HOLINESS TO THE LORD was inscribed, not on the Mitre, but on the Heart of our great HIGH-PRIEST. Therefore He is styled by the Angelic Harbinger of his Birth, THAT HOLY THING*.—In the Prophecy of Zechariah, the Dignity of our REDEEMER's Nature, and the Perfection of his Obedience, are displayed by the Similitude of a Stone +, adorned with exquisite Engraving. Wrought, not * Luke i. 35.—Which is spoken, in Contradistinction to the State of all other Births; and implies the universal Prevalence of original Corruption, this one Instance only excepted. For, if other Instants were holy at their first Formation, and made after the Image of GOD, this Remark had been trivial and impertinent, if not droll and burlesque; like saying with great Solemnity, "The Child shall have a Mouth and a Head; aye, and Eyes in the one, and Lips to the other."

† Zechar, iii. 9, 10. Behold the Stone that I have laid before Joshua: upon one Stone shall be seven Eyes; behold! I will engrave the Graving thereof, saith the LORD of Hosts, and I will remove the Iniquity of that Land in one Day.

not by Bezaleel or Aboliab, though divinely inspired Artists, but by the Finger of JEHO-VAH Himself; and more highly finished, than it is possible for human Skill to equal, or human Thought to conceive.

Let. 7.

The whole Tenour of our LORD's Conduct, was a living Exemplification of Piety and Morality, in their most extensive Branches, and most amiable Forms. Saints of the highest Attainments, have fallen short of the Glory of GOD; have been far from reaching the exalted Standard of his Precepts. But CHRIST failed in no Point, came short in no Degree. -We formerly observed the great Sublimity, and vast Extent of the divine Law. whence appears the extreme Difficulty, nay the utter Impossibility of our Justification, on Account of any Duties performed by Ourselves. How should We rejoice then to contemplate the vicarious Righteousness of our condescending and adorable SURETY? As the Mercy-seat was exactly commensurate to the Dimensions of the Ark; so did our LORD's Obedience most fully quadrate with all and every Demand of the divine Law. It flowed from those noble Principles, supreme Love to GOD, and unfeigned Affection to Mankind.

From those two capital Sources, let Us trace our LORD's Obedience, through some little Part

Part of its illustrious Progress.—His Delight in GOD was conspicuous, even from his early Years. The sacred Solemnities of the Sanctuary, were more engaging to his youthful Mind, than all the Entertainments of a Festival.—When He entered upon his Ministry, whole Nights were not too long for his copious Devotions. The lonely Retirements of the Desart, as affording Opportunity for undisturbed Communion with GOD, were more desirable to CHRIST, than the Applauses of an admiring World.

So ceaseless and transcendent was his Love to GOD, that He never sought any separate Pleasure of his own; but always did those Things, which were pleasing in his FATHER's Sight. His own Will was intirely absorpt in the Will of the MOST HIGH; and it was his Meat and Drink, refreshing and delightful as the richest Food, or as royal Dainties, to sinish the Work that was given Him to do *.

So intirely devoted to the Honour of GOD, that a Zeal for his House, and for the Purity of his Ordinances, is represented by the evangelical Historian, as eating Him up +. Like a heavenly Flame, glowing in his Breast, it fometimes fired Him with a graceful Indignation; sometimes melted Him into godly Sorrow; and, by exerting itself in a Variety riety of vigorous Efforts, consumed his vital Spirits.

* John iv. 34. + John ii. 17.

So active and unremitted was the Obedience of the bleffed 7ESUS, that the Sun did not enter upon his Race with a more constant Affiduity, nor dispatch his Business with greater Expedition: and fure I am, that radiant Luminary never dispensed Beams, half so bright, or a thousandth Part so beneficial.—Short was his Span, but how grand and extensive were his Services. So grand, that they bring more Glory to GOD, than all the Administrations of Providence, and all the Phænomena of Nature. So extensive, that they fpread, in their gracious Efficacy, to the Ends of the Earth, and to the closing Period of Time. Nay, they will diffuse their blessed Influence even to the celestial World, and have no other Limits of their Duration than the Ages of Eternity.

Most affectionately concerned for the Welfare of Mankind, He spent his Strength, not barely in relieving them, when his Aid was implored; but in feeking the Afflicted, and offering his Assistance. With great Fatigue *,

He

* JESUS being weary with his Journey, εκαθεζείο είως. John iv. 6.—είως is thus explained by a Greek Commentator, απλως, και ως ετυχε. Our LORD fat down, without Ceremony and without Complaint, even on the rough Place: contented to use it, just as He sound it; neither desiring a softer Seat, nor wishing for any better Accommodation.—I rather

He travelled to remote Cities; and with no less Condescension, He visited the meanest Villages; that All might have the Benesit and Comfort of his Presence. Though Multitudes of miserable Objects were brought to Him from every Quarter, yet he was pleased even to prevent the Wishes of the Distressed, and went about doing Good.

He gave Sight*, and all the agreeable Scenes of Nature, to the Blind; Health, and all the choice Comforts of Life, to the Diseased. He expelled malevolent raging Dæmons; and restored, what is more precious than the Light of the Body, or the Vigour of Constitution, the calm Possession of the intellectual Faculties.—What greatly surpassed all the preceding Blessings, He released the wretched Soul from the Dominion of Darkness, and from the Tyranny of Sin. He made his Followers Partakers rather think, the Adverb refers to the preceding Adjective xernarand, which signifies a State of very great Fatigue; weakening a Person to such a Degree, that He can hardly walk with steady Steps, or even sit in an upright Attitude. The sacred Historian seems to mean, that our LORD sat in such a Posture, as spoke the Lassitude of his Body; declared the Failure of his Spirits; and shewed Him to be spent with the Heat of the Day, and the Toil of Traveling. Which Circumstance gives a most beautiful Heightening to his Charity and Zeal, so generously and so successfully exerted in the following Conference.

* Exaginate to Bremein, is the delicate and noble Expression of the Evangelist, Luke vii. 21. He made them a Present of Sight. Silver and Gold had He none; but these were his Gifts; such were his Alms,

Partakers of a divine Nature, and prepared them for a State of never-ending Blifs.

Such priceless Treasures of Wisdom and Beneficence slowed from his Tongue, and were poured from his Hands!—How different these Triumphs of Mercy, from the Trophies erected, by wild Ambition, in the bloody Field! If Heathens celebrated those mighty Butchers, who made Cities their Slaughter-house; made half the Globe their Shambles; and measured their Merit, by the Devastations they spread; how should Christians admire this heavenly BENEFACTOR, who rose upon a wretched World, with Healing under his Wings! Who distributed, far and near, the unspeakably rich Gifts of Knowledge and Holiness, of temporal Happiness and eternal Joy!

Nor were these righteous Acts his strange Work, but his repeated, his bourly, his almost incessant Employ. Sometimes, We hear Him preaching in the Temple, or publishing his glad Tidings in the Synagogues. Sometimes, We see Him teaching in private Houses, or bringing forth the good Things of his Gospel on the Deck of a Ship. At other Times, He takes a Mountain for his Pulpit; the Heavens are his Sounding-board; and all that bave Ears to bear, are invited to be his Audience.—Does He lay aside this solemn Office? It is only to carry on the same Design, in a more condescending and familiar Manner. If he meets with the Pharifees, He discovers their Errors, and reproves their Vices; He confutes their Objections, and (in case they are not absolutely inaccessible to wise Counsel) rectifies their Mistakes. If He vouchsafes to be present at a Feast, He furnishes the richest, incomparably the richest Part of the Treat. Honey and Milk are under his Tongue *. He inculcates Lowliness of Mind on the Vain +; He recommends disinterested Charity to the Selfish ‡; and promises Pardon to the weeping Penitent ||.- Is He retired from other Company, and furrounded only by his chosen Attendants? His Conversation is a Sermon. Whether He sit in the inner Chamber, or travel on the public Road, or walk through the Cornfields, He is still profecuting his great Work; training up his Disciples for their sacred Function; and imparting to them, what they may communicate to Others.——Is He retired from all Company? Even then He does not discontinue his Labours of Love, but adds the fervent Intercessions of the Night, to the charitable Toils of the Day. Yes, when All but Himself, lay sunk in soft Repose, this ADVO-CATE for a guilty World, was engaged in an Exercise of Benevolence; which, though secret and and unobserved as the falling Dews, was far more beneficial to our best Interests, than those pearly Drops to the languishing Herbs.

* Cant. iv. 11. + Luke xiv. 8. ‡ Luke xiv. 12. Luke vii. 48.

Vol. III.

Most charming and unparalleled Benignity! He forgot his daily Food, negletted his necessary Rest, to spend and be spent for the Salvation of Mankind. Neither the Hardships of continual Self-denial, nor the Calumnies of invenomed Tongues, could divert Him from purfuing this favourite Business.—He sought none of your Honours, coveted none of your Rewards, O ye Children of Men! What He fought, what He coveted, was, to wear out his Life in your Service, and lay it down for your Ransom. This was all his Defire, and this indeed He defired earnestly.—He longed (beneficent, blessed Being!) He longed for the fatal Hour. He feverely rebuked one of his Disciples, who would have disfuaded Him from going as a Voluntier to the Cross. He was even straitened*, under a Kind of of holy Uneafiness, till the dreadful Work was accomplished; till He was baptized with the Baptism of his Sufferings, bathed in Blood, and plunged in Death.

* Luke xii. 50. The original Word oursy opas seems to express the Condition of a Person, wedged in, on every Side, by a tumultuous Throng of People. His Hands are hampered, and his Body is confined in a moving Prison. He is crushed by the Crowd, and pants for Breath.-How must such a One long to be disengaged from these very uneasy Circumstances! With equal Ardour did our most beneficent LORD defire those Sufferings, which were to overwhelm Him with Distress, but exalt Us to Happiness; were to bathe his Limbs in Blood, but cleanse our Souls from Sin.—O. exher, fays the fame Historian, συνέχεσι σε και αποθλιδέση Luke viii. 45.

By this most meritorious Obedience and Death, what did He not deserve? What did He not procure? He procured those inestimable Blessings, the Pardon of Sin, and Reconciliation with GOD. Procured them (O! Love unmerited and unmeasurable!) for Prodigals, for Traitors, for Rebels.—To this it is owing, that We, who were Enemies against GOD, may call the KING of Heaven our Father; may have free Access to Him in all our Dissiculties; and may hope to reign with Him in everlassing Glory,

Was ever Goodness like this Goodness*! Were ever Blessings comparable to these Bless-* Codrus, it is true, devoted Himself to Death for the Athenians; and Curtius threw Himself into the yawning Gulph, for the Preservation of the Romans.—But these died, being mere Creatures, and guilty Creatures: whereas, the dying JESUS was perfectly innocent, and supremely glorious.—These died, only a little before their Time: but CHRIST died, though He had Life in Himself, and None could have taken it from Him, had He not voluntarily refigned it.—These died for their valuable Friends, for their affectionate Relations, for their native Country: but CHRIST died for Slaves, for Enemies, for the Ungodly.—They died an honourable Death: but CHRIST submitted to the most ignominious Execution; CHRIST died under the Imputation of horrid Crimes, and in the Form of an execrable Malefactor.—In all these Instances, as the Heavens are higher than the Earth, so is CHRIST's Love greater than their Love; his Philanthropy than their Patriotism.

ings? or purchased with such a Price?—Hide, hide, your diminished Heads, ye little transitory Donations of Silver and Gold. The Riches of a thousand Mines, bestowed to feed the Hungry and clothe the Naked, are the most contemptible Trisles, if mentioned with the Charity of the teaching, the bleeding JESUS. Kingdoms given away in Alms, if viewed with this infinitely noble Beneficence, would make just the same Figure, as a Spark from the Summer-hearth, under the potent and boundless Blaze of Noon.—This is indeed Love that passet Knowledge *.

Amidst all these Miracles of Power and of Love (any one of which would have intitled Him to universal Admiration, and everlasting Honour) how bumble was our SAVIOUR! O' Humility—Virtue dear to the most High GOD, and peculiarly amiable in Man—never didst Thou * Eph. iii. 19. This Expression, as also the principal Circumstance of Superiority hinted in the preceding Note, are founded on the Divinity of our LORD. And indeed the Expression is scarce justifiable, the Assertion is hardly true, upon any other Supposition. A Creature dying for a Creature, is, though great, yet not incomprehensible Goodness. But, when We view the Sufferings CHRIST, and the Blessings of Redemption, surrounded with all the Splendor of the DEITY; they dazzle our Understanding, and fill Us with holy Astonishment. They appear to be the Effects of a Love, never to be spoke of but in the Language of Wonder, never to be thought of but with an Extasy of Delight.

Thou appear in so charming a Dress, or so striking a Light.

At his Birth, not accommodated with a magnificent Palace, but lodged in a Stable, and laid in a Manger.—As He advanced in Years, not attended and ferved with a royal Revenue, but earning his Bread by the Sweat of his Brow.—When He entered upon his ministerial Office, not the least oftentatious Parade appeared, in the Performance of all his wonderful Works. So far, so very far from affecting the Acclamations of the Populace, that He often imposed Silence on those unspeakably indebted Lips, which were ready to overflow with Praise, and would fain have been the Trumpets of his Fame.

Though a Voice from Heaven proclaimed Him, The BELOVED of his Almighty FA-THER; He distained not to own the ignoble Character of the Carpenter's Son *. Though PRINCE of the Kings of the Earth, He condescended to wash the Feet of mean Fishermen, and vile Sinners †. Though PROPRIETOR and LORD of the whole World, He was content to be more destitute than the Fowls of the Air, or the Foxes of the Desart ‡: more destitute (astonishing Abasement!) than the most insignificant and most bated Animals.

Gran-

• Matt. xiii. 53. † John xiii. 14. ‡ Matt. viii. 20.

Grandeur, We find, is apt to beget Expectations of superior Regard: consequently, gives a keener Edge to every Affront, and renders the Mind more tenderly sensible of every Disrespect. But our LORD's Meekness was as great as his Dignity; and that, throughout a Series of such unsufferable Provocations, as were equaled by nothing, but the Sweetness of his forgiving Grace.

When rudely affronted, He calmly bore, and kindly overlooked the Insult.—When contradicted by petulant and presumptuous Sinners, He endured, with the utmost Serenity of Temper, their unreasonable Cavils, and their obstinate Perverseness.—When his Invitations, his endearing Invitations, to be wise and happy, were ungratefully and stubbornly rejected; instead of remitting, He renewed them; and, with still warmer Affection, importuned his Hearers not to forfeit their own Mercies.—When all the winning Arts of Persuasion were inessectual, He added his Tears to his slighted Intreaties; and lamented as a Brother, when scornfully repulsed as a Teacher.

Though bis Disciples slept, stupidly slept, when his bitter Cries pierced the Clouds, and were enough to awaken the very Stones into Compassion; did their divine but slighted MASTER resent the Unkindness? Did He resule to admit an Excuse for their Neglect?

Yea, He made their Excuse; and that the most tender and gracious imaginable; The Spirit is willing, but the Flesh is weak*.—When his Enemies had nailed Him to the Cross, as the basest Slave, and most flagitious Malesactor; when they were glutting their Malice, with his Torments and Blood; and spared not to revise Him, even in his last expiring Agonies; far, very far from being exasperated, this HERO of Heaven repaid all their Contempt and Barbarity, with the most fervent and effectual Supplications in their Behalf. FATHER, forgive them, was his Prayer: far, they know not what they do +, was his Plea.

Nor was his Refignation less exemplary than his Meekness. He went out to meet Afflictions, when they came in his FATHER's Name, and commissioned from his FATHER's Hand. He gave, without the least Reluctance, his Back to the Smiters, and hid not his Face from Shame and Spitting. Though his Soul, his very Soul was penetrated with the keenest Sensations of Anguish; yet, no impatient Thought discomposed his Mind, no murmuring Word forced its Way from his Lips. FATHER, not my Will, but thine be done; was his Language; when the Sorrows of Death compassed Him, and the Pains of

* Matt. xxvi. 41. † Luke mii. 34. ‡ Luke xxii. 42.

Hell gat hold upon him *. When they gaped upon him with their Mouth, and smote Him upon the Cheek reproachfully. When his Face was foul with Spitting, and on his Eyelids was the Shadow of Death. When GOD delivered Him to the Ungodly, and turned Him over into the Hands of the Wicked. Yea, when the ALMIGHTY set him for the Mark of his Arrows, and brake Him with Breach upon Breach. When the Weapons of his Wrath cleft his very Reins asunder, and poured his Gall upon the Earth †. Amidst all this exquisite Distress, He sinned not by the least irregular Perturbation; but bowed his Head, and dutifully kissed the divine Rod, and ordially blessed his very Murderers.

Thus did the whole Choir of active and passive Virtues abound and shine in our LORD: abound with the richest Variety, and shine with the highest Lustre. Infinitely surpassing that curious Assemblage of costly Gems, which studded the Aaronic Breast-plate; and, as far as earthly Things can represent heavenly,

type-

* Pfal. cxvi. 3.

† These tragical Images are borrowed from the Book of Job, who was an eminent Type of a suffering SAVIOUR; and, though they are the very Eloquence of Woe, do not exaggerate, nay, cannot express, that inconceivable Anguish; which wrung a bloody Sweat from our blessed MASTER's Body, and forced from his Lips that melanchely Exclamation—My Soul is forrowful—exceeding forrowful—forrowful even unto Death. See Job xvi.

‡ Exed. xxviii. 17, 18, 19, 20.

I

typefied the Splendor of our REDEEMER's Righteousness.

In all this, he acted as GOD's righteous Servant, and as his People's righteous Surety.—By all this, He fulfilled every Jot and Tittle of the divine Law; nay, He more than fulfilled, He magnified it. He gave it (if I may apply the most beautiful Allusion that ever was used, to the most noble Subject that ever was discussed) good Measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over *.

He defied the most vigilant of his Enemies to convince him of Sin.—A more malignant, a far more sagacious Adversary than the Scribes and Pharisees, could detect no Blemish in our LORD JESUS. The Prince of this World, that infernal Tyrant, who had deceived and inslaved the Nations of the Earth, came and found nothing in Him; not the least Corruption in his Nature, nor the least Defect in his Obedience.

He bath done all Things well ‡, was the general Acclamation of Mankind: or, as the Words may be rendered, He hath done all Things finely and gracefully ||. With every Circumstance, that can constitute the Propriety and Dignity, the Utility and Beauty of Action.

* Luke vi. 38. + John xiv. 30. ‡ Mark vii. 37.

Kαλως.

I have glorified Thee on Earth*, was his own Profession before the most High GOD. I have glorified Thee, in all that I acted, in all that I spoke, in all that I suffered. I have displayed the Magnissence of thy Majesty, the Riches of thy Grace, and the Honour of all thy Attributes. Insomuch that whose seeth ME, seeth the FATHER+; whoever is properly acquainted with my Person and my Work of Requainted Without Majesty See his venerable, his amiable, his adorable Persections, in the clearest Mirror, and in the brightest Light I.

and unerring Judge of Excellency, bore his Testimony to our blessed MEDIATOR. He spoke it once, yea twice, and with a Voice from Heaven.—In the Constitution of the material World, when it came forth from the CREATOR's Hand, Omniscience itself could discern no Flaw. Neither could Justice itself, upon the strictest Inquiry, discover any Failure in the Obedience of our SURETY. As therefore it was said, concerning the Works of Creation, They are all very good; So it was

* John xvii. 4. + John xii. 45.

† Therefore CHRIST is faid to be anauyasma the dolors, Heb. i. 3. Not barely the Glory, but the very Brightness of his FATHER's Glory: Or, the Glory of the GODHEAD, beaming forth with adequate, that is, with inestable and infinite Splendor.

Gen. i, 31, was faid, concerning our SAVIQUE, and by the fame Almighty MAJESTY, In Him I am well pleafed *.

You took Notice, and very justly, how much the Productions of Nature exceed and eclipse the Attempts of human Skill. We are pleased with the Performances of the Painter: but do they equal the native Blush of the Rose, or the artless Glow of a Pea-Blossom? We are charmed with a fine Piece of Enameling; but is it fit to be compared with the natural Polish, of a thousand Shells which are formed in the Ocean, or a thousand Seeds which spring from the Earth? We admire the Virtues of the antient Saints; Men "that were honoured in " their Generation, and the Glory of their " Times +," We admire the Meekness of Moses, and the Magnanimity of Elijab; the exalted Piety of Isaiab, and the inlarged Wisdom of Daniel; the active Spirit of Joshua, and the passive Graces of Jeremiab. But what Proportion, put them all together—what Proportion do they all bear to HIS Obedience, who is gone into Heaven, Angels and Authorities and Powers being made subject unto Him ‡? Who is called the HOLY ONE and the JUST ||; not only by way of Emphasis, but by way of Exclusion. Because, no Person is worthy of the Cha,

* Matt. iii. 17. † Ecclef. xliv. 7. ‡ 1 Pet. iii, 22: | Acts iil. 14.

Character, no Duties deserve to be mentioned, when CHRIST and his Merits are under Confideration.

If then We talk of Merit, what Merit must there be in fuch immaculate Sanctity of Soul, and fuch exemplary Holiness of Conduct; such ardent Zeal for GOD, and fuch compassionate Good-will to Man; fuch confummate Worthiness, and extensive Usefulness? Such as were utterly unknown before; have been absolutely unequaled fince; and never will, nor can be paralleled, throughout all Ages!-O my Theron! What is the Drop of a Bucket to the unfathomable Waves of the Ocean? What is a Grain of Sand to the unmeasurable Dimenfions of the Universe? What is an Hour or a Moment to the endless Revolutions of Eternity? Such are all human Endowments, and all human Attainments, compared with this matchlefs Righteoufness of CHRIST  $\gamma ESUS$ .

Think not, that what I have written is the Language of Rant. It is a Paraphrase, though, I must confess, but a scanty Paraphrase, on David's Practice and David's Faith. My Mouth shall shew forth thy Righteousness and thy Salvation all the Day*, for I know not the Numbers thereof

* Pfal. 1xxi. 15. I cannot but observe, that Righteousness and Salvation are frequently connected, by the Author of the Pfalms, and by the Prophet Isaiah. In order to intimate, that the one is founded on the other; the latter derives its Origin thereof. The glorious Righteousness of CHRIST, and the great Salvation obtained thereby, He declares, shall be the chosen, the principal Subject of his Discourse. And not on a Sabbath only, but on every Day of the Week, of the Year, Origin from the former; there can be no Salvation without a Righteousness, a real, proper, Law-fulfilling Righteousness.—At the same Time, I am sensible, that the Word Righteousness may signify GOD's Goodness in making, and Faithfulness in performing, his Promises unto David. Salvation may likewise denote the Delivery of that afflicted Hero from all his Persecutors, and his Establishment on the Throne of Israel.

But if We should confine the Sense to these narrow Limits, how comfortless the Favour even to David Himself, considered as an immortal Being. How much more insignificant to Us and Others, on whom the Ends of the World are come. And how very unworthy of that infinite GOD, who is the Father of the Spirits of all Flesh; who sees, at one View, whatever is, or has been, or shall exist; who therefore, when He speaks, speaks to all his Children, in every Period of Time, and in every Nation under Heaven. As much as a Tutor, when delivering his Lectures, addresses Himself to all his Pupils, whether they sit at his Right-hand or his lest, before Him or on every Side.

Whereas, if Righteousness signifies the meritorious Obedience of CHRIST, and Salvation implies the Benefits of his Redemption, the Sense is no longer shriveled, impoverished, and mean; but rich, august, and magnificent. It pours Consolation among all People, Kindreds, and Tongues. It is worthy of that GOD, who seeth the Things, and regardeth the Persons, which are not as though they were. It comports exactly with that Revelation, in which CHRIST is the Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the Ending, the Sum total.

This Note is already too long; otherwise I should take leave to gratify my Inclination, and give a Sanction to my Sentiment, by transcribing Vitringa's Exposition of Ijai. xlv. 8.

Year, of his Life. And not barely at the stated Returns of solemn Devotion, but in every so-cial Interview, and all the Day long.—Why will He thus dwell, perpetually and invariably dwell, on this one Theme? Because, He knew no End thereof. It is impossible to measure the Value, or exhaust the Fulness of these Blessings. The Righteousness is unspeakable, the Salvation is everlasting. To compute the Duration of the One, Numbers fail; to describe the Excellency of the Other, Words are at a Loss.

Here therefore Millions of Sinners may suck; and be satisfied with these Breasts of Consolations: yea, Thousands of Millions may milk out, and be delighted with the Abundance of their Glory*.

—Here we shall find the Doctrine of Supererogation, no longer a Chimera, but a delightful Reality. Here indeed is an immense Surplusage, an inexhaustible Fund of Merst; sufficient to enrich a whole World of indigent and milerable Creatures: sufficient to make their Cup run over with a superabundant Ful-* Ifai. lxvi. 11.

† Yet here is no rich Fund (as a learned Writer affects) no Fund at all, for the Pope's Treasury of meritorisus supererogating Actions: unless CHRIST and the Pope are to be placed upon the same Footing; unless the ineffably excellent Obedience of a divine REDEEMER, and the miserably defective Duties of sinful Men, are to be deemed equally valuable.—Since this will hardly be admitted by Protestants; I believe, Aspasso may safely call the Obedience of CHRIST, The true Supererogation; as Mr. Ambrose has called the Blood of CHRIST, The true Purgatory.

ness of Peace and Joy, so long as Time shall last, and when Time shall be no more. For, to ule the Apostle's weighty Argument, If by one Man's Offence, Death reigned by one; much more they which receive Abundance of Grace, and of the Gift of Righteousness, shall reign in Life by one, JESUS CHRIST*. If one Offence. committed by one mere Man, made all his Posterity chargeable with Guilt, and liable to Death: How MUCH MORE shall the manifold Instances of our divine REDEEMs E R's Obtedience; his long, uninterrupted, confummate Righteoushess; --- how much more shall they absolve all his People from Condemnation and Purlishment, and intitle them to the Honours and Joys of Immortality!

Which will appear in a clearer Light, if, to the Perfection of his Obedience, We add the Majefly of his Perfon. A proper Subject this, for some future Letter.—In the mean Time, let me desire my Friend, the Friend of my Bosom, to contemplate our LORD JESUS under that lovely and august Character, Glorious in Holiness †. And for my Part, I will not cease to pray, that a Sense of this supereminently grand and precious Righteousness may be written on my Theron's Heart.—On those living Tables, may it be like Figures cut on a Rock of solid Marble, or inscribed on the Bark of a growing growing Tree: be lasting in its Duration as the former, and spreading in its Influence as the latter.—It will then be a sure Proof, that his Name is written in the Book of Life; and it shall then be a pleasing Pattern for the Affection, the Gratitude, and the Friendship, of bis Aspasio.

* Rom. v. 17.

Let. 7:

P.S. You give a most astonishing Account of the Pressure of the Atmosphere. Astonishing indeed! That we should be continually furrounded, continually overwhelmed, with fuch a tremendous Load; and not be crushed to death, no, nor be sensible of the least Weight.—This, I think, may ferve to represent the State of a Sinner, unawakened from carnal Security. Loads, more than mountainous Loads of Guilt, are upon his Soul, and He perceives not the Burden. For this Reason, He is under no Apprehensions of the Vengeance and fiery Indignation, which He deserves; He has no superlative Esteem for the Atonement and Merits of the REDEEM-ER, which alone can deliver Him from the Wrath to come. But, if once his Conscience feels, what his Lips, perhaps, have often repeated; We do earnestly repent Us of these our Missoings; the Remembrance of them is grievous unto Us, the Burden of them is intolerable; then how will He prize such a Text; The LORD laid on CHRIST the Iniquity of Us all! How will He long for an Interest in the LAMB of GOD, which taketh away the Sin of the World! Then, that JESUS who has sinished the Transgrefsion, and brought in everlasting Rightcousness, will be all his Salvation, and all his Desire.

LETTER VIII.

ASPASIO to THERON.

Dear THERON,

HAVE just been reading that exquisitely fine Piece of sacred History, The Life of Joseph. A History—filled with surprising Incidents, and unexpected Revolutions—adorned with the most heroic Instances of triumphant Virtue, both amidst the Allurements of Temptation, and under the Pressures of Assistance animated with such tender and pathetic, such melting and alarming Touches of natural Eloquence, as every Reader must feel, and every true Critic will admire.

Vol. III. F When

When I came to that remarkable Injunction, with which the generous Viceroy difmissed his Brethren; Ye skall tell my Father of all my Glory in Egypt *---I paused---I pondered-I was struck. Certainly, this was injoined, not by way of Ostentation; but on account of the Pleasure, which, He knew, it would yield the good old Patriarch.—Was it fome kind prompting Angel, or the Voice of Gratitude and Devotion, that whispered in my Ear? " Should not the Children of Men " likewise tell one another of all the Glory +, " which their REDEEMER possesses in Hea-"ven and on Earth? Will not this afford " them the sublimest Pleasure Here, and be a "Source

* Gen. xlv. 13.

+ To see the Glary of CHRIST, is the grand Bleffing, which our LORD folicits and demands for his Disciples, in his last solemn Intercession. John xvii. 24. It is that, which will complete the Bleffedness of Heaven; and fill its Inhabitants with Joy unspeakable and glorious.—Surely, then, We should endeavour to anticipate, in some Degree, that celestial Bliss; and babituate our Souls to this sacred Exercise. which will be our Business and our Reward to endless Ages.

Should the Reader desire Assistance in this important Work, I would refer Him to a little Treatise of Dr. Owen's, intitled, Meditations on the Glory of CHRIST:-'Tis little in Size, not so in Value. Was I to speak of it, in the classical Style, I should call it, aureus, gemmens, mellitus. But I would rather fay, it is richly replenished with that Unction from the HOLY ONE, which tends to inlighten the Eyes, and chear the Heart; which sweetens the Enjoyments of Life, foftens the Horrors of Death, and prepares for the Fruitions of Eternity.

Let. 8. Aspasso to Theron. 67
"Source of divine Satisfaction for ever and "ever?"

Though I had almost determined to write no more, till You could make a Demand, upon the Foot of Value received; willingly I recede from my intended Resolution, and obey this pleasing Hint.—But who can declare the noble Acts of the LORD JESUS CHRIST, or shew forth all his Praise?—However, if I may but list out his adorable Name, and present my Friend with a Glimpse, or a broken View of his divine Perfections, even this will be desirable and delightful. Far more desirable and delightful, than to behold Rome in its Magnificence, St. Paul in the Pulpit, or King Solomon on his Throne *.

Let me take the Lark for my Pattern; which, as I was lately returning from an Evening Ramble, attracted my Observation.—
Warbling her CREATOR's Praise, she mounted in the serene Sky. Still she warbled, and still she mounted, as though she meant to carry her Tribute of Harmony unto the very Gates of Heaven. Having reached, at last, her highest Elevation, and perceiving herself at an immense Distance from the starry Mansions, she dropped on a sudden to the Earth; and and discontinued, at once, both to sing, and to soar.—Now the Morning appears, and is awakening the World, our little Songster retunes her Throat, and re-exerts her Wings.—As I have endeavoured, very imperfectly endeavoured, to strike out a shadowy Draught of our LORD's complete Obedience; I would, though unequal to the Task, once more resume my Pen, and attempt—nothing like a Display, but only a faint Sketch of his essential Dignity.

* These, if I remember right, are the three Things, which St. Augustine declared, would, of all others, most eminently gratify his Curiosity.

First let me observe, that for some Time past, We have been visited with the most uncomfortable Weather; dewless Nights, and sultry Days. The Firmament was more like a glowing Furnace, than the Region of refreshing Rain. - The Earth lay parched with Thirst, and chapped with Heat. The Meadows were drained of their Humidity, and all the Flowers hung their fading Heads.—The Streams, which used to flow parallel with the verdant Margin, abandoned their Banks; and funk, diminished and discoloured, to the Bottom of their oozy Channels.—Nature in general feemed to be refigning the "Robe of Beauty, " for the Garment of Heaviness." Drought was in all our Borders; and Famine, We feared, was not far behind.—Clouds of Dust, obscured the Air; tarnithed the Hedges; and almost fmo-

Imothered the Traveler: but not one Cloud of fleecy White appeared, to variegate the blue Expanse, or give Us Hopes of a reviving Shower *.

It reminded me of that awful Threatening, denounced by Moses on a wicked People; Thy Heaven, that is over thy Head, shall be Brass; and the Earth, that is under Thee, shall be Iron+.-It made me apprehensive of that terrible State, which the Prophet so emphatically describes; The Field is wasted, and the Land mourneth. The Seed is rotten under the Clods, and the Harvest perisbeth. The Garners are laid desolate, and the Barns are broken down.—The new Wine is dried up; the Oil languisheth; and all the Trees of the Field are withered.—How do the Beafts groan! The Herds of Cattle are perplexed. Yea, the Flocks of Sheep are made desolate. Because, the Rivers of Waters are dried up, and the Fire hath devoured the Pastures of the Wilderness ‡.-But, bleffed be the Divine PROVIDENCE, our Fears are vanished, and a most joyful Change has taken Place. The LORD hath fent a gracious ‡ Joel i. 10, &c.

* At such a Juncture, how pertinent is the Question, proposed by the Almighty MAJESTY? Job xxxviii. 37, 38. Who can number, muster or arrange, the Clouds in Wisdom? So as to have them ready at hand, on any Emergency. And who can empty those Bottles of Heaven, in copious but seasonable Effusions upon the Earth? When, as in the Case described above, the Dust of the Roads is attenuated into Powder, בצקה למוצק and the Clods of the Valley are glued fast together, ירבקר † Deut. xxviii. 23.

cious Rain on his Inheritance, and refreshed it, when it was weary *.

Yesterday in the Afternoon, the Wind shifting to the South, roused the dormant Clouds, and brought some of those agreeable Strangers on its Wings.—At first, they came sailing in small, and thin, and scattered Parties. Anon, the slying Squadrons advanced in larger Detachments, more closely wedged, and more deeply laden. Till at last, the great Rendezvous completed, they formed into a Body of such prodigious Depth, and extended their Wings with such an unmeasurable Sweep, as darkened the Sun, and overspread the whole Hemisphere.

Just at the Close of Day, the Gales that escorted the spongy Treasures, retired; and consigned their Charge to the Disposal of a profound Calm. Not a Breeze shook the most tremulous Leaf. Not a Curl russed the smooth expansive Lake. All Things were still, as in attentive Expectation. The Earth seemed to gasp after the hovering Moisture. Nature, with her suppliant Tribes, in expressive pleading Silence, solicited the falling Fruitfulness. Nor pleaded long, nor solicited in vain.

The Showers, gentle, soft, and balmy, defeend. The Vessels of Heaven unload their precious Freight, and enrich the penurious Glebe.

٠.

* Pfal. lxviii. 9.

Glebe. Through all the Night, the liquid Sweetness, incomparably more beneficial than trickling Silver, distils; shedding Herbs, and Fruits, and Flowers.—Now the Sun, mild and refulgent, issues through the Portals of the East. Pleased, as it were, to have emerged from the late aggravated Darkness, He looks abroad with peculiar Gaiety, and the most engaging Splendors. He looks through the disburdened Air, and finds a gladdened World, that wants nothing but his all-chearing Beams, to render her Satisfaction complete.

The Glory comes!—Hail to thy rifing Ray, Great Lamp of Light, and second Source of Day!

Who robe the World, each nipping Gale remove, Treat every Sense, and beam creating Love *.

At his auspicious Approach, the freshened Mountains lift their Heads, and smile. The Garden opens its aromatic Stores; and breathes, as from a suming Altar, Balm to the Smell, and Incense to the Skies. The little Hills, crowned with springing Plenty, clap their Hands on every Side. The moistened Plains, and irriguous Valleys, laugh and sing. While their Waters, lately exhausted, again are made deep, and their Rivers run like Oil +.

The

*These beautiful Lines are borrowed from the SEA-PIECE, Canto IV. A narratory, philosophical, and descriptive Poem, written by my ingenious Friend, Dr. Kirkpatrick.

+ Ezek. xxxii. 14.

The Earth, faturated with the Bounty of Heaven, and flushed with humid Life, wears a thousand Marks of Gratitude and Complacency. Washed by the copious Rain, how bright and vivid is the universal Verdure! The green Carpet below, may almost vie with the blue Canopy above.—The Forest, and every Tree, burnish their Colours, and array themselves in their finest Apparel. Which, as on a Day of general Festivity, is delicately decked with Gems: Gems of unfullied Lustre, and of genial Moisture.-From every Pasture, and from all the Grove, the Voice of Pleasure and of Melody resounds. While the officious Zephyrs waft the floating Harmony, blended with native Perfumes; gently waft them to the Senses, and touch the very Soul with Transport.

Could there be a more brilliant Appearance, or more exuberant Demonstrations of Joy, even to celebrate the Anniversary of Nature's Birth? With what admirable Propriety has the Pfalmist compared yonder orient Sun, in all his sparkling Grandeur, to a young exulting Bridegroom +; who comes forth, with every heightened Ornament from his Chamber, to shew Himself in the most distinguished Period of his Life, and to receive the Blessing that consummates his Happiness!

This

This most charming and equally majestic Scene, recals to my Memory that fine Description of the MESSIAH, extant in the last lovely Strains of the Israelitish Swan*—HE shall be welcome and salutary as the Light of the Morning; when the Sun ariseth, to chase the malignant Shades, and pour Day through the reviving World. He shall be as the Light of a Morning, that is most serenely fair; without either Storms to disturb, or Clouds to obscure the glorious, the delightful Dawn. Yea, his Appearance shall be more beautiful, and his Influences more beneficial †, than the clear Shining of * 2 Sam. xxiii. 3. Ifraelitish Swan—In Allusion to those well-known Lines of the Poet.

Multa Dircæum levat Aura Cygnum.

And not without a Reference to the popular Notion, that the Swan sings the most melodious Notes in its last Moments. Fuit hac facundi Senis quasi cygnea Vox. Tully.

† More beautiful, more beneficial, than the clear Shining.—Thus We have ventured to translate, or rather to paraphrase, the Words מנונדן That the Prefix ה often occurs in the Acceptation of comparative Pre-eminence, is plain from a very remarkable Passage in Psal. xix. 11. Where our inspired Author, quite ravished with the Love of the sacred Oracles, declares; They are desirable beyond Gold, even beyond fine Gold; and sweet beyond Honey, even beyond the Droppings of the Honeycomb.

If this Sense is admitted, We shall have a fine Comparison, and a grand Advance upon it; acknowledging the Insufficiency even of the boldest and brightest Images, to represent the Glory of CHRIST's Kingdom, and the Benignity of his Administration—Perhaps, the Translation may 74 of that grand Luminary, after a Night of settled Gloom, and Showers of incessant Rain. When his Beams shed animating Warmth, and vital Lustre, on the tender Grass impearled with Dews, and on all the green Treasures of the teeming Earth.

As We have already contemplated the bleffed JESUS, under the amiable Character of the JUST ONE; the foregoing Passage of Scripture represents Him to our Faith, in the more majestic Quality of THE LORD OF GLORY. -Or rather, unites the two grand Peculiarities, which render Him unparalleled in his perfonal, and all-sufficient in his mediatorial Capacity.

Great, unspeakably great and glorious would our SAVIOUR appear; if We had no other Manifestations of his Excellency, than those which preceded his mysterious Incarnation. -In the antient Scriptures, He stands characterized, as the supreme Object of GOD's ineffable Complacency; vested with a Glory. prior to the Birth of Time, or the Existence of Things; even the Glory, which He had with the FATHER, before the World was *. - He is every be too free and daring, and not approve itself to the exact Critic. The Sense, however, is unquestionably just; agree-able to the whole Tenour of Scripture; and can want no Recommendation to the intelligent Christian.

* John xvii. 5.

every where exhibited, as the ultimate Defire of all Nations; the fole Hope of all the Ends of the Earth; the Seed, of inestimable and universal Importance, in whom all People, Nations, and Languages should be blessed. In those royal, or rather divine Acts and Monuments, He is publicly recognized, as The RULER of GOD's People: Whose Dominion is an everlasting Dominion, and his Kingdom from Generation to Generation. And how august, how venerable, is this SOVEREIGN! Since it was the highest Honour of the most eminent Saints, and renowned Monarchs *, to act as his Harbingers. Every inspired Prophet was his Herald, deputed to blazon his Perfections, or foretel his Coming. Splendor of the Temple, the Richness of its Ornaments, and the Solemnity of its Services, were the Enfigns of his Grandeur; were his facred Regalia, intended to usher Him into the World with becoming State.

Does not all Mankind agree to estimate the Merit of the Practice, according to the Dignity of the Person? If a Neighbour of inserior Rank, visit some poor afflicted Wretch, in a coarse Garret, and on a tattered Bed; it is no very extraordinary Favour. But if a

Lady

* Moses, for Instance, and Joshua, David and Solomon, were Types, strongly marked Types, of our great LAW-GIVER and DELIVERER, of our Divine RULER and PREACHER.

Lady of the first Distinction, or a Nobleman of the highest Order, perform the same Office; it is a much more remarkable, a much more admired Instance of self-denying Charity. On the Foot of this Calculation, to what a supereminent Height will the Worthiness of our LORD's Obedience rise! It will rise, like some magnificent Edifice, whose Bafis rests upon the Center; whose Dimensions fill the Hemisphere; and whose Turrets glitter in the Sky. Or rather, it will extend itfelf to Immensity; where Length, and Breadth, and Height, and all Dimensions are lost. pecially, if We confider—The Names, He bears; and the Honours, He receives—the Works, He has done; and those mightier Works, He is appointed to do.

The Names, He bears.—The Title, by which JESUS of Nazareth is distinguished in the heavenly World; the Name written on his Vesture, and on his Thigh, is, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS*.—The Description, which the incomprehensible JEHOVAH gives of the Surety for sinful Men, runs in this exalted Strain; THE MAN THAT IS MY FELLOW †. Which the Apostle explains, plains, in that memorable and majestic Clause, He thought it no Robbery to be equal with GOD*.

* Rev. xix. 16.

† Zech. xiii. ק. עכייתי Contribulis vel Coequalis. My Fellow, or my Equal.—The original Expression occurs no where,

The

where, but in this Verse of Zechariah, and in the Book of Leviticus. In one Text, it is explained by Brother, or Partaker of the same Nature. In every other Place, I believe, it will be found to signify, not barely a Neighbour, but an Equal; one that stands upon the same Level, with regard to the Claims of Equity, and the common Rights of Life.—In either Sense, it militates strongly for the Divinity of our LORD JESUS CHRIST.

* Phil. ii. 6. Some Writers, I am aware, have endeavoured to interpret away this Evidence of our LORD's Divine Nature. But I think with great Injury to the Context, and no less Violence to the Phrase.

Αρπαίμω, as far as I can observe, denotes, not the Prize or Spoil, but the AEI of plundering or taking the Spoil; Ipfa rapiendi Actio. Vid. Steph. Thefaur. Græc. Ling.-If fo. the Text most naturally implies, that CHRIST counted it no Act of Robbery; no Invasion of Another's Prerogative; but looked upon it as his unquestionable Right, to be equal with GOD, and to receive Divine Honours. - Nevertheles (αλλα, Rom. v. 14.) He was so far from tenaciously intisting upon, that He willingly relinquished the Claim. He was content to forego the magnificent Distinctions of the CREATOR, and to appear in the Form of a Creature. Nay, to be made in the Likeness of the fallen Creatures; and not only to share the Disgrace, but to suffer the Punishment, due to the meanest and vilest among them all.—An Example of Humility, worthy to be displayed by the Eloquence of an Apostle! Worthy to be an everlasting Pattern for all Believers!

But however Appalus be translated, the Stress of the Argument, I apprehend, lies upon the Word 17a. If this fignifies a real and proper Equality, the Proof seems, to me at least, irrefragable.—How shall We determine the exact Significancy of this important Word? By having recourse to Homer's Works, or to Heathen Authors? This, in case the facred Writers will decide the Question, is like going from Jerusalem to Athens for the Solution of a religious Doubt, even while the College of Apostles is sitting at the forme.

-The HOLY GHOST, speaking by the Prophet Isaiab of the Virgin's Son, enumerates feveral grand Distinctions, both of his Person. and his Office. He styles the Child, that should be born, The WONDERFUL COUN-SELLOR, the EVERLASTING FATHER, the MIGHTY GOD, the PRINCE OF PEACE *.—The same inspired Writer, though eloquent above all Orators, and more fublime than the loftiest Poet, cries out in rapturous Astonishment; Who can declare his Generation+? What Pencil can pourtray, what Language can express, his matchless Excellencies? And may We not with equal Propriety demand; Who can declare the meritorious Perfection of his Righteousness? It is precious beyond Comparison: beyond Imagination precious.

The Honours, which our LORD receives, are proportioned to the illustrious Characters, which He sustains.—John the Baptist, than whom a greater Prophet, or a better Judge, was not born of Woman, professes Himself un-

former Place.—The Word occurs five or fix Times in their Writings. They use it, it is true, in the adjective Form. But the Adjective is very sufficient to settle the Signification of the Adverb. If I know the Meaning of 100, I shall be at no loss to understand the Import of 100.—See Matt. xx. 12. Luke vi. 34. John v. 18. Acts xi. 17. Rov. xxi. 16. In all which Places it expresses, not a bare Resemblance or Libeness only, but a real and proper Equality.

• Ifai. ix. 6.

+ Ifai. liii. 8.

unworthy, to stoop down and unloose the Latchet of bis Sboes *: unworthy, though a burning and shining Light in his Generation, to perform the meanest Service to this PRINCE of Heaven.—Stephen, who leads the Van in the noble Army of Christian Martyrs, beheld such a Representation of his crucified MASTER's Glory; as enabled Hin to exult with divine Delight, even amidst the furious Assaults of his Persecutors, and under the violent Blows of his Murderers +. Assured, that FESUS has all Power in Heaven and Earth, by an Act of the most solemn Worship, He commits his departing Soul, that most important of all Trusts, to his REDEEMER's Hand 1.—Nor by the first Martyr alone, but in all Churches of the Saints, and in every Age of Christianity, has the LORD JESUS been addressed, as the constant Object of his People's Adoration; and acknowledged, as the ever faithful Depolitary of their eternal Interests.

When Isaiab beheld a visionary Manifestation of CHRIST, the first-born Sons of Light were waiting around Him, in Postures of dutiful Submission. Those celestial Beings, whose very Feet are too bright for Mortals to view, veiled their Faces before his infinitely superior Esfulgence. The Seraphs, who are all Zeal and all Love, celebrate his Perfections, and cry one to another, The whole Earth is full of his Glory.—And is not Heaven filled with his Honour? Does not Heaven resound with his Praise? The beloved Disciple, in a Vision no less clear and far more magnificent, beholds the LAMB that was flain, standing in the midst of a resplendent Throne, most beautifully adorned with a circling Rainbow, and terribly dignified by the Blaze of Lightnings, and the Sound of Thunders. Before this august Throne, and at the Disposal of the once flaughtered SAVIOUR, are feven Lamps of burning Fire; expressive of the DIVINE SPI-RIT, in all the Variety of his miraculous Gifts, and fanctifying Graces *.—Four and twenty Elders, clothed in white Raiment, with Crowns on their Heads, and the Harps of GOD in their Hands, fall prostrate in deepest Homage before the LAMB. They strike the golden Strings, and fing that fublime eucharistic Hymn; Thou art worthy to take the Book, and to open the Seals thereof: for Thou wast slain, and hast redeemed Us to GOD by thy Blood, out of every Kindred, and Tongue, and People, and Nation; and hast made Us, unto our GOD, Kings and Priests +.

* Mark i. 7. + Acts vii. 56. ‡ Acts vii. 59. I Ifai. vi. 1, 2, &c. John xii. 41.

Behold the Hierarchies of Angels: they are in Number ten thousand Times ten thousand, and

* Rev. iv. 5. + Rev. v. 9, 10.

and Thousands of Thousands.—Hark! They raise their Voice, and awaken all the Powers of Harmony.—Who is the Subject, and what is the Burden of their Song? Worthy is the LAMB that was slain, to receive Power, and Riches, and Wisdom, and Strength, and Honour, and Blessing.—Nor these alone, but every Creature which is in Heaven, and on the Earth, and under the Earth, and such as are in the Sea, join the immense Chorus. They cry, in loud responsive Strains of Melody and Devotion; Blessing, and Honour, and Glory, and Power, be unto Him that sitteth upon the Throne, and unto the LAMB for ever and ever *.

This, You observe, is the devout Acknowledgment, not only of the Cherubim, the Seraphim, and the Spirits of just Men made perfect, but of every Creature.—The Sun, the Moon, and the Stars, which garnish the Heavens—Beasts and creeping Things, Mountains and Hills, fruitful Trees and all Cedars, which replenish the Earth—Metals and Minerals, Gems and Fossils, the subter aneous Riches of Nature, or Things which are under the Earth -Even all those Objects, which my Theron lately contemplated, do, in their way, magnify the LORD JESUS. They bear witness to his Power, as their CREATOR; they are subservient to his Interests, as our MEDIATOR; and, the Flesh, emaciated by consuming Sickness, or encrusted with a loathsome Leprosy.—All Manner of Discases, though blended with the earliest Seeds of Life, and riveted in the Constitution by a long inveterate Predominancy—Discases, that bassled the Skill of the Physician, and mocked the Force of Medicine—these He cured, not by tedious Applications, but in the Twinkling of an Eye; not by costly Prescriptions, or painful Operations, but by a Word from his Mouth, or a Touch from his Hand; nay, by the Fringe of his Garment, or the bare Act of his Will.

* Rev. v. 11, 12, 13.

Any one of these Miracles, had been enough to endear the Character, and eternize very Language seems to exult, in a redundant Flow of expressive Phrases; just as a poor Cripple, that never knew either the Comfort of bodily Vigour, or the Pleasure of local Motion, may be supposed to do, when suddenly and unexpectedly blessed with both. He would exert his new acquired Powers again and again; first in one Attitude, then in another. Sometimes to try, whether He was really healed, and not under the pleasing Delusion of a Dream; sometimes from a Transport of conscious Delight, and to express the Sallies of Joy that sprung up in his Heart.

Though I acknowledge Mr. Pope's Description to be extremely beautiful,

And leap exulting like the bounding Roe.

Yet I cannot persuade myself, that it is to be compared with St. Luke's Draught, either in the Variety of Figures; in the Richness of Colouring; or in that Exuberance of Style, which, on this Occasion, is so happily significant, and so perfectly picturesque.

nize the Memory of another Person. But they were common Things, Matters of daily Occurrence, with our Divine MASTER. The Years of his public Ministry, were an unintermitted Series of such healing Wonders; or, if any Intermission took place, it was only to make way for more invaluable Miracles of spiritual Beneficence.

Behold Him exercifing his Dominion, over the vegetable Creation. A Fig-Tree, adorned with the most promising Spread of Leaves, but unproductive of the expected Fruit, withers away at his Rebuke. It is not only stripped of its verdant Honours, but dried up from the very Roots*, and perishes for ever. A fearful, yet significant Intimation, of that final Ruin, which will overtake the specious Hypocrite. Who, while lavish in outward Profession, is destitute of inward Piety.

His Eye pierced through the whole World of Waters; discerned the Fish, that had just swallowed a Piece of Money; and guided its Course to Peter's Hook +. He makes, if it be his sovereign Pleasure, the great Deep his

Reve-

• • • •

* Mark xi. 20.

† Mat. xvii. 27. How wonderful is this feemingly little Miracle! Or rather, what a Clufter of Wonders is comprized in this fingle Act!—That any Fish, with Money in its Mouth, should be catched—with Money just of such a Value—and in the very first Fish that offered itself—What a pregnant Display of Omniscience to know, of Omnisotence to over-rule, all these fortuitous Incidents!

Revenue; and bids the scaly Nations bring him their Tribute.

The Waters themselves, it may be said, are far more unmanageable, than their Inhabitants. Who can controul that outrageous Element? Which has destroyed so many gallant Fleets, with the Armies they bore; and which would laugh at the Opposition of the united World.—The LORD JESUS walks upon its rolling Surges*, and speaks its most tempestuous Agitations into a Calm. The Waves of the Sea are mighty, and rage horribly, but yet the LORD, who loved Us, and washed Us from our Sins in his own Blood, is mightier.

The Winds are yet more ungovernable, than the madding Ocean. When these are hurled + abroad, to shatter the Forests, and shake the

He treadeth upon the Waves of the Sea, is one of the Prerogatives, ascribed to the most high GOD, Job xix. 8. The original Word 'הואס fignifies a Sea, that rolls Mountain-high; and such, We have Reason to suppose, were the Waves on which our LORD walked; since the Vessel, to which He bent his Course, was βασανίζομενον, lasted, battered, tormented, by their vehement Concussions. Matt. xiv. 24.

+ This is the literal Translation of that beautiful Hebrew Phrase, which occurs Jonab i. 4.—The sacred Writer, describing the stormy Messenger, which was dispatched to arrest a sugitive Servant, says The LORD bursed forth a great Wind. The same Expression is applied to Saul, (1 Sam. xviii. 11.) when He darted his Javelin at David, with a Design to transfix and nail Him to the Wall.—What an elegant, and how awful an Image! Storms and Tempesses.

the Shores, Who can curb their Rage? What can withfland their Impetuofity? Even the boisterous Winds hear the SAVIOUR's Voice; and, as soon as they hear, obey. His Voice, more powerful to restrain, than brazen Dungeons to confine, chides the furious Whirlwind. The furious Whirlwind is awed into immediate * Silence. That which a Moment ago, heaved the Billows to the Clouds, and filled with Outrage the howling Firmament; now, gently whispers among the Shrouds, and scarcely curls the smooth Expanse.

Something there is, even within the narrow Compass of our own Breasts, which affords Room for more signal Exertions of DEITY, than the turbulent Billows, or the resistless Storm. Agreeably to the Suggestion of a Prophet; For lo! He that formeth the Mountains, and createth the Wind, and, as a more pregnant Proof of divine Perfection, declareth unto

pests, with all their irresistible Fury and dreadful Ravages, are like missive Weapons in the Hand of JEHOVAH. Which He launches with greater Ease and surer Aim, than the most expert Warrior emits the pointed Steel.

* Immediate—This Circumstance, as very much aggrandizing the Miracle, is, with great historical Propriety, remarked by the Evangelist. The Sea is known to have a prodigious Swell, and very tremendous Agitations, for a confiderable Time after the tempestuous Wind ceases. On this Occasion, and in Obedience to its MAKER's Will, it departs from the established Laws of Motion.—No sooner is the Word spoken, but there is a Calm; not an advancing, but an instantaneous Calm; not a partial, but a perfect Calm. Matt. viii. 26. Mark iv. 39.

unto Man what is his Thought, the GOD of Hests is his Name *; the Possessor of such surpassing Power and Wisdom, must unquestionably be the supreme LORD. And Who is this, but JESUS CHRIST? He knew, what was in Man +. He discerned the Secrets of the Heart; discerned the latent Purpose, before it disclosed itself in Action; even before it was uttered in Speech; nay, while it lay yet an uninformed Embrio in the Mind.

His Glance pierced into Futurity: espied Events, in all their Circumstances 1, and with the greatest Perspicuity, before they came into Being. The bidden Things of Darkness were open, and the Contingencies of to-morrow were pre-

* Amos iv. 13. + John ii. 25. This all-discerning Intelligence of the DEITY, is very emphatically expressed by the Psalmist, Pfal. cxxxix. 1, 2, &c. Though the Sentiment, in one Clause, feems to be somewhat weakened by our Version. There is not a Word in my Tongue, would have a nobler Turn, and more extensive Meaning, if rendered; Before the Word is on my Tongue, Thou, O LORD, knowest it altogether.

‡ In all their Circumstances. - See a very remarkable Exemplification of this Particular. Mark xiv. 13. There shall meet You-not barely a Person, but the Sex and Age are both specified - not two, or several, but one Man - not within any given Space of Time, but at the very Instant of your Arrival -not empty-handed, but bearing a Vessel-not of Wood or Metal, but an earthen Pitcher—filled, not with Wine or Milk, but with Water - carrying it into that very House, where the Preparation was made, and the Passover was to be celebrated. - What a Multitude of Contingencies! All minutely foretold by our LORD!

present, to his all-pervading Eye. Nay, the unthought-of Revolutions even of distant Ages, the astonishing Catastrophe of dissolving Nature, and the awful Process of everlasting Judgment, He clearly foresaw, and particularly foretold.

Nor does He only penetrate the Recesses, but over-rule the Operations of the Soul.—He so intimidated a Multitude of sacrilegeous Wretches, that they sled, not before his drawn Sword, or bent Bow, but at the Shaking of his single Scourge *.—He so awed, by one short Remonstrance +, an Assembly of conceited and ostentatious Pharises, that they could neither gainsay, nor endure the Energy of his Discourse. Though not to endure, was a tacit Acknowledgment

* John ii. 14, 15, &c. St. Jerom looks upon this Miracle, as one of the greatest, that our SAVIOUR wrought. And indeed the Circumstances are very extraordinary.—That one Man should undertake so bold, and execute so hazardous a Task—One Man, without a Commission from Casar; without any Countenance from the Jewish Pulers; without any Arms, either to terrify the Multitude, or defend Himself .-That He should cast out the whole Tribe of mercenary Traffickers; wrest, from those Worshippers of Wealth, their darling Idol; and trample under Foot their great Diana-And all, without Tumult or Opposition; not one of the facrilegeous Rabble, daring to "move the Hand, or open "the Mouth, or peep." ---- Whoever reflects on the fierce and ungovernable Nature of an incensed Populace; or confiders the bitter and outrageous Zeal of Demetrius and the Craftsmen, on a less irritating Occasion; may possibly find Himself almost, if not altogether, of the Latin Father's Opinion.

† John viii. 7.

a

ledgment of Guilt, and must cover them with public Confusion.—With a Word, the most mild and gentle * imaginable, He flung such Terror into a Band of armed Men; as blafted all their Courage, and laid them funned and prostrate on the Ground.

All Hearts are in his Hand. He turneth them. as the Rivers of Water, whither soever He will +: with as much Ease, and with the same efficacious Sway, as the Current of the Rivers is turned by every Inflection of the Channel.— Follow me, was his Call to James and John: Follow me t, was all He faid to Levi the Publican. Though the first were engaged in all the Ardour of Business; though the last was fitting at the very Receipt of Custom; yet both He and they, without any Demur, or the least Delay, left their Employ, left their nearest Relations, and refigned their earthly all, to attend a poor and despised MASTER.—Their Acquaintance, no doubt, would remonstrate * John xviii. 6. + Prov. xxi. 1. † Mark ii. 14. He said in the Beginning, Let there be Light; there was Light: Let there be a Firmament; 'twas spread abroad: Let there be a World; it arose of Nothing. In the Days of his Flesh likewise, He speaks, and it is done. His Word is a Work. He says to the Disciples, Follow me; they come—to the Leper, Be clean; He is cleansed—to the Paralytic, Arise, take up thy Bed, and walk; 'tis all performed, as soon as commanded. Surely then We must confess, This is the Voice of a GOD, not of a Man! Ternonla is our LORD's usual Word, when He grants a miraculous Cure: which exactly corresponds with that admired and magnificent Expression ', Gen. i. 3.

a thousand Inconveniencies; their Enemies would not fail to censure them, as rash Enthufiasts; but all these Considerations were lighter than Dust, were less than nothing, when set in competition with two Words only from 7 E-SUS of Nazareth. Impressed, deeply impressed by his powerful Summons, fuch Loss they counted Gain, and fuch Obloquy Glory.

He planted Bowels of Compassion in the unfeeling avaricious Wretch; and elevated, beyond the Height of the Stars, Desires that lay groveling even below the Mire of the Swine. The Slaves of Sin He restored to the Liberty of Righteousness; and unhappy Creatures, who were degenerated into the Likeness of the Devil, He renewed after the Image of the bleffed GOD.—These were the Effects of his personal Preaching; these are still the Conquests of his glorious Gospel; and do not these declare his Dominion over the Intellectual Oeconomy? That the World of Minds, as well as of material Nature, is open to his Inspection, and subject to his Controul?

The Dead seem to be more remote from human Cognizance, than the Secrets of the Breast; less liable to any human Jurisdiction, than the warring Elements. What Potentate can issue a Writ of Release to the Grave? Or cite the diflodged Soul, to re-enter the breathless Corpse?—Yet this, even this, our mighty MEDIATOR executed. He opened the Eyes, that were funk in their Sockets, and fealed in the Tomb. He bid the Heart, that had forgot its vital Motion, spring into renewed and vigorous Life. The crimfon Flood, long congealed by the icy Hand of Death; that had not only lost its Pulse by Stagnation, but likewise changed its very Texture by Putrefaction *; circulates, at his Order, all florid and mantling with Health, through the wondering Veins. —The Spirit, that had taken its Flight into the invisible State, had taken its Place in eternal-Habitations, returns, at our REDEEMER's Signal, to the Tenement of mouldering Clay; and, by the amazing Vifit, proclaims his Sovereignty over those unknown Realms, and their mysterious Inhabitants.

cite

As He recals from, so He admits into, the Abodes of future Happiness. In the very lowest Depths of his Humiliation, He disposed of the Seats of Bliss, and the Thrones of Glory. His Hands, when swollen with Wounds, and nailed to the Tree, evidently sustained the Keys of Hell and of Death +. Then, even then, He opened and He shut either the Gates of the Grave, or the Portals of Paradise. What He speaks speaks to the penitent Thief, is the Language of supreme Authority; To Day shalt thou be with me in Paradise*. "Tis a royal Mandamus, not an humble Petition.

* John xi. 39.

Does our LORD's Superiority extend to those malignant Beings, the Devil and his Angels? -Even these, in spight of all their formidable Strength +, and inextinguishable Rage, He makes his Footstool. He brake the Teeth of those infernal Lions; and rescued the helpless Prey, on which their bloody Jaws were clofing. his Command, they abandon their Conquests; and relinquish, however indignant, however reluctant, their long-accustomed Habitations. His fingle Command, more forcible than ten thousand Thunderbolts, dispossesses a whole Legion t of those fierce and haughty Spirits: drives them, all terrified and deprecating feverer Vengeance, to feek Rest in solitary Defarts, or to herd with the most fordid Brutes.

As the bleffed JESUS treads upon the Necks of those Powers of Darkness, He receives the willing Services of the Angels of Light. They that

* Luke xxiii. 43.

+ Milton, describing the Power of the apostate Angels, says;

These Elements; and arm Him with the Force
Of all their Regions.

B. VI. 221.

<sup>1</sup> Mark v. 9.

that excel* in Strength, and are active as Flames of Fire, even they fulfil his Commandment, and hearken unto the Voice of his Words. They graced the Solemnity of his Birth; they attended Him, after his Temptation in the Wilderness; they were the first joyful Preachers of his triumphant Resurrection; and now He is seated on the Right-hand of the MAJESTY in the Highest,

They stand with Wings outspread, Listening to catch their Master's least Command, And sty through Nature, e'er the Moment end.

Behold

Would any One see a Sketch of the Glory and Excellence of the angelic Nature? Let Him see it, in that inimitably fine Stroke of the sacred Pencil. I saw another Angel come down from Heaven, having great Power, and the Earth was lightened with his Glory. Rev. xviii 1. The last Clause is, I think, one of the most masterly Touches of descriptive Painting, extant in History, Poetry, or Oratory. Milton gives Us a Stricture of the same Kind, and on the same Subject. But the poetic Flight, though very sublime, is greatly inferior to the apocalyptic Vision.

————On He led His radiant Files, dazling the Moon.

In this Case, We have a whole Brigade of celestial Warriors; in the former, only a single angelic Being. Those are represented, as irradiating the Night, and outshining the Moon: this, as exceeding the Brightness of the Sun; disfusing additional Splendors on the Day; and illuminating, not a vast Plain, not a vaster Kingdom, but the whole Face of the Globe.—If such be the Lustre of the Servant, what Images can display the Majesty of the LORD? Who has thousand Thousands of those glorious Attendants ministering unto Him, and ten thousand Times ten thousand standing before Him? Dan, vii. 10.

Behold Him, now, doing according to his Will, in the Armies of Heaven, and among the Inhabitants of the Earth—Swaying the Sceptre, over the Legions of Hell, and the Powers of Nature—exercifing Dominion, in the Hearts of Men, in the Territories of the Grave, and Mansions of disembodied Spirits. Then let my Theron determine—under such Views of our SAVIOUR's unequaled Majesty, and unbounded Sovereignty, let Him determine—whether it be safer, to rest our infinite and eternal Interests, on our own Righteousness, rather than on His.

We have selected some few Manisestations of our REDEEMER's excellent Greatness. Even the Evangelical Historians, give us no larger a Proportion of his astonishing Deeds, than the First-fruits bear to a copious Harvest. Yet, were they all particularly enumerated, and circumstantially displayed, they would appear inconsiderable; compared with those far more distinguished Trophies of Almighty Power, which He has decreed, in some future Period, to erect *.

He-

* The Dignity of our LORD, considered as the CRE-ATOR and PRESERVER of all Things, is not mentioned Here; because, it is professedly attempted, in The Descant upon Creation, subjoined to the first Volume of Meditations among the Tombs, &c. To which I beg Leave to refer my Readers. And shall more than make amends for the present Omission, by transcribing a Passage from the Night-Thoughts.

He will gather to his facred Fold, the People of his antient Church; though they are difpersed into all Lands, and most inveterately prejudiced against the Truth of his Gospel.-How mighty was his Hand, how illustriously outstretched his Arm, when He made a Path through the Surges of the Ocean; drove the Torrent of Jordan backwards; and fetched Rivers of Waters from the flinty Rock! Far more mighty will be its Operations, when He shall remove the seemingly unsurmountable Obstructions, to the general Restoration of the Yews; shall throw all their religious Apprehensions into a new Channel; and cause Tears of penitential Sorrow to start from their stony Eyes, Confessions of unfeigned Faith to issue from their blaspheming Lips.—Yet thus it will assuredly be. In the Volume of the divine Book it is written, They shall look on Him, whom they have pierced, and mourn *. They shall adore

Thoughts; which prefents Us with a magnificent Display of this great Truth

Were made, and one redeem'd; whose regal Power
On more than adamantine Basis fix'd;
O'er more, far more than Diadems and Thrones Inviolably reigns; beneath whose Foot,
And by the Mandate of whose awful Nod,
All Regions, Revolutions, Fortunes, Fates,
Of High, of Low, of Mind and Matter, roll
Through the short Channels of expiring Time,
Or shoreless Ocean of Eternity.
Night-Thoughts, No IX.

* Zech. xii. 10.

adore as the MESSIAH, the despised Galilean; and fix all their Hopes of final Felicity on that very Person, whom their Fathers slew and hanged on a Tree.

Amazing Revolution in the religious World! Yet this, together with the Destruction of Antichrist, and the Illumination of the benighted Gentiles, may pass for small Incidents; compared with those stupendous Events, which will dignify, and signalize the closing Scene of Affairs.

Then, shall the LORD JESUS be manifested in unspeakable Glory; and exert such Acts of Omnipotence, as will be the Terror of Hell, the Joy of Heaven, the Wonder of Eternity.—Then, will He put an End to Time, and bid the Springs of Nature cease to operate. Then, shall his tremendous Trumpet rend the universal Vault, and pierce the Dormitories of the Dead.—Then, will He shake the Earth out of its Place*, and before his majestic Presence the Heavens shall shee away +.—Then shall, not a Nation

<sup>* 70</sup>b ix. 6.

† How grand is the Idea, when David prays! Bow thy Heavens, O LORD, and come down; touch the Mountains, and they shall smoke. Much grander is the Image, when He says; The Springs of Waters were seen, and the Foundations of the IVorid were discovered, at thy Chiding, O LORD, at the Blast of the Breath of thy Displeasure. Transcendently and inimitably grand is this Description, though given Us by the most plain and artless Writer in the World. I saw a great white Throne, and HIM THAT SAT ON IT, from whose Face the Vol. III.

Nation only, but Multitudes, Multitudes of Nations,

Heavens and the Earth fled away, and there was no Place found for them. Rev. xx. 11.

In Virgil's admired Representation, Jupiter hurls his Thunder, and a Mountain falls at the Stroke;

Aut Atho, aut Rhodopen, aut alta Ceraunia Telo

Dejicit. Georg. I. 331.

In Homer's more terror-striking Piece, Neptune shakes the wide-extended Earth. The Mountains tremble to their Center; the Ocean heaves its Billows; and Cities reel on their Foundations.

Iliad. T. 57.

Here, the SON of the eternal GOD appears only, and all Nature is alarmed: nor Heaven nor Earth can keep their Standing: they flee away, like the frighted Roe.— How groveling are the loftiest Flights of the Grecian and Roman Muse, compared with this Magnificence and Elevation of the prophetic Spirit!

Let Us consider the Passage a little more attentively. Voles bac sub Luce videri. Masterly Performances, the more closely they are examined, the more highly they charm.—It is not said, A sew Herds of the Forest, a sew Kings, or Armies, or Nations; but the whole System of created Things.—It is not said, They were thrown into great Commotions, but they fled intirely away; not, they started from their Foundations, but they fell into Dissolution; not, they removed to a distant Place, but there was found no Place for them; they ceased to exist; they were no more.—And all this, not at the strict Command of the LORD JESUS; not at his awful Menace, or before his siery Indignation; but at the bare Prefence of his Majesty, sitting with serene but adorable Dignity on his Throne:

If this is not the true Sublime, in its utmost Scope, and richest Beauty, I must confess, I never saw it, nor ever expect to see it.

Nations, be born in a Day*; yea rather, in an Hour, in a Moment, in the Twinkling of an Eye.—All that are asleep in the Beds of Death; even those who, perishing in Tempests, are sunk to the Bottom of the Ocean; or, swallowed up by Earthquakes, are buried at the Center of the Globe; all shall hear his Voice; and hearing, shall awake; and awaking, shall come forth.—Every human Body, though Ages have revolved, fince it gave up the Ghost; though Worms have devoured the Flesh, and Dissolution mouldered the Bones; though its Parts have been grinded by the Teeth of Beasts, or confumed by the Rage of Fire; distipated in viewless Winds, or scattered over the boundless Globe; lost to our Senses, and lost even to our Imagination; yet will every human Body then be reftored; its Limbs reaffembled, and not an Atom wanting; its Frame rebuilt, and never be demolished more.

Then, shall the unnumbered Myriads of departed Spirits return from their separate Abodes; and, commissioned by HIM who is the Resurrection and the Life, reanimate each his organized System.—Then, will Misery and Happiness, both consummate, and both everlasting, be awarded by the SAVIOUR's Sentence.—Then, will He condemn the ungodly World, and the rebellious Angels, to Chains of Darkness, ness, and Dungeons of Despair. Then, will He invest the Righteous with the Inheritance of Heaven, and instate them in the Fulness of Joy. His Word will be Fate; Immutability seals, and Eternity executes, whatever He decrees.

And has this JESUS, so glorious, so majestic, so adorable—has HE vouchsafed to take our Nature, and become our Righteousness? Was HE made under the Law? Did HE sulfil all its Demands? Give perfect Satisfaction to the penal, and yield perfect Obedience to the preceptive? On purpose, that the Merit of all might be made over to Us?—Astonishing Condescension! Inestable Grace! What Thanks are due, to such infinitely rich Goodness!—What a Remedy is here, for the Impotence and Guilt of fallen Man!—What a sure Foundation of Hope, and what an abundant Source of Joy, to every One that believeth?

It is declared by the Oracle of GOD, That fuch an HIGH-PRIEST became Us, was absolutely necessary for our obnoxious and ruined Condition, to is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from Sinners—and made higher than the Heavens*. It appears, I flatter myself, from the Letter already in your Hand, That CHRIST fully answered the former Character; and from from this Epistle, I hope it will appear, That He is the very Person described in the latter Clause.

Estimate now, my dear Friend, estimate if You can, the Glory and Excellency of this sublime Person. Then may You learn, how to state the Worth of his Righteousness, and the Degree of Assiance suited to his Merits. Rather you will perceive, that his spotless Birth, his persectly obedient Life, his exquisitely bitter Death, are a Satisfaction of unknown Dignity; precious*, far beyond all the Graces of Men, and all the Duties of Angels; able to save to the uttermost, all that rely on them, and come unto GOD through them.

Consonant to this, are the Sentiments of that penetrating Critic and profound Scholar, Dr. Lightfoot. Who, treating of our SAVI-OUR'S Obedience, says—" Add to all this the "Dignity of his Person, who performed this "Obedience: that He was GOD as well as "Man: and his Obedience is infinite. Such "as, in its Validity, subdued Satan, and in "its All-sufficiency satisfied the Justice of "GOD."—After which, our celebrated Author makes this important and delightful Improvement; "Think, Christian, what a Stock "of

* This is expressed by the sacred Historian, with an Energy which no Translation can equal; την τιμην τα τειμημενε ον ειμησανίο απο νιων Ισραηλ. Matt. xxvii. 9.

"of Obedience and Righteousness, here is for thee, to answer and fatisfy for thy Disobedicence and Unrighteousness, if Thou become a Child of the Covenant. Here is enough for every Soul that comes to Him, be they never so many. Like the Widow's Oil in the Book of Kings, there is enough and enough again, as long as any Vessel is brought to receive it *.

We need not wonder, that Gentiles, who are ignorant of the REDEEMER; that Jews, who treat Him with contemptuous Scorn; that Professor of Religion, who deny his eternal GODHEAD; place little, if any Confidence in his Righteousness. But it is strange, that Christians, who know the SAVIOUR; who acknowledge his Divinity; and believe Him to be exalted above all Blessing and Praise—it is exceedingly strange, that they do not rejoice in Him; make their Boast of Him; and say, with a becoming Disdain, of every other Dependance, Get ye bence +!

Such an Assemblage of divine Persections, must warrant, must demand, the most undivided, and the most unbounded Considence.

—There never was, no, not in all Ages, nor in all Worlds, any thing greater or richer, more dignished or exalted, than the Obedience of our LORD.—Nay; it is impossible for Men

* Lightfoot's Works, Vol. II. p. 1258. + Ifai, xxx. 22.

Men or Angels to imagine, what could be so suited to our Wants, so proper for our Reliance, or so sure to answer, more than answer all our Expectations.

Upon the Whole; let me intreat my Theron to contemplate our LORD JESUS CHRIST, under that most illustrious Character, described by the Prophet, A PRIEST upon his THRONE*. Dignifying the sacerdotal Censer by the regal Diadem; adding all the Honours of his eternal Divinity, to the Sacrifice of his bleeding Humanity.—Then, I promise myself, You will find it almost impossible, not to adopt the emphatical and ardent Protestation of the Apostle; GOD forbid, that I should glory, that I should conside, save only in the Obedience and the Cross of CHRIST JESUS my LORD!

When You made the Tour of France and Italy; and, crossing the Alps, gained the Summit of some commanding Ridge—When You looked round, with Astonishment and Delight, on the ample Plains, which, crouded with Cities, and adorned with Palaces, stretch their beauteous Tracts below—When You surveyed the famous Rivers, that roll in silent but shining Dignity; stating the Boundaries of Kingdoms, and wasting Plenty through the gladdened Nations—When You shot your transfer H 4 ported View to the Ocean, whose unmeasurable Flood meets the Arch of Heaven, and terminates the Landschape with inconceivable Grandeur—Did You, then, choose to forego the Pleasure resulting from such a Prospect, in order to gaze upon the naked Cragg of some adjacent Rock? Or, could You turn your Eyes from those magnificent Objects, and sasten them with pleased Attention upon a shallow Puddle, that lay stagnating at your Feet?

You, Who have beheld the Scene, can accommodate the Simile, with peculiar Advantage. For which Reason, I shall wave the Application; and only beg leave to transcribe into my Paper a Wish, that is now warm on my Heart, and is often breathed in Supplication from my Lips—May the FATHER of our Spirits, and the Fountain of Wisdom, give Us an inlightened Understanding, to KNOW Him that is true: grant Us the inestimable Blessing, that We may BE IN Him that is true, even in bis SON JESUS CHRIST. For, this SAVIOUR is the true GOD, and that Privilege is Life eternal*.

My Theron needs no Arguments to convince Him, that such a Prayer is an Act of rational and real Friendship; is the most genuine and substantial Proof, that I am

His truly affectionate

Aspasio,

LETTER IX.

THERON to ASPASIO.

Dear Aspasso,

Hand; and I hope, they have not missed my Heart. I might inform You, what Pleafure they gave me, and how highly I esteem them. But You desire no such Compliments: You desire to see me impressed with the Sentiments, and living under their Insluence. This would be the most acceptable Acknowledgment to my Aspasio, because it would be the most happy Essect to his Theron. May every Day, therefore, bring a fresh Accession of such Gratitude to me, and of such Satisfaction to You!

To watch for my Soul, and pray for my Salvation, I am thoroughly convinced, is the truest Instance of rational and exalted Friendship. Every Claim to that amiable Character, is defective and vain, if it does not extend to our spiritual Interests, and our everlasting Welfare. For which Reason, I need not intreat You to continue and perpetuate this best Ex-106 Theron to Aspasso. Let. 9.

Expression of social Kindness. Or if I do, itis rather to testify how much I prize the Favour, than to prompt your affectionate and ready Mind.

Your last found me at a Friend's House, that lies pretty near the western Ocean.—Yesterday, waked by the Lark, and rising with the Dawn*, I strolled into the fragrant Air, and dewy Fields. While, as Shakespeare with his usual Sprightliness expresses himself, Stood tip-toe on the misty Mountain's Top.

Sweet was the Breath of Morn, and sweet the Exhalations of the freshened Flowers— Grateful were the soft Salutes of the cooling Zephyrs, attended with the Charm of earliest Birds—Delightful the Sun, painting with his orient Beams the Chambers of the Firmament, and unveiling the Face of universal Nature.

My Mind, but little affected with these inferior Entertainments, was engaged in contemplating * Evandrum ex humili Testo Lux suscitat alma, Et matutini Volucrum sub Culmine Cantus. Virg.

Lux alma—A lovely Expression! Describing the Mildness, the Beauty, and the chearing Efficacy of the rising Sun. It is, I think, incapable of an equal Translation; but reminds me of a very fine Comparison in our sacred Ecloques, which represents the charming Appearance, and the benign Instuence of the Gospel-church, at its first Opening on the Gentile World—Who is this that looketh forth as the Merning? Cant. VI. 10.

templating an Object of infinitely superior Dignity. In contemplating that ADORABLE BEING, who raised—from nothing raised this stupendous System of Things; and supports—with his Word supports the magnificent Frame. Who (to speak in the Language of his own SPIRIT) openeth the Eyelids of the Morning, and commandeth the Day-spring to know its Place*. Commandeth the Light, by its punctual and pleasing Ministrations, to draw aside the Curtain of Darkness; and discover the Skies, shining with Glories; and disclose the Earth, blooming with Beauties.

FATHER of Light and Life, said my transported Mind,

O teach me what is good! Teach me THY-SELF.

Save me from Folly, Vanity, and Vice, From every low Pursuit! and feed my Soul With Faith, with conscious Peace, and Virtue pure, Sacred, substantial, never-fading Bliss +!

Wrapt in Wonder, and lost in Thought, I rambled carelessy along, till I was insensibly brought to the Shore. Which, in these Parts, is prodigiously high and strong: perfectly well well fitted, to stand as an everlasting Barrier *, against the impetuous Stroke of conflicting Winds, and the ponderous Sweep of dashing Surges.—Not that the Omnipotent ENGI-NEER has any Need of these impregnable Ramparts. Here, it is true, they intervene: and not only repress the rolling Invader, but speak the amazing Majesty of their MAKER. In other Places, all such laboured Methods of Fortification are laid aside. The CREATOR shews the astonished World, that He is confined to no Expedients; but orders all Things according to the Pleasure of his own Will. bids a low Bank of despicable Sand, receive and repel the most furious Shocks of assaulting Seas: And, though the Waves thereof tofs themselves with incredible Fierceness, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, and feem to menace universal Destruction, yet can they not pass over + this slightest of Mounds.

* Job xxxviii. 12. + Thomson's Winter.

A winding Passage broke the Declivity of the Descent; and led me, by a gradual Slope, to the Bottom,—The Moon being in her last Quarter, * These, doubtless, are "the Doors and the Bars," which the ALMIGHTY mentions in the Course of his awful Interrogatories to Job. The massy Doors, that can never be forced; the folid Bars, that can never be broke; and I may add, the conspicuous Columns, on which his Providence has inscribed that sovereign Mandate, Ne plus ultra. Or, as the Prohibition runs in his own majestic Words, Hitherto shalt thou go, but no farther. Job xxxviii, 10. † Jer. V, 22.

Quarter, and the Tide at its greatest Recess, I walked for a while, where briny Waves were wont to flow. The ebbing Waters had left a vacant Space, several Furlongs broad; equal, in Length, to a very extended Vista; smooth on its Surface, as the most level Bowling-green; and almost as firm, as the best compacted Infomuch, that the Tread of a Cawfay. Horse scarce impresses it, and the Waters of the Sea never penetrate it. Exclusive of this wife Contrivance, the fearthing Waves would infinuate themselves into the Heart of the The Earth itself would be bollow as Earth. an Honey-Comb, or bibulous as a Sponge. And the Sea, foaking by Degrees through all its Cavities, would, in Process of Time, forfake its Bed, and mingle with the Plains and Mountains. But this closely cemented or glutinous Kind of Pavement, is like claying the Bottom of the universal Canal. So that the returning Tides confolidate, rather than perforate its Substance: as a Fluid, they prevent the Sun from cleaving it with Chinks; as a viscous Fluid, they shut up the Interstices of the Sand, and hinder the Water from exfuding through its Pores.—Such, I hope, will be the Case, with this Soul of mine, and the Temptations that befet me. Befet me they do, they will. But may they never win upon my Affections, nor gain Admittance into my Heart!

Let them make me humble, and keep me vigilant; teach me to walk closely with my GOD, and urge me to an incessant Dependence on CHRIST. Then, instead of being ruinous, they may become advantageous; and instead of shattering, will only cleanse the Rock, on which they dash.

The mighty Waters, restless even in their utmost Tranquillity, with a folemn * but placid Murmur, struck my Ear. The Billows, fometimes advancing to kifs the Sand; fometimes drawing back their curly Heads into the Deep; whitened, at their Extremities, into an agreeable Foam. Which, with the reflective Representation of the azure Canopy, formed the Appearance of a most spacious Mantle, tinged with a beautiful Blue, and edged with Fringes of Silver.—Dignity and Elegance, I find, are the inseparable Characteristics of the CREATOR's Workmanship. As Comfort and Happiness, I sometimes perceive, are the very Spirit of his Gospel, and the genuine Produce of his Commands.

On one Side, the Atlantic Main rolled its Surges from World to World.—What a Spectacle

* This is described with inimitable Propriety by Homer;

Βη δ' ακεων παρα θινι πολυΦλοισδοιο θαλασσκης.

And only not quite so beautifully by Milson;

He said; and as the Sound of Waters deep

Hoarse Murmur echo'd to his Words Applause.

tacle of Magnificence and Terror! What an irrefistible Incitement to Reverence and Awe! How it fills the Mind, and amazes the Imagination! 'Tis the grandest and most august Object under the whole Heavens.—It reminds me of that apocalyptic Vision, which Yohn, the inraptured Seer, beheld! As it were a great Mountain burning with Fire, was cast into the Sea, and the third Part of the Sea became Blood; and the third Part of the Creatures which were in the Sea, and bad Life, died; and the third Part of the Ships were destroyed*. I have not Penetration enough, to discover the spiritual Meaning of this Passage; but, I discern a most dreadful Grandeur, in its plain and literal Sense.—If We consider the wonderful Compass, and the terrible Force, of such an enormous Mass of Fire; if We consider its horrible and destructive Effects, on such a vast Body of Waters, as the third Part of the Ocean; how tremendous and aftonishing is the Idea! Surely, nothing but divine Inspiration could suggest these Images; as None but an Almighty BEING can execute this Vengeance. Who would not fear an eternal KING, that has fuch Weapons and fuch Artillery, referved against the Day of Battle and War +.

Spacious as the Sea is, GOD has provided a Garment, to cover it. Immense as the Sea is, GOD

* Rev. viii. 8, 9. † Job xxxviii. 23.

GOD has prepared fwadling Bands, to inwrap it. Ungovernable as it may feem to Us, He over-rules it with as much Ease, as the Nurse manages a new-born Infant *. An Infant it is, before Almighty Power; and to an Infant it is compared, by JEHOVAH Himself: though, to our Apprehension, it raves like a flupendous Madman.—But, if HE command, it opens a peaceful Bosom, and receives his People. It smooths the Way for their Pasfage, and stands as a Bulwark for their Defence. They march through the midst of the Sea upon dry Ground, and the Waters are a Wall unto them on their Right-hand and on their left +. If he reverses his Mandate, they drive down, with an irrefiftible Sweep, upon the Hosts of Pharaob; and overwhelm the Chariots and Horses of Egypt. They pour Confusion upon Arrogance ‡, and disappoint the Designs of Perfe-

• Job xxxviii. 8, 9. + Exod. xiv. 22. † Arrogance—This is described with exquisite Delicacy, in the Emission or triumphant Song of Moses. The Enemy faid, I will pursue; I will overtake; I will divide the Spoil; my Lust shall be satisfied upon them: I will draw my Sword, mine Hand shall destroy them.—What swelling Words of Vanity are here! The very Spirit of a Thraso breathes in every Syllable of this beautiful Prosopopæia. Never was the Language of Bluster, Ferocity, and Rhodomontade, so finely mimicked.—How noble is the Turn, and how exalted the Sentiment, that follows! THOU didst blow with thy Wind; the Sea covered them; they fank as Lead in the mighty Waters. The GOD of Ifrael need not summon all his Power, or level the right-aiming Thunder-bolts; He only blows with Persecution and Cruelty.—If He says, Be fill: the bellowing Surges are hushed; and the gentlest Lamb is not so quiet. If He says, Destroy: even the quiescent Waters kindle into Rage; they rife in their MAKER's Cause; and ten thousand Lions, stung with Hunger, and rushing upon the Prey, are not so fierce. When He bids them execute any other Commission; the Horse broke to the Bit, the Spaniel disciplined to the Signal, are not half so dutiful and obsequious.—And shall our Pasfions be more wild than the Winds, more turbulent than the Billows? Forbid it, Almighty LORD! Thou that rulest the Raging of the Sea; and the Noise of bis Waves, restrain, subdue, and calm the Madness of the People.

The Eye travels hard. It wanders over a vast, vast Length of sluctuating Plains*. It reaches the Limits of the Hemisphere, where Skies and Waves seem to mingle. Yet it has scarce made an Entry upon the World of Waters. What I here discern, is no more than the Skirts of the great and wide Sea. Tracts incomparably broader, are still behind; and Tracts of unbounded Extent, are behind even those.—Great then, O my Soul, inconceivably great, is that adored and glorious his Wind, and the great Mountain breaks like a Bubble. All this infolent and formidable Parade is quashed; finks into Nothing; expires in Shame and Ruin. Exod. xv. 9, 10.

* _____ Camposque natantes. Lucret

THERON to ASPASIO. Let. g. 114 SOVEREIGN, who fitteth upon this Flood, as upon a Throne *. Nay, Who holds it, diffused as it is from Pole to Pole, in the Hollow of his Hand; and before whom, in all its prodigious Dimensions, it is but as the Drop of a Bucket.-How shall Reptiles of the Ground fink low enough in their own Apprehensions! What Humiliation can be sufficiently deep for finful Mortals, before this " High and Holy ONE!" Yet how may they rife on the Wings of Hope! How may they foar on the Pinions of Faith! When, in the Language of his Prophet, and in his own SON's Name, they thus address the everlasting GOD. Awake! Awake! Put on Strength, O Arm of the LORD! Awake, for our Succour and Security, as in the antient Days, in the Generations of old. Art Thou not it, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the Dragon? Art Thou not it, which bath dried the Sea, the Waters of the great Deep? That hath made the Depths of the Sea, a Way for the Ransomed to pass over +?

How grand, surprisingly grand and majestic, are the Works, as well as the Nature, of an omnipotent Being! What are all the Canals in all the Countries of the Earth, compared with this immense Reservatory! What are all the superb Edifices, erected by royal Muniscence, compared with yonder Con-

* Psel. xxix. 10. + Isaiab li. 9, 10.

Concave of the Skies! And what are the most pompous Illuminations of Theatres and triumphant Cities, compared with the resplendent Source of Day! They are a Spark, an Atom, a Drop .- Nay, in every Spark, and Atom, and Drop, that proceeds from the Hand of the ALMIGHTY, there is the Manifestation of a Wisdom and a Power absolutely incomprehenfible.

Let us examine a fingle Drop of Water, the very least Quantity, that the Eye can discern; only so much, as will just adhere to the Point of a Needle. In this almost imperceptible Speck, a famous Philosopher computes no less than thirteen thousand Globules. Amazing to conceive! Impossible to explicate!—If then, in fo small a Speck, abundantly more than ten thousand Globules exist, what Myriads of Myriads must float in the unmeafured Extent of the Ocean!—Let the ablest Arithmetician try to comprehend in his Mind, not the internal Constitution, but only the Number of these fluid Particles. As well may He grasp the Winds in his Fist, or mete out the Universe with his Span, as execute the Task.—If then We are utterly unable to number (which is the most superficial of all Refearches) even the most common Works of the great JEHOVAH; how can We pretend to lay open the Secrets, and penetrate the Recesses cesses of his infinite Mind! How can We pretend to investigate the whole Process, and solve all the Difficulties, of that highest and deepest of the divine Schemes, REDEMPTION!

I have fometimes been offended, I must confefs, when You have inlarged upon the mysterious Truths of Christianity. But I perceive, the Beam was in my own Eye, when I fanfied, the Mote was in my Friend's. Is there. in every Ray of Light, and in every Particle of Matter, a Depth of Contrivance unfathomable by the Line of any human Understanding? And shall there be nothing abstruse or profound, nothing but what is level to our feanty Apprehensions, in the great *Things of GOD's Law, and the glorious + Things of his Gospel? To expect this, is just as wise in itfelf, and just as congruous to Nature, as to expect-a Sea, whose Cavities might have been digged by our Spade——a Sky, whose Arches are measurable by our Compass—a Sun, whose Orb may be included in our Lanthorns.

When therefore I read of ONE uncreated and eternal BEING, substisting in THREE Divine PERSONS; when I hear of an infinitely pure and perfect GOD, made Flesh for the Redemption of sinful Men; when I meditate on the righteous and universal IUDGE,

* רבי תורתי Hof. viii. 12.

† Ταμεγαλεια τε Θεε. Acts ii. 11.

JUDGE, reconciling the World unto Himself, by the Death of his own SON; ----when a thousand curious and inquisitive Thoughts are ready to arise on the Occasion; I will bid them, first sound the Depths of a single Drop, and then apply their Plummet to the boundless Ocean. This, I am very fure, is not weak Credulity, nor wild Enthusiasm; but the maturest Dictate of Reason, and the very Precifion of Truth.—Let then the great CREATOR make that sublime Declaration; As the Heavens are higher than the Earth, so are my Ways, than your Ways; and my Thoughts than your Thoughts *. Let every human Creature add that humble Acknowledgment; O the Depths of the Riches, both of the Wisdom and Knowledge of GOD! How unsearchable are his Judgments, and bis Ways past finding out +! And not Devotion only, but Reason and Truth, will say Amen to both.

You see, Aspaso, how I am trying to adopt your Spirit. You will observe the willing Scholar, though not the great Proficient.—But stay! Is this right? To divert from such commanding Subjects, and take Notice of mere Punctilios?—My Friend may spare his Frowns. I am surprised and angry at myself. Away with the little Arts of Self-recommendation.

Self

* Ifai. lv. 9. + Rom. xi. 33.

THERON to ASPASIO. Let. 9.
Self should be forgot, should be fwallowed up and lost in devout Astonishment, when We are viewing the Magnificence, and meditating on the Wonders of Creation.

Behind me, and far off to the North, Cambria's dusky Coasts just, and but just, emerged, Lost were all her Woods and Mountains. Instead of ornamented Towns, and cultivated Plains, a confused Mist, or a low-hung Cloud, seemed to hover on the Ocean's remotest Brim. -Bebind me! Remembrance is roused at the Expression, and Conscience sharpens her Sting. Ah! how often, and how long, have I treated in this very Manner, the noblest Scenes, and the fublimest Joys! Have turned my Backungrateful and befotted Creature !--- upon the heavenly Country, and wandered from the Regions of infinite Delight! Therefore now they appear dim. I have scarcely a Glimpse of their transcendent Excellencies. Or if I see them by Faith, it is with frequent Intermissions, and much Obscurity.—Turn me, O Thou GOD of my Salvation, turn me from purfuing Phantoms, and attach me to thy bleffed Self. Let me henceforth steer an invariable Course to IMMANUEL's Kingdom. its Treasures, as I advance, open to my View, and its Glories brighten in my Eye. O! may fome Odours, better, far better, than Sabaan spicy

THERON to ASPASIO. 119 fpicy Odours *, exhale from the delectable Hills, and the celestial Shores!-But chiefly thou eternal SPIRIT breathe upon my Soul, both by thy convincing and comforting Influences! Nor ever cease to swell my Sails, and speed my Progress; till I arrive at the Land, that is very far off; and see the KING, the KING of Grace and of Glory, in all bis in-effable Beauty +.

On my Left-hand, a Range of mountainous Cliffs rose in a perpendicular Direction. huge Pile extended, as far as the Sight could discern, its black Boundaries. Here, bending inwards to the Land; there, bellying out into the Deep; every where projecting a Shade, feveral Leagues a-cross the Ocean.

The Height of these Cliffs so prodigious, that every human Creature who comes near the Summit, starts back terrified and agbast. Only a few straggling Goats venture to graze on the Top; and these, to a Person walking below, appear but as Specks of moving White. While the Sea-mews, that winnow the Air about

* Alluding to those Lines in Milton. - As when to them who sail Beyond the Cape of Hope, and now are past Mosambic, off at Sea North-east Winds blow Sabæan Odour, from the spicy Shore Of Araby the blest, and many a League Chear'd with the grateful Smell old Ocean smiles. B. IV. 159.

† Laiah xxxiii. 17.

THERON to ASPASIO. Let. 9. about the middle Steep, look like winged Animalcules, pursuing their little Sports in a different Region.—The Aspect of these Cliffs so wild and borrid, it is impossible to behold them without a shivering Dread. The Spectator is apt to imagine, that Nature had formerly fuffered some violent Convulsions, or been shattered by the flaming Bolts; and that these are the dismembered Remains of the dreadful Stroke. The Ruins, not of Persepolis or Palmyra, but of the World!

Amazing! What adventurous daring Creature is yonder, gathering Sampbire from the Cavities of the Rocks! He has let Himself down feveral Fathom, beneath the bleak and dizzy Summit.—He gleans a poor Livelihood, from the Edges of Danger, shall I say? Rather, from the Jaws of Death. I cannot discern the Rope, to which He clings. He seems to be fuspended over the tremendous Precipice, by a Thread, by a Hair, by Nothing.—I'll look no longer. The very Sight chills my Veins. While I view his perilous Elevation, I can think of nothing but a headlong Downfal, and fractured Bones; of Brains left to reek on the pointed Crags, and Blood streaming on the discoloured Beach.

Suppose (if the Mind can bear so shocking a Supposition) some poor Wretch, exposed on the Brow of this stupendous Promontory; with-without any Support for his Feet; and cleaving only to a weak slender Shrub, that but just adheres to the Interstices of the Rock. What tumultuous Throbbings seize his Breast? What a dying Paleness invades his Cheeks? And what Agonies of Fear rend his Heart? As He hangs, projecting over the ragged Precipice; and furveys the Ocean deep, wonderous deep below! --- The Bough gives way. only Hope fails. It yields more and more to his Weight. Good Heavens! He sinks! He finks! O! for some friendly Hand, to snatch him from perishing! Millions, Millions of Gold, were the cheap Purchase of such a Mercy.—There was a Time, my Soul, when thou wast in a Situation, equally shall I say? Infinitely more dangerous. Tottering, not only on the Verge of Life, but on the very Brink of Hell. Remember that compassionate Arm, which was stretched out, in the very Article of Need, to rescue Thee from imminent and everlasting Never forget that gracious Voice. Perdition. which faid—in Accents fweeter than the Music of the Seraphic Choir-" Deliver him from " going down into the Pit. Let his Health " be restored, and his Day of Grace be pro-" longed."

In some Places, the hideous Ruins not only tower to the Skies, but lean over the Strand. Prominent and frightfully pendulous, they nod nod Horror, and threaten Destruction on all below. A Person congratulates Himself, when He has got clear of the bending Precipice; and can hardly forbear thinking, that the enormous Load is with-held by some unseen Hand, till the execrable Wretch, doomed to a most astonishing Vengeance, is come within Reach of the Blow. And truly, if he had the Strength of the Elephant, or the Firmness of the Behemoth, this would grind him to Powder, or even crush Him into Atoms.

How awful to confider, that there is a Day coming, when wicked Potentates, and haughty Monarchs, will beg of yonder Seas, to yawn compassionately deep, and hide them in their darkest Abysses; hide them from the piercing Eye, and avenging Sword, of inslexible Justice.—That there is a Day coming, when the soft Voluptuary, the wanton Beauty, and all the Ungodly of the Earth, will beseech those tremendous Ridges, with all their unsupportable Burden of craggy Rocks, to rush down upon their guilty Heads *. If, by this means, they may be screened from the infinitely more dreaded Weight of divine Indignation.

Vain are their Cries; and vainer still would be their Refuge, should their passionate Requests be granted. Can Floods conceal the impious Wretches; when the Caverns of the Ocean

*Rev. vi. 12, 13, 14.

Ocean shall be laid bare, and the Foundations of the World be discovered? Can Rocks secrete an obnoxious Rebel; when Rocks, with all their marble Quarries, and adamantine Entrails, shall dissolve like melting Wax? When Hills, that plunge their Roots to the Centre, and lose their towering Heads in Air, shall start from their affrighted Base*, and slee away like a withered Leas!—Good GOD! What racking Anguish must they feel! What inexpressibly severer Torment must they fear! Who can implore, ardently implore as a most desirable Favour,

This brings to our Remembrance a most sublime Derscription of the DIVINE POWER, which arises in a beautiful Climans, and terminates in this grand Idea. The Voice of the LORD is mighty in Operation, the Voice of the LORD is a glorious Voice. The Voice of the LORD breaketh the Cedars; yea, the LORD breaketh the Cedars of Lebanon. He maketh them also to skip like a Calf; Lebanon and Sirion like a young Unicorn. Psal. xxix. 4, 5, 6.

The Voice of the LORD is mighty in Operation. This is the general Proposition; which, in the following Sentences, We see most magnificently illustrated. - The Voice of the LORD breaketh the Cedars; when He speaks in Thunder, and bids the Lightning execute his Orders, the Trees, the Cedar-Trees, those sturdiest Productions of the Earth, are shivered to Pieces .- Yea, the LORD breaketh the Cedars of Lebanon; which, for Stateliness and Strength, surpass the Oaks of the Forest, almost as much as the Qak exceeds a Shrub.—It is a small Thing with JEHOVAH, to rend the Trunks, to tear up the Roots, and make those massy Bodies skip like a Calf; even Lebanon and Sirion, the Mountains on which they grow, tremble before their GOD. They are thrown into strange Commotions; they are ready to spring from their Foundations; and, with all their Load of Woods and Rocks, appear like some affrighted or some sportive Animal, that flarts with Horror, or leaps with Exultation.

vour, what Imagination itself shudders to conceive.

In some Places, these mountainous Declivities lift their Brow aloft; plant their Basis deep; and, instead of portending a Fall, defy the Fury of the most impetuous Elements. Firmly confolidated, and stedfastly established, they have withstood the united, the repeated Affaults of Winds and Waves, through a long Series of revolving Ages.—The facred Writers, I observe, select almost all the striking Images, which the whole Creation affords; in order to communicate their heavenly Ideas, with the greatest Advantage. Isaiab, describing the Security of the Righteous, takes his Comparison from the grand Spectacle before my Eyes. He shall dwell on high: bis Place of Defence shall be the Munitions of Rocks *; inaccessible as those lofty Ridges, immoveable as their everlasting Foundations.

Should it be asked, what these Munitions of Rocks may signify?—I find two Places of Refuge and Saseguard, pointed out in Scripture; to either of which, I believe, the Metaphor is applicable. He had Horns, says one of the divine Pindarics, coming out of his Hand: there was the Hiding of his Power +. Uncontroulable troulable and omnipotent Power was lodged in the great JEHOVAH's Hand; and this was the fure Defence, this the impregnable Garrifon, for all his People.—The Church of CHRIST is faid to be in the Clefts of the Rock*: That fpiritual Rock, of which the Ifraelites drank in the Wilderness; whose facred Clefts were opened, when the bloody Spear tore up the tion. Luke ii. 69. Thou hast heard me from among the Horns of the Unicorns; Thou hast rescued me from the most potent and formidable Enemies. Psal. xxii. 21. Here the Word seems to denote that Power of JEHOVAH, to which nothing is impossible. And more than seems, if We consult the next Clause.—There was the hiding of his Power; or, as it may be rendered, his powerful Hiding, a most secure Refuge, a Sanctuary absolutely inviolable. I have accommodated this Passage to a different Sense, Meditat. Vol. I. p. 183. But the true Signification, most suitable to the Context, and most subservient to the Prophet's Design, is, I apprehend, given by Theron. It is somewhat like a noble Sentiment in the Night-Thoughts; which, with a small Alteration, may serve as a Paraphrase on the Text:

* Isai. xxxiii. 16.

† Habak. iii. 4. Horns were an Emblem of Strength. A. Horn of Salvation, is put for a mighty and effectual Salvation.

And Nature's Shield the Hollow of his Hand.

* Cant. ii. 14. Should the Reader have an Inclination to fee this facred, but mysterious Book explained, I would refer him to Dr. Gill's Exposition of the Canticles. Which has such a copious Vein of fanctified Invention running through it, and is interspersed with such a Variety of delicate and brilliant Images, as cannot but highly entertain a curious Mind. Which presents Us also with such rich and charming Displays of the Glory of CHRIST's Person, the Freeness of his Grace to Sinners, and the Tenderness of his Love to the Church, as cannot but administer the most exquisite Delight to the believing Soul.—Considered in both these Views, I think, the Work resembles the Paradisacal Garden, described by Milton; in which the REDEEMER's Side, and cut a wide and deadly Passage to his Heart. Surely, the Inhabitants of this Rock have Reason to sing *. What should disquiet them? Who can destroy them? Why should not the Voice of Joy be in their Dwellings, and that Hymn of holy Triumph in their Mouths? We have a strong City: Salvation shall GOD appoint, Salvation itself, for Walls and Bulwarks +.—Happy should I think myself, if I was interested in this SAVIOUR, and established on this Rock.

Blossoms and Fruits at once of golden Hue Appear'd, with gay enamel'd Colours mix'd.

Yonder, on the Summit of the most conspicuous Cleft, is erected a grand and stately Pile. At the Top, my Glass discovers a magnificent Lanthorn; at the Foot, are the Huts of Fishermen, surrounded with various Sorts of Nets.—It is, I suppose, a Light-bouse. Intended to apprise the Sailor, of devouring Gulfs, and destructive Shoals; or else to conduct Him, into a safe Road, and secure Harbour.

Both the Situation and Design of the Building read me a Lesson: the one of awful Admonition, the other of comfortable Instruction.

—Comfortable Instruction. How massy and ponderous is the Edifice! Yet, there is not the least Reason to be apprehensive of a Failure in the Foundation. Was the Structure ten thousand times larger, the solid Rock would support it, with the utmost Ease, and the utmost most Steadiness. Such is CHRIST, such are his Merits, such his glorious Righteousness, to those wise and blessed Souls, who rest all the Weight of their everlasting Interests on Him alone. Such, did I say? Much surer. For the Mountains may depart, and the Hills be removed *; but this divine and eternal Basis can never sink, can never be shaken.—Awful Admonition. For, it recals to my Memory that alarming, yet welcome Text +, which You styled the spiritual Light-house. Which has been as serviceable to my distressed Mind and bewildered Thoughts, as such an illuminated Watchtower to the wandering and benighted Mari-May I often view it! Ever attend to its faithful Direction! And be led by its Influences, into the Haven, the desired Haven of Peace and Salvation!

* Isai. lxii. 11. † Isai. xxvi. 1.

How changeable is the Face of this liquid Element! Not long ago, there was nothing, from this stony Boundary, to the Horizon's utmost Verge, but the wildest Tumult and most horrible Confusion. Now, the stormy Flood has smoothed its rugged Brow, and the watery Uproar is lulled into a profound Tranquillity. Where rolling Mountains rushed and raged, threatening to dash the Clouds, and deluge deluge the Earth; there the gentlest Undulations play, and only just wrinkle the Surface of the mighty Bason. Where the dreadful Abyss opened its wide and unfathomable Jaws, to fwallow up the trembling Sailor, and his shattered Vessel; there a calm and clear Expanse diffuses its ample Bosom, alluring the Fish to balk in the Sun, and inviting the Sea-fowl to watch for their Prey.

* Ifai. liv. 10. + See Rom. ix. 30, 31, 32. and Vol. II. Letter V.

In this fair floating Mirror, I see the Picture of every Cloud, that passes through the Regions of the Sky. But in its uncertain and treacherous Temperature, I see more plainly the inconstant and ever-variable Condition of human Affairs.—I durst not be Surety to the Mariner, for peaceful Seas and foothing Gales. I could not ascertain the Continuance of this Halcyon Weather, fo much as a fingle Day, or even to the next Hour. And let me not fondly promise myself an uninterrupted Tenor of Serenity in my Mind, or of Prosperity in my Circumstances. Sometimes, my Heart exults under the Smile of Heaven, and the Favour of GOD. But foon; ah! too foon I am clouded with Fear, and oppressed with Corrup-I figh out that passionate Acknowledgment, Wretched Man that I am! And add that wishful Inquiry, Who shall deliver me? For this disordered State of Things, the afflicted Patriarch's Complaint, is the most apposite Motto, and the most wholesome Memento; Changes and War are around me *.—But there is a World, where difastrous Revolutions will be known no more. Where our Enjoyments will no longer fluctuate like the Ocean, but be more stedfast than the Rocks, and more immoveable than the Shores.

Here, I see an immense Collection of Waters, in a State of deep Repose. Could I extend my View to some remoter Tracts, I should behold every Thing smoother and calmer still. Not a Furrow finks, nor a Ridge swells, the Surface of the Ocean. 'Tis all like a glassy Plain. The Waves are asleep. Echo is hushed. Not a Gale stirs. The Sea stagnates; the Mariner is becalmed; and the Vessel scarcely creeps. -Whereas, could I survey the Straits of Magellan or the Gut of Gibraltar, I should find a very striking Difference. There, the Waters press in with Vehemence, and rush forwards with Impetuosity. All is there in strong Agitation, and rapid Progress. The Ship is whirled through the narrow Passage; and rides, as it were, on the Wheels of the Surge, or on the Wings of the Wind.—This, my dear Aspaño, is a true Image of what I have been, and of what I am. Some Months ago, when I was infensible of Guilt, all my Prayers were listless, and all my Religion was a spiritual • Job x. 17.

130 THERON to Aspasio. Let. 9.

Lethargy. I felt not in my Heart, what I uttered with my Tongue. Hosannabs were but an empty Ceremony, and Confessions froze on my formal Lips.—But, since the SPIRIT of GOD has awakened me from my Dream, and convinced me of my Sinfulness, I can no longer be satisfied with indolent and yawning Devotions. Tryals and Temptations put strong Cries into my Mouth. My Soul mourns before the LORD: my Desires plead with the blessed GOD: and I am ready to say, as the Patriarch of old, "I cannot, I must not, I will not let "Thee go, unless Thou bless me *."

I fee no Flocks of Sheep, with fober Affiduity, nibbling the graffy Plains. No sportive Lambs, with innocent Gaiety, frisking along the funny Banks. Here are no Stables for the generous Steed, nor Pastures for the lusty Nevertheless, these watery Regions Heifer. are stocked with Colonies of proper and peculiar Inhabitants.—Who are clothed and accoutered in exact Conformity to the Clime. Not in swelling Wool, or buoyant Feathers; not in a flowing Robe, or a full-trimmed Suit; but with as much Compactness, and with as little Superfluity, as possible. They are clad, or rather sheathed in Scales: which adhere closely to their Bodies, and are always laid in a Kind of natural Oil. Than which Apparel nothing nothing can be more light, and at the same Time nothing more folid. It hinders the Fluid from penetrating their Flesh; it prevents the Cold from coagulating their Blood; and enables them to make their Way through the Waters, with the utmost Facility.—They have each a curious Instrument *, by which they increase or diminish their specific Gravity: and sink like Lead, or float like a Cork; rise to what Height, or descend to what Depth, they please.

* Gen. xxxii. 26.

This is the Abode of Leviathan, hugest of living Creatures. Before whom the broadlimbed Elephant, and the tall-necked Camel, are mere Shrimps. A stretched-out Promontory, when He sleeps; a moving Island, when He fwims; " making the Sea to boil like a " Pot," when, unweildily wallowing, He takes his prodigious Pastime.—Here, the voracious Sbark, that Tyrant of the fluid Kingdoms, and Assassin of the finny Nations, roams and commits his Ravages: imbrues his horrid Fangs, and marks his rapid Path, with Blood. -Here dwelt that great, and greatly surprising Fish, whose Fierceness and Avidity the Almighty SOVEREIGN employed as his Pursuivant, to arrest a fugitive Prophet. ample Jaws, or capacious Entrails, were the Dungeon to confine a rebellious Subject, and K 2 the Cabin to lodge a penitent Offender. Whose Bulk and Strength and Speed were a kind of Vessel, transporting this Convict to the Bottom of the Mountains, and the Bars of the Earth *. After the Criminal was sufficiently chastised, and properly humbled, they served as a Galley with Oars, to convey Him safe to Land.

* The Air-bladder.

In the same Element resides, (at least takes up Part of his Residence) that formidable Monster, who is made without Fear, and bas not bis Like upon Earth. He esteemeth the pointed Iron as Straw, and ponderous Brass as rotten Wood. His Heart is as hard as a Piece of the nether Millstone, and his Scales are a Coat of impenetrable Mail. Strength not to be resisted, much less to be subdued, lies intrenched in his finewy Neck. His Eyes are like the Eyelids of the opening Day; and when He rolls those glaring Orbs, there feems to be another Morn risen on Mid-noon. His Teeth are terrible. jagged for Rapine, and edged with Death. His Throat is as a burning Furnace; Clouds of Smoke roll from his Nostrils, and Flakes of Fire issue from his Mouth. None, no not the most resolute, dares provoke Him to the Combat, or even stir Him up from his Slumbers. He laugheth at the shaking of the Spear, and Sorrow marcheth in Triumph before Him +.

When-

* Jonah ii. 6.

† fob xli. 22. אבין הרוץ האביז Mæror, says Bochart, præcedit tanquam Metator & Comes, tumidique Anteambulo Re-

Whenever He raiseth Himself, the Mighty are asraid; wherever He advanceth, Ruin is there.—If a mere Creature is capable of spreading such Alarm and Dread; how greatly is the CREATOR himself to be feared! Who can turn the most harmless Inhabitant of the Ocean, into a ravenous Alligator, or a horrid Crocodile! Who can arm every Reptile of the Ground, with all the Force and Rage of a Lion!

'Tis impossible to enter on the Muster-roll, those scaly Herds, and that minuter Fry, which graze the Sea-weed, or stray through the coral Groves. They are innumerable, as the Sands that lie under them; countless, as the Waves that cover them.—Here are uncouth Animals, of monstrous Shapes *, and amazıng

gis. Terror and Anguish are a kind of advanced Guard to this Monarch among the Reptiles. Or, they go before the Monster, as the Man bearing a Shield went before the Philisline Giant.—The original Word occurs in no other Part of the sacred Book. I cannot recollect any Expression, which so fully represents its Meaning, as Homer's xusiow, or Xinophon's yauguar ai; both which are intended to describe the Ardor and Action of a high-mettled prancing Steed.

* Monstrous Shapes—Such as the Sword-fish; whose upper Jaw is lengthened into a strong and sharp Sword. With which He sometimes ventures to attack the Ships, though armed with Thunder; and is capable of piercing their Sides, though ribbed with Oak. This may be called the Champion of the Waters. Who, though never exceeding sixteen Feet in Length, yet, confiding in a Weapon at once so trusty and so tremendous, scruples not to give Battle even to the Whale Himself.—The Sun-fish has no Tail; seems to be all Head; amazing Qualities *. Some, that have been discovered by the inquisitive Eye of Man; and many more, that remain among the Secrets of the hoary Deep.—Here are Sholes and Sholes, and was it not for two Fins, which act the Part of Oars, would be one entire round Mass of Flesh.—The Polypus, remarkable for its numerous Feet, and as many Claws; by which it has the Appearance of a mere Insect, and seems sitted only to crawl. At the same Time, an Excrescence, arising on the Back, enables it to steer a steady Course in the Waves. So that it may pass under the twofold Character of a Sailor and a Reptile.—Horace intimates, that the British Ocean is samous for producing Sea-monsters;

Te belluosus qui remotis Obstrepit Oceanus Britannis.

 Amazing Qualities—Among these may be reckoned the Torpedo, which benumbs on a sudden, and renders impotent, whatever Fish it assaults. And, which is a more extraordinary Property, strikes even the Fisherman's Arm, when He offers to lay hold on it, with a temporary Deadness. By this means, it possesses the double Advantage, of arresting its Prey, and securing itself.—The Cuttle-fish, furnished with a liquid Magazine, of a Colour and Confistence like Ink. Which, when pursued by an Enemy, the Creature emits, and blackens the Water. By this Artifice, the Foe is bewildered in the Chace; and while the One vainly gropes in the dark, the Other seizes the Opportunity, and makes his Escape.—The Nautilus, whose Shell forms a natural Boat. The dextrous Inhabitant unfurls a Membrane to the Wind, which serves him instead of a Sail. He extends also a Couple of Arms, with which, as with two flender Oars, He rows Himself along. When He is disposed to dive, He strikes Sail; and, without any Apprehension of being drowned, sinks to the Bottom. When the Weather is calm, and He has an Inclination to take his Pleafure, He mounts to the Surface; and, felf-taught in the Art of Navigation, performs his Voyage without either Chart or Compass: is Himself the Vessel, the Rigging, and the Pilot.—For a more copious Illustration of this amuling and wonderful Subject, see Nat. Displ. Vol.

of various Characters, and of the most diversified Sizes; from the cumbrous Whale, whose Flouncings tempest the Ocean, to the evanefcent Anchovy, whose Substance dissolves in the smallest Fricassee.—Some, lodged in their pearly Shells, and fattening on their rocky Beds, seem attentive to no higher Employ, than that of imbibing moist Nutriment. These, but a small Remove from vegetable Life, are almost rooted to the Rocks, on which they lie reposed. While others, active as the winged Creation, and swift as an Arrow from the Indian Bow, shoot along the yielding Flood, and range at large the spacious Regions of the Deep.

Here is the Tortoise, who never moves but under her own portable Pent-house. The Lobfler, which, whether He sleeps or wakes, is still in a State of Defence, and clad in jointed The Oyster, a fort of living Jelly, Armour. ingarrisoned in a Bulwark of native Stone. With many other Kinds of Sea-reptiles, or, as the Psalmist speaks, Things creeping innumerable *.—I am surprised at the Variety of their Figure, and charmed with the Splendor of their Colours. Unsearchable is the Wisdom, and endless the Contrivance, of the all-creating God!—Some are rugged in their Form, and little better than hideous in their K 4 Aspect.

135 THERON to Aspasio. Let. 9.

Aspect. Their Shells seem to be the rude Production of a disorderly Jumble, rather than the regular Effects of Skill and Design. Yet We shall find, even in these seeming Irregularities, the ricest Dispositions. These Abodes, uncough as they may appear, are adapted to the Genius of their respective Tenants, and exactly suited to their particular Exigencies. Neither the Islic Delicacy, nor the Corinthian Richnels, nor any other Order of Architecture, would have served their Purposes half so well, as this count and homely Fabric.

Some, on the other Hand, are extremely real. Their Structure is all Symmetry and Elegance. No Enamel in the World is comparable to their Polith. There's not a Room of Size, in all the Palaces of Europe, so brilliamly adexned, as the Dining-room and the Bedchamber of the little Fish, that dwells in Mornier of Famil. Such a lovely Mixture of Red, and Five, and Green, so delightfully staining the mast clear and glistering Ground, is no where alle to be seen. The royal Power may cover it, and human Art may mimic it; but matter the one, nor the other, nor both united, will ever be able to equal it.

Sur what I admire more, than all their Streaks, their Spots, and their Embroidery, is, The extraordinary Provision made for their Septy.—Nothing is more relishing and palatable able than their Flesh. Nothing more heavy and fluggish than their Motions. As they have no Speed to escape, neither have they any Dexterity to elude the Foe. Were they naked or unguarded, they must be an easy Prey to every Free-booter, that roams the Ocean.—To prevent this fatal Consequence, what is only Clothing to other Animals, is to them a Clothing, a House, and a Castle. They have a Fortification, that grows with their Growth, and is a Part of themselves. By this means, they live fecure amidst Millions and Millions of ravenous Jaws: by this means, they are imparked, as it were, in their own Shell; and, screened from every other Assault, are reserved for the Use and Pleasure of Mankind.

This is the Birth-place of Cod, the standing Repast of Lent. This is the Nursery of Turbot, for its exquisite Relish justly styled, The Pheasant of the Waters. Hence comes the Sturgeon, delicious even in Pickle, and a Regale for royal Luxury: Hence the Flounders, dappled with reddish Spots, and a Supply for vulgar Wants.—Here dwell the Mackarel, decked, when haled from their native Element, richly decked with the most glossy Dies; the Herring, whose Back is mottled with Azure, and his Belly sleek with Silver: the Salmon, in plainer Habit, but of larger Substance, and higher Esteem, than either or both the preceding.

ceding.—These, when shotten and lean, wander wildly up and down the vast Abyss. When plump and delicate, they throng our Creeks, and swarm in our Bays: they repair to the Shallows, or haunt the running Streams.— Who bids these Creatures evacuate the Shores. and disperse themselves into all Quarters, when they become worthless and unfit for our Service? Who rallies and recals the undisciplined Vagrants, as foon as they are improved into desirable Food? Who appoints the very Scene of our Ambushes, to be the Place of their Rendezvous? So that they come like Volunteers to our Nets?—Surely, the Furlow is figned, the Summons issued, and the Point of Reunion fettled, by a Providence ever indulgent to Mankind; ever studious to treat Us with Dainties, and load Us with Benefits *.

We have wondered at + our SAVIOUR's Penetration and Power—his Penetration, which, though the Sea was at a Distance, and Walls intervened, discerned the Fish, that had just swallowed a Piece of Money—his Power, which, without any Delay, brought the law-less Rambler, charged with the filver Spoil, to Peter's Hook. But is it not more wonderful, to observe such innumerable Multitudes of finny Visitants, annually approaching our Shores, and crouding our Banks? Which furnish our Tables with a wholsome and delicate Repast; at the same Time, that they yield to our Nation a Revenue*, more certain, and no less considerable, than the Mines of Peru.

* Pfal. lxviii. 19. † See Letter VIII. p. 85.

These approach, while those of enormous Size and tremendous Appearance abandon the Shores. The latter might endanger the Fisherman's Safety, and would certainly scare away the valuable Fish from our Coasts. They are therefore restrained by an invisible Hand, and abfcond in the Abysses of the Ocean. Just as the wild Beasts of the Earth, impelled by the fame over-ruling Power, hide themselves in the Recesses of the Forest.—A Ship, infected with a pestilential Distemper, is obliged to keep off at Sea, and perform Quarantine, In like manner, these Monsters of the Deep, are laid under a providential Interdict. their Presence would always be pernicious, they are never suffered to come near; their Quarantine is perpetual.

Ask now the Beasts, and they shall teach Thee; and the Fowls of the Air, and they shall tell Thee: or speak to the Earth, and it shall teach Thee;

• We are told by the afore-mentioned Author, That the Banks of Newfoundland alone, bring in to the Proprietors of that Fishery, a Revenue of several Millions every Year.—And they will, in all Probability, be an unimpaired Resource of Treasure, when the richest Mines now wrought in the World, are choked up or exhausted.

Thee *; and the Fishes of the Sea shall declare unto Thee—That the LORD is gracious—That his tender Mercies are over all his Works—That to Us He is superabundantly and profusely good. Having ordered all Things in the Surges of the Ocean, as well as on the Surface of the Ground, for our rich Accommodation, and for our greatest Advantage.

One Circumstance, relating to the Natives of the Deep, is very peculiar, and no less astonishing. As they neither sow, nor reap; have neither the Produce of the Hedges, nor the Gleanings of the Field; they are obliged to plunder and devour one another, for necessary Subsistence. They are a kind of authorized Banditti, that make Violence and Murder their professed Trade.—By this means, prodigious Devastations ensue; and, without proper, without very extraordinary Recruits, the whole Race must continually dwindle, and at length be totally extinct.—Were they to bring forth, like the most prolific of our terrestrial * Job xii. 7, 8. The Earth is represented, as bearing witness to the immense Benignity of the blessed GOD. Some Minutes, or a short Abstract, of her Testimony on this Occasion, may be seen in Letter VI.

† To this, I believe, the Prophet alludes, in that remarkable Expression; Thou makest Men as the Fishes of the Sea. Thou sufferest Men to commit, without Restraint or Controul, all Manner of Outrages. What should be a civil Community, is a Scene of Oppression. The Weakest are a Prey to the Strongest, and every One seeks the Destruction of his Neighbour. Habak. i. 14.

Animals, a Dozen only, or a Score at each Birth; the Increase would be unspeakably too fmall for the Confumption. The weaker Species would be destroyed by the stronger; and, in Time, the stronger must perish, even by their fuccessful Endeavours to maintain themfelves.-Therefore, to supply Millions of Asfassins with their Prey, and Millions of Tables with their Food, yet not to depopulate the watery Realms; the Issue produced by every Breeder is almost incredible. They spawn, not by Scores or Hundreds, but by Thousands and by Millions *. A fingle Mother is pregnant with a Nation. By which amazing, but most needful Expedient, a periodical Reparation is made, proportionable to the immense Havoc.

As the Sea is peopled with animated Inhabitants, it is also variegated with vegetable Productions. Some, soft as Wool; others, hard as Stone. Some rise, like a leastless Shrub; some are expanded, in the Form of a Net;

* Mr. Petit found 342,144 Eggs in the hard Roe of a Carp, fixteen Inches long. Mr. Lewenhoeck counted, in a Cod of an ordinary Size, 9,384,000 Eggs.—A Fecundity perfectly amazing! But admirably adapted to the pressing Exigencies of the watery World; admirably contrived for the Benefit and Delight of Mankind!—If We advert to this Peculiarity, it will give the utmost Emphasis to the Patriarch's metaphorical Expression, and an inimitable Beauty to his prophetic Wish, TLC CCL Let these my Grandsons grow into a Multitude; let them multiply abundantly, even like the Fishes of the Ocean. Gen. xlviii. 16.

Let. g. some grow with their Heads downwards, and feem rather hanging on, than springing from, the Juttings of the Rocks. These may with much greater Propriety, than the famous Plantations of Semiramis, be called penfile Gardens.—But, as You and I have never visited the Forests of the Ocean, nor taken so much as a fingle Turn among those submarine Groves; as Moses, Joshua, and Jonah, the only Writers that ever made the wonderful Tour, intent upon more important Themes, have left Us no Memoirs relating to this curious Point; I shall not venture to advance any thing particular on the Subject. Only one Remark I would offer in general-

The Herbs and Trees, which flourish on the dry Land, are maintained by the Juices, that permeate the Soil, and fluctuate in the Air. For this Purpose, they are furnished with Leaves, to collect the one; and with Roots, to attract the other. Whereas, the Seaplants, finding sufficient Nourishment in the circumambient Waters, have no Occasion to detach a Party of Roots into the Ground, and forage the Earth for Sustenance. Instead therefore of penetrating, they are but just tacked to the Bottom; and adhere to fome folid Substance, only with such a Degree of Tenacity, as may fecure them from being toffed to and fro, by the random Agitation of the Waves.

We see from this, and numberless other Instances, what a Diversity there is, in the Operations of the great CREATOR's Hand. Yet every Alteration is an Improvement, and each new Pattern has a peculiar Fitness of its own. -The same Oeconomy takes place, such a Difference of Administration I mean, in his Government of the rational World. In "choof-" ing an Heritage for his People," and affigning a Condition to each of his Servants, there is a great Variety with respect to Individuals; yet a perfect Uniformity, and complete Harmony, with respect to the Whole.—Some He calls out to a Course of distinguished Labours. They make an illustrious Figure in Life, and appear as a City set on an * Hill! Others He configns over to Obscurity. They are like the Prophets, whom good Obadiab hid in a Cave, and are styled bis secret Ones +. Those, the Cedars, that stand conspicuous on the Top of Lebanon: these, the Violets, that lie concealed at the Foot of a Briar.

St. Paul was eminently qualified for bufy Scenes, and the most extensive Services. He is introduced, therefore, into Places of Concourse. His Ministry lies amidst the most renowned and populous Cities. Even his Imprisonment at Rome, seems to have been a providential Expedient for fixing Him, as it were, on the Stage

* Matt. v. 14. + Pfal. lxxxiii. 3.

144 THERON to ASPASIO. Let. 9.

Stage of public Observation, and in the very Center of universal Intelligence. Where his Preaching was like plunging a Stone into the Midst of a smooth Canal; which affects not only the neighbouring Parts of the Surface, but spreads the floating Circles over all the wide Expanse.—Whereas, the beloved John, who feems less fitted to bustle among a Croud, is fent into the unfrequented folitary Island; there to indulge the Flights of heavenly Contemplation; and receive, with uninterrupted Attention, the mysterious Visions of GOD.-Job shall have Thorns in his Path; have the Dunghil for his Seat; and be exposed, as a Mark, to all the Arrows of Tribulation. Solomon shall dip his Foot in Oil; shall be elevated on the Throne of Royalty; and furrounded with the most lavish Caresses of Heaven.

In all this seeming, this more than seeming Contrariety, there is a Display, not only of sovereign Authority, but of consummate Propriety.—The great HEAD of the Church, acts like a judicious General; and appoints such a Station to each of his Soldiers, as corresponds with the Ability He gives. He acts like the most skilful Physician; and prescribes such a Remedy for all his Patients, as is most nicely suited to their respective Case. He knows the precise Point of Time, the particular Place of Abode, the peculiar Circumstances of Condition, which are most proper for each and every of his Children; and, like a tender as well as unerring Father, what He knows to be best, that He constantly allots.——I said, like a General, like a Physician, like a Father. But the Comparison is low; the Language is inexpressive; CHRIST is all that is implied in these Relations, and unspeakably more-O! that We may rejoice in the Superintendency of such a SAVIOUR; and not only refign Ourselves to his Will, but thank Him for managing the Reins; thank Him for directing our Since, whatever our froward and petulant Passions may suggest, The LORD's Ways are fo far from being unequal, that He orders all Things in Number, Weight, and Measure.

All is so very different from the Prospects, which lately presented themselves, that I can hardly forbear asking, Whether I am not translated into a new World?—Where are the waving Hillocs, covered with the CREATOR's Bounty? Where are the fruitful Vallies, made vocal with his Praise? No cultured Field, no opening Blossom, not so much as a green Leaf appears. None of my late Entertainments remain, but only the cooling Zephirs. Which are no longer perfumed with the Breath of Flowers, but impregnated with the Freshness Vol. III.

of the Ocean.—Yet, though all those lovely Landschapes are withdrawn; though the gurgling Fountain is filenced, and the blooming Garden lost: I am not far from the Origin, both of the Odours, which exhale from the one; and of the Crystal, which flows from the other. I am now upon the Margin of that grand Reservoir, which supplies the Country with its Fertility, and the Parterre with its Beauty.—The Sea is the inexhaustible Ciftern of the Universe. The Air and Sun constitute the mighty Engine, which works without Intermission, to raise the liquid Treasure. While the Clouds serve as so many Aqueducts, to convey the genial Stores along the Atmosphere; and distribute them, at seasonable Periods, and in regular Proportions, through all the Regions of the Globe.

I question, whether the united Application of Mankind could, with their utmost Skill, and with all possible Percolations, fetch a single Drop of perfectly sweet Water *, from this un-

* I have not forgotten, what was lately affirmed in our public Papers; That a certain ingenious Gentleman, I think in the City of Durham, had found out the Art of sweetening Sea-water. - What he produced, might probably approve itfelf to the Taste, and not be without its Usefulness. Yet I cannot but query, whether it will be found to have all those fine, balmy, salutiferous Qualities, which distinguish and recommend the Rain-Water. Which has been exhaled by the kindly Warmth of the Sun; has been filtrated by paffing and repassing through the Regions of the Air; has been clarified measurable Pit of Brine. Yet the Action of the folar Heat draws off, every Hour, every Minute, Millions and Millions of Tons, in vaporous Exhalations. Which, being skilfully parceled out, and securely lodged in the Bottles of Heaven *, are fent abroad, sweetened and refined, without any brackish Tincture, or the least bituminous Sediment.—Sent abroad upon the Wings of the Wind, to distil in Dews, or pour themselves in Rain: to ooze from the Orifices of Fountains +; to trickle along the Veins of Rivulets; to rife in the Cavities of Wells; to roll, in many a headlong Torrent, from the Sides of Mountains; to flow, in copious Streams, amidst the Bosom of burning Desarts, and through the Heart of populous Kingdoms. In order to refresh and fertilize, to beautify and enrich, every Soil, in every Clime.

How amiable is the Goodness, and how amazing is the Power, of the World's adorable rified in the highest and purest Tracts of the Atmosphere; has been farther refined and persected by the searching Agency of the Winds.—I should very much wonder, if the puny Alembic could equal this grand Apparatus of Nature.

* So the Clouds are elegantly styled in facred Writ, Job

XXXVIII. 27.

+ We are obliged to Clemens Romanus, for the most just and elegant Representation of Fountains and their Usefulness, that perhaps any where exists. Αευναοι τε ωηγαι ωρω απολαυσιν και υγιειαν δημιεργηθεισαι, διχα ελλειψεως ωαρεχονίαι τες ωρω ζωην ανθρωποις μαζες, I Epist ad Corinth. He calls Fountains, the Breasts or Teats of the Earth. The Comparison, I believe, is his own: and nothing can exceed it, as to Propriety and Beauty.

Let. 9. able MAKER!—How amiable bis Goodness! in distributing so largely, what is so absolutely necessary, and so extensively beneficial. That Water, without which We can scarce perform any Business, or enjoy any Comfort, should be every One's Property. Should stream by our Houses; should start up from the Soil; should drop down from the Clouds; should take a Journey, from the Ends of the Earth, and the Extremities of the Ocean, on purpose to serve Us.—How amazing bis Power! That this boundless Mass of fluid Salt, so intolerably nauseous to the human Taste, should be the original Spring, which deals out every palatable Draught to Mankind, and quenches the Thirst of every Animal! Doubtless, the Power by which this is effected, can extract Comfort from our Afflictions, Advantage from our Calamities, and make all Things work together for our Good *.

Vast and various are the Advantages +, which We receive from the liquid Element: vast, as its unbounded Extent; various, as its ever-mutable Surface.—The sweet Waters glide glide along the Earth, in spacious Currents: which not only exhilarate the adjacent Country, by their humid Train, and exhaling Moisture; but, by giving a brisk Impulse to the Air, prevent the unwholesome Stagnation of their own Vapours.—They pass by opulent Cities, and receiving all their Filth, rid them of a thousand Nuisances. Which, when once committed to these fluid Scavengers, are as effectually fecreted, as if they were buried ever fo deep in the Earth.—Yet, though they condescend to so mean an Employ, they are fitted for more honourable Services. They enter the Gardens of a Prince, and compose some of the most delightful Ornaments of the Place. They glitter upon the Eye, as they float in the ample Canal. They amuse the Imagination, as they ascend in curious Jet d' Eaus. They yield a nobler Entertainment, as, forming themselves into Sheets of floping Silver, they fall in graceful or in grand Cascades.—If, instead of Beautifiers, You think proper to make use of them as Drudges, they ply at our Mills; they toil incessantly at the Wheel; and, by working the hugest Engines, take upon themselves an unknown Share of our Fatigue, and fave Us a proportionable Degree of Expence.

Rom. viii. 28.

+ The high Value which Mankind set upon this Element, and the many Benefits they receive from its Ministration, both these Particulars are very strongly expressed by the Hebrews. Who call a Pool or Reservoir of Water ברבה; which denotes, in its primary Signification, a Bleffing. Cant. vii. 4. Ifai. vii. 3.

So forcibly they act, when collected; and most surprisingly they infinuate, when detached. They throw themselves into the Body of a Plant; they penetrate the minutest of its organized Tubes; and find a Passage through Meanders, too small for the Eye to discern, too numerous and intricate even for Imagination to follow.—How difficultly does a Labourer that ferves the Mason, push his Way up the Rounds of a Ladder, bending under the Burden of Mortar on his Head! While these Servants in the Employ of Nature, carry their Load to a much greater Height; and climb with the utmost Ease, even without the Assistance of Steps or of Stairs. They convey the nutrimental Stores of Vegetation, from the lowest Fibres that are plunged into the Soil, to the very topmost Twigs that wave amidst the Clouds. They are the Caterers for the vegetable World: or (if I may be allowed the Expression) the Sutlers, that attend the whole Host of Plants; to furnish them with seasonable Refreshment, and necessary Provision. By means of which, the Trees of the LORD are full of Sap, even the Cedars of Lebanon which HE bath planted *. And, notwithstanding their vast Elevation, and prodigious Diffusion; though they are abandoned by Man, and deprived of all Cultivation; yet, not a fingle Branch is destitute of Leaves, nor a fingle Leaf of Moisture.

Besides the salutary, cleanly, and serviceable Circulation of the Rivers; the Sea has a Libration, bration, no less advantageous, and much more remarkable. - Every Day, this immense Collection of Waters, for the Space of five or fix Hours, flows towards the Land; and, after a short Pause, retires again to its inmost Caverns; taking up nearly the same Time in its Retreat, as it required for its Access.—How great is the Power, that sets the whole fluid World in Motion! That protrudes to the Shores fuch an inconceivable Weight of Waters, without any Concurrence from the Winds, frequently in direct Opposition to all their Force! How gracious also is the Providence, which bids the mighty Element perform its tumbling Revolutions, with the most exact Punctuality! Was it suffered to advance, with a lawless and unlimited Swell; it might sweep over Kingdoms, and deluge whole Continents. Was it irregular and uncertain in its Approaches, Navigation would be at a Stand, and Trade become precarious.—But, being constant at its stated Periods, and never exceeding its appointed Bounds, it creates no Alarm to the Country, and affords very confiderable Aids to Traffic.

* Pfal. civ. 16.

The Tide, at its Flow, rushing up our large Rivers, clears and deepens the Passage; in many Places spreads a copious Flood, where a dry and empty Waste lay before.—Is the Sailor returned from his Voyage, and waiting at the Mouth of the Channel? The Flux is ready to convey his Vessel to the very Doors of the Owner; and without any Hazard of striking on the Rocks, or of being fastened in the Sands. —Has the Merchant freighted his Ship? Would He have it transferred to the Ocean? The Reflux tenders its Service; and bears away the Load, with the utmost Expedition, and with equal Safety.—Behold, O Man! How greatly thou art beloved, how highly favoured by thy MAKER! In what Part of his Works has He forgotten or overlooked thy Welfare? Shew me a Creature, point out a Spot; in the Formation or Disposition of which, He has not been mindful of thy Interests? He has made Thee to have Dominion over the Works of his Hands, and has put all Things in Subjection under thy Feet. All Sheep and Oxen; the Fowls of the Air, and the Fishes; yea, and the Surges of the Sea *, are subservient to thy Benefit. Even these, wild and impetuous as they are, yield their willing Backs, to receive thy Load; and like an indefatigable Beast of Burden, carry it to the Place, which Thou shalt nominate.

What preserves this vast Flood in a State of perpetual Purity? It is the universal Sewers, into which are discharged the Refuse and Filth of the whole World. That which would defile the Land, and pollute the Air, is transmitted to the Ocean, and neither Mischief nor Inconvenience ensue. Those Swarms of Locusts—which, while living were a Plague to Pharaob, by their lothed Intrusion; and when dead, might have caused a more dreadful Plague, by their noisome Stench—swept into the Sea, were neither pestilential, nor offen-How then is this Receptacle of every Nuisance kept clean? Why does it not contract a noxious Taint, and diffuse a destructive Contagion? Such as would render it a Grave to the aquatic, and Bane to the terrestrial Animals?——'Tis owing, partly to its incessant Motion, partly to its saline Quality. By the One, it is secured from any internal Principle of Corruption; by the other, it works itself clear from every adventitious Defilement.

A Directory this, and a Pattern for me!—Thus may divine Grace, like the penetrating Power of Salt, cure the Depravity of my Heart, and rectify the Disorders of my Temper! Seafon my Words, and make all my Conversation savoury!—Thus may a continual Course of Activity, in my secular and my sacred Vocation, prevent the pernicious Effects of Indolence! Let me daily exercise, or be attempting to exercise, the Graces of Christianity. Lest Faith become feeble; lest Hope contract Dimnes; and Charity wax cold.

Now the Tide begins to flow. Wave rifes upon Wave, and Billow rolls over Billow.

154. Theron to Aspasio. Let.g.

Nothing can divert, nothing retard its Progress; no, not for a Moment. Though Canutus be in the Way*; though his royal Authority, and strict Prohibition, nay, though all the Forces of his Kingdom oppose; it will never discontinue the advancing Swell, till it has reached the destined Point.—So, may I always abound in Communion with GOD, or in Beneficence to Men; resigning one religious

* Alluding to a memorable and instructive Story, recorded of King Canutus. Who, probably without having read, had nevertheless thoroughly learned, that excellent Lesson of Horace;

Regum timendorum in proprios Greges, Reges in ipsos Imperium est Jovis.

Some of his abject and designing Flatterers, had the impious Assurance to tell Him, "His Power was more than hu"man."—To convince them of their Folly, and rebuke them for their Falshood, He ordered his royal Chair to be placed on the Extremity of the Shore, just as the Tide began to flow. Here He took his Seat, in the Presence of the Parasites, and many other Attendants. Then, with all that Dignity of Air, and Severity of Accent, which sovereign Authority knows how to assume, He said—"Thou Sea, the Land on which I sit is mine; nor has any One dared to invade my Rights, or disobey my Commands, without suffering the deserved Punishment. I charge Thee, therefore, on Pain of my highest Displeasure, not to enter these Territories, nor touch the Feet of England's Monarch."

When the rude Waves made bold to enter on the forbidden Ground; nay, when those uncourtly Things presumed to rush upon the royal Seat, and even to dash his Majesty's Person; He started from his Throne, and bid every Beholder observe the Impotence of earthly Kings. Bid them remember, That HE alone is worthy of the Name, whom Winds and Waves and universal Nature obey.

ous or charitable Employ, only to enter upon another; and be thus pressing forward, still pressing forward, to the Prize of my high Calling in CHRIST JESUS.—Differing from those regular Vicissitudes of the Ocean, only in one Particular; That my Endeavours never ebb, my Soul never draws back. Since this would be, if temporary, to my grievous Loss; if final, to my aggravated Perdition, Consider the Sea in another Capacity, and it connects the remotest Realms of the Universe; by facilitating an Intercourse between their respective Inhabitants.—What short-sighted Beings are Mankind! How extremely superficial their Views! How unavoidable therefore their frequent Mistakes! The Antients looked upon this bottomless Deep, as an unpassable *Gulph. If our Fore-fathers were so egregiously mistaken in this Instance; let not Us too peremptorily pronounce upon any difficult or mysterious Point. Lest succeeding Generations, or a more inlightened State, should cover Us with the double Confusion, of childish Ignorance, and foolish Conceit.

We have clearly demonstrated, and happily experienced, the very Reverse of that grey-head-

Prudens Oceano dissociabili Terras. Hor.

ed

156 THERON to ASPASIO. Let. o. ed Surmise to be true. The Ocean, instead of being a Bar of Separation, is the great Bond For this Purpose, it is never exof Union. bausted, though it supplies the whole Firmament with Clouds, and the whole Earth with Rains. Nor ever over-flows, though all the Rivers in the Universe are perpetually augmenting its Stores, and pouring in their tributary Floods.—By means of this Element, We travel farther, than Birds of the strongest Pinion fly; and discover Tracts, which the Vulture's Eye bas never seen *. We make a Vifit to Nations, that lie drowned in their midnight Slumbers, when every industrious Perfon on this Part of the Globe, is bestirring Himself in all the Hurry of Business. cultivate an Acquaintance with the Sun-burnt Negro, and the shivering Icelander. We cross the flaming Line, We penetrate the frozen Pole, and wing our Way even round the World.

This is the great Vehicle of Commerce.—Not to mention the floating Castles, which contain whole Armies; which bear the Thunder, the fiery Tempests, and all the dreadful Artillery of War; what a Multitude of Ships, of the largest Dimensions, and most prodigious Burden, are continually passing and repassing this universal Thoroughsare! Ships, that are freighted, not with Sacks, but with Harvests of Corn; that carry not Pipes, but Vintages of Wine; that are laden, not with Bars of Iron, Blocks of Marble, or Wedges of Gold, but with whole Quarries of massy Stone, and whole Mines of ponderous Metal. All which, lodged in these volatile Storebouses, and actuated by the Breath of Heaven, are wasted to the very Ends of the Earth: wasted, enormous and unwieldy as they are, more expeditiously than the light Berlin bowls along the Road; almost as speedily, as the nimble-footed Roe bounds over the Hills *.

Aftonishing Ordination of eternal Wisdom! Yet most graciously contrived for the Benefit of Mankind! I can hardly satisfy my View, in beholding this rolling Chaos; I can never cease my Admiration, in contemplating its amazing Properties.—That an Element, so unstable and fugitive, should bear up such an immense Weight, as would bend the firmest Floors, or burst the strongest Beams!—That the thin and yielding Air should drive on, with so much Facility and Speed, Bodies of such excessive Bulk, as the Strength of a Legion would • A Ship, under a brisk and steady Gale, will sail at the Rate of 216 Miles in 24 Hours: persevering, if the Wind continues favourable, in the same rapid Career, for several Days together. A Course, which, considering both its Swistness and Duration, cannot be equaled by the ablest Horse, perhaps not by the nimblest Creature that treads the Ground.

158 THERON to ASPASIO. Let. di would be unable to move.—That the Air and the Water, acting in Conjunction, should carry to the Distance of many thousand Miles, what the united Force of Men and Machines could fcarcely drag a fingle Yard.—Puny and despicable are our Attempts: but great and marvelous are thy Works, O LORD GOD Almighty! If thou wilt work, fays the Prophet, who or what shall let it *? Neither the Meanness of the Instrument, nor the Greatness of the Event. A Sling and a Stone shall lay the gigantic Bravo in the Dust +. An Ox-Goad shall do more Execution than a Battery of Cannon 1. Even a Worm shall thresh the Mountains, and beat them small, and make the Hills as GOD ALL-SUFFICIENT is Chaff ||. his Name, and out of Weakness He maketh his Strength perfect.—O! that We, my dear Aspasio—that I especially—may be strong in the LORD, and in the Power of his Might! Then, as the light Air is made to act with a more forcible Impulse, than the most vigorous Engines; as the fluid Water is made to sustain more ponderous Loads, than the most substantial Works of Masonry; so We, who in Ourselves are nothing but Impotence, shall be enabled to triumph over the Legions of Hell, and tread down all the Temptations of the World. How

* Isai. xliii. 13. + 1 Sam. xvii. 15. ‡ Judg. iii. 31. | Isai. xli. 15.

How are the Mariners conducted through this fluid Common, than which nothing is more wide, and nothing more wild? Here is no Track to be followed: no Posts of Direction to be consulted; nor any Shepherd's Hut, where a Traveler may ask the Way.—Are they guided by a Pillar of Fire in the Night, or a moveable Cloud in the Day? As the Sons of Jacob and Joseph were escorted through the eastern Desarts. No; but by a mean, contemptible, and otherwise worthless Fossil. The Apostle James mentions it, as a very observable Fact; that the Ships, which are so great, and driven of fierce Winds, yet are turned about with a very small Helm, whithersoever the Governor listeth *. Is it not equally wonderful, that they should be led through such a pathless and unmeasurable Waste, by so small an Expedient, as the Intervention of the Loadstone +? -Till this furprifing Mineral was discovered, and its Properties were improved, Navigation lay in its Cradle. Was, at best, a mere Infant, that crept timoroufly along the Coasts; was obliged to keep within fight of the Shores;

* Jam. iii. 4.

† I am aware, that other Expedients are used, for shaping a proper Course on the Ocean; such as making Observations from the Sun by mathematical Instruments. But these, I believe, are only subordinate Aids to the Needla. The grand Regulator is the Magnet. I have heard an experienced Sailor declare; He would rather be without his Quadrant, than without his Compass.

Thus does GOD, both in the Operations of Nature, and the Administrations of Providence, accomplish the most important Ends by the most inconsiderable Means.—When the formidable Sisera is to be cut off, the Blow shall be given, not by some puissant Champion, but by the Hand of a Woman *. When Jericho is to be demolished, those impregnable Fortifications shall fall, not beneath the Stroke of battering Engines, but before the Sound of Ram's Horns †.—When a hundred thousand Midianites are to be routed, the LORD of Hosts will gain this signal Victory, not by numerous merous Legions completely armed, but by a Handful of Israelites, accountered only with Trumpets, Lamps, and Pitchers *. --- Who would have thought, that from the Root of Jesse, a Root out of a dry Ground, should arise that great Tree, which stretches her Boughs unto the Sea, and her Height unto the Heavens, and her Branches unto the Ends of the Earth? That the despised Galilean and the Carpenter's Son, should be the SAVIOUR of the World, and the HEIR of all Things? Nay; that a Person, humbled like the meanest of Slaves, and executed like the vilest of Malefactors: nailed to a Cross, and laid prostrate among the Dead; that HE should restore Life and Immortality to ruined Sinners; should open the Gates of Grace and Glory on lost Mankind? That a few illiterate Mortals, taken from the Barge, the Oar, and the Net, should confute Philosophers, and convert Kings; should overthrow the Strong-holds of Idolatry, and plant Christianity on its Ruins!-This is a Circumstance, which, though a Stumbling-block to fome People, has confiderably strengthened my Faith. It is perfectly agreeable to the ALMIGHTY's Manner. It is (if I may so speak) the distinguishing Turn of his Hand, and the peculiar Style of his Works. Whence does He raise the charmingly beauteous Flower?

* Judg. iv. 9. + Job. vi. 5.

* Judg. vii. 19.

M

Flower? Whence the magnificent Myriads of the Forest-oaks? Whence the boundless and inestimable Stores of the Harvest? From Principles which bear not the least Proportion to their Effects.—Besides; this most emphatically speaks THE GOD. It shews the Lighting down of his glorious Arm *; and absolutely precludes all the Pretensions of human Arrogance, or finite Power. It appropriates the Honour to that supreme AGENT, before whom the Easy and the Arduous are both alike. All Men that see it must confess, This HATH GOD DONE.

Through this Channel, are imported to our Island the choice Productions, and the peculiar Treasures, of every Nation under Heaven. So that We can breakfast upon a Dissolution of the American Kernel +; and see the rich nutrimental Liquor froth in our Cups, without ever tempting the foaming Brine. We can steep the delicately-slavoured Chinese Leaf, in the Waters of our own Well; or spend the Afternoon in our own Parlour, and be regaled with an Insusion of the finely-scented Arabian Berry. We can season the friendly Bowl with the Juices of the Orange, or refresh our clammy Palate with the Pulp of the Tamarind; without feeling that fervent Heat, which imparts fuch a poignant Relish to the former; without suffering those scorching Beams, which give a Fever-cooling Virtue to the latter. We can pile upon our Salvers a Pyramid of Italian Figs; fill the Interstices with the Sky-dried Raisins of Malaga; and form a Summit for the inviting Structure, with the Pistacia Nut of Aleppo.—By this means, the Eastern Spices exhale their Odours on our Tables, and the Western Canes transfuse their Sweetness into our Viands. We clothe our Bodies with the vegetable Fleeces * of the South, and line our Apparel with warm furry Spoils from the North. We can wear the Pearl, polished in the Abysses of the Perfian Gulph; and walk on the Carpets, manufactured in the Dominions of the Great Mogul; yet neither expose Ourselves to the Rage of boisterous Seas, nor the more dreaded Treachery of barbarous People.—In short; by this wonderful and invaluable Expedient of Navigation, every Tide conveys into our Ports the Wealth of the remotest Climes, and brings the Abundance of the Universe to be unladen

* Ifai. xxx. 30. † Called the Cacca, which affords the principal Ingredient of Chocolate, and grows on a small Tree in America.

on

* Cotton, which is a Sort of Wool, encompassing the Seed of a Tree.—Its Fruit is of an oval Form, about the Size of a Nut. As it ripens, it grows black on the Outside; and, by the Heat of the Sun, opens in several Places, discovering the Cotton through the Clefts, which is of an admirable Whiteness. See Chamb. Dist.

on our Quays. London becomes a Mart of Nations; and almost every private House in the Kingdom, is embellished and accommodated from the four Quarters of the Globe.

Almost every private House—Is not this more like rhetorical Flourish, than real Truth? Are not all the Advantages I have mentioned, the peculiar Portion of the Rich? Is not the Sea, like the grand and gay World, somewhat capricious and partial? Bestowing lavishly her Favours on the Wealthy, at the same Time that She neglects the Needy?—Quite the Reverse. Like her sublime CREATOR, She is no Respecter of Persons, but deals out her Liberalities to All; to the Wealthy, such as are fuitable to their Circumstances; to the Indigent, fuch as are best adapted to their Condition. If She ornaments the Abodes of the first, She employs the Hands of the last; furnishes these with useful Labour, those with elegant Accommodations. What a Multitude of industrious People acquire a Livelihood, by preparing the Commodities intended for Exportation! And what a Multitude of dextrous Artificers maintain their Families, by manufacturing the Wares imported from abroad!

It is reckoned a valuable Species of Beneficence, to provide proper Work for the Poor. This withdraws them from many Temptations, and preferves them from much Wickedness.

It hinders them from being a Burden to themselves, and a Nuisance to the Public. They might otherwise be idle, and as Vermine on the Body politic: or even mutinous, and as Vipers in the Bowels of the Nation. Whereas, by exerting themselves in a due Subordination, and with becoming Diligence, they are the very Sinews of the Community; or like the grand Wheel in the Machine of State, whose incessant Activity distributes Plenty, and pours innumerable Conveniencies through the whole.—What a Master then, or rather what a Mistress, is the Sea! How extensive her Correspondence, and how large her Demand for Workmen! Into what Branch of Trade does fhe not enter? What kind of ingenious Science, or useful Toil, does she not befriend? How many Millions of honest but needy Perfons are engaged in her Service? And how. amply are they repaid for their Pains!—They that go down to the Sea in Ships, and occupy their Bufiness in great Waters, these Men see the Works of the LORD, and his Wonders in the Deep. They also that dwell among their own People, and abide in the Villages, even they enjoy the Bounty, and share the Advantages of the Ocean. For, though it is false Philosophy, to suppose the Waters themselves strained through fubterranean Passages, into the inland Counties; yet, it is an undeniable Truth, that their Vol. III.

their beneficial Effects are transfused into every Town, every Hamlet, and every Cottage.

Surely, the Inhabitants of our Isle, have Reason to turn the Prediction of Moses, concerning the Tribe of Joseph, into a devout and grateful Acknowledgment.—Blessed of the LORD is * our Land. Blessed with the precious Things of Heaven, with the Dew, and with the Deep that coucheth beneath. With the precious Things brought forth by the Sun, and with the precious Things of the ancient Mountains, and with the precious Things of the everlasting Hills: and with the precious Things of the Earth, and the Fulness thereof †.—May we also enjoy the * Is (so I would translate the Original) not be; in the predictive, not precatory Form. This implies a Fulness of Faith, and distinguishes Prophecy from Prayer; best suits the extraordinary Illumination of Moses; and does most Honour to the omniscient SPIRIT.

+ Deut. xxxiii. 13, 14, 15, 16. Here seems to be a beautiful and poetical Summary of the Riches of Nature.—The precious Things of Heaven; or Rain, which descends from the upper; and Dew, which is formed in the lower, Regions of the Firmament.—The Deep that couchesh beneath; Seas, Rivers, Fountains, Wells, which lie in the Bosom of the Soil; and are Sources of Fertility and Plenty.—The precious Things brought forth by the Sun, must certainly denote the Herbs, Plants, Trees, and all Manner of Vegstables, with their respective Fruits.—The precious Things thrust forth by the Moon, may probably refer to the mineral Kingdoms; in the Formation of which, that Ruler of the Night may have a considerable Influence. The Moon is consessed by the Parent of Tides; and may put in Motion those bituminous Good-will of HIM, who dwelt in the Bush*, and the Grace of HIM, who hung on the Tree! May the eternal GOD be our Refuge, and his everlasting Arms underneath both Us and our Interests!—Happy then wilt Thou be, thrice happy, O England! Thy temporal Advantages, and thy spiritual Privileges considered, it may truly be said, Who, or what Nation, is like unto Thee?

This for my Country; now let me wish for myself;

GOD of all Worlds! Source and Supreme of Things!

From whom all Life, from whom Duration fprings!

Intense O! let me for thy Glory burn,

Nor fruitless view my Days and Months return.

Give

and faline Fluids, which, circulating through the Pores of the Earth, and fixing in Beds of homogeneous Matter, are fupposed to commence Minerals.—As our sacred Philosopher has already specified the vegetable Productions, the principal Things of the Mountains and Hills, should signify the Sheep, Goats, and other valuable Animals that feed upon those vast Declivities. If so, the precious Things of the Earth, may express those Herds of larger Cattle, which have their Pasturage in the Plains, Vallies, and lower Grounds. A Sense, which recommends itself from this Consideration, That the Wealth of the Antients consisted chiefly in Cattle.—The Fulness thereof, may be a Kind of Recapitulation: a comprehensive Term, including the whole Produce of the terraqueous Globe; the magnificent Liberality of JEHO-VAH to his People.

* Deut. xxxiii. 16.

Give me with Wonder at thy Works to glow, To grasp thy Vision, and thy Truths to know: O'er Time's tempessuous Sea to reach thy Shore, And live, and sing, where Time shall be no more.

You see, Aspasso, I have been studying the Volume of Nature; endeavouring to read its capital Characters, and learn some of its instructive Lessons. The Sea has been the Page; but how superficial is my Perusal, and no less feanty my Knowledge. Little, very little have I feen or conceived, relating to those Works of Wonder, which the vast unfathomable Deep contains—the Plants it produces, and the Creatures it nourishes—its stupendous Rocks, and fubterranean Caves—the Heaps of Pearl, which are its native Growth; and the Loads of Gold, which it has gained by Shipwreck.—So superficial are my Views of CHRIST; so scanty is my Acquaintance with the Gospel.

You, I presume, are sitting at the Feet of that sublime TEACHER; and attending to the Dictates of HIS Mouth, in whom are bid all the Treasures of Wisdom and Knowledge *. Let me promise myself a Communication of your Thoughts, as I have freely transmitted a Specimen of mine. And I will make no Scruple

Let. 9. THERON to ASPASIO. 169 to acknowledge the Superiority of the Exchange; that I receive Χρυσεα χαλχειων, εκατομβοί εννεαβοιων.

Or, as the eloquent Isaiab speaks; For Brass you will bring Gold, and for Iron you will bring Silver *: rendering me, by this Intercourse, your more obliged, though it is scarce possible for me to be, more than I already am,

Your affectionate

THERON.

P. S. Monsieur Paschal, who was remarkably fond of Brevity, makes an odd Excuse for transgressing, on a particular Occasion, his favourite Rule. He intreats his Friend to pardon the unusual Length of his Epistle, by assuring Him, That he had not Time to make it shorter.—I cannot, it must be confessed, adopt this Philosopher's Apology. For, I have purposely lengthened my Letter, with a View of setting, in this one Circumstance, a Pattern for my Aspaso.

* Ifai. lx. 17:

L E T T E R X.

Aspasio to Theron.

Dear THERON,

I THANK you for your Letter, because it entertains and improves me: I thank you for your Possicipt, because it is my Encouragement and my Apology.—I am set down to write, with a copious Stock of Materials. It will be far more difficult to contract, than to inlarge. I must therefore acknowledge myself obliged to your Candour, for assigning me the easier Task.—That Prolixity, which, in others, might be an inexcusable Fault; is, in me, an Act of Complaisance, and Matter of Duty.

Though absent from You, I went with You in your late Ramble. Your descriptive Pen has made me Partaker of the ideal Delight: may Divine Grace enable me to share in the spiritual Improvement!—When you displayed the Beauties of the Morn, breaking forth from the Obscurity of Night; when you adopted that noble Aspiration from our philosophic Poet; I could not forbear adding—"Thus may the gracious GOD, who commands the Light to fine out of the Midnight Darkness, shine into "into our Hearts; and give that incompar"ably glorious Knowledge, the Knowledge of his bleffed SELF! Which, though discernable through all the Tracts of Creation, and derivable from every Work of his Almighty Hand; yet no where beams forth with such complete and such amiable Lustre, as in the Person of JESUS CHRIST*."—Here we behold all the sublime Perfections of the DEITY, not only manifested with inimitable Splendor, but operating for our own Advantage. We behold them, as Job speaks, for Ourselves; and cannot but receive inexpressible Refreshment and Joy from the View.

When you walked beneath the Shade of those huge, horrid, and enormous Clests; both amused and alarmed at their stupendous Magnitude, and frightful Irregularity—When you cast your Eye upon the wide-expanded Surface of the Ocean—When you surveyed the far more unmeasurable Arches of the Sky—And meditated, in that awful Solitude, on the wildest and most magnificent Appearances of Nature—I felt the same Kind of devout Astonishment with yourself. While the Soul was wrapt in pensive Stilness, and pleasing Dread ‡, me-

<sup>2</sup> Cor. iv. 6. † Job xix. 27.

‡ It feems to have been fuch a Kind, not of anxious but of pleasing Dread, which seized the Disciples on the Mount of Transfiguration: noan yee suposos, for they were struck with a prosound, but delightful Awe. Delightful, otherwise methought, I heard a Voice, or fomething like a Voice, from the filent Spheres, as well as from the founding Seas. It seemed to echo back, what the mighty Angel, whom John saw flying in the midst of Heaven, once proclaimed; "Worship HIM, who made Heaven and Earth, and the Sea, and the Fountains of Water*." Worship Him, who stretched out that azure Pavilion with such amazing Grandeur: who measured yonder World of Waters, in the Hollow of his Hand: and before whom, this immense Range of mountainous Clifts, is but as Dust upon the Scale."

When you described the dismal Situation of a Wretch, exposed on the Edges of the tremendous Precipice; hanging over the ragged Rocks, and the unfathomable Gulph; and cleaving only to a slender, treacherous, breaking Bough: how heartily did I join in your adoring Acknowledgments to that kind, interposing, blessed Hand, which rescued us both from an infinitely more threatening and dreadful Danger! Rescued us, as Slaves, from the Dominion of the Devil: snatched us, as Brands, from the inextinguishable Burnings. And bid Us (O marvelous, superabundant Goodness!) bid Us possess the Liberty of Righteousness;

Peter would not have proposed to build Tabernacles there, nor have wished to continue in those Circumstances, Mark ix. 6.

* Rev. xiv. 7.

Let. 10. Aspasso to Theron. 173 teousness; bid us inherit the Kingdom of Heaven.

When You mentioned the past Indolence, and the present Fervour of your Prayers, I could not forbear reiterating my Praises to GOD on your Behalf. This is a Proof, my dear Theron, that you are going in the Way everlasting; for it is written, They shall come with Weeping, and with Supplications will I lead them *. This is the Work of the HOLY GHOST, dwelling in your Heart; for what faith the Scripture? I will pour upon them the Spirit of Grace and of Supplication +. And our LORD Himself mentions this, as the Indication of a true Conversion; Behold! He prayeth 1 .- Had not Saul prayed before? Yes; and made long Prayers too. But he never, till that Instant, was sensible of his undone and damnable Condition. Never cried to GOD from the Depths of his Distress, or from the Depths of his Heart. Nor ever folicited the Throne of Grace, in the all-prevailing Name of JE-SUS CHRIST.—His Prayers, till then, were like the Motes, which fluctuate to and fro in the Air, without any vigorous Impulse, or any certain Aim. But, in that Hour, they were like the Arrow, which springs from the strained Bow; and, quick as Lightning, flies to the Mark.

I was pleased to find You, in the Process of your Letter, insensibly forgetting the Narrative; and so engaged by the Subject, that you fpoke not as the Relater, but as the Bebolder. -Thus may We always be affected, when We study the Oracles of Truth. Study them. not as cold unconcerned Critics, who are only to judge of their Meaning; but as Persons deeply interested in all they contain. Who are particularly addressed in every Exhortation, and directed by every Precept. Whose are the Promises, and to whom belong the precious Privileges.—When We are enabled thus to realize and appropriate the Contents of that invaluable Book; then we shall taste the Sweetness, and feel the Power of the Scriptures. Then We shall know, by happy Experience, that our divine MASTER's Words, are not barely Sounds and Syllables, but they are Spirit, and they are Life *.

I was still more agreeably entertained with your Picture of Commerce, and of the Advantages We receive from Navigation. One Advantage, however, I can specify, which is greater than any, greater than all, You have celebrated. An Advantage, that will endear and ennoble Navigation, so long as the Sun and Moon endure. The Gospel, my dear Friend, the glorious Gospel came to our Island through through this Channel. The Volume that comprizes it, and the Preacher that published it, both were imported by Shipping. And may We not fay, with the inraptured Isaiah? How beautiful are the Feet of them, that bring glad Tidings of good Things *! It is pleasant to hear their Voice; pleasant to contemplate their Message; and pleasant even to behold the Ground on which they trod, or the very Waves over which they failed.—This made the holy Prophet rejoice in Spirit, when he foresaw the extensive Spread of his MASTER's Glory, and the certain Commencement of our Happiness. This put into his Mouth that affectionate and congratulatory Address; which is, in a very particular Manner, directed to Us and our Countrymen: Sing unto the LORD a new Song, and his Praise from the Ends of the Earth: ye that go down to the Sea, and all that is therein; ye Isles, and the Inhabitants thereof. Let the Wilderness and the Cities thereof lift up their Voice; let the Inhabitants of the Rock fing, let them shout from the Top of the Mountains. Let them give Glory unto the LORD; and declare bis Praise in the Islands +.

* John vi. 63.

We read, in Exekiel, of the most magnificent Fleet, that ever ploughed the Seas. The Masts were of Cedar ‡, and the Benches of Ivory.

Fine

• Isai. lii. 7. + Isai. xlii. 10, 11, 12.

<sup>1</sup> Ezek. xxvii. 5.

Fine Linen, beautified with Embroidery, floated to the Winds, and formed the Sails. Blue and Purple rigged the Vessel, and clothed the meanest Mariner.—Let Us suppose, that the Freight of this splendid Navy, was proportioned, in Value, to its sumptuous Tackling. Yet how poor, how despicable were either, were both, if estimated with the Treasures of the Gospel: those divine Treasures, which spring from the Imputation of our REDEEMER's Righteousness! And which have much the fame kindly Influence on religious Practice, as Navigation, with all her Improvements, has upon Traffic.—Give me leave to confirm this Affertion, by felecting a few Instances, and applying them in a few Interrogatories.

One of the Benefits, proceeding from the Imputation of CHRIST's Righteousness, is Pardon. Pardon, not partial, but complete. A Pardon of each Sin, be it ever so beinous; a Pardon of all Sins, be they ever so numerous. For thus saith GOD the LORD, who sent both his Prophets and Apostles, preaching Peace by JESUS CHRIST. I will pardon ALL their Iniquities, whereby they have sinned, and whereby they have transgressed against me +.—
To learn the desirable Nature of this Blessing, let Us step back into the Annals of History, and attend a traitorous and unhappy Nobleman to his vindictive Exit. His Body is demanded by the Ministers of Justice. Reluctant and trembling He is conducted to the Scaffold. There, the alarmed Criminal fees the mourning Block. Sees the glittering Ax. Sees the Coffin prepared for his Corpse. thousands of anxious Spectators; waiting, with eager Looks and throbbing Hearts, the fearful Catastrophe. In a Word; he sees Death advancing, with all the Solemnities of Horror and Woe.—Time elapses. The preparatory Ceremonies are dispatched. The fatal Moment is arrived. No longer Respite can be allowed. He must submit to immediate Execution. Accordingly he proftrates himself to receive the Stroke. But—seized with new Terrors, at the poifed Ax, and approaching Blow, He starts from the dangerous Posture.—Again he bends, and again fnatches his Neck from the impending Edge.—A third Time, He lifts his pale Countenance, to the pitying Crowds, and departing Light.—Once more He bows to the Block, and once more raises his Head, in wishful Expectation of the royal Clemency.— Had a Messenger appeared, at this critical Instant, with a Shout of Joy upon his Tongue, and a fealed Pardon in his Hand; O! how transporting the News! How inexpressibly welcome the Favour!—What was denied to his pas-Vol. III. fionate N fionate Desires; denied to the importunate Solicitations of his Friends; is freely offered to Us in the Gospel of CHRIST: a Pardon of infinitely higher Consequence; which obliterates Millions and Millions of rebellious Acts: which extends its blessed Effects, not merely through the little Span of Life, but beyond the Gates of the Grave—beyond the Boundaries of Time—through all the Ages of Eternity.

How unfathomable is that immense Flood, on which my Theron lately exercised his Contemplation! The toiling Plummets, with all their Length of Cordage, are unable to find a Were the hugest Millstones, or the highest Towers, or the most spacious Cities, cast into this prodigious Gulph, they would be totally overwhelmed, and irrecoverably lost. Therefore the inspired Prophet, to shew the boundless Extent of the divine Mercies in 7E-SUS CHRIST, and to denote the Fulness of their Pardon who are cleansed in the RE-DEEMER's Blood, hath illustrated both by this grand Similitude. Thou wilt cast all their Sins into the Depths of the Sea *-not one, or a few, but all their Sins—not barely behind thy Back, but into the Sea—and not into the shallower Parts, but into the very Depths of the Ocean-fo that they shall never rise up in JudgJudgment; never be taken notice of; no, nor ever be remembered any more.

With an Act of total Indemnity, let Us join a thorough Refloration to Favour.—If the Wrath of an earthly King be as the Roaring of a Lion *: how much more tremendous is bis Indignation, who is able to cast both Body and Soul into Hell! If the Favour of an earthly Sovereign be as Dew upon the Grass: how much more defirable and delightful HIS Loving-kindness, whom all Things in Heaven and Earth obey!---By the Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST, we are freed from all foreboding Apprehensions of the former, and established in the comfortable Possession of the latter. The Gospel renews and ratifies that joyful Proclamation of the angelic Host, Peace on Earth, and Good-will to Men +. GOD is not only pacified towards Believers, but well pleased with them in his dear SON. They are the Objects of his complacential Delight, and He rejoices over them to do them Good.

Nay, they are made Children, Sons and Daughters of the LORD Almighty ‡. And if Sons, then Heirs of GOD, and joint Heirs with CHRIST ||.—The chief Captain mentioned in the Acts, purchased his Freedom of the Imperial City Rome, with a great Sum of Money.

• Prov. xix. 12. + Luke ii. 14. ‡ 2 Cor. vi. 18. Rom, viii, 17.

180 Aspasio to Theron. Let. 10. ney *. If fuch a little transient Immunity, was so valuable in his Esteem; who can express the Worth, who can conceive the Dignity, of this divine Adoption? Yet it belongs to Those, who receive the Gospel, and are interested in CHRIST .- They have Access to the omnipotent BEING; such free and welcome Access, as a beloved Child to an indulgent Fa-To Him they may fly for Aid, in every Difficulty; and from Him obtain a Supply. in all their Wants.—GOD, as the facred Charter runs, is THEIR GOD. All his lovely, all his adorable Perfections, are their glorious Inheritance, and exceeding great Re-That eternal Power, to which nothing is impossible, exerts itself as their Guard; and that unerring Wisdom, from which nothing is concealed, acts as their Guide. His very Justice is no longer an incensed Adversary, demanding Vengeance or meditating Destruction: but a faithful Guarantee, to provide for the punctual Execution of the REDEEMER's Treaty, and their complete Enjoyment of its various Bleffings.—What a Privilege is this! Rather what a Cluster of Privileges is Here! Weigh the Kingdoms of the World; cast all the Glories of them into the Scale; and they will be found, when compared with these divine Prerogatives, emptier than the Bubble that bursts, lighter than the Spark that expires.

In the Gospel are given exceeding great and precious Promises. Of such Value, that they were procured by the Blood of CHRIST; of fuch Certainty, that they are ratified by the Oath * of JEHOVAH. So durable, that, though all Flesh is Grass, and all the Goodliness thereof as the Flower of the Grass, this Word of our GOD abideth for ever +; so efficacious, that there are no fuch Cordials to revive our fainting, and no fuch Bulwarks to fecure our endangered Souls. With these the Bible is as richly replenished, as the clear midnight Sky is bespangled with Stars. They are all Yea and Amen, configned over as a fure unalienable Portion, to them that are in JESUS CHRIST ±.

Another Benefit, given in Consequence of the REDEEMER's Righteousness, is the fanctifying SPIRIT. A most comprehensive Blessing this! Our SAVIOUR intimates, that it includes every heavenly Gift, is an Assemblage of all good Things ||.—How singular a Comfort must it be to blind Bartimeus, to have his Eyes opened, and behold the all-chearing Light of the Sun §! So, and far more comfortable, are the inlightening Influences of the blessed SPIRIT; when they shine upon the wretched Creature, who sits in Darkness.

* Heb. vii. 17. † 1 Pet. i. 23. ‡ 2 Cor. i. 20. Compare Matt. vii. 11. with Luke xi. 13. § Mark

Aspasio to Theron. Let. 10. 182 and the Shadow of Death.—How peculiar a Mercy for the impure and abhorred Leper, to be healed of his inveterate Disease! To feel the foothing Sensations of Ease, where Sores rankled and Pain raged! Instead of infeebling Languors and loathsome Deformity, Vigour braces his Limbs, and Comeliness blooms in his Countenance *. Equally benign and equally falubrious, is the Agency of the Divine SPIRIT, on our depraved, polluted, sensual Minds.—How fignal was the Recovery, and how welcome the Ghange! When that unhappy Creature, fo wildly agitated by a mischievous Damon, was reinstated in the peaceful Possession of Himself and his Faculties! When, instead of unnaturally cutting his own Flesh, or committing barbarous Outrages on innocent Travelers, He sat composed and attentive at the Feet of \( \gamma ESUS + !\) Receiving heavenly Instruction from his Lips, and learning the Meekness of Wisdom from his Example. So falutary and beneficial is the transforming Power of the HOLY GHOST the Comforter; foftening the rugged, fweetening the morose, and calming the passionate Temper.—It is undoubtedly the utmost Improvement and the highest Happiness of our Nature, to have the Image of the bleffed GOD reinstamped on our Hearts. This is an Earnest, and an Anticipation also, of endless Felicity. A Bud, that will bloom in Heaven, and open into immortal Glory. A Dawn, that will shine more and more, till the Sun of Righteousness arises, and brightens it into everlasting Day. This Bud the fanctifying SPIRIT ingrafts, this Dawn the Grace of our LORD FESUS CHRIST diffuses, in the barren and benighted Soul.

In a Word; get this Righteousness, and You have a Title to all Bleffings, whether they be present or future, bodily or spiritual, temporal or eternal. From the necessary Conveniencies, of Bread to eat, and Raiment to put on; even to the Crowns of Glory, and the Fulness of Joy; all, all, are owing to our REDEEMER's Righteousness.—You see now, Theron, That our Scheme, has no Tendency to impoverish your spiritual Condition, or diminish your true Riches: any more than those Tracts of Water, which furround our Island, are detrimental to the Wealth of its Inhabitants. Detrimental! No; they are an inexhaustible Source of Treasure. They convey to our Use the choicest Accommodations, and the most ele-Such as would in vain be exgant Delights. pected, if the whole Ocean was converted into the finest Meads, and most fertile Pastures. So -but to apply this Comparison, would forestal your principal Question. "Do

"Do not these Favours, though unspeak-" ably precious in themselves, tend to the In-"troduction or Support of Ungodlines?"— Quite the Reverse. Have We Redemption through our SAVIOUR's Blood, even the Forgiveness of our Sins? We are redeemed, not that We may fink in Supineness, or launch into Licentiousness, but that We may be a peculiar People, zealous of good Works *.— Are We made the Children of GOD? Then let our Light so shine before Men, that others, feeing our good Works, may glorify our FA-THER which is in Heaven +. This is the genuine Consequence of such a Doctrine, and the proper Effect of such a Benefit.—Are We vested with facred Privileges! This should admonish us to walk worthy of HIM, who hath called us to his Kingdom and Glory ‡. Shall the Citizens of Heaven be animated with no higher Views, than the Slaves of Appetite, and Drudges of the World?—Are We constituted Heirs of the Promises? The Grace which they ascertain, is intended to make Us Partakers of a Divine Nature ||; and the Encouragement which they administer, should incite Us to cleanse Ourselves from all Filthiness of Flesh and Spirit, and to perfect Holiness in the Fear of GOD §.—Such high Immunities are a most * Tit. ii. 14. † Matt. v. 16; † 1 Theff. ii. 12.

en-

Aspasio to Theron. Let. 10. endearing Persuasive, not to disgrace, but magnify, not to provoke, but please, their unfpeakably beneficent AUTHOR.

I might farther observe, that Holiness is one of the most distinguished Blessings in our System. Nay, is the very central Blessing, to which all the others verge; in which they all terminate.—Were We chosen from Eternity? It was for this Purpose, that We may be holy and unblameable in Love *. - Are We called in Time? It is to this Intent, that We may shew forth the Praises of Him, who hath called Us out of Darkness into his marvelous Light +.—Are We created again in CHRIST JESUS? It is, to capacitate Us for acceptable Service, and to furnish Us unto every good Work ‡. I will put my Spirit within You, faith the LORD. For what End? That Ye may walk in my Statutes, and keep my Judgments, and do them §. Here comes in your favourite Endowment, fincere Obedience. Far, very far from discarding sincere Obedience, We would only introduce it, under its due Character, and in its proper Order. Under its due Character; as the Fruit, not the Cause, of our Interest in CHRIST's Righteousness. In its due Order; as following, not preceding, the Gift of Justification,

Thefe

‡ Epb. ü. 10. • Eph. i. 4. † 1 Pet. il. 9i 💃 Ezek, xxxvi. 27.

These Privileges, my dear Theron, are salutary, as the Pool of Betbesda*. They are restorative, as the Waters of Silvam +. Or like that facred Stream flowing from the Sanctuary: which healed the Rivers, healed the Sea, and made even the Defart flourish 1.—If Justification by the Righteousness of CHRIST had a Tendency to subvert the Foundation of Hofiness; to confirm the hypocritical Professor, in his Neglect of moral Duties; or discourage the fincere Convert, from the Pursuit of real Virtue; it would, doubtless, be unworthy of any Acceptation, or rather worthy of univerfal Abhorrence. But I dare appeal, not only to the Nature of the Doctrine, and the Reafon of Things, but to the Experience of All -Yes, of all who bave tasted, that the LORD is gracious &. How were they affected, when they have been enabled to believe, that GOD is reconciled, has received the all-fatisfying Atonement, and placed his SON's Righteoufness to their Account? That He regards them as his Children, and will receive them to his Glory ?—Have they not, under fuch Convictions, felt their Hearts exulting with conscious Joy; and every Power of their Soul springing forwards, to glorify their heavenly FATHER -glorify Him by every Instance of Obedience, Fidelity, and Zeal?

* John v. 4. † John ix. 7. ‡ Exel. xlvii. 8, 9. § 1 Pet. ii. 3. Can such invaluable Benefits have a prejudicial Insluence on our Practice, if, to the Consideration of their superlative Worth, We add that unequaled Price, by which they were purchased?—HE, who was high above all Height, humbled Himself to be made of a Woman, and born in a Stable; that We might be admitted into the Family of GOD, and exalted to the Mansions of Heaven. And will this great Humiliation, which is the Basis of our Happiness, prompt Us to look down with Contempt on Others, or entertain arrogant. Thoughts of Ourselves?

The ONLY BEGOTTEN and the supreme Delight of the FATHER, was numbered with Transgressors, and ranked with Felons; that We might be joined to the innumerable Company of Angels, and associated with Saints in Glory everlasting. And will any One make this a Precedent or a Plea, for walking in the Counsel of the Ungodly; for standing in the Way of Sinners; or sitting in the Seat of the Scornful*.

All manner of Evil was spoken of the faultless JESUS; his blessed Name was vilished by blaspheming Tongues, and his unblameable Conduct blackened with the foulest Aspersions; on purpose that We may be applauded, when We are judged; and each hear those transporting porting Words, Well done thou good and faithful Servant*! Will this embolden Us to dishonour our LORD, and stain our holy Profession? Shall We from hence be induced to open the Mouths of his Enemies, and give them Occasion to speak reproachfully?

HE went, galled with the Lashes of the Scourge, and penetrated with the pungent Thorns; He went, loaded with the execrable Cross, and marking the Way with his precious Blood; thus He went to his ignominious and tormenting Exit: that We may enter into Sion with Songs of Triumph on our Lips, and with everlasting Joy on our Heads. Does this invite Us to go, crowned with Rose-buds, to the House of Riot; or go, mussed in Disguise, to the Midnight-Revel? Will it not rather incline Us, to sit down at his pierced Feet, and bathe them with Tears, and take Delight in mourning for our crucified LORD?

Behold! He hangs on the cursed Tree. There, there He hangs; rent with Wounds, and racked with Pain. He pours his Groans, and spills his Blood. He bows his Head, his patient patient princely Head, and dies—aftonishing, ravishing Consideration! He dies for You and me. And will this harden our Hearts, or arm our Hands, to crucify Him afresh by any allowed Iniquity? Does not Reason suggest, and Christianity dictate, and all that is ingenuous inforce, the Apostle's important Inference? If One died for All, then they which live, should not benceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him which died for them *.

* Matt. xxv. 21.

† This is a Case, in which Homer's πελαρπωμεσθα γοοιο may be literally and most eminently verified. Iliad Ψ.—The Sorrow, arising from such tender and grateful Views of our crucified LORD, is that evangelical godly Sorrow, which worketh Repentance unto Salvation not to be repented of. 2 Cor. vii. 10.

He thought upon Us, long before the Foundations of the World were laid; He remembers Us, now he is exalted to the Right-hand of the MAJESTY in the Heavens; and will never, never forget Us, through all the Revolutions of Eternity. And is this a Motive to forget his Name; to difregard his Word; or to imitate the shameful Neutrality and Indifference of Gallio? Impressed with a Sense of this invariable and everlasting Kindness, surely, We shall declare Ourselves, as those Captives in Babylon, concerning their dear native City Jerusalem: If I forget, Thee, O blessed JESUS, Let my Right-hand forget her Cunning; if I do not remember Thee, let my Tongue cleave to the Roof of my Mouth +.

Ay, my dear LORD, while Memory holds a Seat

In this devoted Breast—Remember Thee!
Yes, from the Table of my Memory
I'll wipe away all trivial fond Records,
Which Youth and Observation copied there,
And thy Remembrance all alone shall live Within the Book and Volume of my Brain*.

Is it possible, Theron, for the Contemplation of fuch Goodness, to weaken the Motives, or relax the Springs of Obedience? As foon may lenient Balms kill, and rankest Poisons cure? - Is fuch a Belief calculated to discourage Duty, and patronize Licentiousness? Just as much, as vernal Showers are fitted to cleave the Earth with Chinks, or Summer-suns to glaze the Waters with Ice.—When Antbony made an Oration to the Soldiers, on Occasion of Casar's Death; when He shewed them their honoured Master's Robe, transfixed with so many Daggers; when He reminded them of the Victories they had won, under their affaffinated Commander; when He farther informed them, that their murdered General had remembered them in his Will—had bequeathed all his fine Gardens, and beautiful Walks, to their Use and Delight; — Heavens! How they took Fire! Revenge sparkled in their Eyes: Revenge flamed in their Bosoms: Revenge was all their Cry. They flew to the Houses of the the Conspirators; laid them even with the Ground; and had they met the Owners, would have tore them Limb from Limb.—Some such Resentment against Sin, will a Sense of our adored REDEEMER's Sufferings excite: Especially, when set home by his BLESSED SPIRIT, and considered in Connection with those detestable Iniquities, which caused them; and with those invaluable Blessings, which were procured by them.—Nothing, nothing is so effectual, to beget the most irreconcilable Abborrence of all Ungodlines; to make the Remembrance of it, bitter as Wormwood; the Temptations to it, horrible as Hell.

Let me remind You of an Incident, related by your favourite Historian Xenophon.—Cyrus had taken captive the young Prince of Armenia, together with his beautiful and blooming Princess; whom He had lately married, and of whom He was passionately fond. When both were brought to the Tribunal, Cyrus asked the Prince; what He would give, to be reinstated in his Kingdom?—He answered, with an Air of Indifference; "That, as for his Crown, " and bis own Liberty, He valued them at a " very low Rate. But, if Cyrus would restore " his beloved Princess, to her native Dignity " and hereditary Possessions, He should infi-" nitely rejoice; and would willingly pay " (this

" (this He uttered with Tenderness and Ardour) would willingly pay bis Life for the Pur-" chase."—Could such a Declaration, so highly endearing, alienate the Affections of the Princess, or induce Her to violate her Fidelity? Let her own Conduct answer the Query. When all the Prisoners were dismissed with Freedom, it is impossible to express, how they were charmed with the royal Generofity. Every one extolled their common Benefactor to the Some celebrated his martial Accomplishments. Some applauded his focial Vir-All were prodigal of their Praises, and lavish in grateful Acknowledgments. You, faid the Prince, (addressing himself to his Bride) what think You of Cyrus?—I did not observe Him, replied the Princess.--Not observe Him!---Upon what then was your Attention fixed?—Upon that dear and generous Man, who declared, "He would purchase " my Liberty, at the Expence of his very " Life *."—Was her Heart impressed, were all her Thoughts ingroffed, by that benevolent Offer? And shall ours be less affected with the incomparably more tender and endearing Love of CHRIST?—He was not only willing, but actually laid down his Life for Us; a Life immensely precious, and of higher Dignity than all Heavens.—He laid down his Life, not for amiable Persons, or worthy Creatures, but for vile Earth, and miserable Sinners.—Purchasing thereby for Us and our Children, Privileges of inestimable Worth, and of everlasting Duration.

Εγω μεν καν της ψυχης πριαιμην ως ε μηποτε λατρευσαν ταυτην. Xenoph. De Cyri Inflit. Lib. III.

Surely, such Beneficence, so unmerited, so unequaled, must win * the most reluctant, and melt the most obdurate Heart. The Heart, that is not wrought upon by this Miracle of Divine Compassion, must be Steel, must be Adamant; quite impenetrable, and absolutely incorrigible.—" O Thou ever blessed, thou allew gracious REDEEMER, thy Love to Us is wonderful; passing, I will not say, the Love "of * Beneficia, says one of the Antients, qui invenit, Compedes invenit. Which fine Sentiment may almost serve as a Comment, on the beautiful and tender Declaration of GOD by his Prophet Hosea; I drew them to Obedience with Cords of a Man, with Bands of Love. Chap. xi. 14. HE who made, and intimately knows our Frame, knew that these Motives would be most powerful in Operation; most powerful on Creatures, capable of Love, and susceptible of Gratitude. Therefore He calls them, The Cords of a Man. And if a Deliverance from temporal Bondage, if the Settlement of Israel in all the Plenty of Canaan, constituted so fweet an Incitement to Duty; doubtless, the everlasting Benefits mentioned by Aspasso, together with all the endearing Circumstances of their Procurement, must be abundantly more engaging. - May the SPIRIT from on High rend the Veil of Ignorance and Infensibility! Let into our Hearts the Knowledge and Faith of these great evangelical Truths! We shall then want no farther Demonstration, either of the Propriety of the Remark, or the Efficacy of the Principles.

of Women.*, but the Power of Language, and " the Reach of Thought! Who can hold out. " against such charming Attractives? Who " can relift such heavenly Goodness?—Only-" let a Sense of thy Love be always warm, al-" ways operative on our Minds. This shall s be instead of a thousand Arguments to enes gage, instead of ten thousand Motives to " quicken our Obedience."—Other Motives may produce some external Services, or hypocritical Performances. Terrors may extort the Drudgery of the Hand. Bribes may gain the Adulation of the Tongue. But this conciliates the Will; this profelites the Affections; this captivates the very Soul; and makes allits Powers like the Chariots of Ammi-nadib +, ready, expedite, and active in Duty.

Hear the holy Apostle, giving an Account of Himself and his spiritual State. He speaks in Language somewhat similar, though greatly superior, to the Profession of the Armenian Princess.—" So great is the Glory, so rich is the Grace, so superabundant are the Merits of my REDEEMER, that I am determined to know nothing but CHRIST JESUS and Him crucified ‡."—Ask the same zealous Apostle; What prompted Him to such indefatigable Diligence, and animated Him with such invincible Fortitude? Why did He decline no Toil, and and dread no Danger; rejoice in Tribulation, and glory in the Reproach *; welcome Perfecution; and defy Death? This is his Reply; "The Love of CHRIST constraineth + me; bear—"eth me on, with much the same strong, stea—"dy, prevailing Insluence, which Winds and "Tide exert, when they wast the Vessel to its "dessined Harbour."

<sup>* 2</sup> Sam. i. 26. † Cant. vi. 12. ‡ 2 Cor. ii. 2.

Shall we hear what another Disciple, one of the most advanced Proficients in Divine Love, says

- * That supreme Affection to the blessed JESUS, which reigned in the Hearts of his primitive Disciples, could never have been so emphatically displayed by any Strokes of Eloquence, as by their own chearful and heroic Manner of expreffing themselves, with relation to their Sufferings.—Far from regretting, I take Pleasure (says the Apostle) in Afflictions; and embrace them, when occurring in my Divine MA-STER's Service, with a real Complacency, sudoxw. 2 Cor. xii. 10.—To You, adds the same Apostle, and speaks in a congratulatory Strain, it is given (exactor9n) as a defirable. Privilege, to fuffer for the adorable JESUS, Philip. i. 29. -St. Luke, recording the abusive and cruel Outrages, committed on two Disciples, for preaching boldly in the Name of CHRIST, uses a Phrase remarkably gallant and spirited: They departed from the Council rejoicing, oli xalngiwono av aliwas Invas, that they were counted worthy to suffer Shame; had the Honour of being vilified and reproached, in so venerable and glorious a Cause.—This Passage is a fine Exemplification of the Figure, which Rhetoricians style Oxymerum. And Horace's—Dulce Periculum—Splendide mendax—Quo beatus Vulners -- feem flat and jejune upon the Comparison. Acti v. 41.
- + Could You station a Coward, in the Midst of a numerous Army advancing to the Bartle; or rather, could You place a Boat on the impetublis Cataracts of the Nile; You would see what is meant by the significant Word, over the Cor. v. 14-fays upon the Subject? One, who learned his Knowledge, not in the School of Philosophy, but on his SAVIOUR's Bosom. This is the Love of GOD, that we walk after his Commandments *. This is the natural Fruit, this the certain Evidence, of Love to that glorious, transcendent, and adorable BEING. What? Not that We supinely neglect, much less that We profanely violate, his sacred Precepts; but that with Assiduity and Delight, We make them the Rule of our Conduct.—Charity edisets +: this Divine Love, far from razing the Foundations, far from demolishing the Structure, buildetb up ‡ the fair Fabric of universal Godliness.

Aspasio to Theron. Let. 10.

196

Let me borrow an Illustration from your own Leter. When a Pebble is cast into the smooth Canal, it moves the Center, and forms a Circle. The first creates a second: the second breaks into a third: they continue to multiply and expand themselves, till the whole Surface is covered with circular Undulations. Thus, the Love of an all-gracious REDEEMER ||, when shed abroad in the Soul by the HOLY GHOST.

Friend,

<sup>* 2</sup> John ver. 6. † 2 Cor. viii. I. 1 Ornodomes.

I cannot but think, the Reasoning is much more just, and the Principle much more efficacious, in Aspasio's Manner of stating the Affair, than in the following famous Lines:

Self-love but serves the virtuous Mind to wake, As the small Pebble stirs the peaceful Lake: The Center mov'd, a Circle strait succeeds, Another still, and still another spreads.

GHOST*, will diffuse itself through every intellectual Faculty, and extend to every Species of Duty. Till the whole Heart is silled with the Image, and the whole Behaviour regulated by the Law, of the blessed GOD.—So that I am persuaded, there is a great deal of Truth and Solidity, as every One must acknowledge, there is a peculiar Spirit and Beauty, in the Apostrophie of our Poet;

Talk they of Morals? O thou bleeding Love! Thou Maker of new Morals to Mankind, The grand Morality is Love of THEE+.

You

Friend, Parent, Neighbour, first it will embrace, His Country next, and next all human Race: Wide and more wide th' O'erstowings of the Mind Take every Creature in of every Kind.

Self-love too often acts on the Affections, as a Blast on the Leaves, sprivels and contracts them. But the Love of CHRIST, like a vernal Sun on the tender Buds, opens and expands them; till they become wide, as the Extent of his gracious Redemption; wide as the Compass of his rational Creation—By Self-love I am almost necessarily determined to malign the Persons, who cross my Inclinations, and obstruct my Interests. From the Love of CHRIST, I have a cogent Reason, and a most prevailing Inducement, to love my very Enemies.—How does St. Peter analize this Subject? Not in Mr. Pope's, not in Lord Bolingbroke's Method. Godliness, or a supreme Love to the gracious GOD, He represents as the Root or Trunk: then brotherly Kindness, or an affectionate Regard to Relations, Friends, Neighbours, as some of the grand and master Branches: after this Charley, or a diffusive Good-will to all Mankind, as the Spread of Boughs, which complete and adorn the Tree. 2 Pct. i. 7,

198 Aspasio to Theron. Let. 10.

You mentioned the Loadstone, as most signally and most extensively serviceable in the fea-faring Business. Such is Faith, so efficacious, in practical Christianity.—This, perhaps, You think a scanty and defective Principle. The Property of shewing the northern Part of the World, may feem equally mean and inconfiderable. But as the one is the very Soul of Navigation, the other is the very Life of Holiness.—It is somewhat like the Stone, which the Babylonian Monarch saw in his Dream, cut from the Rock without Hands *. Which, though despicable to human Appearance, was mighty in Operation; destroyed the superb Statue; became a great Mountain, and filled the whole Thus will Faith exert and diffuse its Earth. kindly Energy; to every Corruption, that it may be fubdued; to every Virtue, that it may be cherished.

FAITH is a real Persuasion, That the blessed JESUS has shed his Blood for me, and sulfilled all Righteousness in my stead: that, through this great Atonement and glorious Obedience, He has purchased, even for my sinful Soul, Reconciliation with GOD, sanctifying Grace, and every spiritual Blessing +.

When

* Dan. ii. 34.

† This Definition of Faith may possibly, at the first View, startle and alarm even some pious People. But if they please to take it in Connection, with that Explanation and Adjustment, which are delivered in the fixteenth Dialogue, I hope,

ı

When the ALMIGHTY funk the Cavities of the Ocean, and replenished them with the liquid Element, He provided an inexhaustible Source of Moisture, for the Refreshment of every Animal, and the Nutriment of every Vegetable. In like manner, where-ever He works this true Faith, He plants the Seed of univerfal Holiness, and provides for the Propagation of every Virtue. This Persuasion of the Divine Good-will, overcomes our natural Reluctance. and excites a fervent Defire, to please our most merciful FATHER. This Experience of the abundant Grace of CHRIST, attracts and affimilates the Soul; turning it into his amiable Likeness, " as the Wax is turned to the im-" printed Seal."—What will be the Language of fuch a Person?

"Did my exalted MASTER empty Himself and become poor, that his most unworthy Servant might be filled with all the Fulness of God*? And shall not I chearfully deny my-felf the expensive Pleasures of the World, that I may have somewhat to bestow on his needy Children?—Has the Death of CHRIST, as a Punishment, satisfied the most rigorous Justice for my Sins; as a Price, has it all Caufe of Diffatisfaction or Surprise will vanish. The Sentiment, I hope, will be found, not only comfortable for the Sinner, but agreeable to Scripture; and truly unexceptionable, as well as highly definable.

* Epb. iii. 19.

" it redeemed me from every Evil; and, as a " Sacrifice, made my Peace with GOD Most "High? And shall I not, by these Mercies of " my dying LORD, be induced to present all "the Members of my Body, and all the Fa-" culties of my Soul, as a living Sacrifice * to " his Honour? To be employed in his Service, " and refigned to his Will?—Do I believe, " that my SAVIOUR has not only rescued me " from Hell, but established my Title to all "the Blessings included in the Promises, and " all the Felicity laid up in Heaven? And can " I neglect to feek those invaluable Blessings, or " forbear to aspire after this immense Felici-"ty? Can I be so ungrateful as to affront, so " infenfible as to forget, the infinitely beneficent "Procurer of both?——Am I perfuaded, that " the Prince of Peace is entered into Glory as " my Forerunner +, and has prepared Mansions " of Bliss for my final Reception? And shall I " not follow Him thither in my Hopes and " my Affections? Be as a Pilgrim below, and "have my Conversation above?—Is not this " a most sweet and effectual Method of gain-"ing my Heart; and if my Heart, then all " my Powers, to his bleffed Self?"

Such, my dear Theron, will be the Effects of Faith, Therefore, it is not in vain, much less to the Discouragement of real Virtue, that the Scrip-

Scripture lays such a Stress upon Faith: so frequently urges the Importance and Necessity of Faith: represents Faith, as the principal Work of the Divine SPIRIT, and the great Instrument of receiving Salvation. Because it is a sure, a sovereign Means of purifying the Heart, and never fails to work by Love +. —Was Faith, as some People are apt to imagine, like a Candle put under a Bushel, or like the Lamps that burn in Sepulchres; it would then be an insignificant Labour to inculcate it, and no better than an empty Flourish of Words, to celebrate it. But nothing is more certain, than that Faith is a vital, an operative, a victorious Principle.

CHRIST is a Store-house of all Good. Whatever is necessary to remove our Guilt, whatever is expedient for renewing our Nature, whatever is proper to fit Us for the eternal Fruition of GOD, all this is laid up in CHRIST. All this is received by Faith, for Application, Use, and Enjoyment.—Accordingly, when Zaccheus BELIEVED, He commenced a new Man: his Bowels yearned with Compassion: the rapacious Publican became a Father to the Poor 1, and a Friend to the Needy in his Diffress, — When the Macedonians BELIEVED, how eminently was their Spirit ennobled, and their Practice improved! Though

* Alls xv. 9. + Gal. v. 6. # Luke xix. 8.

Though pressed with Afflictions, their Souls overflowed with Joy; and even in the deepest Poverty, they fignalized themselves by the Abundance of their Liberality *.—When the first Converts BELIEVED, the Change in their Behaviour was so remarkable, the Holiness of their Lives so exemplary; that they won the Favour, and commanded the Respect, of all the People +.—In short; it is as impossible for the Sun to be in his meridian Sphere, and not to dissipate Darkness, or diffuse Light; as for Faith to exist in the Soul, and not exalt the Temper, and meliorate the Conduct.-That my dear Theron may be established in Faith, may encrease in Faith, may abound in Faith, is the most affectionate With, that Thought can fuggest, or Friendship adopt. May his Faith therefore be established like the Mountain-Oaks; enlarge like the progressive Stream; till it fwells and fpreads like the overflowing Flood!

1

<sup>* 2</sup> Cor. viii. 2. Here is, especially in the Original, as fine an Antithesis, perhaps, as ever was penned. Since my last Notes were so copious, I shall forego the Pleasure of particularizing the Beauties of this Clause. I leave it to the Lover of sacred Literature, to admire the Apostle's Expression, to be charmed with the Spirit of the Macedonian Believers, and to derive Edification from both.

† Atts ii. 47.

† These Images We may renture to style beautiful, because they are borrowed from the Apostle; Because to the wisters. Col. ii. 7. whoreout the wisters. Phil. i. 25. whereauteurs in west. 2 Thest. i. 3.

I intended to have closed my Letter, and confirmed my Point, by a very memorable Story. But however your Patience may persevere, my Time fails, and my Hand is weary. The next Post, if nothing unexpected intervenes, shall bring You the Sequel. May it, when brought to my Friend, be as a Nail fastened in a sure Place, and give the Rivet of Conviction to all these important Truths!—In the mean Time, or rather at all Times, I remain

Cordially and invariably Yours,

ASPASIO.

COCCUPATION OF THE PROPERTY OF ## LETTER XI.

Aspasio to Theron.

Dear THERON,

AITH in the imputed Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST is a fundamental Principle, in that invaluable System of facred and divine Philosophy—THE GOSPEL. By which the HEAVENLY TEACHER is continually training up Millions of rational and immortal Creatures, for the true Perfection of their Nature:

Nature; for the final Fruition of their GOD; or, in other Words, for a State of consummate Happiness and everlatting Exaltation.—In this School, may You and I be humble Students, and daily Proficients! While Others are ambitious of glittering Distinctions, and founding Titles, may it be our highest Aim, our greatest Glory, to answer the Character-of Be-LIEVERS! By this Character, the supreme LORD distinguishes his chosen People, and denominates the Heirs of Salvation.—This Character stands fairest in the Book of Life, and brightest in the Annals of Eternity.—This Character, however neglected or disesteemed among Men, will be remembered and had in Honour, when the pompous Names of Statefman and Generalissimo are known no more.

As Faith is of fuch fingular and extensive Efficacy in genuine Christianity, methinks, I would have all our Meditations terminate on its glorious Object, and be calculated to invigorate so beneficial a Principle.—When we reflect on that stupendous Act, the Creation of the World out of Nothing; let Us remember, it was HIS Act, who obtained eternal Redemption for Us. When we contemplate that immense Theatre of Wonders, the Heavens and their shining Hosts; let Us not forget, that they are all HIS Work, who brought in everlasting Righteousness for Us.—Do We turn our Thoughts to the Ocean, that spacious and magnificent Canal, which covers more than half the Globe? It was formed by HIS Word, and is obedient to HIS Will, who loved Us and washed Us from our Sins in his own Blood. Do We take a View of the Earth, that grand and inexhaustible Magazine, which furnishes such a Multiplicity of Conveniencies, for so many Millions of Creatures? It is all HIS Property, and wholly at HIS Disposal, who emptied Himself for our Sake, and had not where to lay his Head.—For thus saith the inspired Philosopher; thus saith the Oracle of Faith; All Things were made BY Him, and FOR Him.

The great CREATOR has enriched this habitable Globe with a Profusion of Good. has adorned it with a Variety, an Order, and a Beauty, which are perfectly charming. has ennobled it with a Dignity, a Sublimity, and a Grandeur, which are at once delightful and aftonishing. In all this, Reason cannot but discern a clear Manisestation of Power, a bright Display of Wisdom, and a rich Demonstration of Benignity.-But will the CREATOR himself vouchsafe to be made Flesh, on Purpose that He may obey and die for his guilty Creatures? This is what, neither the utmost Penetration of Men, nor the very superior Intelligence of Angels, could ever have demonstrated, discovered, or conceived.

👲 Exeruger eavlor. Phil. ii. 7.

Aspasio to Theron: Let. ft. 200 ceived. This exceeds whatever the Elements' have produced, whatever the Sun has beheld, as much as the Extent and Magnificence of the planetary System exceed the Dimensions and the Furniture of a Shepherd's Hut. To reveal this, is the bleffed Peculiarity of the Gospel. To know this, is the distinguishing Prerogative of a Believer. To apply this, to dwell upon this, to connect this with all our Observations of the Universe, should be our favourite and habitual Employ. This will improve Wonder into Devotion, and raise the Delights of Science into the Joy of Salvation. This will render every philosophical Speculation a Strengthener of our Faith; and make the various Scenes of Nature, a Guide to Grace, and a Step to Glory.—When this is done, then all Things attain their proper End; and as they are by CHRIST, so they are for CHRIST.

But I forget myself, my Business, and my Promise. I am to establish the Point by incontestable Fact, not to embellish it by loose Harangue. With Pleasure I address myself to discharge my Obligation; and exemplify, in a very memorable Instance, the Power of Faith on religious Practice.—From whence shall I setch my Exemplishcation? From the Memoirs of the indefatigable Apostle of the Gentiles? Here I find one, most concisely, and at the same Time most forcibly displayed.

After

After these Things were ended, says the sacred Historian, Paul purposed in the Spirit, when He had passed through Macedonia and Achaia, to go to ferusalem, saying, After I have been there, I must also see Rome — Who can observe, and not admire, this plain unambitious Manner of relating a Series of Labours, the most signally successful, and most extensively useful? Nothing in human Conductiver surpassed the Greatness of the one, and perhaps nothing in historical Composition ever equaled the Simplicity of the Other.

St. Paul had already reduced Ephefus and Afia to the Obedience of CHRIST. He had already brought Macedonia and Achaia into Subjection to the Gospel. He had long ago erected the Standard, and spread the Triumphs of Christianity in the Regions of Arabia. Yet, as if He had hitherto atchieved nothing, He bends his Forces towards ferusalem. Then the marks out Rome for the Seat of his spiritual Warfare. After this, he forms the same beneficent Design upon Spain: including, in his comprehensive Plan, the Metropolis and the Boundaries of the World:—The Universe is

Omnibus in Terris qua funt a Gadibus ufque Auroram & Gangen, Juvi Sat. x.

• Alb xix 21:

+ Spain was: then supposed to be the Boundary of the Western, as the Ganges was reckoned the Extremity of the Eastern World.

ASPASIO to THERON. Let. 11. but just large enough, to be the Scene of his Action; and He never discontinues the charitable Campaign, but with the last Breath of his Life.

Which of your Alexanders, which of your Casars, which of all the Heroes celebrated in Grecian or Roman Story, can vie with the Zeal and Magnanimity of this poor, despicable Tent-maker? So poor, that he was constrained to work with his own Hands, for a Morsel of Bread: so despicable, that sometimes He had fcarcely Clothes to cover his Nakedness, and was frequently treated as the Offscouring of all Things. Notwithstanding all these Discouragements, what did He not attempt, what did He not accomplish, for the Honour of his MASTER, and the Good of his Fellowcreatures?—He embarks in a Shallop; He has neither Shield nor Spear; yet he purposes to command the Ocean, and conquer the Globe. What Greatness of Soul was here! He expects * nothing but Poverty, Contempt, and Death; yet his Heart is big with the Hope of enriching, ennobling, and faving Ages and Generations. What Benevolence of Spirit was this!——Should you inquire, concerning this illustrious Champion of the Cross; Who were his potent Auxiliaries? None but the Divine SPIRIT.—What were his mighty Weapons?

Weapons? Nothing but the Word of Grace.

—Whence proceeded his intrepid, his enterprizing, his all-conquering Resolution? Only from Faith, a lively Faith in JESUS CHRIST.

This, I think, is a fufficient Confirmation of my Doctrine.—Nevertheless I have another Instance to produce. One that was exhibited in an Age, when the glorious Object of our Faith, shone with dim Lustre, and Yet it may justly be adwith distant Beams. mired, and will hardly be eclipfed, by the most inlightened among the Christian Saints. -To keep You no longer in Suspence, the Case I mean, is that which Moses records, and By Faith Abraham. the Apostle celebrates. when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and He that had received the Promises, offered up his only begotten Son *. -- As this is fo fingular an Example of the efficacious and triumphant Operation of Faith; unequaled in any Nation of the World, or under any Dispensation of Religion; You will give me leave to dwell a little on some of its marvelous Circumstances.

Abraham was an eminent and distinguished Servant of the Most High GOD. Favoured with peculiar Manifestations of the Divine Will, and dignished with the honourable Title of * Heb. xi. 17.

P

of his MAKER's Friend *. Yet even this Man, is harassed with a long Succession of Troubles; and, which was reckened in those Ages the most deplorable Calamity, goes child-less +.

Long He waits, worshiping GOD with the most patient Resignation. At length, an Oracle from the LORD gives Him Hope, gives Him Assurance of a Son. Joyfully he receives the Promise, and rests in humble Expectation of its Accomplishment.—Several Years run their Rounds, but no pleasing Infant prattles in his Arms, or is dandled upon his Knees. At last, the Handmaid becomes pregnant. But what a Disappointment was here! This is the Son of the Bond-woman, not of the free.

How afflicting the Case of this excellent Perfon! His Kinsfolk and Acquaintance see their Olive-branches, flourishing round about their Tables. Even his ungodly Neighbours have Children at their Desire, and leave the Residue of their Substance for their Babes. But Abrabam, the Worshiper of the ALMIGHTY, the Favourite of Heaven—this Abraham is destitute of an Heir, to support his Name, to propagate his Family, and inherit the Bleffing.—O the Straits! to which the Believer is sometimes reduced! How does a sovereign Providence try his Faith, as it were in a Furnace of Fire! Not that it may be consumed, but refined, and come forth with augmented Lustre; to the Praise of ever-faithful, all-sufficient Grace.

* 2 Chron. xx. 7. Ifai. xli. 8.

† There was so much Gall in this Calamity, that it embittered every other Species of Happiness. Visited by this Affliction, the Patriarch could taste no Joy in his late signal Victory; all his worldly Prosperity was insipid; and He seems to have been incapable of relishing any other Comfort; What will Thou give me, seeing I go childless? Gen. xv. 2.

GOD is pleased to renew the Grant, and assure Him more explicitly, That Sarah shall have a Son. But this Notice comes at a very late Period in Life; when Sarah is advanced in Years, and too old, according to the Course of Nature, to conceive. However, the pious Patriarch staggers not through Unbelief; but hopes even against Hope *?—Is it improbable? Is it difficult? Nay, is it to all human Appearance impossible? So much the fitter for the Exertion, and so much the more proper for the Display of Almighty Power.

At last, the Gift, so earnestly desired, is vouchsafed. Sarah has a Child—a Son—an Isaac. One who should be a Source of Consolation and Delight to his Parents; should fill their Mouth with Laughter +, and their Tongue with Joy.—With tender Care, doubtless, this pleasant Plant is reared. Many Prayers are put up, for his long Life, and great Happiness. The fond Parents watch over Him, as over

* Rom. iv. 18, 20.

† Pfal. cxxvi. 2. This is the Import of the Hebrew Name Isaac.

grows in Grace, as he grows in Stature. So amiable is his Temper, and so engaging his Behaviour, as could not fail of endearing him even to a Stranger; how much more to such indulgent Parents, after so long a State of Barrenness, and so many Expectations so frequently frustrated.

Now, methinks, we are ready to congratulate the happy Sire; and flatter Ourselves, that his Tribulations have an End. That the Storms, which ruffled the Noon of Life, are blown over; and the Evening of his Age is becoming calm and ferene.—But let not Him that girdeth on his Harness, boast Himself, as He that putteth it off'*. Our Warfare on Earth is never accomplished, till We bow our Head, and give up the Ghost. The sharpest severest Trial is still behind. GOD, the supreme and uncontroulable GOD, demands the Child. 'Tis the divine Will, that He make his Exit, just as He arrives at Manhood.—" Abrabam, " where now are all thy pleasing Prospects? " How often didst Thou say, in thy fond de-" lighted Heart; This same shall comfort Us con-" cerning our Trouble +. Many bave been my Sor-" rows; but this Child shall dry up my Tears, and " bring me to my Grave in Peace.—Alas! This " lovely

<sup>• 1</sup> Kings xx. 11.

" lovely Flower is to be cut down, in its ful" lest Bloom. All thy shining Hopes are over" cast in a Moment."

Abrabam *; fays GOD-Abrabam knows the Voice. It was the Voice of condescending Goodness. He had often heard it with a Rapture of Delight.—Instantly He replies, "Here " I am. Speak, LORD; for thy Servant is all "Attention." Hoping, no doubt, to receive some fresh Manisestation of the divine Good-Will, to Himself and his Family; or some new Discovery of the Method, in which the divine Wisdom would accomplish the Promise, that all the Nations of the Earth should be blessed in Him.—Take thy Son: and might He not reafonably expect, that, fince his Son was advanced to Years of Maturity, He should be directed, how to fettle Him in the World with Honour and Advantage; where to find a virtuous and fruitful Partner of his Bed?—He is commanded.

The Sentence, with which the inspired Historian introduces this affecting Narrative, is unhappily translated in our Bibles; DINGNO GOD did tempt Abrabam.—This Expression seems, more than seems to clash with the Doctrine of St. James, chap. i. ver. 13. And cannot but sound harsh to those Ears, which have been accustomed to understand by Tempter and Tempting, Persons utterly odious, and Practices extremely pernicious.—Whereas, the true and natural Signification of the Original is, He tried or explored. GOD sounded the Depth, and measured the Height of his Servant's Faith; in order to erect an Everlasting Monument of the victorious Efficacy of this divine Principle; and exhibit an illustrious Pattern to all them, who should hereaster believe.

manded, not barely to take his Son, but his only Son; his Son Isaac; whom He loved. How must these affecting Images awaken all that foft Complacency, and all that tender Triumph, which are known only to the fond feeling Heart of a Parent! Must not such an Introduction, so remarkably endearing, heighten his Expectation of some signal Mercy, to be conferred on the beloved Youth: and would it not render the Bleffing peculiarly acceptable, more than doubly welcome? --- Was He not then startled? Was he not horribly amazed? When, instead of some renewed Expression of the Divine Favour, He received the following Orders. Take now thy Son-thy only Son-Isaac -whom Thou lovest-and get thee into the Land of Moriab, and offer Him there for a Burnt-Offering, upon one of the Mountains which I will tell thee of *.—Was ever Message so alarming? Each Word more piercing to parental Ears, than the keenest Dagger to the Heart. Every Clause brings an additional Load of Misery; till the whole Command swells into the most accumulated and aggravated Woe.

Abraham, take thy Son.—Who, but Abraham, could have forbore remonstrating and pleading, on such an Occasion?—Ananias, being charged with a Commission to Saul the Persecutor, takes upon Him to argue the Case with with his Almighty SOVEREIGN. LORD, I have heard by Many concerning this Man, how much Evil He hath done to thy Saints at Jerufalem; and here He hath Authority from the chief Priests, to bind All that call upon thy Name *. Sure, it can never be safe or expedient, to present myself voluntarily before Him; who came hither breathing out Threatenings and Slaughter against me. What is this, but to court Danger; and run, with open Eyes, into Ruin?—Thus Ananias: and, with how much greater Appearance of Reason, might Abraham have replied?

• Gen. xxii. 2.

"LORD, Shall I lose my Child? Lose Him, almost as soon as I have received Him? Didst Thou give Him, only to tantalize thy Servant? Remember, gracious GOD, the Name He bears. How shall He answer its chearing Import? How shall He be a Source of Satisfaction to his Parents, or the Father of many Nations, if Thou takest Him away in the midst of his Days?

"If Sin lies at the Door, let me expiate the Guilt. Let thousands of Rams, let every Bullock in my Stalls, bleed at thy Altar. My Wealth, blessed LORD, and all my Goods, are nothing in comparison of my Isaac. Command me to beg my Bread, to be stript of all my Possessions, and I will P 4 "bless

* Acts ix. 14.

" bless thy holy Name. Only let my Child, " my dear Child, be spared.

" Or, if nothing will appeale thy Indigna-" tion but human Blood, let my Death be the Sacrifice. Upon me be the Vengeance. I " am old and grey-headed. The best of my "Days are past, and the best of my Services "done. If this tottering Wall tumbles, there " will be little, or no Cause for Regret. But, " if the Pillar of my House, and the Founda-" tion of my Hopes—if He be fnatched from " me, how shall I endure to live? Or what "Good will my Life do me? O my Son! my " Son! would GOD I might die for Thee *. " If it must be a blooming Youth, in the " Prime of his Strength, be pleased, most mer-" ciful GOD, to fetch it from some fruitful " Family. There are those, who abound in " Children. Children are multiplied unto them, " and though many were removed, yet would " their Table be full. There are those, who " have Flocks and Herds; whereas, I have " only this one little Lamb +; the Solace of " my Soul, and the Stay of my declining Years. " And shall this be taken away, while all those " are left?"

Yes, Abraham; it is thy Son, and not Another's, that is marked out for the Victim.— What Distress, had He not been supported by Faith.

<sup>2</sup> Sam. xviii, 33.

Faith, what exquisite Distress must have overwhelmed this affectionate Parent! How could He refrain from crying out, and with a Flood of Tears?---" If the Decree cannot be re-" versed; if it must be the Fruit of my own "Body; O! that Ishmael, the Son of the " Hand-maid—How shall I speak it? My " Heart bleeds at the Thought; at the Thought " even of bis expiring Agonies, and untimely " Death. But as for Isaac, the Son of my " beloved Spouse, the Son of my old Age, " the Crown of all my Labours—I shall ne-" ver furvive fuch a Loss. The Blow that " goes to his Heart, must be fatal to Us " both.

"Yet, if He must die, and there is no Re-" medy; may He not at least expire by a na-" tural Disfolution? May not some common " Distemper unloose the Cords of Life, and " lay Him down gently in the Tomb? May " not his fond Mother and myself seal his " closing Eyes, and foften his dying Pangs by " our tender Offices?"—No, Abrabam. Son must be slaughtered on the Altar. He shall have no other Bed of Death, than the Pile of hewn Wood; no other Winding-sheet, than his own clotted Blood. The facrificing Knife, and not any common Disease, shall bring Him to his End.—And think not to fatisfy thy forrowing Fondness, by paying Him the last Honours of a decent Interment. It is my Pleasure, that He be cut in Pieces; consumed to Ashes; and made a Burnt-offering. So that nothing shall remain, to be preserved, or embalmed. It shall not be in thy Power to sooth thy Grief, by resorting to his Grave, and weeping at his Sepulchre, and saying, Here lies Isaac.

"But if all must be executed; GOD grant, "these Eyes may never behold the dismal "Tragedy! If my Isaac must be bound Hand and Foot for the Slaughter; if He must receive the Steel into his Bosom; and welter in his own innocent Blood; Heaven forbid, that I should behold so killing a Spectacle."

Even this Mitigation cannot be granted. Thou must not only be an Eye-witness of his Agony, but be the Executioner of thy Isaac. Thy Hands must lift the deadly Weapon; thy Hands must point it to the beloved Breast; thy own Hands must urge its Way, through the gushing Veins, and shivering Flesh, till it be plunged in the throbbing Heart. GOD will not permit the Work to be done by Another. The Father, the Father must be the Butcher.

Is not the wretched Father flunned and thunderstruck? Does He not stand fixed in Horror, and speechless with Grief. What Words can be mournful enough to express his Sorrows?

—Unheard of, shocking Affair! Nature recoils at the very Thought! How then can the best of Fathers perform the Deed?—How shall He answer it to the Wife of his Bosom. the Mother of the lovely Youth?——How can He justify it to the World? They will never be perfuaded, that the GOD of Goodness can delight in Cruelty, or authorize fo horrid an Action.—Will they not take up a taunting Proverb, and fay at every Turn? "There " goes the Man, the Monster rather, that " has imbrued his Hands in his own Son's "Blood! This is He that pretends to Piety; " and yet could be so savage, as to affassinate, " cooly and deliberately affaffinate, a good, a "duteous, an only Child!"—Might not Thoufands of fuch Reflections croud into his Thoughts, and rack his very Soul?

But GOD is unchangeable. Positive is his Word, and must be obeyed. Obeyed immediately too. Take now thy Son. The LORD's Command requireth Speed. No Time is to be lost, in bidding Adieu to his Relations, or in fruitless Supplications for revoking the Doom.—Nay, chearfully as well as instantly must this Command be fulfilled. The great JEHOVAH expects Alacrity in his Service.—Prodigious Tryal indeed! Yet not too great for a Faith, which the Divine SPIRIT insuses, and the Divine SPIRIT sustains,

The

The Patriarch knew full well, that Obedience is no Obedience, unless it be willing and chearful. Therefore He consults not with Flesh and Blood. He is deaf to the Arguings of carnal Reason, and regards not the Yearnings of paternal Affection. Without a murmuring Word, without a Moment's Delay *. He sets forward on his Journey. Not so much as betraying the least Uneasiness, to alarm his Wife; nor heaving the least Sigh, to surprise his Attendants.—And canst Thou, Abraham, canst Thou persist in thy Purpose? Can thy Heart firmly resolve, can thy Hand steadily execute, this inexpressibly severe Task? Most triumphant Faith indeed! Deservedly art Thou styled, The Father of the Faithful +. Thy Faith is stronger than all the Ties of Affection; stronger than all the Pleas of Nature, or all the Terrors of Deatheven of a Death, far more dreadful than thy own.

And now must He travel, during three tedious, and One would think, most melancholy Days. With his Isaac constantly before his Eyes; with the bloody Scene continually in his Apprehensions; and nothing to divert his Mind, from dwelling on every bitter Circumstance, and all the grievous Consequences.—

On

* For it is written, He arose early in the Morning. Ver. 3. + Rom. iv. 18.

On the third Day, Abraham lifted up his Eyes, and beheld afar off the appointed Place. His Servants are ordered to keep their Distance; while Himself with the Fire and the Knife in his Hands, and his Son with the Burden of Wood on his Shoulders, proceed on their Way, and afcend the Mountain.—Who does not pity the sweet Youth, toiling under that Load, which must foon reek with his Blood. and foon reduce Him to Ashes?—Mean while the intended Victim, wondering to see all these Preparations made, and no proper Animal near, asks this pertinent Question; My Father, behold the Fire and the Wood! But where is the Lamb for a Burnt-offering?—Sure, this endearing Speech, which discovered such a Knowledge of Religion, and fuch a Concern for its Duties, must rouse the Father's Anguish, and shake his Resolution. How can He be the Death of so much Innocence, and so much Piety?

Faith overcomes all Difficulties. Unmoved and inflexible, the Prophet replies; GOD will provide Himself a Lamb for a Burnt-offering, my Son.—Methinks, I shudder, as We draw near the direful Catastrophe. The Altar is built: the Wood laid in Order: all Things are prepared for the solemn Sacrifice.—And now the Father addresses Himself to the satal Business.—It does not appear, that the amiable and pious Youth refifted or gainfayed. He had Strength enough to oppose, and Speed enough to escape *. But fince his CREATOR called, He was content to go. Nevertheless, that the Work of Destiny might be sure, and no one Circumstance relating to a Sacrifice omitted, Abraham binds his Son.

I have known a stubborn Malefactor, quite unalarmed, when sentenced to the ignominious Tree; not at all impressed, with all the Representations of eternal Judgment; yet, when a Person came to measure Him for his Coffin, the hardened Wretch was hard no longer. He started; turned pale; and trembled in every Joint.—Even such a Circumstance makes no Impression on Abraham; neither alters his Purpose, nor changes his Countenance. He measures his Isaac; measures those Limbs, which He had so frequently and so tenderly careffed; and if not for the Coffin, yet for immediate Slaughter.—Having bound Him, bound Him for the Sword and for the Flame, He lays Him upon the Altar on the Wood. There, now, lies Isaac; the dear, the dutiful, the religious Isaac! Abrabam's Joy; Sarab's Delight; the Heir of the Promises! There * According to the History of Josephus, Isaac was, when He offered himself to the Slaughter, about twenty-five Years old. Others think, his Age was thirty-three; which makes Him more exactly resemble his suffering LORD. Either Account will justify Aspasso's Supposition.

He

He lies, all meek and refigned; expecting, every Moment, the Stroke of Death to fall.— O Parents! Parents! Do not your Bowels yearn? Is not Humanity itself distressed at the Scene? Say, thou who art a Father, what thinkest Thou of Abraham's Obedience? Couldst Thou, to fuch a Son, have acted fuch a Part?—See! the Father, resolute to the very last, unsheaths the murdering Blade; makes bare the innocent Bosom; and marks the Place, where Life may find the speediest Exit. His Heart is fixed! He stretches his Arm; and now, even now is aiming the mortal Blow-When-rejoice O ye Worshipers of a gracious GOD! Break forth into Singing, Ye that are in Pain for the tried Parent! The LORD Almighty interpofes, in this Article of extreme Need *. The Angel of the Covenant speaks from Heaven, and with-holds the wil-

"Upon this most seasonable Interposition, the inspired Historian makes a very judicious and edifying Remark. Which seems to be greatly obscured, if not intirely spoiled, by our Translation; In the Mount of the LORD it shall be seen. I must consess, I have always been puzzled to find, not only a pertinent Sense, but any Sense at all, in these Words. Whereas, the Original is as clear in its Signification, as it is apposite to the Purpose. או או האונה של האונה ling Hand, in the very Act to strike. GOD, who only intended to manifest his Faith, and make it bonourable, bids Him desist. GOD applauds his Obedience; substitutes another Sacrifice in Isaac's stead; renews his Covenant with the Father; and not only reprieves the Life of the Son, but promises Him a numerous and illustrious Issue. Promises to make Him the Progenitor of the MESSIAH, and thereby a public Blessing to all the Nations of the Earth.

Tell me now, Theron, was there ever fuch an aftonishing Effort of Obedience? Such a perfect Prodigy of Resignation? Yet THIS HATH FAITH DONE *-——If you should ask, * Heb. xi. 17. By Faith, Abraham, when He was tried, offered up Isaac.—The Faith, of which such glorious Things are spoken, to which such admirable Atchievements are ascribed, throughout this whole Chapter, was a Faith in "the Seed of the Woman," the promised MESSIAH. -Or, could it be demonstrated (which, I will venture to conclude, is impossible) that, in all these heroic Instances of Obedience, so nobly described by the eloquent Apostle, there was no believing Regard to CHRIST; no Apprehension of his unspeakable Love; no Application of his transcendent Merits; our Argument would not lose its Force, but firike with redoubled Energy. For, if a Belief in very inferior Manifestations of the divine Goodness, Faithfulness, and Power, wrought so efficaciously on those antient Worthies; how much more victoriously must the same Principle act, under far brighter Displays of all the supreme Perfections, in the Perfon of JESUS CHRIST!—I would only add, that so long as this Chapter remains in the Bible, it will furnish an unanswerable Consutation of those Objections.

ask, How was it possible for Abraham to perform all this, in the Manner described? The Answer is obvious. Because, Abrabam BELIEV-ED; or, in other Words, was fully persuaded, that the GOD, who had given Him this Son from the barren Womb, was able to raise Him again from the smoking * Ashes. As the same GOD, who required this Sacrifice, had expresly declared, In Isaac shall thy Seed be called; the Patriarch doubted not, but in a Way known to infinite Wisdom, he would certainly accomplish the Promise. Hence he made no Dispute, and felt no Reluctance. His Faith banished every uneafy Apprehension, and neither Fear nor Sorrow had Place in his Breast. By Faith He was enabled, speedily and chearfully, without so much as a parting Tear +, to obey this unparalleled Precept.

And.

tions, which suppose the Doctrine of Faith to have an unkindly Influence on religious or virtuous Practice. Against all such Cavils, it will stand fast for evermore as the Moon, and as the faithful Witness in Heaven.

* He seems to have expected not only the certain, but the immediate Restoration of his slain Son. That he would be revived on the very Spot; before He lest the Place; so as to accompany his Return. For, he says to his Servants, not I, but We will go, and worship, and return. The Ver. 5.

† This Account, is so very extraordinary, that I shall not be surprised, if the Reader sinds some Difficulty in giving his Assent to it. Especially, as He may have accustomed Himself to form very different Conceptions of this remarkable Assair; and may possibly be confirmed in a different Train of Vol. III. Q Ideas,

226 Aspasio to Theron. Let. 11.

And if all this, which would otherwise have been utterly impracticable, was wrought by Faith; You need not suspect, of Weakness and Insufficiency, so approved a Principle. Far from enervating, it will invigorate every good Disposition; and instead of damping, will give Life to every religious Duty.—Cherish Faith, and You will of course cultivate Obedience. Water this Root, and the Branches of universal

God-

Ideas, by seeing a Representation of the Story in a celebrated Print. Where the Father appears, classing his Son in a tender Embrace; bedewing Him with his Tears; and suffering as much through Grief, as the devoted Youth is going to suffer by the Knise.—But the Engraver, I apprehend, had not so attentively examined the Circumstances of the sacred Narrative, nor so carefully compared them with other Passages of Scripture, as a judicious, ingenious, and worthy Friend of mine. From whom I learnt to consider this wonderful Transaction in the above-represented View. And I must consess, the more I revolve it in my Mind, the more I am convinced of its Propriety.

I flatter myself, the Reader will be of the same Opinion, if he pleases to consult the Tenth Chapter of Leviticus. Where Nadab and Abibu, the Sons of Aaron, are devoured by Fire from before the LORD. Yet Aaron is not allowed to mourn, even at such a terrible and afflictive Visitation. And when, through the Frailty of human Nature, He could not wholly refrain, He durst not presume to eat of the Sin-offering. Such Things, fays He, have befallen me, if I had eaten of the Sin-offering, should it have been accepted in the Sight of the LORD?—Let me add, that we find not the least Indication of fuch agonizing Sorrow, nor indeed of any Sorrow at all, in the History as related by Moses. Neither could Abraham have been a proper Type of the eternal FATHER, making his only begotten SON a Sacrifice for Sin, if He had not offered Him willingly. And indeed to offer willingly, feems to have been absolutely necessary in every acceptable Oblation. See 2 Cor. ix. 7.

Godliness will assuredly partake the beneficial Effects; will spread their Honours, and bring forth their Fruits.—Through the Power of Faith, the Saints have wrought Righteousness, in all its magnanimous and heroic Acts.—The Doctrine of Faith is called by St. Paul, A Doctrine according to Godliness*; exquisitely contrived to answer all the Ends, and secure every Interest of real Piety.—The Grace of Faith St. Jude styles, Our most body Faith +; intimating, that it is not only productive of Holiness, but that the most refined and exalted Holiness arises from this Stock.

Let Us then be diligent to obtain, and careful to increase, Faith in JESUS CHRIST. Let Us maintain the fame zealous Solicitude for this leading capital Grace, as the renowned Epaminondas expressed for his Shield. When that gallant General was, in an Engagement with the Enemy, struck to the Ground; his Soldiers carried him off, breathless and fainting, to his The very Moment he opened his Eyes, and recovered the Use of Speech, he asked not whether his Wound was mortal? not whether his Troops were routed? But whether his Shield was fafe? ---- May We be enabled, my dear Friend, to keep our Shield fafe! May We be strong, be steady, be lively in Faith! Then, I doubt not, We shall give Glory to GOD, receive

<sup>* 1</sup> Tim, vi. 3.

228 ASFASIO to THERON. Let. 12. ceive Comfort to Ourselves, and abound in the Works of the LORD.

Nothing can be more pertinent to my Purpose, than the Apostle's Prayer; That We may know what is the Hope of our Calling in CHRIST JESUS, and what is the exceeding Greatness of his Power to themward who believe. And nothing can be more expressive of the very Soul of

Your affectionate

ASPASIO.

L E T T E R XII.

Aspasio to Theron.

It is very probable, while I am reading yours, You are perufing mine. But how unlike is my Friend to the Representation He receives! How unlike the fatisfied, unsuspecting, chearful Abraham! Why this dejected Air in your Temper? Why those pensive Strokes in your Letter?—Let me anticipate your Reply, and make Answer to myself.—This Gloom, I trust, is a Sign of approaching Day. Just before the Morning Dawn, the nocturnal Darkness is blackest. And just before the Appearance of the SUN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, the the Penitent's Distress is frequently the deepest. I promise myself, the Hour is at Hand, which will put off your Sackcloth, and gird You with Gladness.

Another favourable Presage is, That You take the direct and certain Way, to obtain substantial Comfort. The Righteousness of our LORD FESUS CHRIST, after which You inquire, about which You are folicitous, is a never-failing Spring of Consolation. it acquits from all Sin; secures from all Condemnation; and renders the Believer unblamable and unreprovable in the Sight of GOD. Therefore fays the HOLY GHOST, His Name is as Ointment poured forth *: even that divinely precious Name—by which He has been celebrated in the preceding Epistles; by which He is distinguished in the Scriptures of Truth; by which, I hope, He will be more and more revealed in my Theron's Mind—THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. The Discovery of Him under this most amiable and glorious Capacity, will indeed be like breaking open a Vial of the richest Unguents. Which not only fill the Room, and regale the Sense, with their delightful Fragrance; but refresh the Spirits, and rejoice the very Heart .- Might my Writing, or my Discourse, be as the Alabaster-box to contain, to convey, and present these reviv230 ASPASIO to THERON. Let. 12. ing Odours; how highly should I think my-felf honoured, and how signally my Endeavours blessed!

You ask, "How this Righteousness of the Divine REDEEMER becomes ours?"——It is a Question, which I receive with the utmost Pleasure; and, with equal Pleasure, shall attempt an Answer. Or rather, as the SPIRIT of our GOD prompted the first, may the same unerring Guide suggest the last!——This He has abundantly done by his Prophets and Apostles. So that I need only have Recourse to their Writings, and collect some of the Hints, which lie treasured up in those Storehouses of Wisdom.

There We are often told of Union with CHRIST. Believers are faid to be in CHRIST*, and to be one with CHRIST +.—What is still higher, and implies a greater Degree of Nearness, They are Members of his Body, of his Flesh, and of his Bones ‡.—And, which denotes the most intimate Connection imaginable, They that are joined to the LORD JESUS, are one Spirit || with Him!—As these Expressions appear dark, and their Sense lies deep, it has pleased our all-condescending INSTRUCTOR to illustrate them, by a Variety of significant Types, and lively Similitudes. This Remark

very

* Col. i. 2. † Heb. ii. 11. ‡ Eph. v. 30.

very opportunely reminds me of an Engagement, which, some Time ago, I undertook to execute, but have hitherto omitted—To make it evident, that the blessed Doctrine, for which We have been pleading, is deducible from several Scripture Images. A short Descant upon some of the principal, will, I hope, at once discharge my former Obligation, and satisfy your present Inquiry.

This was shadowed forth by the costly, odoriferous, flowing Unguent, which was poured upon Aaron's Head; and ran down upon his Beard, and descended to the Skirts * of his Clothing. So, the Merits of our great HIGH-PRIEST are derived down to all the Faithful; even those of the meanest Station in Life, and the lowest Attainments in Religion.

Was it not typefied by that instructive Vifion, which the Prophet Zechariah saw? I have looked, and behold! A Candlestick all of Gold, with a Bowl upon the Top of it, and his seven Lamps thereon, and seven Pipes to the seven Lamps, which * Pfal. exxxiii. 2. What We render Skirts, is, in the Original, בי מדרותיו The Mouth, or, as the Word is translated (Job xxx. 18.) The Collar of his Garments. It is hardly supposeable, that the consecrating Oil flowed down to the very Bottom of the sacerdotal Vestments. But it might probably reach the upper Hem, or the Opening round the Neck; what the Greeks call weps ραχηλιου— This Sense will sufficiently preserve the Gradation; The Head; the Beard; the Clothes. Which seem to denote CHRIST, his more advanced Saints, and Believers of a lower Class.

Let. 12. which were upon the Top thereof: And two Olivetrees by it, one upon the right Side of the Bowl, and the other upon the left Side thereof; which, through two golden Pipes, empty the golden Oil out of themselves *. The Bowls and the Lamps were a proper Emblem of Believers: who are, by Nature, dry Vessels, and destitute of all Good; yet should shine as Lights, in the midst of a crooked and perverse Generation.—The Olivetrees, arrayed in Verdure, and abounding with Sap; always emptying themselves, yet ever full; are a very just Representation of CHRIST, of his unchangeable Love, and his inexhaustible Grace.—The golden Pipes, through which the Olive-branches transmit their Oil, seem to be figurative of Faith, in its various and repeated Actings. By means of which, the unspeakable Benefits of a REDEEMER are communicated to our Souls, and replenish these empty Basons.

Another Type the Apostle mentions. first Adam, He says, was a Figure of Him that was to come +. So eminent a Figure, and corresponding in so many Instances, that He styles our LORD 7ESUS the last Adam ‡. And why? Because, like the first, He was a Covenant-bead to his People, and transacted in their Stead, Infomuch, that what He did, and what what He suffered, is placed to their Account. Is Adam's Sin imputed to all his natural Off-spring? So is CHRIST's Righteousness to all his spiritual Seed.—The Consequences of both, render the Doctrine more plain, and the Truth more undeniable. All Men are judged, condemned, dead *; doomed inevitably to the Death of the Body, and justly liable to the Death of the Soul, on the Score of Adam's Transgression. All Believers are acquitted, justified, saved +; saved from the first Death, and made Heirs of the Resurrection; saved from the second Death, and intitled to Life eternal; by virtue of CHRIST's Obedience.

* Zechar. iv. 2, 3, 12, + Rom. v. 14. 1 I Cor. xv. 45.

This Union with CHRIST, was not only prefigured by Types, but is displayed by a Variety of Similitudes, taken from the most familiar Occurrences of Life. By which it appears, that our Divine MASTER would have Us live under the babitual Belief of this momentous Truth, and in the constant Enjoyment of this distinguished Privilege.—You cannot visit a Friend, or view your Children; You cannot enter your Garden, discourse with your Spouse, or contemplate your own Body, without a Representation and a Remembrancer of this precious Blessing.

CHRIST

₱ Rom. v. 15, 16.

CHRIST fays to his Disciples, Henceforth I. call You not Servants but Friends *. Friends are a fecond Self +. St. Paul, speaking of Onefimus, uses this remarkable Phrase, Receive Him, as Myself; and which is still more emphatical, Receive him, that is mine own Bowels 1. CHRIST's Friendship must assuredly be of the most tender and exalted Kind. It must be equal, it must be infinitely superior, to Jonathan's. - Jonathan loved David as his own Soul. CHRIST loved Sinners with a Love stronger than Death. They were dearer to Him than his own inestimable Life.—Jonathan exposed Himself to imminent Danger, in vindicating David's Conduct. JESUS furrendered himfelf to certain Death, in making Reconciliation for our Offences.— Jonathan interceded once and again with his Father in David's Behalf. CHRIST ever liveth to make Intercesfion for Transgressors. — Jonathan stripped Himself of the Robe that was upon Him, and gave it to David, and bis Garment, even to his Sword, and bis Bow, and bis Girdle ||. Our REDEEM-ER, without stripping Himself, has clothed Us (such is the Prerogative of a Divine Perfon!) with the Robe of his Righteousness, and with the Garment of his Salvation. He has

* John xv. 15.

+ Horace calls Virgil, Anima Dimidium mea.

† Philem. 13, 17. || 1 Sam. xviii. 4.

has configned over to Us all the Merit of his holy Life and propitiatory Death.

CHRIST stands related to his People, not as a Friend only, but as a Parent. He is called by a Prophet, THE EVERLASTING FA-THER*; and We are faid, by an Apostle, to be his Children +.—Children look upon themfelves, as interested in the Wealth of their Pa-They expect, and not without reasonable Ground, to reap Benefit from it, while the Parents live; and to become Possessors of it, when they die. Accordingly the Father fays in the Gospel; Son, all that I have is thine 1. -Since the high and holy IMMANUEL vouchsafes to be our FATHER, can we suppose Him less generous than an earthly Parent? Or that bis Children shall have less to hope, than the Heirs of an earthly Progenitor? Doubtless, We may, We ought to regard all his communicable Goods, all the Benefits refulting from his meritorious Sufferings and perfect Obedience, as our Portion.—Especially, fince He is the Testator | also; has bequeathed them to Us by Will; and, having fubmitted to Death, they become legally ours.

I am the Vine, fays our LORD, Ye are the Branches §. They that believe, are ingrafted into CHRIST.—Take Notice of a Cyon. What are

* Isal. vi. 9. + Heb. ii. 13. ‡ Luke xv. 31. | Heb. ix. 16. § John xv. 5.

are the Consequences of its Ingrasture? It is embodied with the Substance of the Tree, and partakes of its Fatness. The Sap, attracted by the Root, circulates into it; gives it vegetable Life; fills it with Buds, decks it with Blossoms, and loads it with Fruit.——If then we are one with CHRIST, as much as the Branch is one with the Stock, it must follow, even upon the Principles of common Experience, that his Wisdom is ours, to inlighten Us; his Righteousness is ours, to justify Us; his Spirit is ours, to fanctify Us; his Redemption is ours, to make Us completely and eternally happy.

CHRIST is united to his People by a Tie, closer and dearer than the parental. They are not only his Children, but his Spoule. often called their Bridegroom, and is not ashamed to avow the tender Engagement: I will betroth Thee to Me for ever; 'yea, I will betroth Thee unto me in Righteousness, and in Judgment, and in Loving-kindness, and in Mercies. I will even betroth Thee unto Me in Faithfulness *. The condescending GOD multiplies, diversifies, accumulates his Words. And this, with admirable Propriety, as well as furpassing Goodness. The Honour is so bigb, and the Favour fo great, We should hardly know how to believe it, and hardly venture to apply it. Lest theretherefore, by a fingle Expression, it should not be sufficiently established, it stands ratisfied by repeated Asseverations, and with all the Energy of Language. So that, be the Grace ever so assonishing, We are assured, the Fact is equally certain; He that is our MAKER, is also our HUSBAND *.

Let Us consider what follows, upon such an Union. We may take for an Example, the Case of Boaz and Ruth. Soon as their Nuptials were solemnized, she that was poor, became rich: from a Gleaner in the Field, she commenced Mistress of the Harvest: and, from abiding by the Maidens, had a Seat at the Master's Table.—And if we are united to CHRIST by a Marriage Contract, the same Essects will take place. We that were poor, are rich in Him. We, who had Nothing, posses all Things in CHRIST. We that dwell in Dust, are made to sit together with our divine HUSBAND in heavenly Places +.

If you choose some modern Exemplification, what can be more pertinent, than the remarkable Instance of your Neighbour Arietta? She was lately left a Widow, by the diffolute and extravagant Bellario. Her Circumstances miserably embarrassed, and the little Estate deeply mortgaged. Her Friends looked shy, and her Creditors became clamorous.

Every

* Ifai. liv. 9.

Let. 12. Every Day made some new Discovery of Debts, contracted by the Deceased; and the Affairs of the Survivor appeared, every Day, with a more melancholy Aspect.—But, having won, first the Compassion, then the Affection, of the wealthy and illustrious Philander; how happily is the Face of Things altered! All her Debts devolve upon Him, and all his Dignity is derived to Her *. He stands responsible, for whatever She owes; and She is a Sharer, in whatever He possesses. Though little less than ruined by her late Husband, She is more than restored by her present; and has Reason to rejoice in his Affluence, and to glory in his Honours.—Have not We also Reason to rejoice in our heavenly BRIDEGROOM? Since a far more glorious Exchange subsists between Him and his mystical Spouse. He has bore the Curse, that We may inherit the Blessing. Sin was charged on Him, that Righteousness might be imputed to Us. In a Word; He has fustained all our Miseries, that He might impart to Us all his Benefits. Has the Law any Demand? It must go to Him for Satisfaction. Have We any Wants? We may look to Him for a Supply. TO HIM, Theron, in whom it bas * Ubi Tu Caius, ibi Ego Caia, was the Roman Maximi Agreeably to this Rule, which has obtained among all civilized Nations, the Scripture calls the Church by the Name of her divine Husband. Compare Jerem, xxiii. 5, 6, with Jerem. xxxiii. 15, 16.

If any Thing can express an Union, more intimate and inseparable than the conjugal, it is that of the Members with the Head. And this Image is used by the HOLY GHOST, to shadow forth the Connection between CHRIST and the Faithful. He is the Head over all Things, with respect to Rule and Supremacy; but a Head of Union and Influence, with Respect to the Church +. The Head and the Members constitute one natural Body; CHRIST and his Church compose one mystical Body. What Kindness is done, what Injury is offered to the Members, the Head regards them as done to itself. Accordingly, CHRIST fays to the outrageous Saul, who made Havock of the Church; Saul, Saul, why persecutest Thou ME ‡? He declares, concerning those indigent Christians, to whose Necessities We administer Relief; Inasmuch as Ye have done it unto them, Ye bave done it unto ME ||. The Animal Spirits formed in the Head, are formed for the Benefit of the whole Body, and defigned for the Use of all the Members. So the Righteousness wrought by JESUS CHRIST, is wrought out for his whole mystical Body, and intended for the Advantage of all his People; to be the Cause

* Col. i. 19. + Eph. i. 22. ‡ AAs. ix. 4. | Matt. xxv. 40.

240 ASPASIO to THERON. Let. 12. Cause of their Justification, and the Purchase of their Salvation.

Being then so nearly related, so closely united to the bleffed JESUS, it is no Wonder, that Believers are now loved with the same fatherly Love, and will hereafter be Partakers of the fame heavenly Glory.—What might We not expect from the Divine REDEEMER, if He vouchsafed to acknowledge but one of these endearing Names? Since He is related to Us by all the Ties of Affinity and Affection; may We not promise Ourselves, and with the Asfurance of Hope, every good Thing; Even all the Fulness of GOD * our Saviour?—Does not each of these tender Relations, subsisting between CHRIST and his Saints, imply an intire Property in one another, and a mutual Participation of all that belongs to either? My Beloved is mine, and I am his, is the undoubted Effect of this divine Union.

How pleasing, yet how amazing the Thought! Shall We, who say to Corruption, Thou art my Father; and to the Worm, Thou art my Mother and my Sister ‡; shall We be permitted to say, concerning the HEAD of all Principality and Power, We are Members of his Body, of his Flesh, and of his Bones ||?—What a Mercy might might We esteem it, not to be confounded before a MAJESTY fo exalted and fublime! What a Favour, to obtain the least propitious Regard from the KING immortal and invifible! What an Honour, to be admitted into his Family, and numbered among the Meanest of his Servants!—But to be his adopted Children; to be his espoused Bride; to be the Members of his facred Body—To have HIM for our everlasting Father, HIM for the Bridegroom of our Souls, HIM for our heavenly Head; who is the MAKER of all Worlds, and the Object of Worship to all Creatures! What Words can duly celebrate, what Heart can sufficiently admire, the Condescension and the Love of our adorable 7ESUS? Or who can justly question the Fruits of such a Fellowship, and Consequences of such an Union? Question them! No, the Fruits are as infallibly fure, as the Privilege is inexpressibly great.

* Eph. iii. 19. ‡ Job xvii. 14. 1 Eph. v. 30.

Let me once again introduce a great and venerable Witness of both these Truths. "La-" ban spake high, when He said; These Chil-" dren are mine, and all these Things thou seest "are mine. But how high and glorious is "that, which may be said of a justified Per-" son! All thou hearest of CHRIST is thine; "his Life is thine, his Death is thine, his Obe-" dience, Merit, Spirit, all thine *."—Rich and and important Words! Than which nothing can give Us a juster or fuller Explanation of the Apostle's Assertion, We are Partakers of CHRIST*; We are complete in CHRIST+.

* See Dr. Lightfoot's Works, Vol. II. p. 1077. Vol. III. R

When some foreign Ladies, of the first Quality, paid a Visit to Leonidas's Queen; the Talk turned upon their rich Clothes, their costly Jewels, and splendid Equipage. After they had severally displayed their own Grandeur, they inquired after her Majesty's Finery. What She had to distinguish Her from the Vulgar? -She replied, My illustrious Husband 1.-What else? My illustrious Husband.—And as often as They repeated the same Question, She returned the same Answer.—Could this Queen speak in such admiring, rejoicing, self-gratulating Terms, of her royal Confort? And shall not vile Sinners look upon their RE-DEEMER—that all-glorious, yet all-condefcending Bridegroom; who is full of Grace and Truth, full of Merit and Righteousness --- shall not they much more look upon HIM as their Honour and their Joy; the Object of their Dependence, and the Cause of their Boasting?

I

* Heb. iii. 14. + Col. ii. 10.

‡ The amiable and heroic Panthea expresses Herself in much the same Manner, concerning her gallant Husband Abradates; Συ γαρ εμοιγε μεγις νοσμος εεπ. Xenoph. Cyroped. Lib. VI.

I should find it difficult to refrain from the farther Profecution of so engaging a Topic, did I not propose to wait upon You very speedily. Then I shall have an Opportunity of pouring into your Bosom all the Fulness of my Heart, with regard to this delightful Subject.—In the mean time, let me exhort my dear Friend to be of good Comfort. Heaviness may endure for a Night, but Joy cometh in the Morning*. This Sorrow of which You complain, may be the Seed of spiritual and eternal Consolation.

While I am writing, there appears full in my View, one of the finest Rainbows, I ever It compasset the Heaven with a glorious beheld. Circle; fo glorious, that it is no Disparagethent of the Almighty CREATOR, to fay, the Hands of the MOST HIGH have bended it +.—On what Foundation, would I ask, is that beautiful and stately Arch raised? From what Source, do all its radiant and lovely Colours spring? It is raised on a gloomy Assemblage of Vapours; and all its rich Tinctures fpring from a louring Cloud.—Thus does the bleffed GOD, on a Conviction of Guilt and a Sense of Ruin, spread Faith, paint Holiness, and diffuse Gladness. May all these, e'er long, arise in my Theron's Breast! And each bebright,

€ Pfal. xxx. 5. † Ecclus. xliii. 12.

ASPASIO to THERON. Let. 12; bright, as that resplendent Bow——lasting, as the Sun that creates it!

In the mean time, it is the ardent Defire of my Soul, and shall be my frequent Prayer to GOD, That both our Hearts may be comforted, being knit together in Love, unto all Riches of the full Assurance of Understanding*, in this great Mystery of Godliness.—What Vigour of Expression, what Exuberance of Ideas, and, above all, what distinguished Privileges are Here !—Assurance—Full Assurance—Riches of the full Assurance—All Riches of the full Asfurance of Understanding-in reference to our Union with CHRIST, and its unutterably precious Effects !-- Can the Orator express more? Can the Sinner wish for more? Can the Saint, I had almost said, can the Archangel enjoy more?—May this be the Portion of my dear Theron, and of

His ever faithful

Aspasio.

* Col. ii. 2.

SPASIO had taken Leave of his Friend Camillus, and was come to revisit Theron. Whose Thoughts seemed to be in a State of much Fluctuation, and no small Anxiety.

Hoping, that some proper Conversation on the Grace and Privileges of the everlasting Gospel, might compose and comfort his Mind. Might, while his Heart was softened by humbling Convictions, fix the Stamp of genuine Christianity; and deliver his whole Soul into the Mould * of evangelical Religion.

When

* Deliver into the Mould—This is the literal Translation, and exact Sense of St. Paul's Phrase; Eis or wapedwhyle tumor didaxns. Rom. vii. 17.—Which, as it contains a beautiful Allusion, conveys also a very instructive Admonition. Intimating, that our Minds, all pliant and ductile, should be conformed to the refined Precepts of the Gospel, as liquid Metals take the Figure of some elegant Mould, into which they are cast.

When Sorrow wounds the Breast, as Ploughs the Glebe,

And Hearts obdurate feel ber soft'ning Show'r, Her Seed celestial then glad Wisdom sows: Her golden Harvests triumph in the Soil.

He arrived pretty late in the Evening: and, being somewhat weary with the Journey, soon withdrew to his Repose.—The next Morning, as Theron walked abroad, to taste the cool Delights of the Dawn; He was agreeably surprised, by meeting Aspasso.

Ther. So foon awake, my worthy Friend! And after so much Fatigue on the preceding Day!—I had not the least Expectation of your Company, till Breakfast. Then indeed I promised myself a double Regale—The Refreshments exhibited on the Table; and those wholesome Words of our LORD JESUS CHRIST*, which, more precious than Manna, drop—

Asp. How, Theren!—Have you also learnt those soothing Arts, which polish the Speech, to deprave our Sentiments? Could I have suspected the inchanting Wiles of Flattery, from my sincere, my tried, my bosom Friend?

Ther. Your Friend is still sincere, and his Words are very remote from Flattery.—How welcome to the windbound Mariner, weary with

247

Asp. Why I thought you looked upon my Notions as chimerical. Is Theron also become credulous? Like one of Us weak-headed Believers!—Has He quitted the Strong-holds of Reason? Is He vanquished by the Slingstone of Faith? Or can He submit to this strange Method of Salvation, by embracing the Righteousness, and relying on the Obedience of Another?

Ther. I find, my Reason was a feeble Guide; or I myself not faithful to its genuine Dictates. I was blinded with Prejudice. I was intoxicated with Pride. A vain Conceit of my moral Powers betrayed me, as I fear it has betrayed many, into a Contempt of the evangelical Righteousness. I held, what I R 4 thought

٠٠٩. '

thought an Honour to human Nature. I now retract my Opinion. My true Glory and real Happiness I would derive from the blessed JESUS.—No more Banter, Aspasio:—Have done:—I am serious, and very much in earnest. So much in earnest, that if all my Acquaintance of the Pharisaical Turn, or all my Brothers of the Smile, should rally me on the Subject; I would frankly acknowledge my Error, and as freely sign my Recantation.

Asp. My dear Theron, I applaud your Resolution. You have no more Cause to be ashamed of such a Practice, than Philip had to be ashamed of the Impersection in his Limbs. When being observed to go lame, with a Wound received in Battle, he had this Consolation suggested by one of his Courtiers: "New ver blush, my royal Sir, for a Desect, which puts You in mind of your Valour, every step You take."—To sacrifice our Prejudices, in the Search of Truth, is no less honourable, than to be marked with a Scar, in the Desence of our Country.

I beg Pardon for my Pleasantry. Since you are so very serious, a gay Air was quite unseasonable.—You cannot often complain, that I am guilty of this Fault. Nor can You easily imagine, the Satisfaction I shall enjoy; if, either my Letters, or my Discourse, have administered any Advantage to my Friend. I shall

shall note it down, among the distinguished Blessings of my Life; and have an additional Obligation, to love the beneficent AUTHOR of all Good.

But, as I cannot be a Furtherer of your Happiness, without the greatest Delight; so I cannot be a Witness of your Solicitude, without a painful Regret. You must therefore permit me to ask the Cause of that unusual Vehemence, I observe in your Speech; and of that deep Concern, which I read in your Countenance.

Ther. I have been confidering very attentively, What is the present State, and what is likely to be the final Condition of my Soul.

—————My Hopes and Fears Start up alarmed; and o'er Life's narrow Verge Look down—on what? A fathomles Abys,
A wast Eternity!

My Sins, at the same time, like an armed Host, are set in dreadful Array, and surround me on every Side.—Justice, like an injured and incensed Foe, unsheaths the Sword, and makes a loud Demand for Vengeance.—No Righteousness of my own presents itself, to which I may sly for Resuge.—The Method of Salvation, in which I formerly consided, is a Bridge broken down; and leaves me, without any Possibility of Escape, abandoned to the approaching Enemy.

To a Person in such deplorable Circumstances, how reviving, how delightful, is the very Thought of being interested in the great REDEEMER's Righteousness!—I don't wonder now at a Saying of Luther's; which I have sometimes exploded, as strangely extravagant: "That, upon the Discovery of this glo-"rious Righteousness, the Gates of Paradise" seemed to sly open before Him, and the Dawn of Heaven was all in view."

Talking in this manner, they came to an elevated Terrace. Which, about an Hour before, had been shaved by the Scythe, and emitted all the Freshness of new-mown Herbage.—On one Side, a fine Champaign Country stretched its wide Dimensions.—On the other, a Flower-Garden exhibited the last Ornaments of the Year.—Here, You might still see the tufted Vermilion, and the full-blown Ivory, glittering through Spangles of liquid Crystal. --- There, You might trace the Footsteps of the early Cattle, by many a recent Print on the dewy Lawn.—On the Walls and Espaliers, Autumn had spread her Stores; and was , beginning to beautify their Rinds with many a ruddy Streak, or to breathe over their gloffy Skins her delicate and inimitable Bloom.

Asp. See, said Aspasso, the Wisdom and Benignity, which, in amiable and inseparable Con-

Conjunction, display themselves through the whole Oeconomy of the Universe! GOD has made every Thing beautiful in his Time*; every Thing serviceable in its Place. A little while ago, the flowery Meads delighted our Eyes, and the melodious Birds charmed our Ears: now, the tasteful Pruits are preparing their Dainties; and presenting Us with a Collation, to regale our Palate.—The whole Earth, and all the Seasons, are rich with our CREATOR's Goodness. Yea, the whole Earth, and all that replenishes it, all that surrounds it, are full of his Presence. He, HE it is, who Warms in the Sun, refreshes in the Breeze, Glows in the Stars, and blossoms in the Trees; Livesthrough all Life, extends through all Extent, Spreads undivided, operates unspent.

An habitual Belief of this Truth, gives Nature her loveliest Aspect, and lends her the most consummate Power to please. The Breath of Violets, and the Blush of Roses; the Music of the Woods, and the Meanders of the Stream; the aspiring Hill, the extended Plain, and all the Decorations of the Landschape; then appear in their highest Attractives; then touch the Soul with the most refined Satisfaction; when GOD is seen—when GOD is heard—and GOD enjoyed in all.————

The spacious Canopy * over our Heads, is painted with Blue; and the ample Carpet under our Feet, is tinged with Green. These Colours, by their soft and chearing Qualities, yield a perpetual Refreshment to the Eye †. Whereas, had the Face of Nature gliftered with White, or glowed with Scarlet; such ardent and dazling Hues would, instead of exhilarating.

* If the Reader has Patience to go through the following Essay, He will find it, in the Issue, not altogether foreign to the main Subject.—If He pleases to consider it, as a kind of practical Comment, on that lovely Celebration of providential Goodness, His tender Mercies are over all his Works—This may possibly alleviate the Toil of perusing, and reconcile Him to the Length of the Descant.

Thou smiling Nature's universal Robe!
United Light and Shade! Where the Sight dwells, With growing Strength, and ever-new Delight.

Thomson's Spring.

ing, have fatigued the Sight.—Besides; as the several brighter Colours are interspersed, and form the Pictures in this magnificent Piece; the Green and the Blue constitute an admirable Ground, which shews them all, in their highest Luttre, and to the utmost Advantage.

Had the Air been confiderably groffer, it would have dimmed the Rays of the Sun, and darkened the chearful Day. Our Lungs had been clogged in their vital Functions: Men had been suffocated, without the strangling Noose; or drowned, without the overwhelming Flood.—Was it several Degrees more subtle, Birds would not be able to wing their Way through the Firmaments; nor could the Clouds be sustained, in so attenuated an Atmosphere. It would elude the Organs of Respiration: We should gasp for Breath, with as much Difficulty, and with as little Success, as Fishes out of their native Element.

The Ground also is wrought into the most proper Temperature. Was it of a firmer Confistence, it would be impenetrable to the Plough, and unmanageable by the Spade.—Was it of a laxer Composition, it would be incapable of supporting its own Furniture. The light Mould would be swept away by whirling Winds; or the oozy Globe soaked into Sloughs by the descending Rains.—Because, every Situation suits not every Plant; but that which is a Nurse to one, often proves a Step-mother to others; therefore, the Qualities of the Earth are so abundantly diversified, as properly to accommodate every Species of Vegetation. We have a Variety of intermediate Soils, from the loofe disjointed Sand, to the stiff cohesive Clay: from the rough Projections of the craggy Clift, to the softly swelling Bed of the smooth Parterre.

The Sea carries equal Evidences of a most wise and gracious Ordination.—Was it larger, We should want Land for the Purposes of Pasturage, and the Operations of Husbandry. We should be destitute of sufficient Room for Mines and Forests; our subterranean Warehouses, and our aerial Timber-Yards.—Was it smaller, it would not be capable of recruiting the Sky, with a proper Quantity of vaporous Exhalations; nor of supplying the Earth, with the necessary Quota of fructifying Showers.

Do We not discern very apparent Strokes of Skill, and the most pregnant Proofs of Goodness, in each individual Object? In the various Tenants of the Globe, and the several Appartenances of this great Dwelling? — It is needless to expatiate upon the more eminent and conspicuous Beauties; all that shines in the Heavens, and all that smiles on the Earth. These speak to every Ear, these shew to every Eye, the the adorable Munificence of their MAKER. It is needless to launch into the Praises of the Valleys, delicately clothed with Herbage; or of the Fields, richly replenished with Corn-Even the ragged Rocks, which frown over the Flood; the caverned Quarries, which yawn amidst the Land; together with the Mountains, those shapeless and enormous Protuberances, which feem to load the Ground, and incumber the Skies: even these contribute their Share. to increase the general Pleasure, and augment the general Usefulness. They variegate the Prospect; raise an agreeable Horror in the Beholder; and inspire his Breast with a religious Awe. They add new Charms to the wide Level of our Plains; and shelter, like a Screen, the warm Lap of our Vales.

We are delighted with the folemn Gloom, and magnificent Afpect, of the Forest. One, who saw the Cedars of Lebanon, was transported with Admiration, at their ample Trunks, and towering Heads; their diffusive Spread, and verdant Grandeur. Compared with which, the stately Elm is but a Reed; and the branching Oak, a mere Shrub.—Was our Sight qualified for the Search, We should discover a Symmetry and a Dignity, altogether as perfect, and far more wonderful, in those Groves of Moss*, which could He guard the Scene of his Labours, or fecure his vegetable Wealth, from the Flocks and the Herds? Those roving Plunderers, which accede to no Treaty, but that of forcible Restraint; submit to no Laws, but those of the coercive Kind.

*See, for a Proof of this Remark, the Explanation of the tenth Plate, in that very curious, very entertaining, and

Most People are fond of the Purslane's fleshy Leaves, and the ramified Fatness of the Brocoli: the Potato's mealy Orbs, and the Lentile's succulent Pods. We spare no Toil, We grudge no Expence, to have them flourish in our Gardens, and ferved up at our Tables.-But there are innumerable Herbs, which pass under the contemptible Character of Weeds; and yet are altogether as defirable to many Classes of Creatures, as these culinary Gifts to Mankind. Who shall be at the Pains to plant, to water, to cultivate, fuch despicable Productions? Man would rather extirpate, than propagate, these Incumbrances of his Acres. Therefore Providence vouchsafes to be their Gardener. Providence has wrought off their Seeds into fuch a Lightness of Substance, that they are carried abroad with the Undulations of the Air. Or, if too heavy to be wafted by the Breeze, they are fastened to Wings of Down, which facilitate their Flight. Or elfe, are inclosed in a springy Case; which, forcibly bursting, shoots them abroad on every Side.—By some such means, the reproducing Principle is disseminated; the universal Granary silled; and the universal Board surnished. The buzzing Insect, and the creeping Worm, have each his Bill of Fare. Each enjoys a neversailing Treat, equivalent to our finest Venison, or to the "Fat of Kidneys of Wheat *."

<sup>44</sup> Tillage should be discontinued; and the whole Country "degenerate into a confused, disorderly Waste; without either the Distributions of Property, or the Improvements of Industry." Isai. vii. 25. Vid. Vitring. in loc.

As the Seeds of some are most artfully scattered abroad, when ripe; the Seeds of others are most carefully guarded, till they come to Maturity; and, by both Contrivances, every Species is not barely preserved, but in a manner eternized.—Some are lodged in the Center of a large Pulp; which is, at once, their Defence, and their Nourishment. This We find exemplified in the tafteful Apple, and the juicy Pear.—Some, besides the surrounding Pulp, are inclosed in a thick Shell, hard and impenetrable as Stone. We cannot pluck and eat. one of those downy Peaches, or incrimsoned Nectarines, which so beautifully emboss the Wall, without finding a Proof of this Precaution.—Cast your Eye upon the Walnuts, which stud the Branches of that spreading Tree. Before these are gathered, the Increase of the Cold, and the Emptiness of the Gardens, will sharpen the Appetite of the Birds. To secure the fine Kernel from the Depredations of their busy assailing Bills, it is fortified with a strong Inclosure of Wood, and with the Addition of a disgustful bitter Rind.

* The Fat of Kidneys of Wheat, Deut. xxxii. 14. A Sentence, rich with Elegance! Such as would have shone in Pindar, or been admired by Longinus.

If Grass was as scarce as the Guernsey-Lilly; or as difficultly raised as the delicate Tuberose; how certainly, and how speedily, must many Millions of Quadrupeds perish with Famine! Since all the Cattle owe their chief Subsistence to this Vegetable, by a singular Beneficence in the Divine Oeconomy, it waiteth not, like the Corn-field and the Garden-bed, for the annual Labours of Man. When once sown, though ever so frequently cropped, it revives with the returning Season, and slourishes in a kind of perennial Verdure. It covers our Meadows; disfuses itself over the Plains; springs up in every Glade of the Forest; and spreads a Side-board in the most sequestred Nook.

Since the Nutriment of Vegetables themfelves, lies hid under the Soil, or floats up and down in the Air: beneath, they plunge their Roots * into the Ground, and disperse every Way their fibrous Suckers, to explore the latent, and attract the proper Nourishment: above, they expand a Multitude of Leaves *, which, like so many open Mouths, catch the <sup>* *</sup> Job most beautifully alludes to these two Sources of vegetable Fertility; My Root was spread out by the Waters, and the Dew lay all Night upon my Branch, Job xxix. 19.

Rains as they fall; imbibe the Dews as they distil; and transmit them, through their nice Orifices, to the Heart of the Plant, or the Lobes of the Fruit.

I have touched upon the infenfible Creation; and pointed out the Care of a condescending Providence, exercised over these lowest Formations of Nature.—The animal World, Theron, falls to your Share. It is yours to descant upon those higher Orders of Existence; and shew Us the Goodness of GOD, extending its indulgent Regards to them and their Interests; as tenderly, as officiously, as a Hen spreadeth her Wings * over her infant Brood.

Ther. The Subject is in good Hands. Part the second be of the same Strain with Part the first, and there will be no Occasion to wish for a new Speaker. As to myself, I have very little Inclination to talk. But I have an Ear open and attentive to your Discourse.

Ap. You put me in mind of the Philosopher, who prefumed to read a Lecture on the Art of War, in the Presence of Hannibal. But his Impertinence was voluntary, mine is constrained.—Since You injoin me this Office, let Us pass, from the vegetable, to the animal World. Here, We shall find no Tribe, no * This seems to be the Image used by the Psalmist, Psal. cxlv. 9. And a most amiable Image, as well as a most picturesque Representation, it is.

Individual neglected. The superior Classes want no Demonstration of their excellent Ac-At the first Glimpse, they complishments. challenge our Approbation; they command our Applause. Even the more ignoble Forms of animated Existence, are most wisely circumstanced, and most liberally accommodated.

They all generate in that particular Season, which is fure to supply them with a Stock of Provision, sufficient both for themselves, and their increasing Families.—The Sheep yean, when there is a Profusion of nutrimental Herbage on the Soil, to fill their Udders, and create Milk for their Lambs.—The Birds lay their Eggs, and hatch their Young, when Myriads of new-born, tender Infects swarm on every So that the Caterer, whether it be the male or female Parent, needs only to alight on the Ground, or make a little Excursion into the Air; and they find a Feast ready drest, and all at free Cost, for the clamant Mouths at home.

Their Love to their Offspring, while they continue in a helpless State, is invincibly strong. Whereas, the very Moment they are able to shift for themselves; when the parental Affection would be attended with much Solicitude, .. and productive of no Advantage; it vanishes, as though it had never been.—The Hen, that marches at the Head of her little Brood, would fly in the Eyes of a Mastiff, or even encounter a Lion, in their Defence. Yet, within a few Weeks, she abandons her Chickens to the wide World, and not so much as knows them any more.

If the GOD of Urael inspired Bezaleel and Aboliab with Wisdom, and Understanding, and Knowledge in all Manner of Workmanship: the GOD of Nature has not been wanting, in his Instructions to the puny Inhabitants of the Bough.—The Skill, with which they erect their Houses, and adjust their Apartments, is inimitable. The Caution, with which they fecrete their Abodes from the searching Eye, or intruding Foot, is admirable. No General, though fruitful in Expedients, could plan a more artful Concealment, No Architect, with his Rule and Line, could build so commodious a Lodgment.—Give the most celebrated Artificer the same Materials, which these weak and unexperienced Creatures use. Let a Jones, or a De Moivre, have only some rude Straws or ugly Sticks; a few Bits of Dirt, or Scraps of Hair; a forry Lock of Wool, or a coarse Sprig of Moss; and what Works, fair with Delicacy, or fit for Service, could they produce?

We extol the Commander, who knows how to take Advantage of the Ground: who can make the Sun and Wind fight for Him, as well as his Troops: and, by every Circumstance, embarrasses the Forces of the Enemy, but expedites the Action, and advances the Success of his own. Does not this Praise belong to our feathery Leaders? Who pitch their Tent, or (if You please) fix their pensile Camp, on the dangerous Branches, that wave aloft in the Air, or dance over the Eddies of the Stream. By which judicious Disposition, the vernal Gales rock their Cradle, and the murmuring Waters lull their Young: while both concur to terrify the Shepherd, and keep the School-Boy at a trembling Distance.—Some hide their little Houshold from View, amidst the Shelter of intangled Furze. Others remove it from Reach, in the Center of a thorny Thicket, And, by one Stratagem or another, they are generally as fecure and unmolested, in their feeble Habitations; as the Foxes, that intrench themselves deep in the Earth; or as the Conies, that retire to the Rock for their * Citadel.

If the Swan has large sweeping Wings, and a copious Stock of Feathers, to spread over her callow Brood; the Wren makes up by Contrivance, what is deficient in her Bulk.—Small as she is, she intends + to bring forth, and will

* Prov. xxx. 26.

+ Aspasio has ventured to say, She intends—And one is almost tempted to think, from the Preparation which the little Creature makes, that She had really sat down, and counted the Cost, and concerted her Scheme. As though She had deliberated with Herself— 44 I shall lay, not a Couple of will be obliged to nurse up, a very numerous Issue.' Therefore, with the correctest Judgment She designs, and with indefatigable Assiduity finishes, a Nest proper for her Purpose. It is a neat Rotund; lengthened into an Oval, bottomed and vaulted with a regular Concave. To preserve it from Rain, it has several Coatings of Moss: to defend it from Cold, it has but one Window, and only a fingle Door: to render it both elegant and comfortable, it has Carpets and Hangings of the finest softest Down.—By the Help of this curious Manfion, our little Lady becomes the Mother of Multitudes. The vivifying Heat of her Body is, during the Time of Incubation, exceedingly augmented. Her House is like an Oven, and greatly affifts in hatching her Young. Which no fooner burst the Shell, than they find themfelves screened from the Annoyance of the Weather; and most agreeably reposed, amidst. the Ornaments of a Palace, and the Warmth of a Bagnio.

Perhaps, We have been accustomed to look upon the Insects, as so many rude Scraps of Creation.

&quot;Eggs, but near a Score. From these I am to produce a "House full of Young. But how shall I have Warmth (unless Art supply, what Nature has denied) sufficient to hatch the Embrios, or cherish the Infants?"—The Truth, I believe, is; That, in all her seeming Foresight, and circumspect Behaviour, She acts, She knows not what. Only She acts, what eternal WISDOM knows to be necessary, and what all-condescending GOODNESS prompts Her to perform.

Creation, and to rank them amongst the Refule of Things. Whereas, if We examine them, without Prejudice, and with a little Attention. they will appear some of the most polished Pieces of divine Workmanship. — Many of them are decked with the richest Finery. Their Eyes are an Assemblage * of Microscopes; whose Mechanism is nice beyond Expression. Their Dress is a Vesture of resplendent Colours; fet with an Arrangement of the most brilliant Gems. Their Wings are the finest Expansions imaginable: Cambric is mere Canvass; and Lawn is coarse as Sackcloth, compared with those inimitable Webs. The Cases, which inclose their Wings, glitter with the most glossy Varnish; are scooped into ornamental Flutings; are studded with radiant Spots; or pinked with elegant Holes. - Not one among them but is equipped with Weapons,

• The common Fly, for instance. Who is surrounded with a Multitude of Dangers, and has neither Strength to resist her Enemies, nor a Place of Retreat to secure Herself. For which Reason, She had need to be very vigilant, and always upon her Guard. Yet her Head is so fixed, as to be incapable of turning, in order to observe what passes, either behind or around her.—Providence therefore, surprisingly wise in its Contrivances, and equally rich in its Gifts, has furnished her, not barely with a Retinue, but with more than a Legion of Eyes. Infomuch, that a fingle Fly is supposed to be Mistress of no less than eight thousand. Every one of which is lined with a distinct optic Nerve.— By means of this costly and amazing Apparatus, the little Creature fees on every Side, with the utmost Ease and with instantaneous Speed; yet without any Motion of the Eye, or any Flection of the Neck.

ons, or endued with Dexterity, that qualify them to seize their Prey, or escape their Foe; to dispatch the Business of their respective Station, and enjoy the Pleasures of their particular Condition.

Now I am in a talking Humour, give me leave to celebrate the Endowments, and affert the Honours of my puny Clients. Yet, not fo much to support their Credit, as to magnify their all-gracious CREATOR.—What? If the Elephant is distinguished by a prodigious Proboscis? His meanest Relations of the reptile Line, are furnished with curious Antennæ; remarkable, if not for their enormous Magnitude, yet for their ready Flexibility, and acute By which they explore their Way, Sensation. even in the darkest Road: they discover and avoid, whatever might defile their neat Apparel, or endanger their tender Lives.

Every one admires that majestic Creature the Horse; his graceful Head, and ample Chest; his arching Neck, and slowing Mane; his cleanly turned Limbs, and finely-adjusted Motions. With extraordinary Agility, He slings Himself over the Ditch; and with a rapid Career, pours Himself through the Plain. With unwearied Application, He carries his Rider from one End of the Country to another; and with undaunted Bravery, rushes into the fiercest Rage, and amidst the thickest Havock of the Battle.

Battle.—Yet, the Grassopper springs with a Bound, altogether as brisk, if not more impetuous.—The Ant, in proportion to its Size, is equally nimble; equally strong; and will climb Precipices, which the most courageous Courser dares not attempt to scale.—If the Snail is slower in her Motions, She has no need to tread back the Ground which She has passed. Because, her House is a Part of her travelling Equipage: and whenever She departs, She is still under her own Roof; whereever She removes, is always at Home.

The Eagle, 'tis true, is privileged with Pinions, that outstrip the Wind. Elevated on which, She looks down on all that foars; and fees flying Clouds, and straining Wings, far below. Her optic Nerve so strong, that it meets and fustains the dazzling Beams of Noon: her wide furveying Glance so keen, that from those towering Heights, it discorns the smallest Fish, which sculks at the Bottom of the River.— Yet, neither is that poor Outcast, the groveling and gloomy Mole, difregarded by divine Providence. Because she is to dig a Cell in the Earth, and dwell, as it were, in a perpetual Dungeon, her Paws serve her for a Pick-axe and Spade. Her Eye, or rather her visual Speck, is funk deep into a Socket, that it may fuffer no Injury from her rugged Situation: it requires but a very scanty Communication of Light, that she may have no Reason to complain of her darkling Abode. I called her subterranean Habitation a Dungeon; and some People, perhaps, may think it a Grave. But I revoke the Expression. It yields her all the Safety of a fortified Castle, and all the Delight of a decorated Grot.

Even the Spider, though abhorred by Mankind, is evidently the Care of all-fustaining Heaven. She is to live upon Plunder; to fupport Herself, by trapanning the idle, insignificant, fauntering Fly. Suitably to fuch an Occupation, she possesses a Bag of glutinous Moi-From this she spins a clammy Thread, and weaves it into a tenacious Net. pert as any practifed Sportsman, she always fpreads it in the most opportune Places. Senfible that her Appearance would create Horror, and deter the Prey from approaching the Snare, when watching for Sport, she retires from Sight. But constantly keeps within Distance, so as to receive the very first Intelligence of what passes in the Toils; and be ready to launch, without a Moment's Delay, upon the struggling Captive. And what is very observable, when Winter chills the World, and no more Infects ramble amidst the Air, foreseing that her Labour would be vain, she discontinues her Work, and abandons her Stand.

I must by no means forget the little Monarchy, that inhabits the Hive. The Bees are to subsist, not as a lawless Banditti, but as a regular Community. 'Tis theirs, to earn a decent Livelihood by honest Industry; not to glut themselves with Carnage, or enrich themfelves by Rapine. For which Reason, they are actuated by an invariable Inclination to Society. They possess the truest Notions of Oeconomy, and have enacted the wifest Laws for Government.—Their indulgent CREA-TOR has made them a Present of all necessary Implements, both for constructing their Combs, and for composing their Honey. They have each a portable Vessel, with which they bring Home their collected Sweets: and they have all the most commodious Storehouses, in which they deposit their delicious Wares.—Though made for Peace, they know how to handle the Sword. They can take up Arms with the utmost Refolution and Intrepidity, when Arms are requisite to guard their Wealth, or repel their Foes.—Without making Botany their Study, they can readily distinguish every Plant, that is most likely to yield the Materials proper for their Business. Without serving an Apprenticeship in the Laboratory, they are complete Practitioners in the Art of Separation and Refinement. They are aware, without borrowing their Information from an Almanack, that the vernal Gleams, and Summer Suns, continue but for a Season. Mindful of this Admonition *, they improve to the utmost every shining Hour; and lay up a Stock of balmy Treasure, sufficient to supply the whole State, till the Blossoms open a-fresh, and their flowery Harvest returns.

Let the Peacock boast, if he pleases, his elegant Topknot and lofty Mien; his Neck adorned with varying Dyes, and his Train bespangled with a Round of Stars. — Yet let him know, that the despised Buttersy, and even the loathed Caterpillar, display an Attire no less sumptuous; and wear Ornaments, altogether as genteel, though not quite so magnificent. — If Beauty fits in State on that lordly Bird, she shines in Miniature on the vulgar Insect. And if the Master of this lower Creation, is ennobled with the Powers of Reason; the meanest Classes of fensitive Existence, are endued with the Feculty of Instinct. Which gives them a Sagacity, that is neither derived from Observation, nor waits for the Finishings of Experience: which, without a Tutor, teaches them all neceffary Skill; and enables them, without a Pattern, to perform every needful Operation. And, what is far more furprising, never misleads them, either into erroneous Principles, or pernicious Practices:

* Venturæque Hyemis memores, Æstate Laborem Experimetur, & in medium quæsita reponunt.

Practices: never fails them, in the nicest or most arduous of their Undertakings.

Can you have Patience to follow me, if I step into a different Element, and just visit the watery World?—Not one among the innumerable Myriads, which swim the boundless Ocean, but is watched over by that exalted EYE, whose Smiles irradiate the Heaven of Heavens: Not one, but is supported by that Almighty HAND, which crowns Angels and Archangels with Glory.—The condescending GOD, has not only created, but beautified them. He has given the most exact Proportion to their Shape, the gayest Colours to their Skin, and a polished Smoothness to their Scales. The Eyes of some are furrounded with a scarlet Circle; the Back of others is diversified with crimson Stains. View them, when they glance along the Stream, or while they are fresh from their native Brine; and the burnished Silver is not more bright, the radiant Rainbow is scarce more glowing, than their vivid, glistering, gloffy Hues.

Yet, notwithstanding the Finery of their Apparel, We are under painful Apprehensions for their Welfare.—How can the poor Creatures live, amidst the suffocating Waters?—As they have neither Hands nor Feet, how can they help themselves, or how escape their Enemies?

Enemies?—We are foon freed from our Fears by observing, that they all possess the beneficial, as well as ornamental Furniture of Fins. These when expanded, like Masts above, and Ballast below, poise their floating Bodies, and keep them steadily upright.—We cannot forbear congratulating them on the flexible Play, and vigorous Activity of their Tails. which they shoot themselves through the Paths of the Sea, more swiftly than Sails and Oars can waft the Royal Yatch.—But we are lost in Wonder, at the exquisite Contrivance, and delicate Formation of their Gills. By which they are accommodated, even in that dense Medium, with the Power of Breathing, and the Benefits of Respiration. A Piece of Mechanism this, indulged to the meanest of the Fry; yet furpassing, infinitely surpassing, in the Fineness of its Structure, and the Felicity of its Operation, whatever is curious in the Works of Art, or commodious in the Palaces of Princes.

Ther. Some Persons, Aspasio, have the Art of giving Dignity to trivial, and Spirit to jejune Topics. I cannot but listen, with a pleased Attention, to your Discourse; though it descends to the lowest Scenes, and meanest Productions of Nature.—To make such philosophical Remarks, was usually my Province; to add the religious Improvement, yours. But Vol. III.

my Thoughts, at present, are wholly taken up with the Consideration of my SAVIOUR's Righteousness. I can hardly turn my Views, or divert my Speech, to any other Subject. All those amiable Appearances of the external Creation, which I was wont to contemplate with Rapture, afford but a languid Entertainment to my Mind.—Till my Interest in this Divine REDEEMER is ascertained, the Spring may bloom; the Summer shine; and Autumn swell with Fruits: but it will be Winter, chearless, gloomy, desolate Winter in my Soul.

Asp. You say, Theron, You attended to my cursory Hints. Then, your own superior Discernment could not but perceive, how every Part of the exterior World is adjusted, in the most excellent and gracious Manner.—Not the coarsest Prece of inactive Matter, but bears the Impress of its MAKER's fashioning Skill.—No a single Creature, however insignificant, but exhibits evident Demonstrations of his providential Care.—His Hand is liberal, profusely liberal, to all that breathes, and all that has a Being.

Let me only ask—and to introduce this Question, with the greater Propriety; to give it a more forcible Energy on our Minds; was the principal Design of the preceding Remarks—Let me ask; Does GOD take Care for Oxen*?

Is He a generous Benefactor to the meanest Animals, to the lowest Reptiles? Are his munificent Regards extended farther still, and vouchsafed even to the most worthless Vegetables? And shall they be with-held from You, my dear Friend, and from me? — Not one among all the numberless Productions, which tread the Ground, or stand rooted to the Soil, wants any Convenience, that is proper for its respective State. And will his heavenly FATHER deny Theron, what is so necessary to his present Comfort, and his final Happiness? Impossible *!

Ther. I wish for, but I can hardly hope to partake of, that spiritual Blessing; which always

* I know not how to forbear transcribing a Paragraph, from one of our periodical Papers; which contains a Proposal for adapting natural Philosophy to the Capacity of Children. Wishing, at the same time, that the ingenious Author would inlarge his Sketch into a Treatise; and execute the Plan, which He has so judiciously projected, and of which He has given Us so delicate a Specimen.

After some Remarks on the Sagacity of Birds, their Industry, and other surprising Properties, He adds; "—Is it of Birds, O LORD, that Thou hast joined together so many Miracles, which they have no Knowledge of? Is it for Men who give no Attention to them? Is it for the Curious, who are satisfied with admiring, without raising their Thoughts to Thee? Or is it not rather visible, that thy Design has been to call Us to thyself, by such a Spectacle? To make Us sensible of thy Providence and insensite Wisdom; and to fill Us with Considence in thy Bounty, who watchest, with so much Care and Tenderness, over Birds, though two of them are sold but for a Farthing?"

T 2

ways included my whole Happiness, and now ingrosses my whole Goncern.

Asp. Not bope to partake of! — What Foundation, what Shadow of Pretence, has this defponding Temper, either in Reason, or in Scripture? Is it not written, in the Book of divine Revelation? Is it not apparent, through the whole Compass of Nature? That the Almighty LORD, "who governeth the World with the Palm of his Hand *," is remote, infinitely remote, from a niggardly Disposition. He not only provideth for the Wants, but even satisfies the Desire of every living Thing +.

Consider those stately Poppies, which are now the principal Ornament of the Garden. They have no Tongue to request the least Favour. Yet the ever-gracious MAKER, clothes them from his own Wardrobe, and decks them with exquisite Beauty.—Observe the young Ravens, that fit carelesly croking on yonder Boughs. Do they cry for Food? It is in hoarfe unmeaning Accents. Yet the all-supporting GOD, overlooks their Ignorance; and supplies their every Need, from his own spontaneous Bounty. -If He attends to the former, though incapable of asking; if he accommodates the latter, though insensible of their Benefactor; can He disregard our pressing Wants? Will He reject our earnest Petitions? Especially, when We feek feek such pure and exalted Gifts, as it is both his Delight and his Honour to bestow.

* Eccles. xviii. 3. † Psal, exlv. 16.

O! my Friend, look abroad into universal Nature, and look away every disquieting Thought.

Ther. Did You inquire what Pretence I have, for this desponding Temper? Alas! I have more than a Pretence. I have a Reason. A Reason too obvious; my great Unworthiness!

Asp. Pray, where was the Worthiness of the stiff-necked Ifraelites? Yet the LORD bare them, and carried them, all the Days of old *.-Where was the Worthiness of Saul the Blasphemer? Yet the bleffed JESUS made Him a chosen Vessel, and set Him as a Signet on his Right-hand.—You deserve nothing at the Hand of GOD our Saviour. Neither did Yoseph's Brethren deserve any Kindness, from the Viceroy of Egypt. Yet he delivered them from Famine, who fold Him to Slavery. settled them in the choicest Territories, who cast Him into the horrible Pit. He shewed Himself a Friend and a Father to those unnatural Relations; who were his actual Betrayers. and his intentional Murderers.—And can You persuade yourself, will You harbour a Suspicion, That CHRIST is less compassionate than Joseph? Shall a frail Mortal out-vie IMMA-NUEL in Beneficence?

 $\Gamma$  3 Ther.

Ther. Is not fome Righteousness of our own indispensibly required, in order to our Participation of the Righteousness of CHRIST?

Asp. Yes, such a Righteousness as the Samaritan Woman, and Zaccheus the Publican Or such as the Philippian Jailor, possessed. and the profligate Corintbians might boast .-Zaccheus was a Man of infamous Character. and Chief among the Extortioners. The Jailor was a barbarous Persecutor, and in Purpose a Self-murderer. Yet our LORD fays of the former, This Day, without injoining any Courfe of previous Preparation, is Salvation come to thine House *. St. Paul directs the latter, without infifting upon any antecedent Righteoufness, to believe on the LORD JESUS CHRIST; and assures the poor alarmed Sinner, that, in fo doing, He should be faved +.

So that nothing is required, in order to our Participation of CHRIST and his Benefits, but a Conviction of our Need, a Sense of their Worth, and a Willingness to receive them in the appointed Way: receive them, as the freest of Gifts, or as Matter of mere Grace. Come, and take freely ‡, is our MASTER'S Language; without staying to get any graceful Qualities, is his Meaning.

Ther. Surely, to come without any Holiness, without any decent Preparative, must be a gross Indignity

* Luke xix. 9. + Acts xvi. 31. ‡ Rev. xxii. 17.

Indignity to the Divine JESUS. Whoever presents a Petition to any earthly Sovereign, will think it absolutely necessary, not to appear in a slovenly Deshabille, much less in filthy Raiment. Does not our LORD Himself, in the Parable of the Wedding-Garment, inculcate this very Point, and caution Us against a presumptuous Approach?

Asp. In the Parable You mention, CHRIST is both the Bridegroom, the Feast, and the Wedding-Garment *. And who are invited to an Union with this Bridegroom? To partake of this Feast? To be arrayed with this Wedding-Garment? — The Messengers are sent, not to the Mansion-houses of the Rich, or the Palaces of the Mighty; but to the High-ways Where Misery mourns; and Poand Hedges. verty pines; and Baseness hides her Head.-To whom is their Message addressed? To the Poor, the Maimed, the Halt, the Blind +. Perfons, who have no amiable or recommending Endowments, but every loathsome and disgustful Property. Yet these (mark the Passage, my dear Friend; mark well the encouraging Circumstance) these are not only not forbidden, but intreated-importuned-and, by all the Arts of Persuasion, by every weighty or winning Motive, compelled to come in. - And after all this.

* Matt. xxii. 11. Hac Vestis est Justitia CHRISTI. Bengel. in Loc. † Luke xiv. 21.

this, surely, it cannot be an Act of Presumption to accept, but must be a Breach of Duty to refuse the Invitation.

Ther. You take no Notice of the Man, who was found without a Wedding-Garment. Which is by far the most alarming Incident, and that which gives me no small Uneasiness.

Asp. And does my Theren take proper Notice of the Divine Declaration? I have prepared my Dinner, says the KING eternal. All Things are ready*. "Whatever is necessary for the Justification, the Holiness, the complete Salvation of Sinners, is provided in the Merit and the Grace of my SON. "Let them come therefore, as to a nuptial Banquet; and freely enjoy my Munisimence; and feast their Souls with the royal Provision."

The Man without a Wedding-Garment, denotes the specious supersicial Professor; who is called by CHRIST's Name, but has never put on CHRIST JESUS by Faith.—Shall I tell You more plainly, whom this Character represents? You yourself, my dear Theron, was some Months ago, in the State of this unhappy Creature. When You trusted in Yourself, and thought highly of your own, thought meanly of your SAVIOUR's Righteousness.

I congratulate my Friend, on his happy Deliverance from so dangerous a Condition. You and I are now like the returning Prodigal. Let us remember, that He had no Recommendation, either of Person, of Dress, or of Circumstance. None but his Nakedness, his Misery, and his Vileness. Yet He was received—received with inexpressible Indulgence; and clothed with that first, that best, that divinest Robe*, the Righteousness of YESUS CHRIST.

Let Us accustom Ourselves to consider this incomparable Robe, under its evangelical Character. It is not a Matter of Bargain, nor the Subject of Sale, but a Deed of Gift. The Gift of Righteousness, says the Apostle. And Gifts, We all know, are not to be purchased, but received.

Ther. Is nothing then, nothing to be done on our Part?—No Heavenly-mindedness to be exercised? No Victory over our Lusts gained? No Fruits of Sanctification produced?

Asp. These legal Apprehensions! How closely they cleave to my Theron's Mind! But, I hope, the Word of GOD, which pierceth to the dividing asunder the Soul and Spirit, will give the severing Blow.—And what says that sacred Word! It describes the Gospel, as a Will or Testament*; and all its glorious Blessings, as Legacies bequeathed by the dying JESUS.

When your old Acquaintance Charicles, left You a handsome Legacy; what did you do, to establish your Title, and make it your own?

Ther. My Title was pre-established, by my Friend's Donation. I had nothing to do, but to claim, to accept, and to possess.

Asp. Do the very same, in the present Case. They who believe, are Heirs, undoubted Heirs of the Righteousness which is by Faith+.—Sure you cannot suppose, that CHRIST's Kindness is less sincere, or that CHRIST's Donations are less valid, than those of an earthly Testator.

Ther. This Illustration hardly reaches the Point. I speak not of doing any thing, by way of Merit, but by way of Qualification.

Afp.

* Heb. ix. 16, 17. This Notion not only runs through the Scriptures, but stands conspicuous even in their Title-page.—What are they called? The old and the new Testament.—What is a Testament? An authentic Deed, in which Estates are transmitted, and Legacies bequeathed. In other Testaments, some earthly Possession; in this, the beavenly Patrimony, even all the Riches of Grace, and the everlasting Inheritance of Glory.—Did we consider the Scriptures in this Light, it would be a most engaging Invitation, to search them with Assiduity and Pleasure. What Child is willing to continue ignorant of a deceased Parent's last Will and Testament? Who does not covet to know, what Honours, Hereditaments, and Wealth devolve to his Enjoyment, by such an interesting and venerable Conveyance?

† Heb. xi. 7.

Asp. I can think of no Qualification, unless it be our extreme Indigence. This, indeed, it will be proper to have: and this, I presume, you are not without. Other Qualification, neither Reason prescribes, nor Scripture requires.

Reason prescribes no other.—The Gifts of the great eternal SOVEREIGN are intended, not to recognize our imaginary Worth, but to aggrandize the View of his own Mercy and Grace. To answer such a Design, the Unworthy and the Sinners are duly qualified; nay, are the only qualified Persons.

Scripture requires no other.—The ever-merciful SAVIOUR fays not; They are unqualified for my Merits. They have no valuable or noble Acquirements. But this is his tender Complaint; They will not come to me, just as they are; with all their Sins about them; with all their Guilt upon them; that they may have Life *.—Pray, take notice of this Text; and you will see that Sanctification, Heavenly-mindedness, and a Victory over our Lusts, are not the Qualities which He requires, but the Blessings which He will confer.

Ther. "The Unworthy and Sinners, the "only qualified!" Of this Expression I cannot but take particular Notice.—Then Judas should stand in the first Rank of qualified Persons; and and the devout Centurion, whose Prayers and Alms had come up as a Memorial before GOD. was thereby unqualified for the Favour of Heaven.

* John v. 40.

Ah. If you observed my Expression, I spoke in the hypothetical Manner. Made a Suppofition, rather than advanced an Assertion. If there be any Qualification, this is the only one. But, strictly speaking, there is no such Thing. The impulsive Cause of all GOD's Goodness exists in himself. He bas Mercy. not because this or that Person is amiable, is meet, or qualified, but because he will have Mercy.—And as for our Need of Mercy and Reconciliation, arising from our Sinfulness. this can no more conflitute a real Qualification for the Bleffings, than an Act of Rebellion can qualify for the first Honours of the State.

But this We must allow, that such Need. fuch Misery, such Sinfulness, illustrate the Freenels, and manifest the Riches of divine Grace. And this We should never forget, that the grand End which GOD proposes, in all his favourable. Difpensations to fallen Man, is, to demonstrate the Sovereignty, and advance the Glory of his Grace. LORD, promising a very extraordinary Deliverance to Israel, says; not for your Sakes, be it known unto You, do I this * fignal Act of Kindness.

* Ezek. xxxvi. 32:

ness. What then is the Inducement? We find it in the following Declaration; I, even I am HE, that blotteth out your Transgressions for MY OWN SAKE*. A Ray of the same undeserved and illustrious Goodness beams forth, in that great evangelical Text; Not by Works of Righteousness, which We have done, whether they be initial or habitual, but according to his Mercy He saved us +.

Ther. This is such a Gift!—To be interested in all the Merits of CHRIST! To have his immaculate Righteousness imputed to my Soul!—So that from henceforth there shall be no Fear of Condemnation, but a comfortable Enjoyment of freest Love, and a delightful Expectation of completest Glory!

Asp. If this rich Donation, surpass your very Thoughts, and fill You with grateful Astonishment; it is so much the better adapted to display, what the Scripture very emphatically Ifai. xliii. 25. 'You' For my own fake. Which teaches Us, that GOD, and nothing in the Creature, is the original, entire, fole Cause of all Grace and every gracious Vouchsafement. It is not only by Him and through Him, but to Him, and for the Honour of his adorable Majesty, that We are pardoned, accepted, saved. To The Praise of the Glory of his Grace, is a proper Motto for all the Dispensations of his Goodness. It has been inscribed by the Hand of Truth and Inspiration, Epo. i. 6. Time and Eternity, instead of erasing the Lines, will stamp them deeper, and open them wider.

+ Tit. iü. 5.

phatically styles, the abundant, the superabundant, the exceeding abundant *Grace of our GOD.—GOD hath Pleasure in the Prosperity of his Servants. He is a boundless Ocean of Love; ever slowing, yet absolutely inexhaustible. See! What an innumerable Variety of Benefits, are transmitted from yonder Sun, to gladden all the Regions of Nature! Yet the Sun is but a Spark; its highest Splendor, no more than a Shade; its uninterrupted and most profuse Communications of Light, a poor diminutive Scantling; compared with the Riches of Divine Benignity.

The Servant in the Parable, who owed ten thousand Talents, craved only some kind Forbearance. Whereas, his generous Lord gave him an Acquittance in full; I forgave Thee all that Debt +.—You wonder, and very deservedly, at such vast Generosity. But, what had been your Admiration, if the noble Master had admitted this obnoxious Slave, to a Share in his Dignity? What, if he had made Him the Heir of his House, and settled his whole Estate upon so mean a Wretch? This perhaps, You would say, exceeds the Bounds of Credibility. Yet GOD Almighty's stupendous Beneficence exceeds all this. He not only spares guilty Creatures, but makes them his Children; makes them Inheritors of his Kingdom; and, as an Introduction to all, or rather as the Crown of all, makes them Partakers * of his SON.

* Υπερδαλλυσα χαρις. 2 Cor. ix. 14.—Υωερεπερισσευσεύ η χαρις. Rom. v. 20.—Υπερεπλεονασευ η χαρις. 2 Tim. i. 14. + Matt. xviii. 32.

Ther. The Gift is inestimable; of more Value than all Worlds. It will render me blessed and happy, Now and for Ever. And may so unworthy a Creature look for a Blessing, so superlatively excellent?

Asp. Unworthy!—My dear Friend, dwell no longer upon that obsolete Topic. The greatest Unworthiness is no Objection in CHRIST's Account, when the Soul is convinced of Sin, and the Heart desirous of a SAVIOUR. And as for Worthiness, this is as much disavowed by the Gospel, as equivocal Generation + is exploded by the Discoveries of our improved Philosophy.—Nay farther, this Notion is diametrically contrary to the Gospel, and totally subversive of the Covenant of Grace.

Ther. In what Respects?

Asp. Because, it would make our own Duty and Obedience the Terms. Whereas, the Terms were CHRIST's Suffering, and CHRIST's * Heb. iii. 14.

† The Ancients imagined, that many Vegetables and Infects were produced by, I know not what, plastic Power in the Sun and other Elements. This is called equivocal Generation. Whereas, the modern Philosophers maintain, that every Individual of this Kind, derives its Being from some Parent-Vegetable or Parent-Animal. This is styled univocal Generation.

CHRIST's Obedience. These are the Hinge on which that great Transaction turns, and on which the Hope of the World hangs.

Ther. Be more particular, Aspasso.

Ap. The first Covenant was made with Adam, for Himself and Us. Breaking it, He lost his original Righteousness, and became subject to Death. Was, at once, a Bankrupt and a Rebel.-Now You cannot suppose, that the Almighty MAJESTY would enter into a fresh Covenant, with an infolvent and attainted Creature. It pleased, therefore, the SECOND PERSON of the adorable TRINITY, to undertake our Cause; to become our Surety: and put Himself in our Stead. With Him the second Covenant was made. He was charged with the Performance of the Conditions: thereby to obtain Pardon and Righteousness, Grace and Glory, for all his People. I bave made a Covenant with my CHOSEN *ONE, is the Language of the MOST HIGH. And the Terms were (You will permit me to repeat the momentous Truth) not your Worthiness or mine, but the Incarnation, the Obedience, the Death of GOD's ever-blessed SON.

* Pfal. lxxix. 3. It is generally allowed, that this Pfalm, in its fublimest Sense, is referable to CHRIST; and, in its full Extent, is referable only unto CHRIST. If so, I think, it would be more fignificant and emphatical, to render בחירי My chesen One. - This will furnish out a very clear and cogent Argument to prove, that the Covenant of Grace was made with our LORD JESUS. Just such an Argument as the Apostle uses, to convince the Galatians, That the Promises of the Covenant were made to the same Divine PER-SON, Gal. iii. 16.—From both which Premises this important Conclusion follows; That Justification and every spiritual Bleffing are the Purchase of CHRIST's Obedience; are lodged in Him as the great Proprietary; are communicated to Sinners, only through the Exercise of Faith, or in a Way of Believing. See Zech. ix. 11.

Ther. Has Man then no Office affigned, no Part to act, in the Covenant of Grace?

Asp. He has: but it is a Part, which my Friend seems very loth to discharge. His Part is to accept the Blessings, fully purchased by the SAVIOUR, and freely offered to the Sinner. His Part is, not to dishonour the REDEEMER's gracious Interposition, and infinitely sufficient Performance, by hankering after any Merit of his own.

Ther. If this be the Nature of the New Covenant, I must confess, I have hithertobeen ignorant of the Gospel.

Asp. And from hence arises your present Distress. From hence your Averseness to receive Comfort.—You are a Philosopher, Theron; and have been accustomed to examine nicely the Proportion of Objects, rather than to weigh them in the Balance of the Sanctuary. Here you find all Proportion swallowed up and lost. This quite overthrows all your Conclusions, drawn from the Fitness of Things. Here, Man is nothing, less than nothing, while Grace is all in all.—And should Vol. III.

we not, however unworthy in Ourselves, magnify the Grace of our GOD?

Ther. Most certainly.

Alb. How can this be done, but by expecting great and superlatively precious Blessings from his Hand?—Alexander, You know, had a famous, but indigent Philosopher, in his Court. Our Adept in Science, was once particularly straitened in his Circumstances. To whom should He apply, but to his Patron, the Conqueror of the World? His Request was no fooner made, than granted. Alexander gives Him a Commission, to receive of his Treafurer whatever He wanted. He immediately demands, in his Sovereign's Name, a hundred Talents *.—The Treasurer, surprised at so large a Demand, refused to comply: but waits upon the King, and represents the Affair. withal, how unreasonable He thought the Petition, and how exorbitant the Sum.—Alexander heard Him with Patience: but, as foon as He had ended his Remonstrance, replied; " Let the Money be instantly paid. I am de-" lighted with this Philosopher's way of think-" ing. He has done me a fingular Honour; " and shewed, by the Largeness of his Re-" quest, what a high Idea He has conceived, " both of my fuperior Wealth, and my royal " Munificence."

Thus,

* About ten thousand Pounds.

Thus, my dear Theron, let us honour, what the inspired Penman styles, The marvelous Loving-kindness of JEHOVAH. From the King, whose Name is the LORD of Hosts, let Us expect—not barely what corresponds with our low Models of Generosity—much less what We suppose proportioned to our fansied Deserts—but what is suitable to the unknown Magnisicence of his Name, and the unbounded Benevolence of his Heart. Then We shall chearfully and assuredly trust, that CHRIST JESUS will be made of GOD to Us Wisdom, and Righteousness, and Sanctification, and Redemption.

Ther. I have not only no Merit, but great Guilt*. Was, by Nature, a Child of Wrath. Have been, by Practice, a Slave of Sin. And, what fuspect, that Theren speaks out of Character.—Conscience, when once alarmed, is a stubborn and unceremonious. Thing. It pays no Deference to Wealth: it never stands in awe of Grandeur: neither can it be soothed by the Refinements of Education, or the Attainments of Learning. And We generally find, that a most unaccountable Propensity to Self-worthiness, strongly possesses the new-awakened Convert. He is perpetually raising Objections, sounded on the Want of personal Merit; notwithstanding all our Remonstrances, to quiet his Fears, and remove his Jealousies. It is truly a hard Task, for a Mind, naturally leavened with legal Pride, to come naked and miserable to CHRIST—to come, divested of every Recommendation but that of extreme Wretchedness; and receive, from the Hand of unmerited Benignity, the free Riches of evangelical Grace.

202 DIALOGUE XV.

what is worse, am still corrupt; have still a carnal Heart.—And has not such a Wretch forseited all Title to the Divine Favour? Nay, does He not deserve the Vengeance of eternal Fire?

Asp. That We all deserve this Misery, is beyond Dispute. I am truly glad, that We are sensible of our Demerit. Here our Recovery begins. Now We are to believe, that the LORD JESUS has satisfied Divine Justice; has paid a glorious Price, on purpose to obtain for fuch ill-deserving, fuch Hell-deserving Creatures, all Pardon, all Holiness, and everfasting Happiness. According to the Import of that charming Scripture, When We were Enemies (and what is there in an Enemy, to bespeak Favour, or deserve Benefits?) We were reconciled to GOD by the Death of his SON*. --- As it is Pride, to entertain high Notions of our own Accomplishments, or to expect eternal Life on the Score of our own Obedience: so it will be an Affront to the Grandeur of CHRIST's Merits, and the Freeness of his Grace, if We suppose our Crimes too heinous to be forgiven, or our Persons too vile to be accepted.

You have great Guilt. But is this a Reafon, why You should be excluded from the Blessings of the Cov eant? Contemplate the State

* Ram. v. 10.

State of that forlorn and wretched Outcast, described in the sixteenth of Ezekiel. An Infant in its Blood: this represents a Sinner, who has nothing to excite Love, but all that may provoke Abhorrence. Yet, what says the HOLY ONE of Israel? When I saw Thee, not washed, and purified, and made meet for my Acceptance, but polluted in thy Blood*; loathfome with Desilement, and laden with Iniquity: then, even then I said unto Thee, Live: I spread my Skirt over Thee; and Thou becamest mine. This is the Manner of his Proceeding, not barely to one Nation, but to all his People; not in one Period of Time only, but through all Generations.

You are fill corrupt: One that is sensible of 'his Corruption, and acknowledges his Sinfulness! Then You are the very Person, for whom the SAVIOUR's Righteousness is intended; to whom it is promised.—You are a Governor of the County-hospital, Theron. You have been industrious in promoting, and are active in supporting, that excellent Institution; where Medicine with her healing Stores, and Religion with her heavenly Hopes, act as joint Hand-* The Words are peculiarly emphatical; not only doubled, but redoubled. To denote, at once, the Strangeness of the Fact, yet the Certainty of the Favour. When I passed by thee, and saw thee polluted in thine own Blood, I said unto thee when thou wast in thy Blood, Live: yea, I said unto thee when thou wast in thy Blood, Live. Ezek. xvi. 6.

Handmaids to Charity. What are the Circumstances, which render any Persons the proper Objects, for an Admission into your Infirmary?

Ther. Their Poverty, and their Distemper. Without Poverty, they would not need; and free from Distemper, they would not prize, the Benefit of our modern Betbesda.

Asp. Apply this to the Case under Consideration. The whole World is in a State of spiritual Disorder. CHRIST is styled, by an inspired Writer, The LORD our Healer*. The Gift of his Righteousness, the Balm of his Blood, and the Insluences of his SPIRIT, are the sovereign Restorative. And sure it cannot be a fansiful Persuasion of our Health, but a feeling Conviction of our Disease, that renders Us proper Objects of his recovering Grace.—He came, not to call the Righteous, the Righteous in their own Eyes, but Sinners +; self-condemned and ruined Sinners, to exercise Repentance, and find Mercy.

Ther. But, if any foolish and refractory Patients have abused our Beneficence; it is a standing unalterable Rule of the House, never to admit them a second Time; however pressing their Exigencies, or however powerful their Recommender. I have, not once only, but through the whole Course of my Life,

* Exod. xv. 26,

Life, abused the marvelous Loving-kindness of the LORD.

Asp. And is not the LORD superior to all his Creatures, in Acts of Pardon, as well as of Power? Yes; as those Heavens are higher, than this prostrate Earth; so much more inlarged and extensive is the divine Clemency than the widest Sphere of human Kindness, shall I say? Rather than the boldest Flights of human Imagination. Your Statutes are inexorable, in Case of one notorious Irregularity committed. But the free Gift of Grace is vouchsafed, notwithstanding many Offences, unto Justification *. It is the Glory of our Almighty RULER, and redounds to the Honour of his crucified SON, to pass over + not a single Transgression only, but a Multitude of Provocations; to be as unequaled in Mercy, as He is supreme in Majesty.

Theron paused.—These Considerations seemed to operate: This Anodyne to take effect.
—Desirous to improve the favourable Juncture, and set Home the needed Consolation,

Aspasso added:

How often did the Inhabitants of Jerusalem, disregard the Warnings, and reject the Counfels, of our blessed LORD! How justly might He have sworn in his Wrath; "They shall mever hear the joyful Sound of my Gospel

* Rom. v. 16. † Prov. xix. 11. U A

" more. The Bleffings, which they have fo " wantonly despised, and so wickedly abused, " shall be irrevocably withdrawn."——Instead of passing such a Sentence, hear the Charge, which, after his Refurrection, He gives to his Apostles: That Repentance and Remission of Sins should be preached, in my Name, to all Nations, BEGINNING AT JERUSALEM * .- At Jerusalem, LORD! Have not the Men of that ungrateful and barbarous City, been deaf to thy tenderest Importunities? Did they not persecute. Thee even unto Death? Are not their Weapons still reeking, as it were, with thy Blood; and their Tongues still shooting out Arrows, even bitter Words? By which they would murder thy Character, as they have already crucified thy Person. Yet these Wretches (and could any be more inhuman? Could any be more unworthy?) are not only not abhorred, but unto them is the Message of Grace, and the Word of Salvation sent. Nay, to shew the unparalleled Freeness of our REDEEMER's Grace, These are first upon the heavenly List. The glad Tidings of Pardon and Life, which are to be published through the World, must begin (amazing Mercy!) MUST BEGIN at Jerusalem,

Ther. Thus much I may venture to profess in my own Behalf: That I long for this Blessing ing—I pray for this Bleffing—But I cannot fee my Title, to this comprehensive and ineftimable Bleffing, clear.

* Luke xxiv. 47.

Ap. I behold it perfectly clear, and afcertained by your own Confession.—Some Days ago, a worthy Clergyman, who lately came to fettle in the Neighbourhood, did Himself the Honour of making one at your Table. ter Dinner, You shewed Him your Library; We took a Walk in your Garden; and made the agreeable Tour of the Fish-Ponds. Then ---with that amiable Frankness of Mien and Accent, which is fo peculiar to my Friend, and exceedingly endears all his Favours-You told Him; "That He was as welcome " to any Book in your Study, as if the whole "Collection was his own. That if, on a " Visit from some Acquaintance of superior " Rank, He should wish to be accommodated " with a more delicate Entertainment than " usual; the Productions of your Waters, " and of your Hot-beds, were intirely at his " Service. And that his Acceptance of your " Offers, without the least Shyness or Reserve, " would be the most pleasing Compliment, " He could pay You on the Occasion."

What fays the great PROPRIETOR of all Good? If any Man, however unworthy his Person, or obnoxious his Character, thirst thirst for the Blessings of my evangelical Kingdom; dom; let Him come unto me, the Fountain of these living Waters, and drink his Fill*.—You Yourself acknowledge, that You long for the sacred Privileges of the Gospel. Your Heart is awakened into habitual and lively Desires after the Salvation of CHRIST. What is this but, in the spiritual Sense, to thirst? To You therefore the Promise is made. To You the Riches of this benign Dispensation belong.

That Clergyman has not the least Suspicion of being disappointed, in case He should send for a Brace of Carp from your Canal, or a fine Melon from your Garden.—Why is He fo confident? Because He has done You any fignal Service? No; but because You have passed your Word, and made the generous Offer.—And why should You harbour the least Doubt, concerning the Divine Veracity? Why should You call in question your Right to these heavenly Treasures? Since it is founded on a Grant, altogether as free, altogether as clear, as your own indulgent Concession; and infinitely more firm, than any human Engagement. Founded on the Fidelity of that fublime BEING, who "remembers his Cove-" nant and Promise to a thousand Genera-" tions."

Ther. It is impossible to confute, yet difficult to believe, what You urge.

Asp. What I urge, is not of the Voice of a few dubious Passages, nicely culled from the Book of GOD, or forcibly wrested by the Interpretation of Man. The whole Tenour of Inspiration runs, with the greatest Perspicuity, and the greatest Uniformity, in this delightful Strain.—Let me, out of a Multitude, produce another Express from the Court of Heaven. Ho! every One that thirsteth, come Ye to the Waters, even He that bath no Money. Come Ye, buy and eat: yea; come, buy Wine and Milk, without Money and without Price * .-Wine and Milk, undoubtedly fignify the Pardon of our Sins, and the Justification of our Persons; the Communications of sanctifying Grace, and the Hope of eternal Glory. These are nourishing and refreshing to the Soul, as Milk the richest of Foods, and as Wine the best of Cordials, are to the Body. You see, are to be obtained, without Money, and without Price: without any Merit of our own; without any Plea deduced from Ourfelves; by poor, undone, perishing Bankrupts. -They are to be enjoyed by every One, that unfeignedly esteems them, and earnestly seeks No Exception is made. No exclusive Clause added. It is not said, Whoever is worthy, but whoever will, let Him take of the Water of Life freely +.—To leave no Room and far more inviolable, than any royal Patent?—Especially, since it has been sealed to Us, in every sacramental Ordinance; and witnessed by every good Motion of the HOLY SPIRIT in our Hearts.

* Ifai. lv. 1. † Rev. xxii. 17.

Ther. My Servant never affronted my Authority. If He had vilified my Character, or infulted my Person, should I then have been inclined to make the same advantageous Settlement?

Asp. Herein appears the infinite Superiority of the divine Bounty. GOD is rich in Mercy, not only to the Obedient and Grateful, but to the Unthankful and Unworthy. To the LORD our GOD, says the Prophet, belong Mercies and Forgivenesses; in Measure superabundant, and in Continuance unwearied. And this, notwith-standing We have offended Him, by our manifold Failures in Duty. Nay, have rebelled * against him, by slagrant Violations of his Law.

In

* Dan. ix. 9. The Original is 'Jan' than which no Expression, in the Hebrew Language, bears a more obnoxious Signification. It denotes the most audacious and the most stagistious Impiety. It denotes that Rebellion, which is as the Sin of Witchcraft; and that Stubbernness, which is as the Iniquity of Idelatry. Yet, all virulent and execrable as it is, it does not suppress the Yearnings of divine Pity, nor superfede the Exercise of divine Forgiveness.—With a Word derived from the same Root, Sanl, when exasperated almost to Madness, upbraids Jonathan. And we know, Persons so extremely incensed, never speak in the softest Terms; never touch the Subject with a Feather, but make their Tongue like a sharp Sword.

In fweet Concert with this prophetical Leffon, fings the transported Pfalmist; Thou, LORD, in thy sacred Humanity, bast ascended upon high:
ascended, from the low Caverns of the Tomb, to the highest Throne in the highest Heavens.—
Thou hast led Captivity captive: hast abolished Death, that universal Tyrant; and subdued those Powers of Darkness, which had inslaved the whole World.—Like a glorious and triumphant Conqueror, Thou hast also received Gists; not merely for thy own Fruition, but to confer on Others, by way of honorary and inriching Largeness.—What are those Gists, Theron?

Ther. The Gifts of the Gospel, I suppose: Pardon of Sin, the Influences of the Holy Spirit, and those other Privileges of Christianity; which constitute the present Happiness of Mankind, and prepare them for future Bliss.

Ap. You rightly judge. — And for whom were these royal, these heavenly Donatives received?

Ther.

May I venture to add? That our Translators seem to mistake the proper Application of the afore-mentioned Passage. They represent Saul's Invective, slying as wide of the Mark, as it is over-charged with Malice.—Son of the perverse rebellious Woman! This might be afferted, without the least Impeachment of Jonathan's personal Loyalty.—Besides, is it not excessively indecent, as well as absolutely unreasonable, to restect upon the Mother, for the Missemeanours of the Son?—Surely, the Clause should be rendered, in persect Consistence with the Genius of the Original; Thou Son of perverse Rebellion; or, more agreeably to the English Idiom, Thou perverse rebellious Wretch! I Sam. xx. 30.

204 DIALOGUE XV.

Ther. Let me recollect—Thou receivedst Gifts—not for fallen Angels, but for Men—And not for thy Friends, but for thy Enemies—yea, for the Rebellious also *.— Merciful Heaven! What a Word is this! And does it come from the GOD of Truth?—Gifts! Divine Gifts! Gifts of unspeakable Value, and eternal Duration! And these to be conferred on Enemies, on the Rebellious! Wretches who were destitute of all gracious Qualifications; who deserved not the least Favour; but had Reason to expect the Frowns of Indignation, and the Sword of Vengeance!

Asp. Thus it is written, in those facred Constitutions; which are far more stedfast and unalterable, than the Law of the Medes and Perfians.— Thus it is spoken, by the Mouth of that almighty BEING; with whom there is no Variableness, nor the least Shadow of Turning.—Let Us not, my dear Friend, by unreasonable Unbelief, frustrate all these Promises, and reject our own Mercies. Let us not, by an evil Heart of Unbelief, make GOD a Lyar; and make Ourselves, of all Creatures, most miserable.

But see! — The Clouds, that hung their agreeable Sables, to damp the Ardour, and abate the Glare of Day, are departing. The Sun Sun has been colouring their fleecy Skirts, and fpreading over the floating Screen a Variety of interchangeable Hues. Now He begins to edge them with Gold, and shine them into Silver. A fure Indication, that (like the glittering, but transitory Toys, they represent) they will soon be swept from the Horizon, and seen no more.—The bright Orb, while We are speaking, bursts the Veil; and, from a voluminous Pomp of parting Clouds, pours a Flood of Splendor over all the Face of Nature.—We shall quickly perceive this open Situation, too hot to consist with Pleasure: and must be obliged to seek for Shelter, in the shady Apartments of the House.

Will you admit me, Theron, into those shady Apartments? May I hope to obtain this Favour?

Ther. Hope to obtain! Aspasio!——I am surprised at your Question. I thought You had known me better: and am sorry, it should be needful to assure You, that my House is as much your own, as it is mine. The more freely You command it, the more highly you will oblige me.

Asp. May I believe You, Theron? Do you speak from your Heart? Or must I conclude, that You plausibly profess, what You have no Intention to perform? — Would you be pleased, if I should obstinately persist in these You. III.

306 DIALOGUE XV.

dishonourable Suspicions, notwithstanding all your friendly Protestations?

Ther. My dear Aspasso, I see your Design. I see, and am ashamed. Ashamed to think, that I should fansy myself more punctual in my Professions, than GOD is true to his Word.

LORD, I believe. Help Thou mine Unbelief!

DIALOGUE XVI.

W R Friends had agreed upon making a Visit to Philenor. They rode through a fine, open, fruitful Country. Which was covered with Crops of ripened Corn; and occupied by feveral Parties of Rustics, gathering in the copious Harvest.

The Rye, white and hoary as it were with Age, waved its bearded Billows, and gave a dry husky Rustle before the Breeze.—The Wheat, laden with Plenty, and beautifully brown, hung the heavy Head; and invited, by its bending Posture, the Reaper's Hand. Platts of Barley, and Acres of Oats, stood white or whitening in the Sun. Upright, and perfectly even, as though the Gardener's Shears had clipped them at the Top, they gratified the Spectator's Eye, but gladdened the Farmer's X 2 Heart.

308 DIALOGUE XVI.

Heart.—Beans, partly clad in native Green, partly transformed and tawny with the parching Ray, were preparing the last Employ for the crooked Weapon.—Some of the Grain lay flat, in regular Rows, on the new-made Stubble. Some was crected, in graceful Shocks, along the briftly Ridges. Some, conveyed homewards on the loaded Waggon, nodded over the groaning Axle.

The Villages seemed to be empty, and all their Inhabitants poured into the Plains. Here were Persons of each Sex, and of every Age.—
The lusty Youths, stooping to their Work, plied the Sickle; or swept, with their Scythes, the falling Ranks.—The buxom Lasses followed, binding the Handfuls into Sheaves, or piling the Swarths into hasty Cocks.—Dispersed up and down were the Children of the Needy, gleaning the scattered Ears, and picking their scanty Harvest.—Nor were the old People absent; but crawling into the Sun, or sitting on a shady Eminence, they beheld the Toils—the pleasing Toils they once sustained.

This is the most joyful Period of the Countryman's Life; the long expected Crown of all his Labours. For this, He broke the stubborn Glebe, and manured the impoverished Soil. For this, He bore the sultry Beams of Summer, and shrunk not from the pinching Blasts of Winter. For this, He toiled away the Year, in a Round of ceaseless but willing Activity. Knowing, that the Husbandman must labour, before He partakes of the Fruits*.—And will not the blessed Hope of everlasting Life; will not the bright Expectation of confummate Bliss, animate Us with an equally chearful Resolution, both to resist the Temptations, and discharge the Duties of our present State?

Short feemed the Way, and quick passed the Time, as they traveled through such Scenes of rural Abundance, and rural Delight.—— Before they were aware, the Horses stopped at Philenor's Seat. Where they found, to their no small Disappointment, that the Master was gone abroad. They alighted however, and took a Walk in the Gardens.

The Gardens, at proper Intervals, and in well-chosen Situations, were interspersed with Pieces of Statuary. At the Turn of a Corner, You are — not shocked with a naked Gladiator, or a beastly Prianus — but agreeably surprised with the Image of Tully. He seems to be <sup>* 2</sup> Tim. ii. 6. Beza thinks, that in settling the Construction of this Verse, the Adverb wpwlov should be connected with the Participle xowiwila. If so, the Translation exhibited above, may bid fair for Acceptance; and, one of the most celebrated Historians, may have the Honour of commenting on the greatest of the Apostles; Næ illi falsi sunt, qui diversissing. Res expectant, Ignaviæ Voluptatem, & Præmia Virtutis. Salust. They are, beyond all Dispute, most egregiously mistaken, who hope to unite those incompatible I hings, the Pleasures of Indolence, and the Rewards of Industry.

210 DIALOGUE XVI.

be just risen from his Seat, and upon the Point of addressing Himself to some important Oration. A reverential Awe appears in his Countenance; like one sensible, that he is to plead before the Rulers of the World. Sedate, at the same time, and collected in Himself; like one conscious of superior Eloquence, and emboldened by the Justice of his Cause. His thoughtful Aspect, and gracefully expanded Arm, speak to the Eye, before the Tongue has uttered a Syllable.

You enter an Alley, lined on either Side with a verdant Fan; and having no Variety of Objects to diversify the intermediate Space, your View is conducted to a magnificent Building at the End. As You walk along, contemplating the masterly Performance in Architecture, an unexpected Opening diverts your Attention; and prefents You with some fine Imitation of virtuous or heroic Life.—Not the Macedonian Madman; nor Sweden's royal Knight-errant; nor Cæsar, infamously renowned for his slaughtered Millions; but the truly gallant Czar. A drawn Sword in his Hand, and a commanding majestic Sternness on his Brow. The Weapon is held in the most menacing Posture; and many a Spectator has been observed to start back, with Apprehensions of Fear. that gloriously severe Attitude, in which the grateful Citizens of Narva beheld Him, and in which all Posterity will admire Him; when He turned upon his own victorious, but ungovernable Troops, and threatened to drench the Dagger in their Hearts, if they did not immediately desist from Rapine * and Slaughter; immediately allow Quarter to their vanquished Foes.

Under a circular Dome, supported by Pillars of the Doric Order, and in a Spot where feveral Walks center, stands—not the Venus a Medicis; corrupting, while it captivates, the World-but a Spartan Mother. Her Habit decent and venerable; somewhat like the June Matrona of the Romans, as She is finely depictured in Mr. Spence's Polymetis. Her Air stately and resolved; expressive of Dignity, yet mingled with Softness. She holds a Shield: is in the very Act of delivering it to her Son; a Youth, fetting out for the Army, and going to hazard his Life, in the Defence of his Country. She is supposed to add that spirited and magnanimous Exhortation, which is engraven on the Protuberance of the Buckler - 7 Tav, 7 ET: Tat -Bring it back, my Son, as thy Trophy; or, be brought back upon it, as thy Bier.

<sup>* &</sup>quot; As foon as the Soldiers were Masters of the Town, " (Narva) they fell to Plunder, and gave themselves up to the most enormous Barbarities. The Czar ran from Place to Place, to put a stop to the Disorder and Massacre. He

&quot; was even obliged to kill with his own Hand several Mus-

&quot; covites, who did not hearken to his Orders."

312 DIALOGUE XVI.

I am particularly pleased, said Theron, with the Contrivance of this last Ornament. It is regulated by one of the most refined Rules of Art; not to lavish away all the Beauty at a single View, but to make a skilful Reserve for some future Occasion.—The Dome and the Columns afford Pleasure, when beheld at a considerable Distance. The fine Figure in the midst displays its Graces, on a nearer Approach. By which means, the Attention is kept awake, and the Entertainment continues new.

But what I principally admire, is the Spirit or Style of the Decorations in general. They put me in mind of a very just Remark, which Mr. Pope has somewhere made. It is, if I remember right, to this Effect.—" A Man not " only shews his Taste, but his Virtue, in the " Choice of his Ornaments. A proper Piece of "History, represented in Painting on a rich " Man's Walls, (or exhibited in Imagery amidst " bis Gardens) is very often a better Lesson, "than any He could teach by his Conversa-"tion. In this Sense, the Stones may be said "to speak, when Men cannot, or will not." - All but the comparative or fatyrical Part of the Observation, I would apply to the Prospect before Us, and its worthy Owner.

Asp. Philenor's Gardens, I think, are more chaste and delicate in their Ornaments, than a certain collegiate Church. In the latter Place,

We might reasonably expect a Purity and a Decorum, if We should not meet with the Symbols of Piety and Incitements to Religion.

—What would a judicious Observer say, if, in one of those solemn and venerable Edifices, He should see a huge brawny Fellow stuck up against the Wall; with his Posteriors half bare; his whole Body more than half naked; and in an Attitude none of the most decent ?——Excuse me, Theron. I confess myself ashamed of the Description. How then can the Spectacle become the House of Divine Worship?

Ther. But perhaps this same brawny Fellow may represent a Heathen Demigod; one of the Idols worshipped by Antiquity; the tutelary Deity of Valour.

Afp.

* Referring to the Monument, lately erected for MAJOR GENERAL FLEMMING, in Westminster-Abbey. Where, under the General's Bust, are placed Hercules and Pallas. Hereules, with his Club and Lyon's Skin, in the Manner related above. Pallas, with a Mirrour and a Serpent at her Side. -As this Church has been the Burial Place of the most illustrious Personages, for many Centuries; as it is the Place, where all our Kings receive their Crowns, and many of them deposit their Ashes; as it is singularly eminent for its Antiquities and Monuments; there is a large Refort both of Natives and Foreigners, to view its grand and awful Curiofities. Whatever, therefore, is erected in an Edifice so distinguished, should not only have an Air of Elegance in the Execution, but a Beauty of Holiness in the Design.—It was thought, by a very fine and a very candid Writer, that mere Impropriety of Taste, in ornamenting one of the Monuments, called for his Censure. Surely then a Violation of Decency, and an Approach to Paganism, call more loudly for public Animadversion, and proper Reformation. See Spect. Vol. I. No 26.

314 DIALOGUE XVI.

Asp. And will this justify the Practice? Does not this add Profaneness to Immodesty? Are We Christians to thank Hercules for the Valour of our Warriors, and make our Acknowledgments to Pallas for the Conduct of our Generals? Shall We Christians behold with Admiration, or recognize as our Benefactors, what the Apostle has stigmatized under the Character of Devils *?

If HE, who overthrew the Tables of the Money-changers, had taken a Walk in these famous Cloysters, I am apt to suspect, He would have paid no very agreeable Compliment to this fine Piece of Statuary. Take these Things bence, would probably have been his Command; and, make not the Precinots of your Temple a Chamber of Pagan Imagery, his Rebuke +.—Neither is it at all unlikely, that the Image itself, notwithstanding its inimitable Workmanship, might have shared the Fate of its Kinsman Dagon; lities of his Hero, if You will not allow Him to make use of these fignificant Emblems?

Ther. But how should the Artist represent the great Atchievements and the shining Qualities

<sup>• 1</sup> Cor. x. 20. + John ii. 16. $ Milton, B. I. 458.

Asp. I question, whether they are so very fignificant. The Mirrour feems to characterize a Fop, rather than a Soldier. It leads Us to think of a foft Narcissus, admiring Himself; rather than a sagacious General, planning the Operations of the Campaign. — Besides; is facred Literature so destitute of proper Emblems, that We must borrow the Decorations of our Churches and the Trophies of our Conquerors, from the Dreams of Superstition or the Delufions of Idolatry? How just and expressive are those emblematical Representations, exhibited in Ezekiel's Vision! Where Activity and Speed are fignified by Hands in Conjunction with Wings; and the deep, the complicated, yet ever harmonious Schemes of Providence, by a Wheel in the Middle of a Wheel. With what Propriety and Force are the noblest Endowments pictured, in the Revelations of St. John, and their grand Machinery! Superior Wisdom and Benevolence of Heart, are described by the Face of a Man; Strength of Mind and Intrepidity of Spirit, by the Visage of a Lion; Calmness of Temper and indefatigable Application, by the Features of an Ox; a penetrating Discernment, and an expeditious Habit of acting, by the Form of a flying Eagle *.

These

216 DIALOGUE XVI.

These Hieroglyphics are graceful, are pertinent, and such as every Spectator will understand. Whereas, the Devices of our new monumental Encomium are, I fear, to the Unlearned hardly intelligible; to the Serious, little better than profane; and to every Beholder, indelicate if not immodest.—Philenor, I imagine, would blush to admit them into his Walks or Avenues. And I am sorry to find them received into the most antient *, most renowned, and most frequented Church in the Kingdom.

Talking in this Manner, they come to a curious Grove, formed on that uncommon Plan, proposed by Mr. Addison, in one of his Spectators.—It consisted wholly of Evergreens. Firs, clad in verdant Silver, pointed their resinous Leaves, and shot aloft their towering Canes. Laurels arrayed in glossy Green, spread their ample Foliage, and threw abroad their rambling Boughs.—Bay-trees were expanded into a Fan, that no Weather could tarnish; or rounded into a Column, that knew not how to moulder. While the Laurustinus ran out into a beautiful Irregularity of Shape; and compacted her reddening Gems, in order to unfold her whitening Bloom. — In one Place lay a Dale, gently finking, and coated with the Chamomile's natural Frieze; which never changes its Colour, never loses its Gloss. Near it, and scooped, You would imagine, from the same Hollow, arose a Mount, foftly swelling, and shagged with Furze; gay with perennial Verdure, and generally decked with golden Blossoms. - Here, You are led through a serpentine Walk, and Hedges of Box; and find, perhaps, a folitary Pyramid or a capacious Urn, each composed of unfading Yew. There You look through a strait Alley, fenced on either Side, and arched over Head, with mantling Philirea; and fee, at the Extremity, an Obelisk sheathed in Ivy, and ornamented with fable Clusters, as with Wreaths of living Sculpture.—Scattered up and down, were feveral Sorts of Holly; fome striped with White; some spotted with Yellow; fome preparing to brighten and beautify the Scene, with Berries of glowing Scarlet.

*Some Antiquarians trace back the Origin of this Church, even to the Reign of Lucius. Which is more than the Space of 1500 Years. Others suppose, that Sebert, King of the East-Saxons, about the Year of our LORD 605, built the strik religious Structure on this Spot. All agree, that it was re-edified and inlarged by Edward the Confessor; and that the present stately and magnificent Fabric, was founded by Henry the third.

The Heads of the Trees, arising one above another, in a gradual Slope, from the diminutive Mazerean to the lofty Cypress; the several Shadings of their green Attire, greatly diversified, and judiciously intermixed; afford, especially in the Winter-season, a most in-livened livened and lovely Prospect.—As the Sun-shine is, by the Frequenters of this Grove, usually more coveted than the Shade; it is so disposed, as to admit, in one Part or another, every Gleam of sine Weather, which exhibitantes the Winter.

Asp. There must be something unspeakably pleasing in a Plantation, which appears lively and fruitful, when all its Neighbours of the Woodland Race, are barren, bleak, or dead. But, how much more chearing and delightful must it be; when decrepit Age, or bodily Infirmities, have impaired the Vigour, and laid waste the Gratifications of our youthful Prime; to find a solid undecaying Pleasure, in the Favour of GOD, and the Hope of Glory!—Now indeed the feathered Tribes refort to the more flowing Umbrage of the Poplar and the Ash. But amidst December's Cold, You shall observe them forfaking the leafless Woods, and flocking to this friendly Receptacle; hopping across the funny Walks, or sheltering themselves, in the wet and stormy Day, under these trusty Boughs. So, the many thoughtless Creatures, that turn their Back upon Religion, amidst the foft and foothing Careffes of Prosperity; will want, extremely want, its fovereign Supports, under the sharp and distressing Assaults of Adversity, Sickness, and Death.—This Collection, it is true, may not equal the Groves of annual annual Verdure, in Floridity of Dress; but it far exceeds them, in the Duration of its Ornaments. Ere long, yonder shewy Branches will be stript of their Holiday Clothes: whereas, these will retain their Honours, when those are all Rags or Nakedness. Thus will it be with every Refuge for our poor, imperfect, sinful Souls; excepting only the Righteousness of our LORD JESUS CHRIST. Every Thing else will fade as a Leaf*. This, my Theron, and this alone is an Evergreen: always free for our Acceptance, and always effectual to save.

Ther. An Evergreen it is. But, like the ruddy and golden Fruits, which hang on the uppermost Boughs of those lofty Trees in the Orchard, it seems to be quite out of my Reach.

Asp. Are You sensible, That You need this immaculate and perfect Righteousness of our SAVIOUR?

Ther. Was Jonah sensible, how much He needed the cooling Shelter of his Gourd; when the Sun smote siercely upon his Temples, and all the Fervours of the siery East were glowing around Him? — So is your Theron sensible, that, without a far better Righteousness than his own, He must inevitably be condemned by the Sentence of the Law, and cannot stand before the high and holy GOD.

Asp. Remember then what our LORD says to fuch Persons; Come unto me, all ye that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you Rest *. -- How gracious is the Invitation! Come unto me, the Giver of every good Gift, and the overflowing Source of Happiness.—How extensive is the Offer! All that are weary under the Servitude of Sin. and beavy laden with the Burden of Guilt. ALL these are called, and You, my Friend, in the Number. They have, not a Ticket, a Bond, or fome inferior Pledge of Assurance; but they have a Promise, from Faithfulness and Truth itself. I will give them Rest, says the Strength of Israel; whose Will is Fate, and his Word the Basis of the Universe.—And if CHRIST will give You Rest; He will wash You in that Blood, which atones; and invest You with that Righteousness, which justifies. Since nothing short of these Mercies, can afford true Satisfaction to the awakened Conscience.

Permit me to ask farther—Do you earnestly defire this Righteousness?

Ther. Will yonder Hirelings, when fatigued with the Heat and Burden of a long, laborious, fultry Day, defire the Shades of the Evening, and the Repose of the Night?—I can truly, on this Occasion, adopt the Words of the Prophet; The Desire of my Soul is to thy Name +, blessed JESUS, and to the Remembrance of thy Righteousness. The very Mention tion of this spotless Righteousness is Music to my Ears. Every fresh, though distant Discovery of it, gleams Pleasure upon my Mind. And that would be a blessed Day, a Day greatly to be distinguished, which should bring it near to my View, and bone to my Soul.

* Matt. xi. 28. † Ifai. xxvi. 8.

Asp. Behold! fays the SAVIOUR of the World, I stand at the Door, and knock. If any Man bear my Voice, and open the Door, I will. come in unto Him, and will sup with Him, and He with me *. - Have you not sometimes, Theron, been overtaken by the dark and tempeftuous Night? When, chilled with Cold, and almost drowned in the Rain, You arrived late at the House of some valued Friend, was You not willing to gain Admittance? Perhaps, You thought every Moment an Hour, till the hospitable Door opened: till you exchanged the difmal Gloom, and the driving Storm, for the chearful Light and the amiable Company within.—The adored IMMANUEL professes Himself equally willing to come unto ' You, who hearken to his Voice, and confent to his Overtures. Equally willing to make his Abode with You; to manifest his Glories in You; and communicate his Merits to You. ----All which will be refreshing to the finful Soul, as the most sumptuous Banquet to the famished Stomach and craving Appetite.

Ther.

322 DIALOGUE XVI.

Ther. I cannot open my Heart.

Alp. CHRIST has the Key of David. openeth, and none can shut; He shutteth, and none can open *. And what fays this all-powerful REDEEMER? Who does what soever pleaseth Him, in Heaven and Earth, in the Sea, and in all deep Places, even in the Depths of the hu-Bleffed are they, that bunger and man Heart. thirst after Righteousness, for they shall be filled +. Since You hunger after the Righteouineis, and thirst for the Spirit, of the crucified holy 7ESUS, He himself has pronounced You bleffed. He himself has engaged, You shall enjoy the Defire of your Soul; and not barely enjoy, but enjoy it abundantly. You shall be filled, filled with the Fruits of the everlasting Gospel; be enriched with your REDEEMER's Obedience. and adorned with his Image.—Then be not, my dear Theron, be not faithless, but believing.

Ther. This I believe, Afpafo—That I am a lost Sinner; under the Curse of the Law, and liable to the Wrath of GOD. That there is no Relief for my Distress, but in CHRIST and his transcendent Merits. HE, and He alone, is able to save me from my Guilt, and all its dismal Train of Miseries. He is a SAVIOUR fully proportioned to my Wants; exactly suited to my several Necessities.—I believe, believe, and am perfuaded, That, if I was interested in the Divine JESUS, my Soul should live.

* Rev. iii. 7. † Matt. v. 6.

Asp. Be persuaded likewise, That there is no clogging Qualification, no Worth to be possible possible, and Duty to be performed, in order to your full Participation of CHRIST and his Riches. Only believe, and they are all your own. CHRIST dwelleth in our Hearts—How? By legal Works, and laborious Prerequisites? No; but by Faith*. He that beslieveth on the SON, bath—a chimerical? far from it; a real and a substantial Happiness; even everlasting Life +.

Ther. Ah! my Aspasio! I cannot believe. I feel my Impotency. My Mind is, as You formerly hinted, like the withered Arm.

Asp. It is no small Advantage, Theron, to be convinced of our Inability in this Respect. This is, if not the Beginning of Faith, the Sign of its Approach; and shews it to be, if not in the Soul, yet at the very Door.—Fear not, my Friend. He that bids You stretch out, will strengthen the withered Arm. He first makes Us sensible of our Weakness, and then fulfils all the good Pleasure of bis Will, and the Work of Faith with Power ‡.

Can You doubt of his Willingness? Then go to Mount Calvary. There listen to the Sounding

* Eph. iii. 17. † Jahn iii. 36. † 2 Theff. i. 11. Y 2

You will please to remember, that Sinners are said to believe, not through their own Ability, but through the Aids of Grace *. And You will permit me to ask, How you became acquainted with my Notion of Faith?

Ther. I am not so inattentive a Reader of your Letters, as to forget your Definition of this momentous Article. Faith, you say, is "A real Persuasion, that the blessed JESUS has shed his Blood for me, and fulfilled all "Righteousness in my Stead: that, through this great Atonement and glorious Obedience, He has purchased even for my sinful "Soul, Reconciliation with GOD, fanctifying Grace, and all spiritual Blessings +."

Asp. I am obliged to you, Theron, for the Honour You do my Letter; and I hope, You will pay an equal Regard to the Determination of our Church. You once apprehended, that my Attachment to the Church of England was unsettled and wavering. Judge now, who has most thoroughly imbibed her Doctrines, and is most invariably tenacious of her true Interests.—In the first Fart of the Homily concerning the Sacrament, We have this Definition of Faith; "It is a Belief, not only "that the Death of CHRIST is available for the Remission of Sins, and Reconciliation with GOD, but also that He made a

" full

* Acts xviii. 27. + See Letter X.

" full and fufficient Sacrifice for Thee, a

" fect Cleansing for thy Sins *. So that thou

" mayst say with the Apostle, That he loved

"Thee, and gave Himself for Thee."

My Notion of Faith, You see, is evidently the Voice of the Establishment; and, I think, it gives Us a clear intelligible Sense, suited to the most common Acceptation of the Word. Such as would naturally arise in the Mind of a Stranger, who, without any Biass on his Judgment, should inquire into the Purport of our Religion, or consider the Language of our Bible.

Ther. How suited to the most common Acceptation of the Word?

Asp. When You sent a Message to your Tenant-who, in his last Sickness, expressed fo much Uneafiness on account of his numerous Family, and embarrafied Circumstances ----affuring Him, that you had cancelled the Bond, and forgiven his Debt. When You told the poor Woman-whose Husband fell from the loaded Waggon, and broke both his Legs—that you would order a Surgeon to attend Him, and would continue his weekly Pay. How did they regard, bow receive your promised Kindness? So let Us credit the gracious Declarations of our GOD; so accept his bene-beneficent Offers; and then we shall answer the Import of the Word—then we shall truly believe.

* Answerable to this, was the Doctrine of the primitive Church; n wisis idiomoveral tov Geov. Chrysoft.

Ther. I named the Object of my Compassion in one of the Instances, and made a personal Application in the other. Neither of which is done in the Scriptures.

A/p. Though We are not particularly named, yet We are very exactly described, by our Family, our Inclination, our Practice.—What fays eternal Wisdom, when she makes a Tender of her inestimable Blessings? To You, O Men, not to fallen Angels, I call; and my Voice is to the Sons of Men *. - What fays the holy Apostle, when He publishes the Counsels of Heaven? This is a faithful Saying, and worthy of all Acceptation, that CHRIST JESUS came into the World to save—the Upright? the Unblameable? Was this the Case, our Hopes would be covered with a Cloud; or rather, totally and finally eclipfed. But see! they are clear as the Light, and conspicuous as the Noon-Day. For He came to save Sinners +. Confonant to all which, is the Declaration of another facred Envoy. He, the PRINCE of Peace, the KING of Saints, the MONARCH of the Universe, suffered forwhom? They, in whose Behalf this matchless Ransom was paid, must have an undeniable Right, to look upon Redemption as their own. And bleffed, for ever bleffed be GOD, it is most peremptorily faid, He suffered for the Un-

* Prov. viii. 4. † 1 Tim. i. 15.

Ther. What! Can that be an Inducement, that an Encouragement to a firm assured Trust, which I should think more likely to overthrow and destroy all our Pretensions?

to fuch Persons.

Asp. This may probably seem strange, but it is true. It is also a most precious and invaluable Truth. Such as I would hold fast, and never, never let go. When I search for my own Endowments, I find nothing that I dare venture to plead. Being, in my best Moments, and amidst my choicest Duties, a Sinner. As this is, at all times, my undoubted Character; I have, at all times, an undoubted Warrant to say, The uncreated WISDOM calleth me: the blessed JESUS came to save * I Pet. iii. 18. For the Transgressors. This seems to be the Meaning of adixwv. It signifies, not those only who have defrauded, or over-reached their Neighbour, but Those also who have transgressed the Commands of GOD; who have violated the Precepts, of either or both the Tables. It is opposed to dixais. Which, We are sure, denotes a Person who has sulfilled, not barely social Duties, but all kind of Righteousness.

220 DIALOGUE XVI.

me: the great MESSIAH suffered Death for me.

Let me illustrate the Point. Romulus, You know, the Founder of the Roman Empire, was a poor Prince: had but a Handful of Subjects, and very scanty Territories. What Expedient could He devise, to inlarge the Boundaries of the one, and augment the Number of the other? He issued a Proclamation, addressed to Outlaws and Criminals; all that were involved in Debt, or obnoxious to Punishment. Promising, that as many as would come and fettle under his Dominion. should be fecured from Profecution, and vefted with , confiderable Privileges.—A Person in these Circumstances, upon hearing the welcome Invitation, hangs down his Head, and with a dejected Air, cries; " I am a Debtor, I am a " Criminal, and therefore unworthy of the " royal Protection." What Answer should be made to fuch a dispirited Complainer? Make the same to Yourself, whenever You are inclined to renew the present Objections .-Remembering, that the infinite and eternal SOVEREIGN, to display the Magnificence of his Majesty, and manifest the Riches of his Goodness, has commissioned his Ambassadors to publish in every Nation under Heaven-" That all unhappy Sinners, who are oppressed " by the Devil and liable to Damnation, may

7

" come to CHRIST, and rely on CHRIST.

" May, in this Manner, obtain Pardon, Righ" teousness, and all the Privileges of Children."

Ther. At this Rate, the vilest Miscreants have Ther. At this Rate, the vilest Miscreants have as clear, nay have the very same Offer of CHRIST and his Salvation, as the highest Saint. And if they accept that Offer, have the same Title to both.

Asp. The highest Saints actually receive CHRIST and his Salvation. The vilest Miscreants are graciously invited to enjoy the Blessings. The former have gathered the Manna, and use it to their unspeakable Comfort. It lies round about the Tents of the latter; and whoever will, may take, may eat, and his Soul shall live.

In respect to the Offer of CHRIST, there is no Difference. All have sinned, and must sue for spiritual Blessings, under the Character of guilty Creatures; must receive them, as the Msues of infinite Mercy.—Isaiab was a Saint of no inferior Rank; yet He breathes the Spirit I am describing, and acts the Part I am vindicating. Turn to that Epitome of the Gospel, his sisty-third Chapter. There You find Him claiming a Share in the greatest of all Privileges, Pardon through the Blood of CHRIST. How does He advance and maintain his Claim? Not in the Capacity of a sanctified, but under the Character of a sinful Perform.

fon. These are his Words, The LORD bath laid on Him, that is, on CHRIST JESUS, the Iniquity of Us all. Of Me and my Brethren in Piety, does He mean? Rather, of me and my Fellow-Transgressors. In the preceding Verse, He explains Himself, and resolves our Question. All We, like Sheep, have gone astray; yet our Miscarriages, our Demerit, our Guilt, the GOD of transcendently rich Grace has charged on his own Son.

Should You ask the highest Saints, On what their Hopes are grounded? This, or fomething to this Effect, would be their Reply-" On " the full Grant and free Exhibition of CHRIST. " recorded in the Word of Truth. There We "find it written, To You is preached the Re-" mission of Sins *. The Promise is to You and " to your Children +. We beseech You in " CHRIST's Stead, be ye reconciled to GOD 1. "-We remember, Theron, though You feem " to have forgotten, the wretched Outcast, " polluted in its Blood, yet accepted by the "HOLY ONE of Ifrael; We remember the " heavenly Gifts, received by the triumphant "REDEEMER, for Enemies and for the Rebel-" lious; nor can We eafily forget the Promise " of Forgiveness which was made, and the "Bleffing of Forgiveness which was vouch-" fafed, even to the Murtherers of the LORD " of Glory ."

The

* Ass xiii. 38. + Ass xi. 39. ‡ 2 Cor. v. 20.

| Alluding to Dialogue XV.

The free Exhibition of CHRIST in the Word of Truth, is their Foundation, and indeed is the only Foundation of Faith. Apostle, after all the Labours of his exemplary Life, can have no better. And a reclaimed Harlot or a penitent Thief, in the first Moments of their Conversion, may have the same.—You remind me of a valuable Person, whom I once numbered among my Acquaintance, and whose Way of Thinking was somewhat fimilar to your own. Will You give me Leave to relate his Case?

Ther. Most gladly. It will be some kind of Consolation to hear, that Others have laboured under the same Difficulties with myself, and been subject to the same Distresses. am informed of their Deliverance from these Distresses, it will be like shewing me an opened Door, for effecting my own Escape. am likewise acquainted with the Manner of their Deliverance, this will furnish me with a Clue to guide my Steps, and with a Pattern to direct my Efforts.

Asp. This Person was roused from a Habit of Indolence and Supineness, into a serious Concern for his eternal Welfare. Convinced of his depraved Nature and aggravated Guilt, He had Recourse to the Scriptures, and to frequent Prayer. He attended the Ordinances of Christianity, and sought earnestly for an assured

assured Interest in CHRIST. But found no steadfast Faith, and tasted very little Comfort. At length, He applied to an eminent Divine. and laid open the State of his Heart. Short, but weighty, was the Answer he received. " perceive, Sir, the Cause of all your Distress. "You do not, you will not, come to CHRIST " as a Sinner. This Mistake stands between " your Soul and the Joy of Religion. This " detains you in the Gall of Bitterness; and " take heed, O! take heed, lest it consign you " over to the Bond of Iniquity."—This Admonition never departed from the Gentleman's Mind; and it became a happy Means of removing the Obstructions to his Peace. Remember this little History, Theron; and may it prove as efficacious for your Good, as it is pertinent to your Circumstances!

But we digress from our grand Subject. Since you disapprove my Account of Faith, I must defire you to favour me with a Description of your own. For, as you rightly observe, this is a very momentous Article. It is the Channel of Conveyance for all spiritual Good; therefore should be made and kept as clear as possible. It is the main Arch in the Structure of practical Godliness; therefore should be raised and turned with the utmost Care.

Ther. To trust in CHRIST as an all-sufficient SAVIOUR, and rely on Him for whole Salvation, is not this real Faith?

Asp. If you trust in the All-Sufficiency of his Will, as well as of his Power, You practife the very Thing I recommend. This is what the Prophet teaches. Let the convinced Sinner, and the doubting Soul, trust in the Name of the LORD, and stay upon his GOD*. Let Him not only reverence CHRIST, as the incarnate GOD, and therefore mighty to save; but also receive CHRIST as his GOD, and therefore willing to save.

Ther. Palamen's Account is this—Faith, He fays, is a firm Persuasion, that JESUS CHRIST has shed his Blood, and sulfilled all Righte-ousness; has sustained the Punishment due to Sin, and obtained full Reconciliation with GOD. That all this Grace, and each of these Benefits, are free, perfectly free for You, for me, for others. That, in consequence of this Persuasion, the Sinner having fled to CHRIST, and trusted in CHRIST, is sometimes enabled to look upon all this as his own.

Afp. I have the highest Regard for Palæmon's Judgment; and I cannot but think, my Opinion is, in some measure, confirmed even by his.—The Act of flying to CHRIST, implies a Persuasion, that He suffered in my Stead, and that his Death is my Saseguard. Would the Manslayer of old have betaken Himself to ing of his Bowels, and of his Mercies towards You*. Has not every Drop of Blood a Tongue? Cannot You read a Language in each streaming Wound, and hear a Voice in every dying Pang?—Do they not all speak his infinite Love even to wretched Sinners? Do they not all address You with that tender Remonstrance, O Thou of little Faith, wherefore dost thou doubt +?—Nay; do they not all declare, with an Energy superior to the Force of Words, That He will deny You no Manner of Thing that is good?

324 DIALOGUE XVI.

Who gave his Blood, what Gift will he with-hold!

Ther. I am ashamed to recollect, what mistaken Notions I once entertained, concerning the Easiness of Believing. As though it were to be performed, like the Act of rising from our Seat, or stepping into a Coach, by our own Strength, and at our own Time. What a Stranger was I then to the Hardness of my Heart, and my Bondage under Sin!

Asp. Since you are sensible of your Impotence, beware of the contrary Extreme. Because You cannot, by your own Strength, exercise Faith, let not this occasion a tame Resignation of Yourself to Insidelity. You must endeavour, diligently endeavour, to believe; and wait, and pray, for the Divine SPIRIT.

Though

# Ifai. lxiii. 15. + Matt. xiv. 31.

Though it is his Office to testify of CHRIST, and bring near the REDEEMER's Righteoufness*: Yet his Influences are not to supersede, but to encourage our own Efforts.—Work out your own Salvation with Fear and Trembling; here is our Duty. For it is GOD that worketh in you both to will and to do +; here is our Encouragement. And O! what a glorious Encouragement, to have the Arm of Omnipotence stretched out, for our Support and our Succour!

You was once, Theron, a zealous Advocate for good Works. Now You seem to have abandoned your Clients. Remember, my dear Friend, what our LORD JESUS CHRIST says; This is the Work of GOD, of all Works most acceptable and most honourable to the Divine Majesty, that You believe on Him, whom He bath sent \( \frac{1}{2} \).

Ther. The true Belief, according to your Notion, Aspaso, is so refined and exalted a Virtue, that I very much question, whether I shall ever be able to attain it.

Asp. If you are unable to attain it, is the LORD unable to give it? Cur Sufficiency for this and every good Work, is not in Ourselves, but in GOD. And to Him Difficulties are easy. Before Him Mountains are a Plain.—

You

# Isai, xl. 13. + Phil. ii. 12, 13. + John vi. 21.
Y 3

if I may so speak, only with one of their Fingers, others with both their Arms. Yet Each receiving Him really, each is saved by Him eternally.—There are, in the Houshold of GOD, Babes, Young Men, and Fathers: There is, in the Subject We are considering, Faith, Affurance of Faith, and full Assurance of Faith. To have the first, is necessary; to have the second, is delightful; to possess the last, is Heaven begun in the Heart.

Ther. I am glad to find, that true Faith may confift with some Remainders of Doubt. That a Person may be subject to the one, without being deprived of the other. But I interrupt your Discourse.

Asp. Faith is styled, A looking unto JESUS*. But if we do not look unto JESUS as our own, as the Propitiation for our Sins, what Comfort, or what Benefit can We derive from the Sight?—A Receiving of CHRIST+. But can I have any Pretence to receive Him, or take possession of his Merits. unless I am convinced, that they are intended for me? This is what neither the Dictates of Conscience will allow, nor the Laws of Reason authorize.—A Resting upon CHRIST‡. But how can We rest on a Surety, if He has not interposed in our Behalf? Or how conside in a Payment, which We believe to be made for Others, not for Ourselves?

Let

Heb. xii. 2. + John i. 12.
 † Psel, xxxvii. 7.

Let Us change our Situation, and view the Point in another Light. Consider the blessed and glorious Object of our Faith. CHRIST is represented by the Similitude of Bread, beavenly Bread, for the hungry Soul. Faith is characterized by eating the Food *. this be done without a personal Application? -CHRIST is held forth under the Image of living Waters +, ever running, and always free for the thirsty Appetite. But let them run ever so copiously, let them be presented ever fo freely, all this will neither quench the Thirst, nor refresh the Spirits, unless they are drank. To do this is the Business of Faith.—CHRIST is described as a Garment 1, to accommodate and beautify destitute and defiled Creatures. Faith is expressed by wearing this commodious Garment, and being adorned with this beautiful Clothing. And can any Idea, or any Expression, more strongly denote an actual Appropriation?

Ther. It is evident, that many holy People in former Ages, were not possessed of Assurance. It is no less certain, that many excellent Persons in our own Times, fall short of this exalted Pitch. What is the Language of David? It is all Despondency. I am cast out of the Sight of thine Eyes. To the same melancholy Tune is the Harp of Asaph strung; Is bis Mercy clean gone for ever? Doth bis Promife fail for evermore? The same jealous and distrustful Air breathes in the Complaint of the Church; The LORD bath for saken me, and my LORD bath forgotten me*.—Why then should Aspasio set up a Rule, stricter and higher, than those eminent Saints attained?

* John vi. 58. + John iv. 10. ‡ Ija. lxi. 10. Z 2

Asp. My dear Friend, I set it not up as a strict Rule, but I set it forth as a distinguished Bleffing. This Bleffing was certainly enjoyed by the holy Men of old; but, like every other Species of Felicity in this World, it was enjoyed after an imperfect Manner.—They had an affured Persuasion of GOD's present Favour, and of their own final Happiness. Nevertheless, this Assurance, like all their other Graces, was liable to the Assaults of outward Temptation, and inward Corruption. Which might, for a while, impair the Vigour of their Faith, though not destroy its Being. As, under a transient Swoon, the Spirits fail, the Colour departs, but the vital Principle subfifts.

You may farther observe, concerning those pious Persons, that, when they cease to exercise this chearful Faith, they confess and lament the Failure; I said, This is my Insirmity +. They chide themselves for it; Why art Thou cast down, O my Soul? They encourage themselves felves against it; Hope in GOD*: it is thy Privilege, and thy Duty.—Nay, the Church, even under her darkest Apprehensions, still speaks the Sentiment, still retains the Grace, for which I am pleading. My LORD, uttered by her Lips, argues an applicatory Faith in her Heart.—So copious and pregnant are the Evidences of this precious Doctrine! It is confirmed by that very Passage, which was produced for its Confutation.

• Ifai. xlix. 14. † Pfal. lxxvii. 10.

Ther. If this be the Sentiment of the Church in general, is it also the Temper of her particular Members? Were they animated by this firm and lively Faith?

Asp. Hear the Declaration of the Psalmist; Bless the LORD, O my Soul; and all that is within me, bless his boly Name. What is the Cause of this holy Exultation, and devout Praise? Is it, because GOD possibly may, because He probably will? No; but because He actually does forgive: Who forgiveth all thine Iniquities +.—Take Notice of Job's Belief, and Job's Support, amidst all his unexampled Sufferings: I know, that my REDEEMER liveth; not only that there is a Redeemer, but that He is, together with all his saving Benefits, mine. Which, being a Truth so sweet and delightful, is expressed a second Time; whom I shall see for myself, to my own Advantage, and for my own Comfort: see Him exerting his Almighty Power and infinite Mercy, to rescue my Body from the Grave, and to deliver my Soul from Hell.—What was David's Security against the malicious Attempts of his Enemies, both temporal and spiritual? The LORD is my Light and my Salvation, whom then shall I fear? The LORD is the Strength of my Life, of whom then shall I be afraid*? He says not, I wish, I pray, for the divine Favour and the divine Succour; but I am persuaded, they both are mine: my inestimable Portion, and my inviolable Safeguard.

* Pfal. xlii. 5. + Pfal. ciii. 3. + Job xix. 25.

Ther. Is this the Language of Believers under the new Testament Dispensation?

Asp. Their Faith, You may depend upon it, could not be weaker or lower, whose Light was much stronger, and whose Advantages were much higher.—You hear St. Thomas making a Profession, which intirely excludes Doubting; My LORD, and my GOD +. St. Paul answers in the same heroic Strain; I know Whom I have believed, I am persuaded ‡. With both which St. John is exactly consonant; JESUS CHRIST, who bath loved Us, and washed Us from our Sins in his own Blood.

We will suppose Palemon's Faith, to be sound and genuine; yet, compared with this, it is certainly of the enfeebled and infantile Kind.

Whereas,

• Pfal. xxvii. 1. + John xx. 28. ‡ 2 Tim. i. 12.

′

Whereas, I would have my Theron possess the manly, the generous, the triumphant Faith. Not such as hangs in Suspence, like a hovering Meteor *; but such as abides fixed and stable, like the Stars of Heaven. Which, if they are obscured for a little Moment, by some passing Cloud, are sure to surmount the Obstruction, and will shine forth again with undiminished Lustre.

Ther. Was not this a Privilege peculiar to the Apostles?

Asp. By no Means. All Believers are Brethren, and have like precious Faith +. CHRIST died for Us, says the Apostle: not barely for me his Ambassador, but for You who are his Followers, and to whom I address this Epistle.—Why should I multiply Proofs? Since the beloved Disciple declares; These Things have I written unto You that believe on the Name of the SON of GOD, that Ye may know that Ye have eternal Life ‡.

Ther. True, Aspasso. This coincides with my Apprehensions, and corroborates my Cause. The Scriptures are written—first, that We may believe, and be intitled to eternal Life—next, that We may have the Knowledge of our Belief.

This Situation of Mind is most appositely described by St. Luke, Mn μετεωριζεσθε Be not like the Meteor, which is neither fixed in the Sky, nor fallen to the Earth: but pendulous and fluctuating between them both. Chap. xii. 29.

<sup>† 2</sup> Pet. i. 1. ‡ 1 John v. 13.

344 DIALOGUE XVI.

Belief, and a Consciousness of our Title. The inspired Divine supposes his Correspondents to possess the former, yet not to have attained the latter.

Asp. I query, whether He makes such a Supposition. He seems to write, not with a View of leading them to either, but of consirming them in both.—He intimates, that the Privilege and the Comfort should go together. And why should We study to separate them? Will this turn to our Advantage? Must it not issue in our Los?—Besides; according to your own Interpretation, whoever falls short of this chearing Knowledge, falls short of one great End, for which the Scriptures were written. He receives not his full Reward. He only gleans, where He might reap.

If I am not mistaken, this enters into the very Essence of the Gospel. Is the Honey in the evangelical Hive. What says the Apostle of the Gentiles? I preached unto You the Gospel*. And what is the Substance of this evangelical Dispensation? That CHRIST died for our Sins +.—That so exalted a Person, as the SON of GOD, and LORD of Glory, should die, is wonderful—That He should die for Sins, the most abominable Objects, and for Sinners, the most detestable Creatures, is abundantly more wonderful—That He should die, not for Sins Sins in general, but for our Sins in particular, this is inexpressibly wonderful, and at the same time infinitely comfortable. And indeed till this is preached, the Doctrine is not Gospel: till this is believed, the Conviction is not Faith. At least, not such Faith, as I wish for my Theron.

Ther. Will not this discourage Some, and offend Others, who are not arrived at such a firm Persuasion?

Ab. I would not offend the meanest, nor discourage the weakest of my REDEEMER's Servants.—As for Offence; that cannot be given, and ought not to be taken, when all We advance, is strictly conformable to the unerring Rule of Truth.—With regard to Discouragement; this furely cannot ensue, from informing the Sinner, that He has a Right to apply CHRIST, and all CHRIST's Merits to Himfelf. In this Case, to doubt is to be discouraged. All Suspence is uneasy. But when it relates to our spiritual Interests and our immortal State, I think, it must be little less than insupportably afflictive.—This can never be the Will of our most gracious CREATOR and merciful REDEEMER.—This is absolutely inconfistent with that Peace and Joy, which are the Birth-right of the Believer.—There are also several Duties which can hardly be performed, feveral Graces which can scarcely be 346 DIALOGUE XVI. exercised, so long as this Spirit of Dissidence prevails.

Ther. Name them, Aspasso.

Asp. I am afraid, lest I should seem to arrogate the Office of a Teacher; which neither becomes my Character, nor is agreeable to my Temper.

Ther. Pray, my dear Friend, let Us wave Ceremony, and have nothing to do with Compliments. My Soul is in Jeopardy. My prefent Comfort, and my everlasting Happiness, And shall We suffer any little are at stake. Punctilios to overbear such weighty Considerations?—Suppose, You are a Teacher; I have great Need, and am very defirous, to become your Scholar. For I freely confess, that, knowing as I may feem in fome other Instances, I am very ignorant in the great Peculiarities of the Gospel. Nay, though I have read the Scriptures in a critical View, I have been an utter Stranger to their spiritual Meaning. Here, I am uninstructed as a Babe; here therefore, I ought to be teachable as a Babe. Yes; in this Respect I would become as a little Child*, that I may enter into the Knowledge, and possels the Privileges of the Kingdom of Heaven.

Asp. Your Answer, Theron, shall be a Law. —What think You of Delight in GOD? This is a Christian Grace. But bow can two walk together, except they be agreed? We never covet an Intimacy with the Person, who declares Himself our Enemy. Nay; if We do but fuspect, that He bears Us a secret Ill-will, We shall be jealous of trusting Him, and averse to approach him. This was the Case of our first Parents, immediately after the Fall. of drawing near to their CREATOR, with Pleasure and Gratitude; they fled from Him, with Anxiety and Terror. And why? Because they were under the alarming Apprehensions of his Displeasure.—Whereas, let Us once believe, what the Apostle affirms; When We were Enemies, We were reconciled to GOD by the Death of his SON*. Let Us cordially credit, what the Prophet repeatedly declares; Therefore will the LORD wait, that He may be gracious unto You; and therefore will He be exalted, that He may have Mercy upon You +. Then We shall seek his Face with Alacrity. Our Affections will be on the Wing to falute their Almighty BENEFACTOR. We shall joy in GOD through our LORD JESUS CHRIST ‡.

toge-

Prayer is one of the Duties, I would specify. I wish my dear Theron the Spirit of Grace and Supplication. This will be better, incomparably better and more advantageous, than a Key to hidden Treasures. But how can you pray with humble Boldness, or with lively Hope,

* Rom. v. 10. + Ifai, xxx. 18. ‡ Rom. v. 11.

Hope, unless You believe? Believe, that CHRIST has expiated your Guilt, and is your Intercessor with the FATHER. Then, and then only, can You bave, what the Apostle calls, Boldness and Access with Confidence *. Mark these vigorous Expressions; and at your Leifure consider, whether they countenance the timid and misgiving Temper. At present obferve, how yonder Lark foars in the Sky, as if She would carry her Song to the very Gates of Heaven. An Image this, of believing Prayer. Should a Fowler shoot her through the Wing, how would she fall, impotent and fluttering, to the Ground! An Emblem that, of distrusting Prayer.

Once again; A true Christian, instead of dreading, loves the Day of CHRIST's final and glorious Appearing +. St. Peter tells Us, He looks for it, with pleasing Expectations, as Sisera's Mother for the triumphant Return of her Son. He bastens to it in ardent Desires, as the * Eph. iii. 12. Προσαγωγη, Access with a chearing and graceful Assurance; such as those Petitioners enjoy, who are introduced to the royal Presence by some distinguished Favourite.—Παρρησια, A Boldness or unrestrained Liberty of Speech; such as Children use, when they present their Addresses, and make known their Requests, to an indulgent Father.—Εν ωεποιθησει, With a well-grounded and steady Confidence, that We shall obtain both a favourable Acceptance, and a gracious Audience.—And all this, through the Faith of CHRIST; by the Worthiness of his Person, by the Merit of his Blood, and the Prevalence of his Intercession.

† 2 Tim. iv. 8.

the enamoured Bridegroom to the wished for Hour of his Nuptials *. Which, I think, can neither be a rational nor a practicable Thing, unless We have some chearing and established Hope +, that, when He shall appear, We shall be like Him, and see Him as He is.

Ther. If this is the Case, what can be the Reason, why so many People are totally destitute of all Assurance? Have no Notion of it, and never aspire after it? Nay, would be much surprised, perhaps highly disgusted, at the very Mention of such a Doctrine?

Asp. If People never aspire after it, I very much question, whether they are truly awakened, or really in earnest. They are like the Men of Ephraim, whom the Prophet styles a Cake not turned; neither Bread, nor yet Dough. Or, as our LORD explains the Proverb, in his Charge against the Church of Laodicea, They are neither hot nor cold; but, content with the Form, are unconcerned about the Power of Godliness—Was I to declare myself more plainly upon this Inquiry, it should be in the calm and moderate Words of a judicious Divine; "I do not affirm that, without a full "Affur-

<sup>* 2</sup> Pet. iii. 12.

+ John iii. 2. The Apostle's Expression, which comprehends both Himself and his Fellow-christians, is ordaner, We know. This, in the very lowest Acceptation, must imply what Aspasio calls an established Hope.

‡ Hof. vii. 8. | Rev. iii. 15.

250 DIALOGUE XVI.

" Assurance, there is no Faith. But this I " maintain, that, where-ever the latter exists, " there will be a sincere Pursuit of the former."

Among the Reasons, why so few Persons attain this eminent Bleffing, We may reckon the following.—They understand not the perfect Freeness of Grace, nor the immense Merits of CHRIST.—They never confider the unspeakable Value of an assured Faith; neither are they aware, that it is intended for the Enjoyment of Sinners.—Either they seek it not at all; or else they seek it, where it is not to be found; from some Works of Righteousness in themselves, rather than from the gracious Promise of GOD in his Word. Which is altogether as ill-judged, and as fure to iffue in Disappointment, as if a Person should look for Ice amidst the torrid Zone, or expect to find fpicy Islands under the northern Pole.

But whether People consider it or no, the Value of an assured Faith is indeed unspeakable. When this is wrought in the Heart, Peace will stand firm, and Assistions drop their Sting. Prayer will return laden with Treasures, and Death will approach stript of its Terrors.—When this takes place in the Soul, all the sweet Passages of Scripture, all the tender Love of CHRIST, all the precious Promises of the Gospel, will appear with new Charms.

Charms. You will then, as You peruse each sacred Page, taste that the LORD is gracious*. You will reap a Benefit, and enjoy a Delight, as much superior to those of the doubting Reader, as the Pleasure of eating this delicious Peach is superior to the mere Description of its agreeable Relish.

Bear with me a Moment longer, Theron. For You can hardly imagine, what an Improvement and Exaltation this will give, to every Truth You contemplate, and every Objest You behold.—When You contemplate the renowned and aftonishing Events, recorded in the History of Nations, how highly delightful must it be to say; "All these passed under " the Superintendency of that Hand, which " was pierced with Nails, and fastened to the " Cross for Me."—When You behold the Magnificence of Creation, and the Richness of its Furniture; the Grandeur of Nature, and the Variety of her Works; what a heightened Pleasure must they impart, if your Thoughts make Answer to your Eyes; " All these were " brought into Existence by that adorable PER-" SON, who fustained my Guilt, and wrought " out my justifying Righteousness."

Ther. If We feel an Aversion to Sin, and prize the blessed JESUS above all Things; if the prevailing Bias of our Affections be to the divine REDEEMER, and the habitual Breathing of our Souls after a Conformity to his Image; may We not suppose Ourselves possessed of the Truth and Reality, though We have not the Considence and Rejoicing of Faith?—I say We; because I apprehend, this is not my peculiar Case, but common to myself and many Others. I ask, therefore, in their Name and in my own, May We not suppose our Condition safe, though We dare not presume to use the Language of the Spouse, My Beloved is Mine, and I am bis?

Asp. For You and your Associates to use fuch Language, is neither more nor less than to declare; " I am perfuaded, that CHRIST " is faithful: that He fays what He thinks, " and will do what He fays." And is there any Prefumption, or any Indecency Here? Surely the Presumption, at least the Indecency lies, in questioning his Fidelity, or suspecting his Veracity.—You ask, Whether such a State is fafe, and fuch a Faith real? I would answer, Why should not such a State be bappy, as well as fafe? And fuch a Faith be assured, as well as real? Why should You, or Any One, plead the Cause of Unbelief, and veil it with the specious Pretext of Humility? Let these Persons know, whatever their Names or their Circumstances are, that they have as good a Right to adopt the Words You mention, as Philenor has to call these Gardens his own.—Yet they will do well to remember, that these Qualifications, however amiable, are by no means the Ground of their Right. They are to advance their Claim, and hold fast the Blessing, not as Men ornamented with fine Endowments, but as poor, indigent, guilty Sinners. For such the SAVIOUR is provided; to such his Benefits are proposed; and on such his Grace will be magnified.

But see, Theron! Yonder black and low-hung Cloud points this Way. It seems big with a Shower; it marches on apace; and will soon be over our Heads. We must instantly fly to Shelter.

Ther. It is well We have this Summer-house for our Shelter. The thickest Boughs would be insufficient to screen Us. I think, I never saw a more impetuous Burst of Rain. A Shower! No, 'tis a descending Deluge. The large, ropy, reeking Drops, come down like a Torrent *. How the Roof resounds, and * Come down like a Torrent.—This is the Import of that stronge picturesque Word 1771 Pfal. lxxvii. 17. In this Manner, The Clouds poured out Water; the Air thundered; and thine Arrows went abroad.—Mr. Addison, if I remember right, admires the Psalmist's Description of a Storm at Sea; because, it dwells only upon the grand and most striking Circumstances; without descending, like Virgil's enervated. Representation, to such little Particulars, as the Cries of Men, and the Noise of Oars. Clamorque Virûm, Stridorque Rudentum.—This Description of a Tempest is, I think, equally admirable on the same Account. The three greatest and Vol. III.

the Channels begin to roar! --- Surprising! What a dreadful Flash was there! A Sheet of fulphureous Fire, launched from the difmal Gloom, and wrapping the whole Skies in a Blaze!—Not a Moment's Interval, between the Lightning's Rage, and the Thunder's Roar. How fudden and vast the Explosion! What a deep, prolonged, tremendous Peal enfues! It feems as if the Poles of Earth, and the Pillars of Nature cracked; or as though the Arch of Heaven was dashed to Pieces, and mingling with the Ruins of the World.

See, my dear Aspasio! See the direful Havock; the horrid Effects of this elementary Tumult. — Yonder Oak, which reared its towering Head aloft, and spread wide its graceful Branches, is, in the Twinkling of an Eye, turned into a naked Trunk. There it stands. finged and tore; stripped of its verdant Honours, most terrible Peculiarities are selected; and expressed with all the Concileness, yet with all the Vigour, that Language can unite.

I have not met with any Commentator, that enters into the Spirit of the next Verse. And in our Liturgy-Translation, its Majesty finks into Meanness, its Propriety degenerates into Tautology. Whereas, it is by no means a vain Repetition, but most fignificantly displays the Effects of what was described, in the foregoing Lines. The Voice of thy Thunder was in the Heaven; it not only refounded, but refounded from Pole to Pole, and filled the vaft Circumference of the Skies. The Lightnings lightened the World; they not only shone, but shone far and near, and illuminated the whole World with their Blaze. The Earth trembled to its Center, and its Inhabitants shook with Horror nours *, and furrounded with its own shattered Fragments. How fearful is the Artillery of Heaven *!

Aff. And why—why did not the Blow fall on this guilty Breast? Why was not the stery Bolt, which slew so near, commissioned to pierce our Hearts?—If our heavenly FATHER has been so tenderly careful of these Bodies, will He not be much more gracious to our immortal Souls? Will he not clothe them with that immaculate Robe, which is the only Security from the Stroke of eternal Vengeance?—And let me ask, Can this be a Security to Us, unless We are vested with it! Could this Building, though very substantial, have secured Us from the rushing Rains, if We had not betaken Ourselves to its friendly Covert!

of Isaiob, by this very Image; as a Place of Refuge, and as a Covert from the Storm and from Rain +. That is, His Merits and Death are a fure Protection, from the Curse of the Law, and the Damnation of Hell. No Fury of the Elements so terrible as these; no Bulwark of Stone so impregnable as those.—If this is a proper Emblem of CHRIST, to what shall We liken Faith? To a Persuasion, that the Shelter of the Summer-house is free for our Use? That we are welcome to avail Ourselves of the commodious Retreat? Would this defend Us from the Inclemencies of the Weather? Would this keep Us dry, amidst (what You call) the descending Deluge? Would this bare Persuasion, unless reduced to Practice, be any Manner of Advantage to our Persons?—No. We must actually fly to the Shelter, and We must actually apply the SAVIOUR; otherwise, I see not what Comfort or Benefit can be derived from either.

† Isai. iv. 6.

<sup>**</sup> Does not this give Us the most awful and grand Sense of Psalm xxix. 9? The Voice of the LORD, when uttered in Thunder, and accompanied with Lightning, strips the Forests; lays bare the branching Woods; reduces the most magnificen: and flourishing Cedars to naked and withered Trunks.

Ther. May I then, from this Instant, look upon CHRIST, his glorious Person, his perfect Righteousness, and his precious Death, as my certain Inheritance? May I sirmly believe, that, through this grand and immensely meritorious Cause, I shall have Pardon and Acceptance, true Holiness and endless Salvation?

Asp. Why should You not believe all this firmly? You have the same Reason to believe with a steady Considence, as to believe with any Degree of Assiance. It is the free Promise of the Gospel, addressed to Sinners, that warrants the latter; and the very same Promise, under the same Circumstances of unmerited Munisicence, authorizes the former.

You have heard my Opinion, hear now what our LORD Himself says; Let Him that is athirst, come; and who soever will, let Him'take the Water of Life freely *. He may partake of my spiritual and unspeakable Bleffings, as freely as He makes use of the most common Refreshments: as freely as He drinks of the running Stream. This is his royal Proclamation.—Hear his gracious Invitation. Look unto Me, and be ye faved +; faved from your disquieting Fears, by Justification; faved from your domineering Corruptions, by Sanctification; faved from. every Evil, by complete and eternal Redemp-To whom is this most affectionate Call directed? Not to a few distinguished Favourites, but to all the Ends of the Earth. None are excepted; none are prohibited; and can my Theron imagine, that He is excluded? — Nay farther; Hear his earnest Intreaty, his tender and repeated Importunity; As though GOD did befeech You by Us; We pray You, in CHRIST's Stead, be ye reconciled to GOD \(\pm\): accept his great Salvation: and enjoy the Comforts of his Grace.

Should not this three-fold Cord be strong enough to draw my dear Friend; let me add, what must absolutely supersede all Objections, the plain, express, peremptory Command of the ALMIGHTY: This is his Command, that

We

* Rev. xxii. 17. + Ifa. xlv. 22. ‡ 2 Cer. v. 20. A a 3

We should believe on the Name of his Son JESUS CHRIST *. Pray, examine the Language; Not He allows only; or barely advises; but He commands. We are not only permitted, but strictly required. It is not only our Privilege, but GOD's positive Injunction. - Upon the Discovery of such a SAVIOUR, methinks, every Heart should cry; "O! that I might be " permitted to approach Him! To folicit an " Interest in Him! How gladly would I wait, " ever so long a Time, in ever so mean a " Posture, if I might at the last receive Him " as my Portion?"——The superabundant Goodness of GOD, prevents our Wishes, and exceeds our Hopes. "I freely give my SON, " faith the LORD, and all his Riches to You. " I befeech You, as a compaffionate Friend, " not to refuse Him. I injoin You, as an un-" controulable Sovereign, to believe on Him." ---- How gracious! fupremely and amazingly gracious is this Command! And give me leave to hint, it is the greatest and most important Command, that ever issued from the Throne of Glory. If this be neglected, no other can be kept; if this be observed, all others will be eafy.—Now, Theron, will You not look upon CHRIST and his all-sufficient Merits, as your own? Is not your Warrant clear and unexceptionable? Is not your Obligation strong and indispensible?

Ther. Truly, Aspasso, this puts all my mistrustful Apprehensions to the Stand. Here is a Proclamation from the blessed GOD—seconded by his Invitation—accompanied by his Intreaty—and all inforced by his Command. I know not what can be a fuller Proof of your Point, or a stronger Inducement to believe.

Asp. Yes, Theron; I can produce (if such a Thing be possible) stronger Proof still. Such as, I hope, will totally rout Unbelief, and drive all her Forces from the Field.

GOD has not only commanded You, to live under the fweet Persuasion, that his SON is your SAVIOUR; but he has given you the grandest Ratification of this precious Truth.—He has passed his Word; He has made you a firm Promise; nay, He has given you many and various Promises, of this inestimable Blefsing. And GOD is not a Man, that He should lie; or the Son of Man, that he should repent. Heaven and Earth may drop into Nothing, sooner than one Promise, or indeed one Jot or Tittle of his Promise, should fall to the Ground.

Besides this, He has given You, if I may so speak, a Note under his own Hand. He has recorded his Promises in the Bible, and written them with an everlasting Pen. So that they will stand conspicuous and indelible, like a

١

Bill drawn upon Heaven, and a Basis laid for Faith, so long as the Sun and Moon endure.

Nay, He has confirmed all, by the most folemn Sanction imaginable; by his Oath; by bis own Oath; by the Oath of a GOD. Though his Word is fure, and his Promise immutable, He adds (aftonishing Condescention! adorable Benignity!) He adds his Oath to all. He not only speaks, but swears; swears by Himself; fwears by his own eternal Existence; that his Promises belong to whom? Mark this Particular with the most exact Attention. whom do these Promises belong, which are ratified in this unequaled and inviolable Manner? To the Holy, the Upright, the Accomplished? To those, says the Scripture, who fly for Refuge to the Hope set before them *. The Hope set before them in the Propitiation, the Righteousness, the ineffable Merits of CHRIST.

This You do, Theron: I know You do. Therefore, as furely as GOD is true, as certainly as GOD exists, they are all your own. I would humbly, yet boldly apply to my Friend, what the great JEHOVAH speaks by the Prophet; "As I live, saith the LORD, thou shalt "surely clothe Thee with them all, as with an "Ornament, and bind them on Thee as a Bride doth +. I appeal to all my Persections, for the

* Heb. vi. 17, 18, † Isai. xlix. 18.

"the Truth of this facred Engagement; and let every one of my sublime Attributes witness against me, if I violate my Word."

Ther. May I then believe, firmly believe, affuredly believe, that  $\mathcal{J}ESUS$  the Mediator, and all the glorious Benefits of his Mediation, are mine? Pardon me, Afpafio, for reiterating the Question. I am really, with respect to the Obedience of Faith, too much like that Saxon Monarch, who, for his Remissings and Inactivity, was sirnamed The Unready \*.

Asp. I do more than pardon you, Theron. I feel for you, and I sympathize with you. there is some of the Saxon Prince's Disease running in your Religion; I am fure, there is too much of it in mine; and I fear, it is an epidemical Distemper. But let Us reflect a Moment—Suppose any Neighbour of Substance and Credit, should bind himself by a deliberate Promise, to do you some particular Piece of Service—if he should add to his Promise a Note under his own Hand—if he should corroborate both by some authentic Pledge—if he should establish all by a most awful and solemn Oath—Could you suspect the Sincerity of his Engagement, or harbour any Doubt with regard to its Execution? This would be most unreasonable in any One; and to your generous Temper, I am very certain, it would be impossible.—Let us remember, that GOD has given us all this Cause for an Assurance of Faith, and more. Nay; I will defy the most timorous and suspicious Temper, to demand from the most treacherous Person on Earth, a greater, stronger, suller Security, than the GOD of infinite Fidelity has granted to you and me.—After all this, one would think, Dissidence itself could not hesitate, nor the most jeasous Incredulity demur. Shall we, can we withhold that Assiance from the unchangeable CREATOR, which we could not but repose on a fallible Creature?

Ther. You rouse and animate me, Aspasso. O! that I may arise, and with the divine Assistance, shake off this Stupor of Unbelief! Certainly, it can never be honourable to GOD, nor pleasing to CHRIST, nor prositable to Ourselves.

Asp. If it be, then cherish it, include it, and never relinquish it.—But how can it be bondarable to GOD? It depreciates his Goodness; it is a Reproach to his Veracity; nay, the Apostle scruples not to affirm, that it makes bim a Liar *. Whereas, they who believe his Testimony, glorify his Faithfulness; glorify his Beneficence; and, as John the Baptist speaks, set to their Seal, that GOD is true *. — I have been informed, that, when the late Elector of Hanover was declared, by the Parliament of Great-Britain, Successor to the vacant Throne; several Persons of Distinction waited upon his Highness, in order to make timely Application for the most valuable Preferencents. Several Requests of this Nature were granted, and each was confirmed by a kind of promissory Note. Among the rest, one Gentleman folicited for the Mastership of the Rolls. Being indulged in his Defire, he was offered the fame Confirmation, which had been vouchfafed to other successful Petitioners. Upon which, he feemed to be under a graceful Confusion and Surprize; begged that he might not put the royal Donor to fuch unnecessary Trouble; at the same time declaring, that he looked upon his Highness's Word, as the very best Ratification of his Suit, ---- With this Conduct, and this Compliment, the Elector was not a little pleased. "This is the "Gentleman, he faid, who does me a real " Honour; treats me like a King; and who-" ever is disappointed, He shall certainly be " gratified." So, We are assured by the Word of Revelation, that He, who ftaggered not through Unbelief, gave, and in the most figural, the most acceptable Manner, Glory to GOD +.

Ĭ$

Is it pleafing to CHRIST? - Quite the reverse. It dishonours his Merit; it detracts from the Dignity of his Righteousness; it would enervate the Power of his Intercession. Accordingly you may observe, there is nothing which our LORD fo frequently reproved in his Followers, as this Spirit of Unbelief.— What fays He to his Disciples, when He came down from the Mount of Transfiguration? O faitbless and perverse * Generation! They were perverse, because faithless.—What says He to the Travelers, whom He overtook in their Journey to Emmaus? O Fools, and flow of Heart to believe +! They were Fools, because slow to believe.—What fays He to the Apostles, after his Resurrection? JESUS upbraided them with their Unbelief 1. He took no notice of their cowardly * Dieseaumenn. Matt. xvii. 17. A believing State of Mind, is like some well arranged and beautiful System of Limbs. Unbelief dislocates the Parts, distorts the harmonious Frame, and disfigures its comely Proportion.

† Avenlos. Luke xxiv. 25. Not thoughtless, but stupid Creatures; void of Understanding; as we say in English, without common Sense; or, as Horace would have said in Latin, O tribus Anticyris Caput insanabile!

† Mark xvi. 14. The Word is not επεθιμησεν, as in Luke xvii. 3. not ελεγξεν, as in Tit. i. 13. but ωνειδισε, which signifies, not barely a Rebuke, but a Rebuke accompanied with keen and stinging Reflections; such as may cover the Face with Blushes, and wound the Heart with Anguish.—It is used, by the Evangelist Luke, and by the Apostle Peter, to describe those Calumnies, Invectives, and Reproaches, with which the Persecutors of Christianity endeavoured to gall and afflist the Christians. Luke vi. 22, 1 Pet. iv. 14.—Though cowardly and perfidious Behaviour; He inveighed against none of their other Follies and Infirmities; but He upbraided them with their Unbelief. Not gently rebuked. No; this was a Fault, so unreasonable in itself, so reproachful to their MASTER, so pernicious to themselves, that He severely reprimanded them for it; with an Air of Vehemence, and with a Mixture of Invective.

Is it profitable to Ourselves?—Nothing less. It damps our Love, and diminishes our Comfort. It subjects Us to that Fear, which hath Torment; and disqualifies Us for that Obedience, which is filial. In a Word; this distrustful and unbelieving Temper weakens every Principle of Piety, and impoverishes the whole Whence come spiritual Oscitancy and Remissiness? Whence proceed Sterility and Unfruitfulness in the Knowledge of CHRIST? St. Peter ascribes them all to an habitual Unbelief. Such Persons, he says, bave forgotten that they were purged from their former Sins *. —In the Regenerate, where it remains, it is very detrimental; for they that will not believe, shall not be established +: In the Unregenerate.

Though our LORD JESUS was most amiably tender and gentle; yet, when Severity was necessary and whole-forme, He knew how to be severe. Our all-wise PHYSI-CIAN could apply the Caustic, as well as administer the Cordial.

<sup>• 2</sup> Pet. i. 8, 9. † Ifai. vii. 9.

where it prevails, it is absolutely destructive; and though it may not kill like an Apoplexy, it wastes like a Consumption. They could not enter in, because of Unbelief *.

Let Us then, my dear Friend, cast away this Sin, which so easily besets Us both. It clogs our Feet; it hampers all our Powers; and hinders Us from running, with Alacrity and Speed, the Race that is set before Us .- What says David? GOD bath spoken in bis Holiness +; hath made an express and inviolable Promise, that I shall be Ruler of his People Israel. I will rejoice therefore; Away with every alarming Apprehension; I will even exult and triumph. Nay more; I will divide Shechem, and mete out the Valley of Succoth; I will look upon the whole Land as my own. I will divide it, and difpose of it, just as if it was already in my Posfession.—Why should not you and I also say? GOD bath spoken in his Holiness; hath expresly and solemnly declared, The Promise of an allfufficient SAVIOUR is to You. We will rejoice therefore; confiding in this most faithful Word, We will bid adieu to all disquieting Fears, and make our Boast of this glorious REDEEMER. Yes; notwithstanding all our Unworthiness, CHRIST and his Atonement, CHRIST and his Righteousness, are ours. Amidst all our • Heb. iii. 19. + Pfal. lx. 6.

Ther. I have heard some People distinguish, between the Faith of Reliance, and the Faith of Affurance; between the rester and the direct Act of Faith. Methinks, I approve these Sentiments, though I dislike the Terms. The Sentiments are finely adapted to the Relief of human Insirmity, though the Terms are rather too abstructe for ordinary Capacities to understand.

Asp. I cannot say, that I am very fond, either of the one, or of the other. In my Opinion, they both partake too much of the Subtilty of the Schools; and are more likely to create Perplexity, than to administer godly Edifying. For which Reason, I should choose to drop the difficult Phrases, and not to dwell on the nice Distinctions.—Yet, if We must not dismiss them, without some Notice, I would just remark—

That, what they call Faith of Relience, includes or presupposes a Degree of Assurance. Who would rely upon a Satisfaction made, without

This very important Doctrine is more copiously displayed, in a Sermon of Mr. Erstine's on the Assurance of Faith, Vol. III. p. 201.—Was I to read, in order to refine my Taste, or improve my Style; I would prefer Bp. Atterbury's Sermons, Dr. Bates's Works, or Mr. Seed's Discourses. But was I to read, with a single View to the Ediscation of my Heart, in true Faith, solid Comfort, and evangelical Holines; I would have Recourse to Mr. Erstine, and take his Volumes for my Tutor.

without being first persuaded, that the Satisfaction is for Him and his Iniquities? Reliance, separated from this Persuasion, seems tobe neither comfortable, nor reasonable.—As to those, who are zealous Advocates for the reflex Act of Faith; who advise Us, to prove our Title to Comfort, by genuine Marks of Conversion; and teach Us, on this Column to fix the Capital of Assurance; I would rather propose a Question, than advance Objections.— Is not this somewhat like placing the Dome of a Cathedral upon the Stalk of a Tulip'?

Ther. No, fay They; it was the Practice of the Apostle Himself; and He has left it upon Record, as a Pattern for all Posterity to copy. We know that We are passed from Death unto Life, because We love the Brethren.

Asp. Observe, Theron, the Process of the Apostle's Reasoning. It is like the Form of an inverted Cone; where You have first the Point, and from thence proceed to the Base. facred Writer begins with the less, and ascends to the greater Proof. He fays, in one of the following Verses; Hereby perceive We the Love of GOD *, because He laid down bis Life, not merely <sup>* 1</sup> John iii. 16. The Word GOD is not in the Original. It was omitted by the Apostle, just as the particular Name is omitted by Mary, when She speaks to the Gardener; Sir, if thou hast borne Him hence; and by the Church, when She addresses the sacred Object of her Affection; Let Him kiss me with the Kisses of his Mouth: John xx. 15. Cantic. i. 1.— In merely for Sinners, but for Us in particular.—

Here, You see, is Assurance by the direct Act of Faith. From this Truth believed, from this Blessing received, the Love of the Brethren takes its Rise. Which may very justly be admitted as an Evidence, that our Faith is real, and our Assurance no Delusion. As yonder Leaves may serve to distinguish the particular Species, and ascertain the healthy State, of the Trees on which they grow.

When your Tenants bring in their Rent, this affords no contemptible Evidence, that the Lands, which they respectively occupy, are yours. But this is a Proof which does not occur, either every Day or every Week; it is occasional only, and of the subordinate Kind.

—The grand Demonstration, that which is always at hand, and always forcible, is, your Possession of the Deeds of Conveyance. Thus, the Promise of GOD in his divine Word is our Charter, or the authentic Conveyance of our Right to Pardon and Salvation. Make just the same Difference between this Promise and your

In all which Places, there is a Language, a very emphatical Language, even in the Silence. It declares, how deeply the Heart was penetrated, how totally the Thoughts were posselfelled, by the beloved and illustrious Subject. It expresses also the superlative Dignity and Amiableness of the Person meant: as though He, and He alone, either was, or deserved to be, known and admired by All. For which Reason, to mention his Name, or display his Excellencies, seemed as needless, as to shew Light to the opened Eye.

Vol. III.

your own Holiness, as You make between the Writings of your Estate and the Receival of the Revenues, You will then judge aright, because your Judgment will coincide with the Apostle's.

Besides; this Method of seeking Peace and Assurance, I fear, will embarrass the simpleminded; and cherish, rather than suppress, the Fluctuations of Doubt. For, let the Marks be what You please, a Love of the Brethren or a Love of all Righteousness, a Change of Heart or an Alteration of Life; these good Qualifications are fometimes like the Stars at Noon-Day, not eafily, if at all, discernable; or else they are like a Glow-worm in the Night. glimmering, rather than shining. Consequently will yield, at the best, but a feeble, at the worst, a very precarious Evidence.—If, in such a manner, We should acquire some little Asfurance, how foon may it be unfettled by the Incursions of Temptation, or destroyed by the Prevalence of Sin! At fuch a Juncture, how will it keep its Standing! How retain its Being! It will be as a tottering Wall, before the Tempest; or as the Rush without Mire, and the Flag without Water *.

Instead therefore of poring on our ownHearts, to discover, by inherent Qualities, our Interest in CHRIST, I should rather renew my Application cation to the free and faithful Promise of the LORD; assert and maintain my Title, on this unalterable Ground.—" Pardon is mine, "I would say, Grace is mine, CHRIST and all his spiritual Blessings are mine. Why? because I am conscious of sanctifying Operations in my own Breast? Rather because "GOD bath spoken in bis Holines; because all these precious Privileges are consigned over to me in the everlasting Gospel, with a Clear-" ness unquestionable as the Truth, with a "Certainty inviolable as the Oath of GOD."

Cast your Eye into yonder Meadow. Take notice of that industrious Fisherman; how intent He is upon the Pursuit of his Business. He has just thrown his Net, and taken a confiderable Booty. You do not see Him spending his Time in idle Triumphs, on Account of his Success. He does not stand to measure the Dimensions of the Fish, or compute the Value of his Prize. But having, without Delay, secured the Captives; He prepares for another Cast, and hopes for another Draught. So let Us, instead of exulting in any past Acquisitions, seek afresh to the inexhaustible Fulness of our SAVIOUR, for renewed Communications. That, having Life and having Peace from Him, We may have them more abundantly *. Then will be fulfilled the Saying that is written; The Just, the righteous in TESUS

JESUS CHRIST—shall live, shall be delivered from Condemnation and Death; shall persevere and advance in the Life of Comfort and Holiness—how? By reflecting on his own Attainments? No; but by the Exercise of Faith*. By cleaving inseparably to CHRIST, and by depending incessantly on CHRIST.

This, I verily think, nay this, the Apostle testifies, is the most essectual Way of feeding that Lamp, and quickening that Flame; which, having cheared Us in our earthly Pilgrimage, will be brightened up into immortal Glory in the Heavens.

Here they went in; and, after a flight Refreshment, took Coach.—As they were returning Home, Theron observed, with Concern, the changed and melancholy Aspect of Things, in the Territories of the Husbandman. The Fields of Corn, which a little while ago, were gracefully erect, or softly inclining to the Breeze, lay sunk and flatted under the impetuous Rains.—Such, added Aspasio, such I apprehend will be our Faith, if it aspires not after Assurance, or if its Assurance is erected on any Endowments of our own. O! that it might be rooted, like those full-grown Oaks, under which We lately walked! and grounded +, like that well-built Edifice, which is still in our View! ____ I join with my Aspasso in this Wish; and must beg of Him to inform me, how I may attain fo defirable a Bleffing.-You have cured me, Theron, of making Apologies: O! that I might be as successfully instrumental, in delivering my Friend from his Doubts! That the Gospel might come to Us, as it came to the Thessalonians, not in Word only, but in Power, and in the HOLY GHOST, and in much Assurance *!

* Rom. i. 17.

† Rooted and grounded, egpi where x as rebementumeros. These are the Apostle's beautiful Ideas, or rather expressive Similitudes, each comprehended in a single Word. Epb. iii.18.

Prayer is the first Expedient. Every good Gift is from above, and cometh down from the FATHER of Lights. CHRIST is not only the Object, but the Author and Finisher of our Faith. LORD, increase our Faith, was the Request of the Disciples, and should be the prevailing Language of our Hearts.

Seek the bleffed SPIRIT. That He may testify of GOD, testify of CHRIST, and bear witness with our Spirit.—Testify of GOD, that He hath given unto Us eternal Life.—Testify of CHRIST, that this Life is in his SON+.-Bear witness with our Spirit, that We are the Children of GOD 1.—By doing this, He is an Earnest § of our eternal Happiness and Glory: He is a Seal | of our Security and Perseverance unto the Day of Redemption.

Lay

<sup>1</sup> Theff. i. 5. + 1 John v. 11. ‡ Rom. viii. 16: | Eph. i. 13. § 2 Cor. i. 22.

Lay up many of the divine Promises in your Memory. Stock that noble Cabinet with this invaluable Treasure. Faith cometh by hearing*, by meditating on, and praying over, this Word of Life, and Word of Grace.—And never, never forget the Freeness, with which the Promise is made, and its good Things are bestowed. You are to receive the one, and apply the other, not with a full, but with an empty Hand; not as a righteous Person, but as an unworthy Sinner.

* Rom. x. 17. On which Account the Scriptures are flyled, The Words of Faith. I Tim. iv. 6.

HE next Morning, Theron ordered a cold Collation to be prepared, and his Pleasure-Boat to hold itself in Readiness.—Breakfast being dispatched, and some necessary Orders, relating to the Family, given—Now, says He to Aspaso, let me fulfil my Promise; or rather let us execute our mutual Engagement; and consign the Remainder of this mild and charming Day, to a rural Excursion.

We will take our Rout along one of the finest Roads in the World. A Road, incomparably more curious and durable, than the famous Causeys raised by those puissant Hands which conquered the Globe. A Road, that has subsisted from the Beginning of Time; and, though frequented by innumerable Carriages, laden with the heaviest Burdens, has B b 4 never been gulled, never wanted Repair, to this very Hour.—Upon this, they step into the Chariot, and are conveyed to a large navigable River, about three Quarters of a Mile distant from the House.—Here they launch upon a new Element, attended by two or three Servants, expert at handling the Oar, and managing the Nets.

Is this the Road, replied Aspasso, on which my Friend bestows his Panegyric? It is indeed more curious in its Structure, and more durable in its Substance, than the celebrated Roman Causeys. Though I must assure you, that the latter are very high in my Esteem. I admire them far beyond Trajan's Pillar, or Caracalla's Baths; far beyond the idle Pomp of the Pantheon, or the worse than idle Magnisticence of the Amphitheatre. They do the truest Honour to the Empire; because, while they were the Glory of Rome, they were a general Good *; and not only a Monument of her Grandeur, but a Benesit to Mankind.

But more than all these Works, I admire that excellent and divinely gracious Purpose, * These Roads ran through all Italy, and stretched themfelves into the Territories of France. They were carried across the Alps, the Pyrenean Mountains, and through the whole Kingdom of Spain. Some of them, towards the South, reached even to Athiopia; and some of them, towards the North, extended as far as Scotland. The Remains of several of them continue in England to this Day; though they were made, it may be, above 1500 Years ago.

to which Providence made the Empire itself fubservient. It was a kind of Road or Caufey, for the everlafting Gospel; and afforded the Word of Life a free Passage, to the very Ends of the Earth. The evangelical Dove mounted the Wings of the Roman Eagle; and flew, with furprifing Expedition, through all Nations.—Who would have thought, that insatiable Ambition and the most bloody Wars, should be paving a Way for the PRINCE of Humility and Peace? How remote from all human Apprehension, was such a Design; and how contrary to the natural Refult of Things, was fuch an Event! How remarkably therefore was that Observation of the Psalmist verified; His Ways are in the Sea, and his Paths in the great Waters, and his Footsteps are not known *!

Conversing on such agreeable Subjects, they were carried by the Stream, through no less agreeable Scenes. They pass by Hills, clothed with hanging Woods; and Woods, arrayed in varying Green. Here, excluded from a Sight of the out-stretched Plains, they are entertained with a Group of unsubstantial Images, and the Wonders of a mimic Creation.—Another Sun shines, but stript of his blazing Beams, in the watery Concave: while Clouds sail along the downward Skies, and sometimes dis-disclose, sometimes draw a Veil over, the radiant Orb. Trees, with their inverted Tops, either flourish in the fair Serene below; or else paint, with a pleasing Delusion, the pellucid Flood. Even the Mountains are there, but in a headlong Posture; and, notwithstanding their prodigious Bulk, they quiver in this floating Mirror, like the poplar Leaves which adorn their Sides.

Soon as the Boat advances, and disturbs the placid Surface; the Waves, pushed hastily to the Bank, bear off, in broken Fragments, the liquid Landschape. The spreading Circles seemed to prophecy, as they rolled; and pronounced the Pleasures of this present State—the Pomp of Power, the Charm of Beauty, and the Echo of Fame—pronounced them transent, as their speedy Passage; empty, as their unreal Freight, —Seemed to prophecy? It was more. Imagination heard them utter, as they ran;

Thus pass the shadowy Scenes of Life away!

Anon, they emerge from this fluid Alley, and dart amidst the Level of a spacious Meadow. The Eye, lately immured, though in pleasurable Confinement, now expands her delighted View, into a Space almost boundless, and amidst Objects little short of innumerable.—Transported for a while, at the numberless Variety of beauteous Images, poured in sweet Con-

Confusion all around, she hardly knows, where to fix, or which to pursue. Recovering, at length, from the pleasing Perplexity; she glances, quick and instantaneous, across all the intermediate Plain, and marks the distant Mountains. How Clifts climb over Clifts, till the huge Ridges gain upon the Sky: how their diminished Tops are dressed in Blue, or wrapped in Clouds: while all their leafy Structures, and all their sleecy Tenants, are lost in Air.

Soon she quits these aerial Summits, and ranges the ruffet Heath: here, shagged with Brakes, or tufted with Rushes; there, interspersed with straggling Thickets, or solitary Trees; that seem, like disaffected Partisans, to shun each other's Shade.—A Spire, placed in a remote Valley, peeps over the Hills. Sense is furprised at the amusive Appearance; is ready to suspect, that the Column rises, like some inchanted Edifice, from the rifted Earth. But Reason looks upon it, as the Earnest of a hidden Vale, and the fure Indication of an adjacent Town. Performing, in this Respect, much the same Office to the Eye, as Faith executes with regard to the Soul, when it is the Evidence of Things not seen *.

Next, the roves, with increasing Pleasure, over spacious Tracts of fertile Glebe, and cultured Fields. Where Cattle, of every graceful Form.

* Heb. xi. 1.

Form, and every valuable Quality, crop the tender Herb, or drink the crystal Rills.—Prefently, she dwells with the highest Complacency, on Towns of Opulence and Splendor; which spread the sacred Dome, and lift the social Roof. Towns, no longer furrounded with the stern forbidding Majesty, of unpassable Entrenchments, and impregnable Ramparts; but incircled with the delicate, the inviting Appendages of Gardens and Orchards: those, decked with all the foft Graces of Art and Elegance; these, blushing and pregnant with the more substantial Treasures of fruitful Nature. -Wreaths of ascending Smoke, intermingled with Turrets and lofty Pinnacles, seem to contend which shall get farthest from the Earth, and nearest to the Skies. Happy for the Inhabitants! If fuch was the habitual Tendency of their Desires *; if no other Contention was known in their Streets.

Villas,

* This Comparison, I think, cannot appear vulgar to those Persons, who have read, and who reverence, The Book of Canticles. There, the Church, ascending continually in her Affections, to her beloved JESUS, and to her heavenly Home, is characterized by this very Similitude. Who is this that cometh out of the Wilderness like Pillars of Smoke? Canticiii. 6.—Though it must be confessed, that this Similitude, like many of the Illustrations used in Scripture, might have a Sort of local Propriety; peculiar to the People of that Age, Country, and Religion. It might probably refer to those Columns of Smoke, which arose from the Burnt-Offering, or sumed from the Astar of Incense. If so, this Circumstance Villas, elegant and magnificent, feated in the Center of an ample Park, or removed to the Extremity of a lengthened Lawn: not far from a beautiful Reservoir of standing Waters, or the more falutary Lapse of a limpid Stream. ---Villages, clad in homely Thatch, and lodged in the Bosom of clustering Trees. Rustics, finging at their Work; Shepherds, tuning their Pipes, as they tend their Flocks; Travelers, pursuing each his respective Way, in easy and joyous Security.

How pleasing, said Aspasso, is our Situation! How delightful is the Aspect of all Things! One would almost imagine, that nothing could exceed it, and that nothing can increase it. Yet there is a Method of increasing even this copious stance must give a Solemnity and Dignity to the Idea, of which many Readers are not at all aware, and which indeed no modern Reader can fully conceive.

May I take leave to mention another Comparison of this Kind? The Enemies of the LORD shall consume as the Fat of Lambs; yea, even as the Smoke shall they consume away. Psal. xxxvii. 20.—As the Fat of Lambs, is not to Us a striking Representation. But to those who attended the Altar, who saw the unctuous and most combustible Parts of the Victim blazing in the facred Fire, it presented a very lively Image. Which was still more apposite and significant, if the Pfalm was fung, while the Sacrifice was burning.—None I pelieve, in such a Case, could forbear either observing or admiring the beautiful Gradation: "They shall perish as yonder Fat, which is so easily set on fire; and, when once in " a Flame, is so speedily consumed. Nay, they shall be as st the Smoke, which is still more transient. Whose light 44 unsubstantial Wreaths, but just make their Appearance " to the Eye; and, in a Moment, vanish into empty Air."

copious Delight, and of beightening even this exquisite Pleasure.—Let me desire my Friend, answered Theron, to explain his Remark; and not only to explain, but to exemplify.—If We view, resumed Aspaso, our own prosperous, and compare it with the assisted Condition of Others, the Method I propose, will be reduced to Practice. Such a dark and mournful Contrast, must throw additional Brightness, even upon the brightest Scene.

Above Us, the Skies smile with Serenity; below Us, the Fields look gay with Plenty; all around Us, the sportive Gales Fanning their odoriferous Wings dispense Native Perfumes; and whisper, whence they stole Those balmy Spoils.

With Us all Circumstances are as easy, as the Wasture of the Boat; as smooth, as the Flow of the Stream.—But let Us not forget those grievous Calamities, which befal our Brethren, in some remote Tracts of the Earth, or distant Parts of the Ocean. How many Sailors are struggling, vainly struggling, with all the Fury of rending Winds, and dashing Waves! While their Vessel, slung to and fro by tempessuus Billows, is mounted into the Clouds, or plunged into the Abyss. Possibly, the miserable Crew hear their Knell sounded, in the shattered Mast; and see Destruction entering, at the burst-bursting Planks. Perhaps, this very Moment, they pour the last, dismal, dying Shriek; and fink, irrecoverably fink, in the all-overwhelming Surge.—The Traveler, in Africa's barren Wastes, pale even amidst those glowing Regions, pale with prodigious Consternation, sees fudden and furprifing Mountains rife. Sees the fultry Defart, ascending the Sky, and sweeping before the Whirlwind. What can He do? Whither fly? How escape the approaching Ruin? Alas! while He attempts to rally his Thoughts; attempts to devise some feeble Expedient; He is overtaken by the choking Storm, and suffocated amidst the sandy Inundation. The driving Heaps are, now, his Executioner: as the drifted Heaps will, foon, be his Tomb.

While We possess the valuable Privileges, and taste the delicious Sweets of Liberty, how many Partakers of our common Nature, are condemned to perpetual Exile, or hammered to the Oar for Life! How many are immured in the Gloom of Dungeons, or buried in the Caverns of the Mines; never to behold the all-inlivening Sun again!—While Respect waits upon our Persons, and Reputation attends our Characters: are there not some unhappy Creatures, led forth by the Hand of vindictive Justice, to be Spectacles of Horror, and Monuments of Vengeance? Sentenced, for their enormous Crimes, to be broke Limb by Limb on the Wheel, or to be impaled alive on the lingering Stake. To these, the strangling Cord, or the deadly Stab, would be a most welcome Favour. But they must feel a thousand Deaths, in undergoing one. And this, too probably, is but the Beginning of their Sorrows; will only confign them over to infinitely more terrible Torment.---While Ease and Pleasure, in sweet Conjunction, smooth our Paths, and foften our Couch: how many are toffing on the Fever's fiery Bed, or toiling along Affliction's thorny Road! Some, under the excruciating, but necessary Operations of Surgery: their Bodies ripped open, with a dreadful Incision, to search for the torturing Stone; or their Limbs lopped off by the bloody Knife, to prevent the Mortification's fatal Spread. Some emaciated by pining Sickness, are deprived of all their animal Vigour; and transformed into Spectres, even before their Diffolution *. These are ready to adopt the Complaint of the Pfalmist; I am withered like Grass; my Bones are burnt up, as it were a Firebrand; I go hence like the Shadow that departeth. While Health, that staple Blessing; which gives every other Entertainment its Flavour and its Beauty; adds the Gloss to all We fee, and the Gout to all We taste; Health plays at our Hearts; dances in our Spirits; and mantles in our Cheeks, as the generous Champain lately sparkled in our Glass.

* A very little Excursion of Thought will easily convince the Reader, that there is no Period of Time, in which some of these Calamities do not befal our Fellow-creatures, in one Part of the World or another.

We are bleft with a calm Possession of Ourfelves; with Tranquility in our Consciences, and an habitual Harmony in our Temper. Whereas Many, in the doleful Cells of Lunacy, are gnashing their Teeth, or wringing their Hands; rending the Air with Vollies of horrid Execrations, or burdening it with Peals of difconsolate Sighs. And O! what Multitudes are held in splendid Vassalage, by their own domineering Passions, or the Vanities of a bewitching World. Far less innocently, far more deplorably difordered *, than the fettered Madman, they are gnawed by the invenomed Tooth of Envy; they are agitated by the wild Sallies of Ambition; or feel the malignant Ulcer of Jealousy, * Give me any Plague, says an apocryphal Writer, but the Plague of the Heart. Ecclus. xxv. 13. Upon which judicious and weighty Apothegm, Masmissa's Speech in Mr. Thomson's Sophonisha, is a very pertinent and affecting Paraphrase.

O! fave me from the Tumult of the Soul!
From the wild Beast within!—For, circling Sands,
When the swift Whirlwind whelms them o'er the Lands;
When the swift whirlwind whelms them o'er the Lands;
The roaring Deeps, that to the Clouds arise,
While thwarting thick the mingled Lightning slies;
The Monster-brood, to which this Land gives Birth,
The blazing City, and the gaping Earth;
All Deaths, all Tortures, in one Pang combin'd,
Are gentle to the Tempest of the Mind.

Jealousy, rankling in their Breasts. In Some, Avarice, like a ravening Harpy, gripes. In Some, Revenge, like an implacable Fury, rages. While Others are goaded by lordly and imperious Lusts, through the loathsome Sewers of impure Delight; and left, at last, in those hated and execrable Dens, where Remorse rears her sneaky Crest, and Insamy sharpens her hissing Tongue.

Why this long Pause? replied Theron. Your Observations are as useful, as they are just. We should all be acquainted, at least in Speculation acquainted, with Grief; and fend our Thoughts, if not our Feet, to visit the Abodes of Sorrow.—That, in this School, We may learn a sympathizing Pity, for our distressed Fellow-creatures; and fee, in this Glass, our inexpressible Obligations to the Goodness of Providence. Which has crowned our Table with Abundance, and replenished our Cup with Delicacies; permitting neither Penury to stint the Draught, nor Adversity to mingle her Gall.—Go on, I must Intreat You, with your Description of comparative Felicity. We have a large Circuit still to make, before We arrive at our intended Port. And I could wifn, that your Discourse might keep Pace with the Current.

Since

Since You approve the Subject, answered Alpaño, I will pursue it a little farther.—We, the Inhabitants of this favoured Isle, breathe an Air of the most agreeable Temperature, and most wholsome Qualities. But how many Nations languish under brazen Skies, vaulted as it were with Fire? They welter amidst those Furnaces of the Sun, till their "Vifage is "burnt, and black as a Coal *."—What is far more disastrous, Beds of Sulphur and combustible Materials, lie in subterraneous Ambush, ready to spring the irrefisible Mine. Ere long-perhaps, on some Day of universal Festivity +, or in some Night of deep Repose to be touched by Heaven's avenging Hand. Then, with what outrageous Violence will they

◆ Lam. iv. 8.

+ There is a remarkable Passage in Psal. Iviii. 10. which seems to denote some such unexpetited, but speedy and inevitable Doom. It is obscured, not a little, by the Version admitted into our Liturgy. I believe, the true Translation may be seen in the following Italies, and the true Sense learnt from the interwoven Paraphrase. - Speedily, or before your Pots can perceive the Warmth of blazing Thorns, shall HE that ruleth over all, sweep away the Wicked: sweep him away by a Stroke of righteous Indignation, as by a fierce and mighty Tempest; so that, even from the Fulness of his Sufficiency, and the Height of his Prosperity, He shall be plunged into atter Destruction.—The Word in, which is very unhappily rendered raw, fignifies a State of Prospecity or pleasurable Enjoyment. I Sam. xxv. 6.—The whole Verse, in a Gradation of striking Images, gives Us a most awful Display of divine Vengeance. Vengeance, quite sudden, utterly irrefisfible, and overtaking the secure Sinner, amidst all the Caresses of, what the World calls, Fortune.

burst! Rock the Foundations of Nature! Wrench open the ponderous Jaws of Earth! And swallow up astonished Cities, in the dark, tremendous, closing Chasm!

These Earthquakes, it may be, both precede and portend, the Pestilence that walketh in Darkness, and the Sickness that destroyeth at Noonday *. They are, at once, a fearful Omen, and a ruinous Blow. The stagnating Atmosphere, rank with malignant Vapours, becomes a Source of deadly Infection: or, replete with poisonous Animalcules, is one vast incumbent Cloud of living Bane. If the active Gales arise, they arise only to stir the Seeds of Disease, and diffuse the fatal Contagion far and near.—Unhappy People! The Plague, that fevere Minister of divine Indignation, fixes her Headquarters in their blasted Provinces; and sends Death abroad, on his pale Horse +, to empty their Houses, depopulate their Towns, and croud their Graves.

Our Island is seldom visited with either of these dreadful Judgments; and has never sustained any very considerable Calamity from the former. However, let Us not be presumptuously secure. We have, not long ago, received an awful Warning. The Rod has been shaken, or rather the Sword has been brandished, over our Territories.—Who can forget

Metropolis, on Occasion of the late Earthquake? And not without Reason. For, of all divine Visitations, this is the most terribly vindictive. The Whirlwind is slow in its Progress; War is gentle in its Assaults; even the raging Pestilence is a mild Rebuke; compared with the inevitable, the all-over-whelming Fury of an Earthquake. When it begins, it also makes an End *. Puts a Period, in a few Minutes, to the Work of Ages. Ruins all, without Distinction; and there is no Defence from the destructive Stroke.

Should almighty Vengeance stir up again those fierce subterranean Commotions: should the most high GOD bid strong Convulsions tear the Bowels of Nature, and make the Foundations of the World tremble like a Leaf: What, O ye careless ones +, What will You do? Whither will You sty?—See! the Pavement sinks under your Feet. Your Houses are tottering over your Heads. The Ground, on every Side, cracks and opens like a gaping Grave; or heaves and swells like a rolling Sea. A Noise of Crashing ‡ is heard from without, occasioned by the rending Streets, and falling Structures. Thunders, infernal Thunders ||, bellow bellow from beneath; mingled with despairing Shrieks, and dying Groans from those wretched Creatures, who are jammed between the closing Earth, or going down alive into the horrible Pit *.—Where now will You fly? To your

* I Sam. iii. 12. + Isai. xxxii. 11. ‡ Zeph. i. 10. Before the Overthrow of Catania by an Earthquake, a Noise was heard, vast and horrid, as if all the Artillery in the World was discharged at once.

* Very memorable, and equally tremendous, is the Account of the Earthquake, that visited Sicily, in the Year 1693.

It shook the whole Island. The Mischief it caused, is amazing. Fifty-four Cities and Towns, beside an incredible Number of Villages, were either demolished, or greatly damaged. Catania, one of the most famous and flourishing Cities in the Kingdom, was intirely destroyed. Of 18,914 Inhabitants, 18000 perished.

Another Earthquake almost as dreadful, and in the same Year, spread Desolation through the Colony of Jamaica. In two Minutes Time, it shook down, and laid under Water, pine Tenths of the Town of Port-royal. In less than a Minute, three Quarters of the Houses, and the Ground they stood on, together with the Inhabitants, were quite funk: and the little Part left behind, was no better than Heaps of Rubbish. -The Shake was so violent, that it threw People down upon their Knees, or their Faces, as they were running about for Shelter. The Ground heaved and swelled, like a rolling Sea; and several Houses, still standing, were shuffled some Yards out of their Places. The Earth would crack and yawn; would open and shut, quick and fast. Of which horrid Openings, two or three hundred might be seen at once. In some whereof, the People went down, and were seen no more. In some they descended, and rose again in other Streets, or in the Middle of the Harbour. Some swiftly closing, seized the miserable Creatures, and pressed them to Death; leaving their Heads, or half their Bodies above Ground, to be a Spectacle of Terror, and a Prey to Dogs. Out of others would issue whole Rivers of Water, spouted to a great Height in the Air, and threatening a Deluge to that Part, which the Earthquake spared .- Scarce a Planting-house or Sugar-work was lest standing in all the Island. Two thousand Lives were lost, and a thousand Acres of Land funk. The whole was attended with frightful Noises, your strong Towers? They are shattered in Pieces.—To the stronger Rocks? They are thrown out of their Place.—To the open Fields? They are a frightful Gulph, yawning to devour You.—Where-ever You sty; in the Wildness of your Distraction, where-ever you seek for Shelter; It shall be, as if a Man sted from a Lion, and a Bear met Him; or went into the House, and leaned his Hand upon the Wall, and a Serpent bit Him*.

Yet, there is one Place of Refuge, which will prove an inviolable Sanctuary, and a perfect Security. I mean, the great, the gracious, the adorable REDEEMER's Righteousness. Hither let Us betake ourselves. Now, before the Day of Desolation cometh, let us betake Ourselves to this Strong-hold. Then, shall We have no Reason to fear, though the Earth be moved, and though the Hills be carried into the Midst of the Sea. For thus saith GOD. the omnipotent and faithful GOD; The Sun and the Moon shall be darkened, and the Stars shall withdraw their Shining. The LORD also shall roar out of Sion, and utter bis Voice from Jerusalem. The Heavens and the Earth shall shake; but the LORD JESUS CHRIST, will with brimstone Blass, and offensive Smells. The noisome Vapours belched forth, corrupted the Air, and brought on a general Sickness; which swept away more than three thousand of those, who escaped the Fury of the Earthquake. See Chamb. Dist. on the Word Earthquake.

Amos v. 19.

be the Hope of his People, and the Strength of the Children of Israel *.—Or, if the true Believer is involved, in the same undistinguished Ruin with the Ungodly; even this shall turn to his Gain. It shall exempt Him from the lingering Pains, and the melancholy Solemnities of a dying Bed. Like Elijah's fiery Chariot, it shall speedily wast his Soul to the Bosom of his SAVIOUR. While the hideous Cavern, that whelms his Body in the Center, shall be its Chamber of Rest, till the beloved BRIDE-GROOM comes, and the Day of Resurrection dawns.

We lift up our Eyes, and behold the radiant Colours, which flush the Forehead of the Morning: We turn, and gaze upon the no less beautiful Tinges, which impurple the Cheek of Evening. We throw around our View, and are delighted with numberless Forms of Fertility, that both decorate and inrich our Plains.—Whereas, other Countries are over-run with immense Swarms of Locusts: which intercept, where-ever they fly, the fair Face of Day; and destroy, where-ever they alight, the green Treasures of the Ground.

Ah! what avails it, that the laborious Hind fows his Acres; or the skilful Husbandman prunes his Vineyard? That Spring, with her prolific prolific Moisture, swells the Bud; or, with her delicate Pencil, paints the Blossom? Nor Grain, nor Fruit, can hope for Maturity; while these rapacious and baleful Creatures infest the Neighbourhood. They ravage the Gardens. They strip the Trees, and shave the Meadows. Scarce a single Leaf remains on the Boughs, or so much as a single Stalk in the Furrows. A Fire devoureth before them, and behind them a Flame burneth: the Land is as the Garden of Eden before them, and behind them a desolate Wilderness: yea, and nothing can escape them *.

* Jeel iii. 16, 17.

Now, let the dreadful Artillery roar from all its iron Throats, and difgorge the heaviest Glut of mortal Hail. Now, Ye Sons of Slaughter; Men skilful to destroy +; now hurl the sulphureous Globes, which kindle into a Hurricane of Fire, and burst in ragged Instruments of Ruin.—To no Purpose. The linked Thunderbolts are turned into Stubble; the bursting Bombs are accounted as Straw. These Armies of * A Fire devoureth before them, and behind them a Flame burneth. Joel ii. 3. This is one of those bold and expressive Metaphors, in which the Hebrew Language delights, and by which it is eminently distinguished. It signifies a total Devastation of the vegetable Produce. Such as must ensue, if a raging and resistless Fire attended the Progress of these pernicious Animals: burning with such vehement Impetuosity, that None could quench it; spreading such extensive Havock, that nothing could escape it.

+ Ezek. xxi. 31,

of the Air, laugh at all the formidable Preparations of War; and when they fall on the Sword, they shall not be wounded *-Surprising and awful Destination of the everlasting GOD! At once, to stain the Pride, and chastise the Guilt of Man! These are a despicable and puny Race; clad in no Coat of Mail, but crushed by the slightest Touch. They wear neither Sword, nor Scymeter, nor any offenfive Weapon. Yet, in spite of opposing Legions, they carry on their Depredations, and push their Conquests. Terror marches in their Front, and Famine brings up the Rear. They spread universal Devastation, as they advance; and frequently give the Signal, for the Pestilence to follow. Potent Armies lose their Hands, and haughty Tyrants tremble for their Dominions.

0!

The Prophet Joel, foretelling the Plague of Locuftz, gives, under the Image of an embattled Host, a most awful Display, of their terrible Appearance; their impetuous Progress; the horrible Dread they raise, as they advance; and the irreparable Mischief they leave, as they depart. Adding, amongst other amazing Circumstances, When they fall upon the Sword, they shall not be wounded. Which implies, I apprehend, that no Method of Slaughter should prove destructive to their Troops; or, that every Expedient, contrived for their Suppression, should be utterly bassed. Being, through their immense Numbers as invincible, as if every one was absolutely invulnerable. For, though Millions and Millions should perish, by the Weapons of War; even such a Blow, in reference to their whole collective Body, should scarce be perceived as a Loss, scarce be felt as a Wound; neither diminishing their Strength, nor retarding their March. Joel ii. 8.

O! that the Natives of Great-Britain would bethink themselves! Would break off their Sins by Righteousness, and their Iniquities by cherishing the Influences of the Divine SPI-RIT! Lest this overflowing Scourge *, under which fome neighbouring Kingdoms have feverely imarted, should be commissioned to visit our Borders, and avenge the Quarrel of its MAKER's Honour.—Distant as those countless Legions are, with interposing Seas between; yet, if GOD lift up a Standard from far, or but his + unto them from the Ends of the Overflowing Scourge, Isai. xxviii. 15. It is the Property of a Scourge to last, of a River to overflow. The sacred Writer, by an elegant παρονομασια which He often uses, has connected these different Ideas and different Effects. The vindictive Visitation, with which He threatens the disobedient Jews, shall pierce deep as a Scourge, and spread wide as an Inundation. They shall feel it to their very Souls; and it shall involve the whole Nation in Misery, Anguish, and Ruin.

There seems to be such a Form of Expression in the Service of our Church. When We pray, in behalf of our Fellow-christians; " pour upon them the continual Dew of thy "Bleffing." That which may be refreshing and salutary as the Dew, yet copious and abundant as the Shower.

+ His unto them. Isai. v. 26. With great Significancy, and peculiar Grandeur, the Prophet applies this Expression to the LORD GOD of Hosts, influencing the most powerful Armies, q. d. "They come, without a Moment's "Delay, and, from the remotest Regions of the Earth, to execute all his Pleasure. Formidable and Innumerable as they are, they come—I say not, upon his repeated Iniunctions, or at his first Command—but at the first, the " very [mallest Intimation of his Will."—Such as the Shepherds used to their Flocks; such as the Bee-men, of old,

DIALOGUE

the Earth; they come with Speed swiftly.-Who will convey this Wish to the Ears, who will transmit it to the Hearts, of my Countrymen? That our Land may always appear, as it does at present, like the Darling of Providence. May always resound with the Voice of Joy, and be filled with the Fruits of Plenty. May always wear the Robe of Beauty, and be adorned with the Smile of Peace.

How great are the Advantages of Peace! faid Theron. Peace at her Leisure plans, and leads out Industry to execute, all the noble and commodious Improvements, which We behold on every Side. Peace fets the Mark of Property on our Possessions, and bids Justice guarantee them to our Enjoyment. Peace spreads over Us the Banner of the Laws, while We taste, free from Outrage, and secure from Injury, the Milk and Honey of our honest Toil*.

Amidst

to their Swarms; or such as We, in these Days, to some of our domestic Animals.—The Hebrew אישרק I would not translate, At his Whistle; because this Phrase, in our Language, creates a vulgar Sound, and conveys a low Idea: but such is the Import of the Original. Which denotes all that unconcerned Ease of Action, without any of the offensive Familiarity of Diction.

* Pax optima Rerum, says the Latin Poet.—But the Orientals, I think, discover the most superlative Esteem for this Bleffing, by making it the constant Form of their Salutations, and the Subject of their most cordial Wishes for their Friends; PEACE BE UNTO THEE !- In this short Sentence, they seem to have comprised a whole Volume of Mercies: meaning, by their single שלום, all that the Greeks expressed by their - —Amidst the tumultuous Confusions of War, who could have a Heart to contrive, or a Hand to accomplish, any such Works of Dignity and Use? In those Days of Darkness and Distraction, how languid to the Sight are all the dewy Landschapes of Spring? How insipid to the Taste are all the delicious Flavours of Autumn?—When the Nation is over-run with Armies, and embroiled in Slaughter, a trembling Heart, and Fatting of Eyes, and Sorrow of Mind*, are the dismal Distinction of the Times. Instead of a calm Acquiescence in our Portion, our very Life hangs in continual Suspence.

But what are all the Benefits of external Peace, though displayed in the fairest Light, and inlivened by the strongest Contrasts—
What are they all, compared with the Blessings of the Gospel? By which Sinners may have Peace with GOD through JESUS CHRIST our LORD.

This.

į

their xaipein, uyiainein, euwparlein; i.e. A Confluence of that Joy of Mind, that Health of Body, that Prosperity of outward Circumstances, which complete the Happiness of Mankind.

We have a fine Description of Peace, and its various Blessings, I Maccab. xiv. 8, 9, &c. The Picture is very exact, though perfectly artless. Nothing should hinder me from transcribing the Passage, but a Fear of being too dissure in my Notes. Lest the Reader, who expects a Treat, should complain of a Glutt: or have Reason to object, that the Side-board is more copiously furnished than the Table.

Deut. xxviii. 65.

208 DIALOGUE XVIL

This, refumed Afpaho, suggests a fresh Instance of Happiness, which We possess, and Other: want; never to be omitted in our Catalogue of peculiar Mercies. I might add, never to be forgotten, by any Christian, on any Occasion .- While many Kingdoms of the Earth, are ignorant of the true GOD, and know neither the Principles of Fiety, nor the Paths of Happinels; the Day-spring from on High hath vifited Us, to give the Knowledge of Salvation, and to guide our Feet into the Way of Peace. - While Millions of rebellious Angels, east from their native Thrones, are referved in Chains of Darkness, unto the Judgment of the great Day; We, though rebellious and apostate Sinners of Mankind, are delivered from the Wrath to come. The holy JESUS (blefsed he his redeeming Goodness!) has endured the Cross, and despised the Shame, on purpose to refere Us from those doleful and ignominious Dungeons; where the Prisoners of Almighty Vengeance ——— Converse with Groans, Unrespited, unpitied, unreprieved, Ages of hopeless End.

Yes, my dear Theron; let me repeat your own important Words; "What are all the "Benefits of external Peace, though displayed "in the fairest Light, and inlivened by the frongest

"ftrongest Contrasts—What are they all, "compared with the Blessings of the Gospel?"—This brings the Olive-branch from Heaven, and glad Tidings of Reconciliation with our offended GOD. This composes the Tumult of the Mind; disarms the warring Passions; and regulates the extravagant Desires. This introduces such an Integrity of Heart, and Benevolence of Temper, as constitute the Health of the Soul. This spreads such an uniform Beauty of Holiness through the Conduct, as is far more amiable, than the most engaging Forms of material Nature.

O! that Thou wouldest bow the Heavens! That Thou wouldest come down, celestial Vifitant; and make thy stated, thy favourite Abode in our Isle! That every Breast might be animated with thy Power; and every Community, every Individual, might wear thy refplendent Badge!—Then should it be the least Ingredient of our public Felicity, That the Sword of Slaughter is beaten into a Ploughshare, and the once bloody Spear bent into a Pruning-hook. It shall be the lowest upon the Lift of our common Bleffings, That Violence is no more heard in our Land, Wasting and Destruction within our Borders. Our very Officers will be Peace, and our Exactors * Righteousness. shall

If it. 17. Officers and Exactors fignify Persons, vested with public Authority: who have it in their Power, to rule with shall call (and the Event will correspond with the Name) our Walls Salvation, and our Gates Praise. Then shall every Harp be taken down from the Willows, and every Voice burst into a Song.—" Let other Climes—will be the ge" neral Acclamation—

"Let other Climes support Myriads of those curious Insects, which draw the delicate Thread, that softens into Velvet, stiffens into Brocade, or flows in glossy Satten; that reflects a lovelier Glow on the Cheek of Beauty, and renders Royalty itself more majestic. We are presented with infinitely finer Robes, in the imputed Righteousness of our REDEEMER, and the inherent Sanctisication of his SPIRIT. Which beautify the very Soul, and prepare it for the illuftrious Assembly—of Saints in Light—of Angels in Glory.

" Let

with Rigour. But these, instead of abusing their Power, shall conduct the Administration, with all possible Equity and Gentleness; with a parental Tenderness, rather than a magisterial Austerity. So that, though the Title and Office of an Exactor may remain; nothing of the domineering Infolence, or oppressive Severity, shall continue.—The Prophet, who always delivers his Sentiments with the utmost Emphasis, says; They shall be, not bearly peaceable and righteous, but possessed of these Qualities in the highest Degree. Or, which implies more, than any other Words can express, They shall be Peace and Righteousness itself.—The same beautiful Figure is used in the next Clause, which describes the inviolable Security of the City, together with the universal both Joy and Piety of the Inhabitants.

"Let eastern Rocks sparkle with Diamonds, and give Birth to Gems of every dazzling Tincture. We have, hid in the Field of our Scriptures, the Pearl of great Price; the white and precious Stone of perfect Absolution; a Diadem, which will shine with undiminished Lustre, when all the brilliant Wonders of the Mine are faded, extinguished, lost.

"Let richer Soils nourish the noblest Plants, "and warmer Suns concoct their exquisite "Juices; the Lemon, pleasingly poignant; "the Citron, more mildly delicious; or that Pride of vegetable Life, and Compendium of all the Blandishments of Taste, the Pine-apple. We enjoy far more exalted Dainties, in having Access to the Tree of Life; whose Leaves are for the Healing of the Nations; whose Boughs are replenished with a never-failing Abundance of heavenly Fruits; and the Nutriment they dispense, is Bliss and Immortality.

"Let Iberian Vines swell the translucent Cluster, and burst into a Flood of generous Wine: let the Tuscan Olive extract the Fat"ness of the Earth, and melt into a soft mel"liftuous Stream. We shall neither envy,
"nor covet these inferior Gifts, so long as "We may draw Water out of the Wells of "Salva-

• Rev. ii. 17- + Rev. xxii. 2. Vol. III, D d

"Salvation. So long as We may receive that " Unction from the HOLYONE *, those In-" fluences of the COMFORTER, which not " only make a chearful Countenance, but " gladden the very Heart. Imparting such a

" refined Satisfaction, as the whole World can-" not give; fuch a permanent Satisfaction, as

" no Calamities can take away.

"Let Ethiopian Mountains be ribbed with "Marble, and Peruvian Mines emboweled " with Gold. We want neither the impene-"trable Quarry, nor the glittering Ore; hav-"ing, in our adored MESSIAH, a fure Foun-" dation for all our eternal Hopes, and an in-" exhaustible Fund of the divinest Riches.

"Be it so; that our Iss is but a creeping "Drop; and the Thames itself, no more than " a scanty Rivulet; compared with the mag-" nificent Sweep of the Ganges, or the stupen-" dous Amplitude of Rio de la Plata +. The " wretched

* 1 7ohn ii. 20.

† This River is near two hundred Miles broad, where it discharges itself into the Sea. It pours such an immense Quantity of the liquid Element into the Atlantic Ocean, that fresh Water may be taken up for the Space of many a League. It continues thus amazingly vast through a Course of fix hundred Miles: when it divides into two mighty Branches, the Parana and the Paraguay. Which, having run in separate Channels, several thousand Miles along the Country, unite at last; and form, by their Conflux, this magnificent and spacious Stream. Which is supposed to be the largest River in the World.—To frame a proper Idea of this prodigious Torrent, We should imagine a River, taking its Rise

"wretched Natives, even on the Banks of those stately Rivers, are at a Distance from all the Springs of true Consolation. Where-as, We have a Fountain, We have a River, that issues from the Ocean of eternal Love. With incomparable Dignity, and with equal Propriety, it is styled The River of Life*. It visits the House of the Mourner, and re-vives the Spirit of the Sorrowful. It makes glad the City, and makes happy the Servants of our GOD. It quickens even the Dead; and every human Creature, that drinks of its Water, lives for ever.

"Let Afiatic Islands boast their Mountains of Myrrh, and Hills of Frankincense. Let Arabian Groves, with a superior Liberality, distil their healing Gums; and ripen, for vigorous Operation, their vital Drugs. We have a more sovereign Remedy, than their most powerful Restoratives, in the great MEDIATOR's atoning Blood. We have a more restreshing Banquet, than all their mingled Sweets, in commemorating his Passer sion, and participating his Merits.

"In short; We have an Equivalent, far more than an Equivalent, for all those choice "Pro-beyond Jerusalem; and, after having received all the Waters of Europe into its capacious Bed, making its Entry on the British Ocean, by a Mouth extended from Dover to Brifiel.

Rev. xxii. 1.

" Productions, which bloom in the Gardens, " or bask in the Orchards of the Sun. " have a Gospel, rich in precious Privileges, " and abounding with inestimable Promises: "We have a SAVIOUR, full of forgiving "Goodness, and liberal of renewing Grace. " whose auspicious Approach, Fountains spout " amidst the burning Desart; under whose "welcome Footsteps, the fandy Waste smiles " with Herbage; and beneath his potent Touch, "The Wilderness buds and blossoms as a Rose *. "Or, to speak more plainly, the desolate and " barren Soul brings forth those Fruits of the "SPIRIT, which are infinitely more orna-" mental, than the filken Gems of Spring; in-" finitely more beneficial, than the falubrious "Stores of Autumn.

"We have a SAVIOUR-Tell it out " among the Heathen; that all the Nations " on Earth, may partake of the Gift, and " join in the Song—A SAVIOUR We have, "whose radiant Eye brightens the gloomy " Paths of Affliction. Whose efficacious " Bleffing makes all Things work together, for " the Good + of his People. Death gilded by " his propitious Smile, even Death itself looks "gay. Nor is the Grave, under his benign "Administration, any longer a Den of De-" struction; but a short and shady Avenue to " those

• Ifai. xxxv. 1. + Rom. viii. 28.

"those immortal Mansions; whose Foundations are laid with Sapphires; whose Windows are of Agate; the Gates of Carbuncle; and all the Borders of pleasant Stones *."

Pardon my Rhapsody, dear Theron. Your own Remark, added to the grand and lovely Views, have warmed, have animated, have almost transported me.—Theron answered not a Word: but seemed fixed in Thought.—
While He is indulging his Contemplation, We may just observe some other Peculiarities of the Prospect.

Here and there, a lonely Cottage scarcely lifts its humble Head. No pompous Swell of projecting Steps, surrounds the Door: no appendent Wings of inferior Offices, skirt the Edifice: no stately Hall, slabbed with Marble, and roofed with Sculpture, receives the gazing Stranger. But young-eyed Health, and white-robed Innocence, with sweet-featured Contentment, adorn the Habitation. While Virtue lends her Graces, and Religion communicates her Honours, to dignify the Abode: rendering the blameless Hutt superior, in real Majesty, to a dissolute Court.

At some Distance, appear the hoary Remains of an antient Monastery. Sunk beneath the Weight of revolving Years, the once venerable nerable Fabric is levelled with the Dust. lofty and ornamented Temple, lies rudely overgrown with Moss, or still more ignobly covered with Weeds. The Walls, where fainted Imagery stood, or idolized Painting shone, are clapfed with twining Ivy, or shagged with horrid Thorn.—Through Isles, that once echoed to the Chantor's Voice, mingled with the Organ's majestic Sound, the hollow Winds roar, and the dashing Storm drives. Where are, now, the filent Cells, the vocal Choirs, the dusky Groves? In which the romantic Saints prolonged their lonely Vigils, by the midnight Taper; or poured their united Prayers, before the Lark had waked the Morn; or strolled, in ever-musing Melancholy, along the Moonlight Glade.—Surely, those mouldering Fragments teach, and with a much better Grace, with a much stronger Emphasis, what formerly their unsocial and gloomy Residentiaries professed, They teach the Vanity of the World, and the transitory Duration of all that is most stable, in this Region of Shadows.

* Ifai. liv. 12.

Behold, on yonder Eminence, the rueful Memorials of a magnificent Cafile. All dif-mantled, and quite demolished, it gives a Shading of Solemnity to the more lively Parts of Nature's Picture; and attempers the rural Delight, with some Touches of alarming Dread.

War, destructive War, has snatched the Scythe

Scythe from the Hand of Time, and hurried on the Steps of Destiny. Those broken Columns, and battered Walls; those prostrate Towers, and Battlements dashed to the Ground; carry evident Marks of an immature Down-They were built for Ages, and for Ages might have stood, a Defence and Accommodation to Generations yet unborn; if haply they had escaped the dire Assaults of hostile Rage.—But, what Vigilance of Man, can prevent the Miner's dark Approach? Or what Solidity of Bulwark, can withstand the bellowing Engine's impetuous Shock?

Those, perhaps, were the Rooms, in which licentious Mirth crowned with Roses the sparkling Bowl, and tuned to the Silver-founding Lute the Syren's inchanting Song. the Scenes of voluptuous Indulgence, where Luxury poured her Delicacies: where Beauty, insidious Beauty, practised her Wiles; and spread, with bewitching Art, her wanton Snares. -Now, instead of the riotous Banquet, and Intrigues of lawless Love, the Owl utters her hated Screams by Night, and the Raven flaps her ominous Wing by Day.—Where are the Violet-couches, and the Woodbine-bowers; that fanned, with their breathing Sweets, the polluted Flame? The Soil feems to fuffer for the Abuses of the Owner. Blasted and dishonoured, it produces nothing but ragged D d 4 Briars, Briars, and noisome Nettles; under whose odious Covert, the hissing Snake glides, or the croaking Toad crawls.—Fearful Intimation of that ignominious and doleful Catastrophe, which awaits the Sons of Riot! When their momentary Gratifications will drop like the faded Leaf; and leave nothing behind, but Pangs of Remorse, keener far than the pointed Thorn, and more invenomed than the Viper's Tooth.

Perhaps, they were the beauteous and honoured Abodes, where Grandeur and Politeness walked their daily Round, attended with a Train of guiltless Delights. Where amiable and refined Friendship was wont to sit and smile; looking Love, and talking the very Soul. Where Hospitality, with Oeconomy always at her Side, stood beckoning to the distressed, but industrious *Poor; and showered

* I say distressed, but industrious Poor—Because, I would not be understood, as encouraging, in any Degree, the Relief of our common Beggars.—Towards the former, I would cultivate a tender and ever-yearning Compassion; I would anticipate their Complaints; and, as a facred Writer directs, would even SEEK to do them Good.—But as to the latter, I strankly own, that I look upon it as my Duty, to discourage such Cumberers of the Ground. They are, generally speaking, lusty Drones; and their habitual Begging, is no better than a specious Robbing of the public Hive. For such strategies, supplicants, who are able to undergo the Fatigue of Traveling; able to endure the Inclemencies of the Weather; and consequently much more able, were they equally willing, to exercise themselves in some Species of laudable

Blessings from her liberal Hand.—But War, detested War, has stretched over the social and inviting laudable Industry—For these, the House of Correction would be a far more salutary Provision, than any Supply from our Table; and Confinement to Labour, a much more beneficial Charity, than the Liberality of the Purse.

We should remember, and they should be taught, that the Law ordained by the Court of Heaven, is, If a Man will not work, neither shall He eat. If then We contribute to support them in Idleness, do We not counterast and frustrate this wise Regulation, established by the great SOVEREIGN of the Universe?—Is it not also a Wrong to the deserving Poor, if We suffer these Wens on the Body politic to draw off the Nourishment, which ought to circulate amongst the valuable and useful Members?—Money or Victuals bestowed on these worthless Wretches, is not real Beneficence, but the Earnest-penny of Sloth. It pays them, for being public Nuisances; and hires them, to be good for nothing.

Let Us then unanimously join, to shake off these dead, Weights from our Wheels, and dislodge these Swarms of Vermin from our State. Let Us be deaf to their most importunate Clamours; and affure Ourselves, that, by this determined Inflexibility, We do GOD, We do our Community, We do them, the most substantial Service. - Should they implore by the injured Name of JESUS; for the Honour of the LORD JESUS, let Us resolutely with-hold Their Meaning is,—" I cannot go on, in my our Alms. orefent shameful and iniquitous Course; I can no longer continue to act the wicked and flothful Servant; unless You " will administer some kindly pernicious Assistance. " CHRIST's fake, therefore, affift me to dishonour my ChristianName, and to live more infamously than the vilest Beasts. " For CHRIST's fake, help me to be a Reproach and Burden " to my native Country; and to perfift in the Way, that " leads to eternal Destruction."—This is the true Import of their Petitions. And, whether the Sanction of that most venerable Name, added to such a Request, should move our Commiseration, or excite our Abhorrence, let every thinking Person judge.

I trust, the Reader will be so candid, as to excuse this long digressive Note; and do me the Justice to believe, That I inviting Seat, the Line of Confusion, and the Stones of Emptiness*. Now, alas! nothing but Desolation and Horror haunt the savage Retreat. The ample Arches of the Bridge, which so often transmitted the wondering Passenger along their pensile Way, lie buried in the dreary Mote.—Those Relics of the massy Portals, naked and abandoned, seem to be moan their melancholy Condition. No splendid Chariots, with their gay Retinue, frequent the solitary Avenues. No needy Steps, with chearful Expectations, besiege the once bountiful Gate. But all is a miserable, forlorn, hideous Pile of Rubbish.

Since Riches so often take to themselves Wings, and fly away: since Houses, great and fair, reel upon their Foundations, and so soon tumble into Dust: how wise, how salutary, is our divine MASTER'S Advice! Make to your-felves Friends with the Mammon of Unrighteous-ness; that, when the World fails around You, when the Springs of Nature fail within You;

am not pleading against, but for the real Poor: not to berden any One's Heart, but rather to direct every One's Hand.—Give, out of Gratitude to CHRIST, out of Compassion to the Needy, and be for ever blessed. But give not to incorrigible Vagrants; to maintain Impiety, and pamper Indolence; less it be demanded, one Day, subse hath required this at your Hand? Less, by supporting dissolute Creatures in that abandoned Sloth, which is the Nurse of all Vice, We become Partakers of their Guilt, and accessary to their Ruin.

* Ifai. xxxiv. 11,

they, as Witnesses of your Charity, and Vouchers for the Sincerity of your Faith, may receive You into everlasting Habitations*.—This is to lay up Treasure for Ourselves +: Whereas, whatever else We amass, is for our Heirs, for our Successors, for We know not Who. This Wealth is truly and emphatically called our own ‡: it is an Advowson; We have the Perpetuity. Whereas, whatever else We posses, is ours only for a Turn, or in Trust.

See the dreadful, dreadful Ravages of civil Discord! Where-ever that infernal Fury stalks, She marks her Steps in Blood, and leaves opulent Cities a ruinous Heap ||.—What Thanks then,

* Luke xvi. 9. + Matt. vi. 20. | Luke xvi. 12.

The Effects of what Virgil calls Bella, berrida Bella, were never displayed in Colours that glow, and with Figures that alarm, like those which are used by the Prophet Jeremiah. Chap. iv. 19, &c. As this is perhaps the greatest Master-piece of the Kind, the Reader will permit me to inrich the Notes, with a Transcript of the Passage.

First We see, or rather We seel, the Effects of War on the human-Mind; the keenest Anguish, and the deepsst Dismay. My Bowels! My Bowels! I am pained at my very Heart. My Heart maketh a Noise in me; I cannot hold my Peace: because Thou hast heard, O my Soul, the Sound of the Trumpet, the Alarm of War.—Destruction upon Destruction is tried; for the Land is spoiled. Suddenly are my Tents spoiled, and my Curtains in a Moment.—How long shall I see the Standard, and hear the Sound of the Trumpet?

Then We see the dismal Devastations of War; and who does not shudder at the Sight? The whole Country laid in Ruins! Deprived of all its Ornaments, and all its Inhabitants! Reduced to a Solitude, and a Chaes. I beheld the Borth, and lo! it was without Form and woid: and the Hoa-then, what ardent and ceaseless Thanks, are dué to that all-superintending, ever-gracious LORD, who has dashed the Torch from her Hand; has broke her murderous Weapons; and driven the baleful Pest from our Island!—May the same almighty Goodness shortly banish the accurred Monster from all Lands! Banish the Monster, with her hated Associate Rapine, and her insatiable Purveyor Ambition, to the deepest, deepest Hell. Branded with everlasting Infamy, and bound in adamantine Chains, there let them gnash their Teeth, and bite the inevitable Curb!—While Peace, descending from her native Heaven, bids her Olives spring amidst the joyful Nations: and Plenty, in League with Commerce, scatters Bleffings from her copious Horn. While Gladness smiles in every Eye; and Love, extensive universal Love, leveling the Partition-wall of Bigotry, cements every Heart in brotherly Affection.

Near those Heaps of Havock, lies the Spot, ever-memorable and still revered, on which an obstivens, and they had no Light.—I beheld the Mountains, and lo! they trembled, and all the Hills moved lightly.—I beheld, and lo! there was no Man, and all the Birds of the Heavens were fled.—I beheld, and lo! the fruitful Place was a Wilderness, and all the Cities thereof were broken down, at the Presence of the LORD, and by his sierce Anger.

If, after all this Profusion of Imagery, bold and animated even to Astonishment, We can have any Relish for the cold Correctness of a beathen Genius, We may find something of the same Nature in Horace, Lib. II. Od. 1.

obstinate and fatal Battle was fought.—The Husbandman, as He breaks his fallow Lands, or rend the graffy Turf, often discovers the horrid Implements, and the more horrid Effects, of that bloody Conflict. He starts, to hear his Coulter strike upon the Bosses of a rusty Buckler, or gride over the Edge of a blunted Sword. He turns pale, to see human Bones thrown up before his Plough; and stands aghast to think, that, in cutting his Furrow, He opens a Grave. -The grey-headed Sire often relates to his Grandsons, hanging with eager Attention on the Tale, and trembling for the Event-relates the difmal, the glorious Deed of that important Day.—How, the Fields, now covered with waving Crops, were then loaded with mangled and ghastly Corpses. How the Pastures, now green with Herbage, were then incrimfoned with human Gore.—" On that " extended Common, He fays, where the bufy " Shepherd is erecting his hurdled Citadel, the "Tents were spread, and the Banners display-" ed; the Spears briftled in Air, and the bur-" nished Helmets glittered to the Sun. "yonder rising Ground, where the frisking. "Lambs play their harmless Frolics, stood "the martial Files, clad in Mail, and ranged " in Battle-array; stood War, with all its col-" lected Horrors, like some black portentous "Cloud, ready to burst into an immediate " Storm

"Storm—On the nearer Plain, where the " quiet Steed grazes in Safety, and those so-" ber Oxen chew the juicy Herb, the fierce There, the Javelins, "Incounter mixed. " launched from nervous Arms, and aimed by " vengeful Eyes, flew and reflew, whizzing " with Death. The Arrows lightened * from " the Strings; and drenched their keen Points. " and dipped their feathered Wings in Blood. "-Soon as this Shower of missive Steel " ceased, instantly outsprung Thousands of " flaming Swords. They clash on the brazen "Shields; they cut their Way through the "riven Armour; and sheath their Blades in " many a gallant dauntless Heart.-Here, on " this distinguished Level, the proud presump-"tuous Enemy, confident of Victory, and " boasting of their Numbers, poured in like " a Flood. There, a bold determined Batta-"lion, of which myself was a Part, planted "themselves like a Rock, and broke the fierce " Attack.

"Then, adds the brave old Warrior, then the coward Herd fled before the Vengeance of our conquering Arms. Then, these Hands ftrewed

Habak. iii. 11. ברק חניתן literally translated, prefents Us with that beautifully bold Figure, The Lightening of thy Spear.—Which, with innumerable other Graces of Speech, that give Dignity and Spirit to our modern Compositions, are borrowed from the Language of Sion; are transplanted from the School of the Prophets.—See the same Elegance of Style, Nabum iii. 3. Heb. Bib.

"Itrewed the Plains with a Harvest, different far from their present Productions. Then, the Fathers, smitten with inexpressible Dread, looked not back on their Children ; though thuddering at the lifted Spear, or screaming under the brandished Sword. The Fathers looked not back on their Children, though they fell among the Slain, gashed with deadly "Wounds;

For this very striking, and most terrific Image, We are obliged to the Prophet Jereniah. Who, in a few Words, but with all the Pomp of Horror, describes the Din of approaching War, and the Consternation of a vanquished People. At the Noise of the Stamping of the Hoofs of his strong Horses, at the Rushing of his Chariots, and at the Rumbling of his Wheels, the Fathers shall not look back unto their Children, for Feebleness of Hands, Jerem. XIvii. 3.

Children, for Feeb'eness of Hands, Jerem. xlvii. 3.

Not to mention the Thunder-like Sound of the Diction; and that in a Language much less sonorous than the original; I appeal to every Reader, Whether the last Circumstance does not awaken the Idea of so tremendous a Scene, and so horrible a Dread, as no Words can express. Virgil has imitated the Prophet's Manner, in that very delicate descriptive Touch; where, representing the prodigious Alarm, excited by the Yell of the infernal Fury, He says;

Et trepidæ Matres pressere ad Pectora Natos.

That is, Each frighted Mother clasped the Infant to her fluttering Bosom.

No One, I believe, need be informed, that the Pannic is painted, with a very superior Energy, by the Poet of Heaven. In the Pagan's Draught, the Effect of Fear results from the Constitution, and coincides with the Bias of Humanity. Whereas, in the Prophet's Picture, it counter-acts, it supends, it intirely over-bears the tenderest Workings and strongest Propensities of Nature; though instigated, on one Hand, by the most importunate Calls of exquisite Distress! and stimulated, on the other, by all the Solicitations of the most yearaing Compassion.

"Wounds; or lay expiring, in Groans of Agony, under our Feet."

The Eye is pleased with the elegant Gaiety of the Parterre; the Ear is foothed with the warbling Melody of the Grove; but grand Objects, and the Magnificence of Things, charm and transport the whole Man. The Mind, on fuch Occasions, seems to expand with the Scene, and fecretly exults in the Confciousness of her Greatness.—Intent upon these large and excursive Views, our Friends scarce advert to the minuter Beauties, which address them on every Side. The Swan, with her fnowy Plumes, and loftily bending Head; with all her fuperb Air and lordly State, rows unnoticed by.—Equally unnoticed is both the Array and the Action of the Duck; her gloffy Neck and finely chequered Wings; her Diving into the Deep, or her Darting up into Day.— The Swallow, skimming the Air in wanton Circles, or dipping her downy Breast in the Flood, courts their Observation in vain. Nor could the finny Shoales obtain their Regard, though they played before the Boat in fportive Chace; or, glancing quick to the Surface, shewed their pearly Coats, bedropt with Gold.—Thus they, engaged in sublime, neglect inferior Speculations. And if the Sons of Religion overlook the diminutive, transent, deludelusory Forms of Pleasure, that float on the narrow Stream of Time, or flit along the scanty Bounds of Sense; it is only to contemplate and enjoy a Happiness in their GOD, which is elevated, substantial, and immortal. Compared with which, whatever the Eye can survey, from Pole to Pole, from the rising to the setting Sun, is a Cockle-shell, a Buttersly, a Bubble.

From this open and inlarged Scene, they enter the Skirts of a vast, umbrageous, venerable Forest.—On either Side, the sturdy and gigantic Sons of Earth, rear their aged Trunks. and spread their branching Arms. Trees, of every hardy Make, and every majestic Form, in agreeable Disorder, and with a wild kind of Grandeur, fill the aerial Regions. huge, expansive, roaming Boughs unite themselves over the Current, and diffuse " their "Umbrage, broad and brown as Evening." The timorous Deer start at the Clashing of the Alarmed with the unufual Sound, they look up, and gaze for a Moment: then, fly into Covert, by various Ways, and with precipitate Speed; vanishing, rather than departing, from the Glade.

How awful to reflect, as they glide along the shaving Shores, and the moss-grown Banks; as they sail under the pendent Shades of quivering Poplar, of whistling Fir, and Vol. III. E e the the folemn-founding Foliage of the Oak—how awful to reflect, "These were the lonely

- " Haunts of the Druids, two thousand Years
- " ago! Amidst these dusky Mazes, and sym-
- " pathetic Glooms, the penfive Sages strayed.
- " Here, they fought, they found, and with all
- " the Solemnity of superstitious Devotion,
- " they gathered their Misletoe *. Here, the
- " visionary Recluses shunned the tumultuous
- "Ways of Men, and traced the mysterious
- " Paths of Providence. Here, they explored
- " the Secrets of Nature, and invoked their
- " fabled Gods."

Sometimes wrapt in a sudden Reverie of Thought, sometimes engaged in Conversation on the solemn Appearance of Things, the Voyagers scarce perceive their Progress. Before they are aware, the venerable Scene is lost; and they find themselves advanced upon the

* If the Reader pleases, He may see these pompous Solemnities described, in Vanierii Præd. Rust. pag. 125, &c. Where, the curious Narrative of Pliny, is embellished with the harmonious Numbers of Virgil.—With regard to the Resections, occasioned by this Account; the Compliments lavished on the French, their Religion, and their Monarch; I believe, the judicious Protestant will agree with me, That, as our charming Author has copied the Language, and entered into the Spirit of the Antients; He has also catched a Tincture of their Supersition. Imbibing, together with all their Elegancies and Graces, some of their fansiful and legendary Levities.

Verùm ubi plura nitent in Carmine, non Ego paucis Offendar Macuiis. the Borders of a beautiful Lawn. The Forest, retiring to the Right-hand, in the Shape of a Crescent, composed what Milton styles, "A "verdurous Wall of stateliest Aspect;" and left, in the Midst, an ample Space for the Flourishing of Herbage.

Here, said Theron, if You please, We will alight; and leave the Bearer of our floating Sedan, to pursue his ceaseless Course—to enrich the Bosom of other Vallies, and lave the Feet of other Hills—to visit Cities, and make the Tour of Counties—to reslect the Image of many a splendid Structure, which adorn his Banks; and, what is far more amiable, to distribute, all along his winding Journey, innumerable Conveniencies both for Man and Beast: acquiring, the farther He goes, and the more Benefits He confers, a deeper Flow, and a wider Swell; to the remarkable Confirmation of that beneficent Maxim, There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth.

Theron and Aspasio, walking across the spacious Amphitheatre, seated themselves at the Extremity of the Bend. Before them, lay a verdant Area, quite even; persectly handsome; but far from gay. Green was all the Dress, without any Mixture of gaudy Flowers, or glittering Colours. Only, now-and-then, a gentle Breeze, skimming over the undulating Mead, impressed a varying wavy Gloss on its Surface. The whole seemed to resemble the grave and fober Ornaments of maturer Age, when it has put off the Trappings, and bid adieu to the Levities of Youth.—The broad, transparent Stream, ran parallel with the Lips * of the Channel; and drew a Line of Circumvallation, as it were, to guard the calm It appeared, where shaded with Retreat. Boughs, like a Barrier of polished Steel; where open to the Sun, like a Mirror of flowing Cryfal.—The eastern Edges of the River, were barricadoed with a kind of mountainous Declivity; on whose rude and rocky Sides, the timorous Rabbit burrowed, and the bearded Goat browzed.—Not far from the Summit. two or three Fountains gushed: which, uniting their Currents as they trickled down the Steep, formed a natural Cascade: here, it was lost in the rushy Dells, or obscured by the twisting Roots; there, it burst again into View, and playing full in the Eye of Day, looked like a Sheet of spouting Silver.

E e 2

In this romantic Retirement, said Theron, We are quite sequestered from Society. We seem to be in a World of our own; and should almost be tempted to forget, that We are incompassed with a kindred Species; did not the Music of those silver-tongued Bells, poured from a distant Steeple, and gliding along the gentle Stream, bring Us News of human Kind.

* The Greek, which is above all Languages happy, in its beautiful Variety of compound Words, very neatly expresses this Appearance by—150x11Ans Tn Yn.

Escaped from Man, and his busy Walks, methinks. We are come to the House of Tranquility. Such a deep, undisturbed Compofure reigns all around. It is as if some august Personage was making his Entrance, or some majestic Being was upon the Point to speak, and all Nature stood fixed in attentive Expectation. No Place better fitted to foothe, or to inspire, a contemplative Sedateness.

Observe the Simplicity and Grandeur of those furrounding Trees: the beautiful Plainness of their Verdure, and the prodigious Stateliness of their Aspect. What a Speck are our Gardens, and what a mere Dwarf are our Groves, compared with these vast Plantations? Here is none of your nice Exactness, but all is irregularly and wildly great. Here are no Traces of the Shears, nor any Footsteps of the Spade, but the Handy-work of the DEITY is apparent in all.—Give me the Scenes, which disdain the puny Assistance of Art, and are infinitely superior to the low Toils of Man. Give me the Scenes, which scorn to bribe our Attention, with a little borrowed Spruceness of Shape; but, by their own native Dignity, command our Regard. I love the Prospects, E e 3 which, which, the Moment they are beheld, strike the Soul with Veneration, or transport it with Wonder; and cry aloud, in the Ear of Reafon, Ascribe Ye Greatness to our GOD.—Such, I think, in a very eminent Degree, is the Forest;

High waving o'er the Hills, Or to the vast Horizon wide disfus'd, A boundless deep Immensity of Shade.

Asp. Solomon's refined Genius seems to have been fond of the same Situation, and delighted with the same Objects. Therefore, at a great Expence, and in the most curious Taste, He built The House of the Forest .- Isaiah's divine Imagination was charmed with the same grand Spectacle. More frequently, than any of the Prophets, He derives his Illustrations from it. One Comparison I particularly remember. Speaking of the Affyrian King, and his military Forces, He likens them to fuch an Assemblage of Trees: numerous, as their amazing Multitudes: ftrong, as their massy Trunks. Yet, numerous and potent as they were, they should all be brought low, and laid in the For behold! the LORD, the LORD of Hosts shall lop the Bough with Terror, and the High Ones of Stature shall be bewn down, and the Haughty shall be humbled; and he shall cut down down the Thickets of his Forest with Iron, and Lebanon shall fall by a mighty one *.

Then He passes, by a most beautiful Tranfition, to his darling Topic, the Redemption of Sinners. He gives Us, together with one of the finest Contrasts + imaginable, a View of the MESSIAH and his great Salvation. When those lofty Cedars are leveled with the Ground, there shall come a Rod, a Twig shall fpring from the Stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of bis Roots 1. Which, notwithstanding its mean Original, and unpromising Appearance, shall rear its Head to the Skies, and extend its Shade to the Ends of the Earth.

Ther. You do well, Aspasso, to recal my roving Thoughts. This magnificent Solitude had captivated my Imagination, and I was giving a Loose to the usual Sallies of my Fancy. But, with a willing Compliance, I turn to a more excellent Subject.—Only I must assure you, that your Remark awakens a painful Idea in my Mind, though a joyful one in your. own. For, my Hopes, which were once high and lifted up, are now too much like that devoted prostrate Forest.

Afp.

* Isai. x. 33, 34.
† This fine Contrast, and that artful Transition are, by the injudicious Division of the two Chapters, very much obscured, if not quite lost, to many Readers. The Chapters, I think, should by no means be separated; but, the tenth and the eleventh, as a Continuation of the same Prophecy, should be united. ‡ Isai. xi. 1.

Asp. My dear Theron, give me leave to say, they were never rightly founded. They were, what Shakespeare calls, the baseless Fabric of a Vision. Now the shadowy and transfent Hopes are demolished, that solid and everlasting Joys may succeed. Let them rest on CHRIST, the infinitely glorious REDEEMER, and they shall never be overthrown, never be removed any more.

Cast a Look upon yonder Ivy. What can be more feeble? It has not Strength enough to withstand the slightest Blast. Nay, if left to itself, its own Weight would crush it to the Earth. Yet, by twining around the Oak, how high it rifes, and how firm it stands! An Emblem of our State, and a Pattern for our Imitation.—Thus let Us, who in ourselves are nothing, of ourselves can do nothing, let us fly to CHRIST; rely on CHRIST; and, as Barnabas that true Son of Consolation foeaks. cleave to the LORD JESUS CHRIST, with full Purpose of Heart*. Let us determine to know nothing, to defire nothing, to depend on nothing, but JESUS CHRIST and Him. crucified. Let this be the Motto for our Faith, this the Language of our Souls, CHRIST is All. Then shall our Hopes, though hitherto fmitten with a Blast, revive as the Corn: Then Chall shall our Virtues, though in themselves weaker than the Ivy, mount like the Cedars.

Ther. You can hardly imagine, how a Sense of Guilt and Unworthiness oppresses my Mind. I am often discouraged, and cannot bring myfelf to be stedfast in Faith, or joyful through Hope.

Ap. You cannot bring yourself, but GOD Almighty's Power and Grace can bring to pass these desirable Effects. And bear what the Prophet fays farther, upon the charming Topic which introduced our Discourse. ever the eloquent Isaiab undertakes to display a Truth, He gives it all the Energy, all the Beauty, and every heightening Touch, that it is capable of receiving.—This humble Shoot, fpringing from the Stem of Jesse, shall rise to fuch a Pitch of Elevation; that it shall be conspicuous far and near, and stand for an Enfign of the People. It shall be seen, not like a Beacon upon the Top of an Hill, by the Ifraelites only, or the Natives of a fingle Territory; but like the great Luminaries of Heaven, shall be visible in every Country, and by the whole inhabited World.—To it fball the Gentiles seek; not only from the remotest, but from the most barbarous and idolatrous Climes. These, even these Persons, though savage in their Nature, and detestable in their Manners, shall be freely admitted, shall find Rest under under his Shadow. Nay, the Refreshment which He yields, and the Comfort which they receive, shall be not seasonable only, but of sovereign Efficacy; bis Rest shall be glorious*.

From this we learn, that all the Bleffings of CHRIST's Mediation are defigned for Gentiles; for the most abandoned and abominable Sinners.—That they are so full and consummate, as to create a Calm of Tranquility, a glorious Rest, in the most troubled, afflicted, guilty Consciences.—And I dare challenge even my Theron's misgiving Mind, to specify any Want which is not supplied, any Grievance which is not redressed by the Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST. I formerly encountered your Objections, let me now combat your Scruples.

Ther. Sometimes, I have a deep and distressing Conviction of my extreme Sinfulness.—
'Tis like a sore Burden, too heavy for me to bear.—'Tis like the vilest Filth, and renders me odious to myself; how much more lothesome to the All-seeing Eye?—It appears like a Debt of ten thousand Talents, and I have nothing, no, not any thing to pay.—Then I experience, what the Psalmist so pathetically laments; My Sins bave taken such Hold upon me, that I am not able to look up: yea, they are more in Number than the Hairs of my Head, and my Heart Heart is ready to fail; my Hopes are upon the Point to expire.

Asp. Then, Theron, fly to that just and righteous ONE, who is the Strength of our Hearts; the Life of our Hopes; and our Portion for ever.

If Sin is a fore Burden; look unto CHRIST, who bore it all, in his own Body on the Tree; and removed, intirely removed that tremendous Load, which would otherwise have sunk the whole World into the nethermost Hell.—If Sin renders us filtby; let Us have Recourse to that Blood of Sprinkling, which cleanses, not from a few Stains only, but from all Guilt. By which the most defiled Transgressors become fair as the fairest Wool, nay whiter than the virgin Snows *.—If Sin is a Debt +; subjecting Us to Wrath, and binding Us over to Punishment; let Us conside in that gracious Surery, who has taken the Debt upon himfels.

• Pfal. li. 7.

+ By these three Images, the Psalmist displays the horrible and destructive Malignity of Sin, together with the free Nature and invaluable Worth of evangelical Forgiveness. Blessed is be whose Trangression, as an insupportable Load, (ND) is bore, or taken away; whose Sin, as being the most abominable Filth, (NDD) is covered; unto whom the LORD imputeth not (DND) is covered; unto whom the LORD imputeth not (DND) that most ruinous of all Debts, Iniquity.—It is pleasing to observe the Vehemence and Ardeur, with which the royal Penitent speaks on this savourite Topic. He breaks out with a Kind of holy Abruptness, and pours his Soul in a Variety of warm Expressions. As one who thought, he could not possibly enter upon the Subject too soon, or dwell upon it too long. Psal. xxxii, 1, 2.

felf, and made it all his own. And not only fo, but has paid it; paid it to the uttermost Farthing, to the very last Mite: So that Justice itself can demand no more.

Let me confirm and illustrate this comfortable Truth, by a scriptural Similitude. No Similitudes are more exact, and none so striking. I have blotted out as a thick Cloud your Transgressions, and as a Cloud your Sins . A little while ago, the whole Expanse of the Sky was covered with Clouds. Nothing could more strongly represent, a Multitude of Corruptions besieging the Heart, and a Multitude of Iniquities overspreading the Life.—But where is now that immense Arrangement of gloomy Vapours? The Sun has shone them, and the Wind has swept them, clean away. There are none, neither great nor fmall, remaining. From one End of the wide extended Hemisphere to the other, we see nothing but the clear and beautiful Blue of the Firmament. So, faith the SPIRIT of GOD to the true Believer, so totally is your Guilt, however horrid and enormous, done away through the dying  $\mathcal{F}ESUS$ .

Ther. It is not possible to conceive, nor will the whole Creation afford, a more exquisitely fine Comparison. Perhaps, nothing can so emphatically describe the most prodigious Multi-Multitude, intirely obliterated, without the least Trace of their former Existence.—But I am not only chargeable with past Iniquities; I am also liable to daily Miscarriages. I relapse into Sin. When I have been cleansed, I defile myself afresh; and when I would do Good, Evil is present with me.—My best Hours are not free from sinful Instrmities, nor my best Duties from sinful Impersections. Which, like a Worm at the Core of the Fruit, eat away the Vigour of my Graces, and tarnish the Beauty of my Services.

* IJai. xliv. 22.

Ab. Because You are daily sinning, there is a Fountain opened for Sin and for Uncleanness *. The Blood and Atonement of CHRIST are compared to a heavenly Fountain. In which polluted Sinners may wash daily, wash hourly; and be constantly, perfectly clean.—A Cistern may fail, may be broke or exhausted. But it is the Property of a real Fountain, never to be dried up, always to yield its Waters. Such is the Efficacy of CHRIST's Death; not to be diminished by universal and incessant Use. removes the Iniquity of the Land +. It takes away the Sin of the World . It is new, for our Application, every Morning; new, for this bleffed Purpose, every Moment. On which Account, it makes complete Provision for our Cleanfing, our Restoration, and our Comfort.

-Espe-

1 3 14

* Zech. xiii. 1. + Zech. iii. 9. 1

Especially, as it is not only sovereign in it-self, and ever free for our Approach, but is ever pleaded by a great HIGH-PRIEST in our behalf. Therefore, the inspired Casuist directs Us to this Source of Consolation, under all the Upbraidings of Conscience, and all the Accusations of Satan. If any Man sin, We have an Advocate with the FATHER, JESUS CHRIST the Righteous, and He is the Propitiation for our Sins*.

We have for our Advocate, not a mean Person, but HIM of whom it was said, This is my beloved SON-Not a guilty Person, who stands in need of Pardon for Himself, but 7ESUS CHRIST the Righteous—Not a mere Petitioner, who relies purely upon Liberality; but one that has merited, fully merited whatever He asks; He is the Propitiation for our Sins, has paid our Ransom, and purchased our Peace —In consequence of which, He claims rather than asks our renewed, our irrevocable Forgiveness—This he claims, not from an unrelenting Judge, but from his FATHER and our FATHER—And can fuch a Plea meet with a Repulse? Can such an Advocate miscarry in his Suit?—If the Prophets of old were reckoned The Chariots of Israel and the Horsemen thereof +; be-

* 1 John ii. 1.

<sup>* 2</sup> Kings ii. 12. xiii. 14. There is a peculiar Beauty, and most apposite Significancy, in this proverbial Saying, as used because, like their Ancestor Jacob, they had Power with GOD, and prevailed in Prayer: O! what a Defence! what a Security, is the divinely excellent, and ever prevailing Intercession of JESUS CHRIST!

"Your Graces, You complain, are fullied, " and your Services defective."—Then, my dear Friend, renounce them in Point of Confidence; and gladly receive, cordially embrace, the all-perfect Righteousness of your LORD. So shall your Justification be complete; and your Services, though deficient in themselves, be " accepted in the beloved."—I have fomewhere feen, painted upon a flat Surface, an aukward and disagreeable Countenance: In which was nothing regular, nothing graceful, but every Feature disproportionate. Yet, this very Face, received on and reflected from a cylindrical Mirror, has put off its Deformity; the Lineaments were well adjusted; Symmetry connected every Part, and Beauty smiled throughout the whole.—Like the former our Virtues appear; when compared with the immaculate Purity used by the antient Israelites. Horses and Chariots were deemed, in those Ages, the principal Strength of the Battle, the most formidable Apparatus of War. Of these the Israelites were intirely destitute. Their GOD had expressly forbidden them to multiply Horses; and We never read of their bringing any considerable Number of Cavalry into the Field.—But, so long as they enjoye the Presence of their Prophets, they wanted not this Arm of Flesh. They had more than an Equivalent for Chariots and Horsemen, in the servent, the effectual Prayers of those holy Men.

432 DIALOGUE XVII.

Purity of GOD, or the fublime Perfection of his Law. But they acquire the Amiableness of the latter, when presented to the FATHER by our divine MEDIATOR, and recommended by his inconceivably precious Oblation *.

Milton, taking his Hint from the Revelations of St. John, represents our great HIGH-PRIEST, in this glorious and delightful Attitude. Represents Him, offering up the Supplications and penitential Duties of our first Parents; mixing with them the Incense of his wn Merits; and thus interceding before the Throne.

See, FATHER! what first Fruits on Earth are sprung

From thy implanted Grace in Man! These Sighs And Prayers, which in this golden Censer mix'd With Incense, I thy PRIEST before Thee bring.

———Now therefore bend thine Ear
To Supplication; hear his Sighs though mute!
Unskil-

* They, the Persons and Personmances of frail Men, shall come up with Acceptance on mine Altar, saith the LORD. Isai. Ix. 7.—Which is explained by St. Peter's Comment; Ye are an holy Priesthood, to offer up spiritual Sacrifices, acceptable unto GOD by JESUS CHRIST. I Pet. ii. 5. And still sarther ascertained by St. Paul's Practice. Who, when He addresses the MAJESTY of Heaven with any Petition, or presents the Tribute of Praise, presumes not to do either the one or the other, but in the blessed MEDIATOR's Name. Because, secluded from this grand Recommendation, they would be offensive, to the awful JEHOVAH, "as Smoke in his Nostrils;" accompanied with it, they are acceptable, as the sweet smelling Incense."

If

Unskilful with what Words to pray, let ME Interpret for Him; ME his Advocate
And Propitiation. All his Works on ME, Good, or not good, ingraft: MY Merit those Shall perfect; and for these MY Death shall pay.

The Poet's Words are very emphatical. Yet Words can no more express the Prevalence of our LORD's Negotiation, than the Picture of the Sun can diffuse its Splendor, or convey its Warmth.

Ther. My spiritual Wants are many. I have many Duties to discharge, and many Temptations to withstand: many Corruptions to mortify, and many Graces to cultivate, or rather to acquire. Yet have I no Stock, and no Strength of my own.

Asp. I rejoice, that my Theron is sensible of his own Indigence. The good LORD keep Us both, in this Respect, as little Children; whose whole Dependence is upon their Nurse's Care, or their Parent's Bounty! Then may we, having such a Sense of our Poverty, and having a great HIGH-PRIEST over the House of GOD, come boldly to the Throne of Grace. We may apply, through the Righteousness of JESUS CHRIST, for all needful Succour, and for every desirable Blessing.—

• Par. Loft. B. XI. 1. 22, &c. Vol. III. F f If Solomon could fay; LORD, remember David, and all bis Trouble. If Moses could say; LORD, remember Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob thy Servants. How much more confidently may we say; "LORD, remember JESUS, the "Son of thy Love! Remember JESUS, and all his Sufferings; JESUS and all his Me-"rits. Shall they be sent empty away, who "have their SAVIOUR's Obedience to plead?"—No verily. Though they are altogether unworthy in themselves, yet worthy is the LAMB that was slain, for whose Sake their Petitions should be granted, and their every Necessity supplied.

Let me repeat to you a most beautiful and encouraging Portion of Scripture. Which you may look upon, under all your Wants, as Charte Blanche put into your Hand by GOD all-sufficient. Having therefore, Brethren, Boldness to enter into the Holiest by the Blood of JESUS; by a new and living Way which be has consecrated for Us, through the Veil, that is to say, his Flesh; And having an HIGH-PRIEST over the House of GOD; let us draw near with a true Heart, in full Assurance of Faith*.

The Apostle, in this Place, and throughout this whole Epistle, alludes to the Mosaic Ordinances; in order to shew, that the Privileges of the Christian Dispensation, were typesied by, yet yet are greatly superior to, those of the Yewish. -Among the Jews, none but the High-Prieft, was permitted to fet a Foot within the Holy of Holies; and He, only on the folemn Day of Expiation. Whereas, all Christians are allowed to enter into the immediate Presence of the most High GOD; may have the nearest Access to HIM who dwells in the Heaven of Heavens: and this, not once in the Year only. but at all Times, and on all Occasions.—The High-Priest never made that awful Approach, but with the Blood of a flaughtered Animal. We have Blood of infinitely richer Value, to atone for our Failings, and recommend our Addresses; even the Blood of the crucified JESUS.—Aaron entered through the Veil of the Temple; a Way, that was foon to become antiquated, and for ever to be abolished. We enter by a far more noble Way; by the Flesh of our bleffed REDEEMER, given as a propitiatory Sacrifice for our Sins. Which Way is both new and living; fuch as never waxes old, will subsist to the End of Time, and leads to eternal Life. Trusting in this Sacrifice, and entering by this Way, which are confecrated on Purpose for our Use, We may not only draw near, but draw near with Boldness, with an humble filial Confidence; and present our Supplications with Faith with

* Heb. x. 19, 20, 21, 22.

436 DIALOGUE XVII:

with Assurance of Faith—with full Assurance of Faith.

How strong is the Contrast! How fine the Gradation! And how precious the Doctrine! What shall we fear, if we believe this Text? What can we lack, if we improve this Privilege?

Ther. There may come Seasons of Desertion, when all Graces are languid, if not dead: When the Light of GOD's Countenance is suspended, if not turned into Darkness: and the Man is more like a lifeless Log, than a zealous Christian. These Frames of Mind I have heard mentioned, and I begin to know something of them by Experience.

Asp. Then Theron, when you walk in Darkness, and see no Light of sensible Comfort, trust in the Name, the unchangeable Grace, of the LORD; and stay upon the Righteousness, the consummate Righteousness, of your GOD*.
This is not barely my Advice, but the Direction of an infallible Guide. This agrees also with the Character of a real Christian, as it is most exactly drawn by an unering Pen; We rejoice in CHRIST JESUS and bave no Considence in the Flesh +; no Reliance on any Thing of

* I,ai. l. 10.

† Phil. iii. 3. Exactly drawn—Perhaps, there is no where extant a finer, a more complete, or so lively a Picture of the true Christian. 'Tis in Miniature, I own: but it comprehends our own, either for present Joy, or future Glory.

To rely on the Elevation of our Spirits, or the Inlargement of our Devotion, is like building our House upon the Ice: which may abide for a Season; but, upon the first Alteration of Weather, ceases to be a Foundation, and becomes "Water that runneth apace." Whereas, to derive our Consolation from the MEDIA-TOR's Righteousness, and JEHOVAH's Faithfulness, is to build our Edifice upon the Rock: which "may not be removed, but stand-" eth fast for ever." The former of these, even amidst all our Changes, is invariably the fame. The latter, notwithstanding all our Unworthiness, is inviolably sure. Therefore, the Fruit of that Righteousness is Peace, and the Effect of this Faithfulness is, if not rapturous Joy, yet Quietness and Assurance for ever +.

So that, when it is Winter in my Soul, and there seems to be a Dearth on all my sensible Delights, I would still say with the Psalmist; prehends all the master Lines and every distinguishing Feature. We are they, who worship GOD in the Spirit; with the spiritual Homage of a renewed Heart; with Faith, Love, Resignation. And rejoice in CHRIST JESUS; in Him look for all our Acceptance with GOD; from Him derive all the Peace of our Minds; and on Him place all the Hope of our final Felicity. And have no Considence in the Fless; renouncing ourselves, in every View, as unprositable Servants; disclaiming all our own Works and Attainments, as desective Services.

Isai. xxxii. 17.

DIALOGUE XVII.

438

" Wby art thou so disquieted, O my Soul? CHRIST " is the same amidst all thy Derelictions. He " is a green Fir-Tree*, that never loses its Ver" dure. Under his Shadow Thou mayst always " find Repose. His Merit and Atonement are " still mighty to save; they constitute an ever" lasting and infinite Righteousness. The Pro" mises of GOD, through his Mediation, are " yea and amen +, are unquestionably and una" lienably thine."

Ther. Tis very probable, I may meet with Afflictions; Death in my Family, or Disease in my Person. Disappointments may frustrate my Designs. Providence may wear a frowning Aspect, as though the LORD had a Controversy with his sinful Creature, and was making Him to possess the Iniquities of his Youth. And what will be sufficient to support and to chear, in such a gloomy Hour ‡?

Asr. The Righteousness of CHRIST.—Nothing is so sovereign, to calm our Fears, and remove all Apprehensions of the divine Wrath. Apprehensions of the divine Wrath, would draw the Curtains of Horror around our sick Beds, and throw upon our lan-* Hof. xiv. 8. + 2 Cor. i. 29.

† The Sufficiency of CHRIST's Righteousness, to answer all these important and delightful Ends, is excellently displayed in Mr. Rawlin's Sermons, on CHRIST the Righteo-si es of his People. In which the Public have seen the grand and amiable Essentials of the Gospel, delivered in masculine Language; desended by nervous Reasoning; and animated by a lively Devotion.

languishing Eye-lids the Shadow of Death **But a believing Improvement of CHRIST's Satisfaction for our Offences, clears up the mournful Scene, and takes away the Sting of Tribulation.

Attending to this great Propitiation, the Sufferer fees his Sins forgiven, and his GOD reconciled. From whence he concludes, that the severest Afflictions are only fatherly Corrections; shall not exceed his Ability to bear; and shall assuredly obtain a gracious Issue. He can fetch Comfort from that chearing Word, I will be with bim in Trouble: And expect the Accomplishment of that most consolatory Promise, I will deliver Him, and bring him to Honour +. These Supports have enabled the Saints, to kiss the Rod, and bless the Hand, which chastised them. To possess their Souls, not in Patience only, but in Thankfulness also. While they have looked inward, and discerned their absolute Need of these bitter but salutary Medicines: Have looked upward, and beheld the Cup in a most wise and tender PHY-SICIAN's Hand: Have looked forward, with a joyful Hope, to that better World; where GOD will wipe away all Tears from their • Alluding to that Description of Tribulation and Anguish, which, I believe, no Person of Sensibility can read without shuddering; My Face is fold with Weeping, and on my Eye-lids is the Shadow of Death. Job xvi. 16.

† Psal. xci. 15.

440 DIALOGUE XVII.

Eyes, and there shall be no more Sorrow, ttor any more Pain.

Ther. The last Occasion of Need is the trying Hour of Death, and the tremendous Day of Judgment. Will this Righteousness carry Us, with Safety, through the darksome Valley; and present us, with Acceptance, at the dreadful Tribunal?

Asp. It will: It will.—This filences all the Curles of the Law, and disarms Death of every Terror. To believe in this Righteousness, is to meet Death at our SAVIOUR's Side; or rather, like good old Simeon, with the SAVIOUR in our Arms.—They overcame, fays the beloved Disciple, they overcame the last Enemy, not by natural Fortitude, or philosophic Resolution, but by the Blood of the LAMB\*; by a believing Application of the victorious REDEEMER's Merit.—I know, adds the heroic Apostle, whom I have believed +; I am assured, that my  $\mathcal{J}ESUS$  is infinitely faithful, and will not defert me; that his Ranfom is absolutely sufficient, and cannot deceive Therefore, with a holy Bravery, He bids Defiance to Death; or rather, triumphs over it, as a vanquished Enemy; Thanks be to GOD, who giveth Us the Victory through our LORD JESUS CHRIST ‡ !—Nay, through the wonderful derful Efficacy of CHRIST's Propitiation, Death is ours \*; not our Foe, but our Friend and Deliverer. We may number it among our Treasures; and rest satisfied, That to die, is Gain.

* Rev. xii. 11: † 2 Tim. i. 12. ‡ 1 Cor. xv. 57.

What? Though our Flesh see Corruption. Though this Body, vile at present, be made viler still, by dwelling amidst Worms, and mouldering in the Dust; yet through HIS Righteousness, who is the Resurrection and the Life, it shall shake off the Dishonours of the Grave: It shall rise to a new and illustrious State of Existence: It shall be made like the glorious and immortal Body of our triumphant LORD.—If the Body be so refined, so exalted; what will be the Dignity, what the Perfection, of the Soul! Or rather, of Soul and Body both, when they are happily and indiffolubly united, at the Resurrection of the Just! -Shall they have any thing to fear, when the Judgment is fet, and the Books are opened? "Tis probable there will be no Accusation, 'tis certain there is no Condemnation, to them that are in CHRIST JESUS+. Who shall lay any Thing to their Charge? It is GOD-not Man, or Angel, or any Creature, but GOD -that justifies them. The GOD whose Law was broke, the GOD to whom Vengeance belongeth, longeth, He Himself pronounces them innocent, because their Iniquities have been laid upon CHRIST; He Himself pronounces them righteous, because they are interested in the Obedience of their REDEEMER; on these Accounts, He Himself pronounces them blessed, and gives them an abundant Entrance into the Joy of their LORD.

* I Cor. iii. 22.

442 DIALOGUE XVII.

But what can express, or who can imagine their Happiness, when they take up their Abode, in the Palaces of Heaven; amidst the Choirs of Angels; and under the Light of GOD's Countenance! When they possess the Hope of Righteousness*; when they wear the Crown of Righteousness*; when they wear the Crown of Righteousness*; and receive that great, that eternal Salvation, which is a proper Recompence for the Humiliation and Agonies of JESUS CHRIST the righteous.

Come then, my dear Theron, let Us henceforth be as Branches, ingrafted into the heavenly Vine; derive all our Sap, all our Moifture, all our Consolation, from his Fulness. Let Us live upon our all-sufficient REDEEMER, as the Israelites subsisted on their Manna from Heaven, and their Waters from the Rock; and not wish for other, as we cannot possibly enjoy better Sustenance.

Ther.

* Gal. v. 5. + 2 Tim. iv. 8. ‡ 1 John ii. 3.

Ther. Is this the Meaning of our LORD's Exhortation, when he shews the Necessity of eating bis Flesh, and drinking bis Blood?

Asp. 'Tis the very same. A repeated and incessant Application of our SAVIOUR's Merits, for all the Purposes of Piety and Salvation, is the Kernel of this Nut, the Meaning of this Metaphor.—When we habitually advert to JESUS CHRIST, as dying for our Sins, and rifing again for our Justification; performing all Righteousness, that we may be intitled to an eternal Crown; and interceding in Heaven, that we may be filled with all the Fulness of GOD: Then we eat his Flesh, and drink his Blood. Then we derive a Life of folid Comfort, and real Godliness, from his mediatorial Offices; just as we derive the Continuance of our natural Life, from the daily Use of alimentary Recruits.

Ther. Your Discourse brings to my Remembrance that magnificent and beautiful Passage in Scripture, where CHRIST is called The Sun of Righteousness. Your Doctrine sets the Comparison in a very advantageous Light; gives it the utmost Force, and the greatest Propriety.—The Righteousness of CHRIST, according to your Account, is as extensively useful in the Christian Life, as the Beams of that grand Luminary are in material Nature.—

The

446 DIALOGUE XVII.

What a Gift then is the Righteoufness of CHRIST!—Blessed be GOD, for all the indulgent Dispensations of Providence! Blessed be GOD, for all the beneficial Productions of Nature! But above all, blessed be GOD, for the transcendent and unspeakable Gift—of CHRIST and HIS RIGHTEOUSNESS.

TABLE

OF THE

T E X T S.

More or less illustrated in this WORK.

		GEN.
Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
ii ii iii	5	Ш	14
ü	17	II	124,5
iii	15	II	64
iii	15	11	389
iii	20	П	390
v i	3	II	148
v i	5	II	141
vi	14	I	108
viii	21	Щ	159
хi	4	II	102
XV	2	III	210
xxii	1,	III	214
xxii	2	III	214
xxii	14	III	233
xxvii	30, &r-	. I	20
	E	X O D.
iii	2	III	19
xii	9	Ī	114, 15
XV	0.10	III	113	•
XV	9, 10 26	111	294
ХX	24	I	365
xxviii	38	II	392
xxix	4	I	127
xxix	20 ·	I	1 14, 15
xxix	39	I	127
xxxiv	7	I	164
	·		-	LEVIT.

LEVIT.

Chap.	Per.	Fol.	Pag.
xiv	4, 5, 6,	7 I	114, 15
жvi	Chap.	Į.	102, 2,
xvi	21	Ţ	63
xvi	22	Ī	63
ityk ityk	3, 4	Į.	6į
xxiii	1 t 42	i	114
XXIII	7*	-	127
		йuм В,	•
vi	z, &ι.	I	119
XA	38	I	258
xv ii i	27	Ţ	61
xxi	8	ΙÍ	8 z
XXV	48	Ĭ	126
XXXX	13	Ħ	81
		DEUT.	•
viii	4	1	197
ix	5	Ī	324
xxxii	2	ΙŬ	25
xxxiii	10	π	210
xxxiii	13,14,15	,16111	166
	_
	•	UDG.
ΧV	8	II	174	7.
xvii	6	II	152
	1	SAM.
iii	14	I	16 2
xii		Ī	320
xviii, xix, xx	Shep.	I	29
xx	39	III	305
xx iii	25	I	269
		SAM.	,· ,
i	19	ī	2,2
χv	31	ıī	350	•
xv iii	35	II	2,2
x xii i	3	III	73
xxiii	5	11	64
	_		_

ı KINGS.

Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
Viii	32	II	48
X	6, 7	I II	<sup>273</sup> 186
xiv	10	II
x vii i	27	11	295
•	2	KINO	3 S
vix	9	II	307
xx	3	I	402
	2	CHR	0 N.
v ixxx	27	II	957
AAAAV	-/	••	353
	N	EHE	M
ii	4	11	350
ix	21	I	197
xiii	22	I	401
		JOB.
i	2	II	29 4
ii	4	11	ı 88
ix	10, 11	· I	199
ix	12	11	243
ix	15	Ш	21
ix	20,21,30,		398 & feq.
X.	11	II	175, 188	-
x ii	. 7,8	III	140 - vix	4 .	ÌÏ	130 .
χv	14, 15, 1	6 II	137
xix	8	III	86
xix	25	III HI	348
xxvi xxvii	8	II	25
xxvii	, 5	iii	48
XXIX	.5	III	3 l 260
xxxvi	19 28	ΪΪ	26
xxxvii	16	III	25 25
xxxviii	.5	iii	38
xxxviii	8, g	ΪΪ	112
xxxviii	10	ĪĬĪ	108
X XXVII I	14	III	393
xxxviii	27	111	24
Vol. III.	•		3 g	Ŋ

CI .		· ·	_
Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag:
xxxviii	37	III	147
xxxviii	37, 38	III	69
XXXIX	18	III	20
xlii	、 6	I	397
xlii	6	III	394
xlii	<sub>7</sub> , 8	1	110
		_	,
	P S	A L.
v ii i	6, 7, 8	III	152
xiv	2, 3	II	135
XA	1	Ĩ	307
χv	• 4	Ī	309
xix	5	111	72
xix	12	Ī	389
xxii	21	īī
xxii	8	ΪΪ	125
xxiv		ii	424
xxix	5	iir	395
xxix	4, 5,6	iii	123
xxvii	9	III	355
xxxii	1	Ī	342
_	1	_	329
xxxvi	6	II	45
XXXXii	7	III	338
iivxxx	20	ΙίΪ	381
xlix	5	Ī	259
li	5	II	132
li	7	III	427
lviii	10	III	387
lix	16	II	265
lx	. 6	III	366
lxii	12	I	293
1x v	13	II	3 96
lxviii	18	III	304
lxviii	19	111	138
lxxi	15	111	60, z
lxxi	ιģ	11	396
lxxvii	10	III	340
lxxvii	17, 18	ΪΙΪ	353.4
lxxvii	10	ΪΪΪ
lxxix	3	ΪΪΪ	37 7 2 8 8
lxxxv	10	Ĩ	158
lxxxix	15, 16	ΙÎ
xci		ΙΪΙ	397
ciii	15	III	439
Civ	3 16	II	341
	16	Ш	45
CIA	10	117	150

Chap.	Ver.	Fol.	Pag.
civ	22	III	18
civ	24	III	135
cx	3 16	II	2 68
cxa		III I	38
cxvi cxix	12 96	Ī	2 34 379
cxxxiii	2	mî	23I
CXXXA	7.	III	27
cxxxvii	5 , 6	111	189
cxxxix	1, 2	111	88
cxxxix	14	IĪ	190
cxliii	2	I	401
cxliii cxl y	2	II III	49 261
CXIA	9	116	201
	P R	o v.
i	22, 23	II	264
vi	11	II	261
v ii	7	11	260
viii	27	III III	5
xix xxi	12 . 1	III	179 90
xxii	15	11	136
xxiii	26	iii	38
\XXV	11	I	38
XXV	19	П	53
XXX	2	11	256
xxxi	2 [	III ·	188
	ECC	LES.
vii	6	I	13
vii	20	I	400
vii	29	II	131
ix	7	II	21
xii	3	][ ][	176
xii	4	II	2 14 175
xii xii	6	ii	203
711		TIC.	J.,
i		III	368, 9
i	1	III	229
i	9	IÏ	400
ii	9	Ĩ	112.
ii	11, 12, 1		77
Ä	14	111	12;
		Gg 2

Chap.	Ver.	Fel.	Pag.
ďi '	6	III	380
i♥	1	II	181
iv	2	11	193
iv	3	11	190
vi	10	111	106
Ti	12	III	194
viii	5	11	źż
	1	S A I	•
i	18	I	180
i	27	II	399
i¥	6	III	355
v.	26	III	395
¥i.	2, 3, 4, 5	I	395 & fee
vi	9	III	235
vi i	19	III	257
vii	25	Ш	258
ix	6	I	239
ix	6	III	300, 1
x.	3 3 • 3 4	III	483
хi	1	ıü	423
хi	3	ΙĪ	215
хi	9	I	349
xi :::	10	III	426
xiii	19,20,21,2		106
xxvi	7	ΙΪ	263
ivxx	§, 9	II	3 44
xxvii	6	1	47
xxviii	12	Il	411
xxviii	15	IIĪ	395
xxviii xxviii	20	1	322
	16	II	421, 3
xxxiii	16	ΙΊΪ	124
XXX A XXX A	1	Ţ	47
xxxvi	8	I	148
xxxviii	12	II II	186
xli	7, 13	ni	244
xlii	13	II	158
xlii			321
xlii	10, 11, 12	Ш	175
xliii	21 25	III	13
	25	711	285

xliv.

Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag:
xliv	28	I	262
xliv	22	III	428
xlv	2	11	99
xlv	21	I	331
xlv	22	111	357
xlv	24	II	399
xlviii -	8	II	139
xlix	14	III	340
xlix	18	III	360
1	10	III	335
li	9, 10 6	111	114
li	6	II	402
lii	7	III	175
liji	4	I	145
liii	4 5 6 6	I	86
liii	5	I	143
liii	6	I	2 37
liii		II	59
liii	10	1	159
liii	12	I	149
. lv	1	Ш	29 9 - lv	9	III	117
lviii	13	II	351
lix	5	II	28 2 lx	17	Ш	39 9, 400
lx	2 2	ΙΙ	£63
lxi	1	I	316
lxi	10	III	33 9
lxi	10	11	400
lxiv	6	11	36 6, 7
lxiv	6	III	42

JEREM.

••		**
11	13	I r	442
i i	25	I	442 176
ii	22	II	283
ii ii ii i v	25 32 19, &c. 22	Ш	411
v	22	HI	108
viii	2	II	264
v iii	7 ·	П	243
xv ii		П	143
xxiii	3 5, 6	П	406, 7
exxiii	9	Ш	40 6, 7 ·
		Gg 2	•

xlvii

Chap.	Ver.	Vd.	Pag. "
xlvii l	3	III I	415
•	20	_	104
	E 2	ZEK.
zin.	10	Į.	367
xvi xviii	6	III I	293
XXVII	27 5	in	291 175
XXVIII	14	i	109
	D	A N.
iii	1	II	102
iii	27	III	19
ix	9	III	302
ix	24	II	404, 5
	Н	O S.
vi	3	1	319
хi	14	III	193
xi xiii	19, 20	· III	236
vix	9 6	Ī	219
xiv	8	111	47 438
	10	DEL.
ji	8	III	394
ii		ΪΙΪ	39 1 393
iii	3 16, 17	111	392
	A M	O S.
V	19	111	. 391
	јо	NAH.
i	4	III	86
		CAH.
٧i	8	I	350
vii .	19	III	178
	на	BAK.
i	14	111	140
i	13	I	395
iii iii	4	III	124
111	£1	III	414,
		A G.
ü	7	П	391

•	D M I V
ZECH.
Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
ii	8	11	210
iii	3 , 4, 5	îi	58
iii		ΙΪΙ	429
iv	9 2, 3, 12	III	232
iv		1	337
vi	7 12, 13	iı
ix		ii	59 408, 9
хi	9 10	Ï	232
xiî	10	ПÎ	96
xii.	1	iii	429
xiii	7	iii	7 6
xiii		Ϊ	203	•
xiv	7 6	ıî	298
A17			290
	M A
iii	16, 17	Ţ	15
iv	2	П	4 7
•	M A	TT.
₩	3	I	299
v	3 6	III	322
, v	16	I	235
v	17	П	65
▼	18	П	13
v	20	I	300
Y	44	11	356
vi	6	I	, 1 •
vi	20 .	III	411
vi	30	П	188
vi 	3 3	II	427
viii	3	ΙΪΪ	182
viii	22	1I	149
viii	26	III	87
ix	13	1	158
ix	13	III	294
ix	20	I	259
ix	22	II	77
xi ::	28	ПÍ	320
xii	36, 37	Ī	40
'xii	39	I	122	_
xvii	27	III	85
xvii	17	111	364

300

. Xaii

xviii xix

-
T	EXTS	Illuftr	ated.
Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
xxıi	4	111	28 0
xxii	เน้	III	279
xxii	37, 8, 9	II	12
XXY	30	Ī	296
xxvi	28	Ī	136
xxvi xxvi	36	I	171
xxvi	38 68	i	172
xxvii	9	ΠÎ	170 101
xxvii	29	Ī	170
xxvii	42	Ī	171
		A R K	•
i		Ili
ii	7 14	111	79
iv	28	ΪΪΪ	90 7
jv	39	Ĭ	279
v	ý	I	154
V	9	111	93
Y	15	ΙΙ Ι	182
vi :	51	I	279
vii vii	20,21,22,		246
ix	22	II I	292
ix	3 6	111	130
χi	20	ΪΪ	171, 85
xiv	13	ΪΪΪ	88
avi	14	III	364
		LUKE	• •
ii	14	III	179
ii	69	III	179
vi	12	П	162
x	30, &c.	I	33
X V	11	I	37
xv	22	III	28 t
xvi	9	III	411
xvi x vii	12	111	411
x vii	9	Ĭ	328
xviii	1	ΙÎ	342 351
xviii	13	īī	49
x viii	31	I	102
xix	8, 14	ΙΙΙ	201

Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Par.
xix	48	I	19
xix	9	III	278
vixx	13	I.	20
xxiv	17	I	40
vixx	25	111	364
vixx	3 2	I	12
xxiv	47	Ш	296
	J	о н	N.
i	12	II	82
i	12	III	338
i	14	II	229
i	47	I	320
ii	14, 15	Ш	8 9
ii	19	I	122
iii	6	ΙΪ	149
iii	14	Ĩ	122
iii iii	16	Ĭ	167
iii	18, 36	I	293
iv	36	III III	323
V	10	111	3 39
v	17	III	7
v	40 44	Ī	2 8 3 268
vi	11 21	иi
vi	35	ÏÏ	3 <sup>2</sup> 5
vi	33 44	ΪΪ	268
vi	77 8	ΙΪΪ	339
vi	58 63	III	174
vii	27	III	298
v iii	7 -	III	89
xi.	50	I	145
хi	39	Ш	92
xiv	15	Ī	235
ΧV	4	Ĭ	361
X V	5	III.	236
74	5	111	235,6
χv		III	361
x vi	15		234
xvi	9 8, 9, 10,	. 11 IÎ	291
xvii	4	ii	449 ,50 56
xvii	6	ΪΪ
xvii	24	11	5 9
xvii •	24	III	66
KVIII	6	111	90
			~

A C T 8.

Chap.	Vol.	Ver.	Pag:
ii	47	111	20 z
iii	iģ	Ī	105
iv	20	I	234
iv	3 7	I	36z
₩	31	I	105
v	41	· III	195
viii	20	I	363
ix	11	111	173
×	35	I	294, 5
хi	23	П	83
хi	1 Š	I	332
z iii	38	1	343
xvi	31	111	278
z vii	27	П	219
xix	2 1	111	207
XX	28	I	175
xxvi	18	П	Şŧ
	R	0 M .
3	.6	TF	400

i	16, 17	II III	430
•	17		372
i	18	П	26
ii	4	I	232
iii	19	II	137
iii	20	II	431
ili	20	ΪΪ	. 24
			3 24
311	21, 22	ΪΪ	388
ш	24	$\mathbf{II}$	432
iii iii iii iii	24 24 25 26	1	337
iii	25	1	157
iii iii iii	26	Ī	158
iii		Ī	• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •
:::	31		236
111	31	II	432
iv	3	$\Pi$	74
iv	4 4 5 6, &c.	Ĭ	348
iv	À	II	io
iv	7	Ī	228
iv	£ 500.	ñ
iv	ν, Θε.		I I
1A	6, 7	11	433, 4

Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
i♥	14	11	14
iv	18, 20	III	211
iv	20	111	363
v	8	I	167
v	10	III	292
V	12	I	206
V	14	ΙΙΙ	232
. A	14	П	435
V	17	11	52
V	17	11	436,7
V	17	III	63
V	18	II	50
. 🔻	18	I	216
{♥	19	II	438, 9
¥	20	Ш	25
V	21	ΙΙ	50
vi	2	I	231
vi	6 -	II	236
v i	23	1	293
vii	9.	11	24
vii	17	III	<sup>2</sup> 45
vii	18	II	147
viii	3	II	23
viii	7	11	148
viii	1	Ш	441
viii	33• 34	I	107
ix	30	ΪΪ	77
ix	30, 31, 32	II	444
X	3	11	441
x	4	II	39
×	'	ΪΪ	447
хi		II	17
хi	33	111	117
ı COR
i		I	- 0
i	27	ΙΪ	. 148
iii	3 0	Ш	445,6
iii	21	111	41
A 117	22	I	441
v vi	7	I	97, 98
vi Vi	11	и	230
74	11	11	446

Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
vi	19	II	229
vi	20	11	227
ix	9	III	274,5
x	2	I	123
x	4	I	122
xii	12, &c.	II	205
XY	45> 47	Ī	206
XV	52	II	415
XY	57	111	440
	2	COR.
i	12	II	24
i	20	Ш	181
ii	2	III	194
iii	6	II	28
iii	7	II	.9
iii	13 6	11	267
iv		III	171
ja	17	I	30
V	ī	II II	172
Y	4	Ш	300
v	14	III	195 189
v v	15	II.	87
v	19 20	î	156
Ÿ	21	ΙĨ	453
v i	18	ΙΪΙ	179
vii	10	III	188
viii	1	111	196
viii	2	111	202
viii	9	I	365
v iii	12	ΙΪ	20
X	6	I	369
x ii	10	III	195
	(	G A L.
i	7	II	14
ii	15, 16	11	451
ii	19	II	319
ii	21	II	13
iii	I	ΪΪ	36
iii	10	ΪΪ	1,8
iii	10	II	22

Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
iii	13	I	146
iii	21	11	23
iii	22	Ħ	39
iii	24	11	.9
iii	27	11	18
iv	5	I	239
V	4	İ	344
•	26	1	268
		EPH.
i	6	I	308
i		I	165
i	7 8	1	179
ii	3	II	152, 236, 245
ii .	3 5 8, 9	I	350
ii	8, 9	I	326, 7
iii	1.2	III	348
iii	17	III	323
iii î v	19	ΙΙΙ	52
iv	16	ĬĬ	226
Λ.	29	II I	40
•	· 27	144	. 44 5
	• 1	HIL.	•
i	( 0, 11	. I	324
i	39	III	195
ii	6	III	77, 8
ij	8	11	55
ii	12, 13	111	325
iii iii	8, 9	II	456, 7, 8
iii	9	II	77
111	21	11	230
	C	OLOS	S.
i	21	П	150
i	28	111	+45
.ii	10	I	226
i ii	16	I	38
	1	THES	s s. y	16, Ec.	I	26
•	,	•	20 . Til

1 TIM.

	ı T	I M.
Chap.	Ver.	Vol.	Pag.
i		Ш	328
ii	15	Ī	144
iii	16	Ī	306
[vi	3	111	227
	2 T	I M.		•
i	12	III	440
ii	6	111	309
iii	15	П	448
	T	1 T .
i	15	Ī	364
ii	11, 12	Ī	232
ii	13, 14	I.	176
iii	3	III	269
iii	3, 4, 5,	6,7 III I	357
iii	8	i	234
111	0		236
	н	E B.
i	3	Ш	58
iii	2	I	111
iii	14	III	242
iii	19	Щ	366
iv	20	I I	379
viii	5	-	124 182
viii viii	10, 11, 1	II	65
ix	10 16	ili	235
ix	16, 17	ΪΪ	282
ix	22	Ĩ	113
x	5, 7	ĬĬ	6i
x	20	Ī	123
x	26	I	163
хi	1	· III	336
хi	6	I	365
хi	17	III	209, &r.
xii	2	II	8 2
xii	2	ΙΙΪ	338
xiii	8	Ĩ	349
xiii	12	Ţ	103, 185
iiix	20	I	105'

JAM.

	J	A M.
Chap.  i ii iii iii iii v	Ver. 17 21, 4 2 9 13	Vol. II I II II II	Pag. 9 304. 5 401 153 3 296
	ı P	ET.
i i ii ii iii iii	1 2 3 24 24 18 18		365 355 351 243 184 139 329
	2 P	ET.
i ii iii	7 8, 9	III III	197 365 349
	r ]	он:	N.
	7 9 29 1 20 7 16 23 13		180 187 429 430 402 306 368 358 343
	2 J O	H N.
	6	Ш	106

3 JOHN.

	· 3	јоні	4.
Chap.	Ver.	Pol.	. Pag.
•	9, 10	I	269
		JUDE	•
	19	II	151
	20	111	227
	24	Ш	445
		REV.	,	1
ii	17	Ш	401
iii	20	Ш	322
iv	7	111	315
v ii	14, 15	I	404
vii viii	. 14	II	300
viii	8, 9	III	ĬĦ
xii	11	III	440
xiv	7	III	172
χiv	13	τ	358, 9	~
VK		III .	37
xviii	3 1	Ш	94
XX	11	111	: 9 8
xxii	2	Ш	401
xxii	17	Ш	357
-

FINIS.

